

Chapter 450

Rubbing my eyes, I looked at the time and saw that it was already 4:30 in the afternoon.

She gets up and walks out of the room to see Kepler picking up the invitation card from the table and examining it curiously.

"Your friend was here at noon, and this is from her."

Nina Hua lazily dropped a sentence and turned around to go back to his room.

Kepler looked at her, put the invitation card down, and asked, "You didn't go out today?"

Nina Hua didn't have the good grace to say, "Didn't you say you wouldn't let it run amok?"

In fact, she was just feeling a little sleepy, plus she wasn't interested in the view, so she didn't bother going out.

But Kepler suddenly laughed, the corners of his lips raised in a somewhat frivolous smile.

Seems extremely pleased with the way she obeyed.

He took off his jacket and tossed it aside, sat down on the couch and reached out to her, "Come here."

Nina Hua tilted at him.

Half-heartedly, or slowly, I walked over.

Walk up to him and stop. Kepler suddenly pulled her hand, and in the next second, a cold object was placed on her wrist.

Nina Hua was cooled by this item, and suddenly sleep was gone.

I raised my hand and saw that it was an exquisite bracelet inlaid with three star-shaped lake blue gems, which was not luxurious but very fresh and beautiful.

She was startled and asked, "What do you mean?"

Kepler said in a clouded voice, "People gave it to me, they said it's called some kind of 'Galaxy Star', so I brought it back for you when I thought it suited you."

"Oh."

Nina Hua paused, "Is there anything else? It's okay I'm going to my room."

Kepler waved his hand.

Nina Hua turned around and headed for the bedroom.

Get in the house and close the door.

Within the space that belonged to her alone, the originally calm face suddenly moved slightly, and the corners of the mouth could not restrain the rise of the hand, lifting the hand, carefully examining the bracelet on the white white white wrist.

Blue gemstones on a platinum bracelet, when you look closely, there's a subtle flow of light through the gemstones, so pretty!

Something soft grows slowly in the heart somehow.

At that moment, Kepler's voice came in through a door.

"Don't sleep, clean up and go out to dinner with me."

Nina Hua put his hand down and suddenly remembered something, and was about to speak when he added, "Just the two of us."

The words I was about to say were suddenly swallowed back.

Half a dozen times, he said, "Good."

Together, they went downstairs to an open-air western restaurant in the lodge for dinner.

Halfway through the meal, Nina Hua suddenly felt a burning sight behind him and didn't turn to look.

I saw Li Manxin sitting not far from them, surrounded by a group of young men and women, from the dress alone, it could be seen that they were all a group of people who were engaged in art, and vaguely sent over by the wind words, but also some artistic topics.

Nina Hua smiled politely at her.

Rarely, however, did Li Manxin even react, staring straight at the bracelet on her wrist.

She wondered back and looked at the seasonal lingering.

Only the man was still elegantly eating his steak, as if he hadn't even noticed Lee Mansin not far away.

Not long after, Lee Mansin came over.

"Kepler, what a coincidence, you guys are here for dinner too?"

As if it was only then that Kepler saw her, he picked up his napkin and wiped his mouth and said, "Yes. You partying with friends?"

Li Manxin nodded her head and smiled softly, her already thin body becoming even more charming with a smile like that.

"Will you come tonight?" She asked, her tone full of anticipation.

I don't know.

It wasn't Nina Hua's illusion, she actually felt that at that moment, Kepler seemed to be frowning slightly.

Then he nodded, "What time?"

The glee on Lee Mansin's face was almost impossible to hide, "It starts at nine."

"Yes! I'll be there."

"Then I'll wait for you."

After saying that, she looked deeply into Kepler's eyes, then looked over at Nina Hua beside her, and without pausing, she directly turned around and walked back.

Nina Hua was thoroughly ignored throughout.

Even she doesn't understand how to offend this one!

When they left after eating, Li Manxin's table was still eating happily, and the gentle and weak woman was surrounded by a group of strange men and women, whispering and laughing, which should have been a very strange picture, but looked incomparably harmonious.

Kepler took her hand and said, "What are you looking at? Gone!"

Only then did Nina Hua react and was dragged out by him.

The sight behind her back had been hot, like pins and needles, and it made her uncomfortable.

They didn't go back to the hotel and went boating on a natural lake in the lodge.

The lake is very clear, vaguely visible all kinds of small fish swimming, a look will know that environmental protection is doing very well, two people in a wooden boat rowed until the middle of the lake before stopping, looking in all directions can be seen a long distant mountains, coupled with the cool breeze in the evening on the face, is very pleasant.

Nina Hua was lying on the bow of the boat, reached out and scooped up a handful of lake water, and miraculously scooped up a large red goldfish, and was so happy.

"Hey! Look, I caught a small fish."

Kepler put down the oars and went to squat down beside her, also faintly curling his lips.

"Should I put it up?"

"Yes! Of course I do!"

Once a child's heart is aroused, it becomes especially exciting.

Kepler saw this and said nothing, quickly returned to the cabin to get a bottle of mineral water, and after unscrewing the cap and pouring out the water, refilled half the bottle of lake water, which allowed her to put the fish in.

"Quick! Let's see if we can catch a few more."

Nina Hua, who had tasted the sweetness once, was obviously aroused and kept fishing in the lake while lying on the bow of the boat.

