

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 40

It's near, and I can see it more clearly.

Thick gauze was wrapped around his head and legs. Because of the injury and infection, the wound opened again. Under the thick gauze on his legs, blood was still slowly oozing out.

Because of shortening his hair, his entire facial features became more three-dimensional and sharp, but he also lost a lot of weight.

Zoey Gu's heart ached.

Seeing him frowning in pain and moaning, his dry lips squirmed as if he wanted to say something.

Zoey Gu hurriedly leaned over, helped him up carefully, and took the warm water next to him and handed it to Liam Lu, and said softly.

"Drink of water."

The voice was very soft, but it seemed to have endless magic power, and it smoothed out the folds between Liam Lu's eyebrows little by little and calmed him down.

After he drank the water obediently and lay down, Zoey Gu subconsciously raised his hand to probe the temperature of his forehead. Seeing the warm water lying next to the bed, he lowered his head and twisted the towel to wipe his face.

In the end, she slightly opened the collar of his shirt again, trying to wipe his neck and front of him.

The moment the hand dropped, he saw a shiny ring hanging from the man's slender neck with a red string.

The rope is very long, unless the clothes are pulled apart, no one else can see it.

And that ring... is the one that belonged to him in the ring they used to match. Five years ago, when he hated her, he sent someone to return it to her, and she has kept it until now.

But I don't want to know when it returned to his hands.

Zoey Gu's wiping action for Liam Lu stagnated, and tremblingly stretched out his hand to pinch the ring, and he clearly saw the "L" engraved on the inside.

Her tears flowed down instantly.

She raised her hand to cover her mouth, but there was still an uncontrollable whimper, which came out shallowly from her fingers.

"Zoey."

Suddenly, a man's dumb voice came from above.

Zoey Gu was stunned, and when he looked up, she saw Liam Lu with his eyes open, looking at her for a moment.

There seemed to be a slight smile in his eyes, his lips squirming hard, and he whispered.

"I hated you before, now you hate me. Are we even if we are equal?"

Even and start again.

Zoey Gu held himself over his heart in pain, watching Liam Lu wriggle his lips with difficulty for a long while, but couldn't say anything.

"Liam Lu, we have already..."

Looking up again, Liam Lu closed his eyes and fell asleep again.

Zoey Gu's eyes were red, and he looked at him with broken tears for a long time, and then choked and said, "It's too late. Liam Lu, we can't go back..."

The next second, she suddenly stretched out her hand and tore off the red string around his neck.

"Never go back again!"

"Zoey!"

Liam Lu opened his eyes abruptly and sat up on the bed. The violent movement involved the wound, and there was a burst of heart-piercing pain in the leg.

"Liam."

Shiyue leaned forward violently and supported him.

"You have just gone from fever, and the doctor said that your condition is very bad, you must not be able to withstand any more toss!"

Liam Lu remained unheard of.

He twisted his eyebrows, his dark and icy eyes seemed to be moving fast.

The next second, he reached his hand and touched his neck.

Empty, the ring there is gone!