Kepler didn't stop her, he didn't talk much today, so he sat next to her, holding the bottle and watching quietly.

But it was not retrieved for a long time.

In fact, this kind of fish flexible and small, and the lake is so big, want to hand fishing fish would have been very difficult, but just lucky to catch a just. Nina Hua naturally understood this, so even if he ended up with nothing, there wasn't much frustration.

Tired of playing, she also followed the example of Kepler and sat down on the bow of the boat, stretching her limbs out cozily.

"It's so comfortable here, it feels like the whole thing is relaxed once you get out."

Kepler nodded, "It's been a hard time for you, you should relax for a few days."

Nina Hua was stunned, and then remembered that, indeed, he hadn't been this relaxed for a long time.

She frowned at the thought of that strange Lee Mansin just now.

"What is that woman's relationship to you anyway? Why do I always get the feeling she likes you?"

There was no special expression on Kepler's face, only a faint glance at her.

"So?"

Nina Hua stared.

"Are you jealous?"

Her face changed, and she half snorted.

"Ghosts are jealous."

However, in the end, the mood suddenly got worse.

Kepler explained: "Her father was kind to me before, I was just looking at her father's face is not good for her face, the other simply can not, besides we have not seen each other for many years, she also has her own fiancé, today agreed to go over, because once promised her father will help her if necessary, but does not mean that we have other possibilities."

Chapter 451

Nina Hua listened to him finish and looked at him suspiciously.

"Really?"

Kepler raised his eyebrows.

"Nina Hua, do you know that you look like a jealous woman right now."

Nina blasted off.

"Get out! You're the fu*king jealous one, your whole family's jealous!"

She said, and reached out to push him, and Kepler held her hand, but his mood was somehow better, and he laughed out loud in a low voice.

They played until late in the evening before returning to the hotel, and Kepler went to Li Manxin's place and came back without staying much longer.

Nina Hua looked at his attitude and was indeed just going through the motions, which was only slightly satisfying.

I slept until the next morning.

The next morning, Nina Hua woke up, took a glass of water to the living room and poured it out, when the door suddenly clicked and moved.

She opened her sleepy eyes and watched as Kepler walked in.

Kepler had gotten up early and was already done exercising by now, his strong body wrapped in a sweatshirt that smelled of hormones.

Seeing her standing there, he said, "Get dressed and I'll take you skydiving later."

Nina Hua turned to look at him in shock.

Half a voice, pursed the corner of his lips and asked seriously, "Brother, it's hard to take a holiday, don't you even need to rest?"

"No."

All right! She's just being sentimental and worrying.

Nina Hua silently acquiesced to the man's offer and carried the water back to the room.

Half an hour later, they were packed up and out the door.

In the past, Nina Hua used to love exciting sports like bungee jumping, so her friends barely looked at her as a woman.

She didn't think that a place like Celebrity Villa would actually have this kind of project to play with, and even though it was the most elementary and simple kind, she was still happy.

After playing all morning, at noon, Kepler took her to a fancy music restaurant for a seafood dinner.

The resort is large, with several restaurants, but this one specializes in seafood, with two large tanks of baby seals in front of the entrance, looking particularly cute and cuddly.

Nina Hua suddenly remembered the small fish she and Kepler caught in the lake last night, Kepler sent her back to the hotel on the way, bought a small fish tank for her to fill the fish, then returned to the room she put it on the windowsill, and when she went back again at night because she had something on her mind, she didn't go to look, I don't know if it's dead.

When they entered the restaurant, they picked a seat.

Nina Hua only wanted one seafood congee and left the rest to Kepler to order.

The man quickly ordered a few of the place's signature specialties.

They sat down and waited for the food to be served.

Nina Hua sipped his tea and suddenly asked him, "Are you done with work?"

Kepler looked at her askance, "Who told you that I came out for work?"

"Didn't you have a client appointment yesterday?"

The man suddenly frowned, "Temporary."

After thinking about it, he said, "Anything else you want to play with in the next few days, you can bring it up. I just had time to show you around."

Nina Hua was slightly startled as he listened to his words.

Why the feeling of being flattered?

It was then that two figures in the doorway caught her attention.

It's Mok Haoran and Gu Xi Yue!

Nina Hua's brow furrowed, why were the two of them here?

Gu Xiyue also saw her and smiled at her in a friendly manner, yet her gaze did not change slightly when it swept over the Kepler across from her.

But he quickly regained his composure, as if deliberately, and moved his feet to shield his eyes from Mo Haoran.

Pointing to a spot on the other side of the room, Mohawk nodded and they headed that way.

Nina Hua looked slightly moved.

But she didn't bother much about them, knowing that Mo Haoran and Kepler had a history of problems, so she only pretended not to see them.

But I didn't expect that after finishing the meal, I saw Gu Xi Yue just walked out of two steps, and then suddenly stopped, turned around and took out two invitations from her bag and walked over to her.

"Miss Hua, there's a celebrity party tonight, it's hosted by our Gu family, I hope you and Ji can come with us."

Nina Hua took the invitation, read it, and looked at Kepler.

Seeing that the other party had no intention of refusing, this said, "Yes! We'll be there."

Only then did Gu Xi Yue smile and walk out.

As soon as Gu Xi Yue left on the front foot, on the back foot, Nina Hua asked awkwardly, "Hey, you're really going."

Kepler raised his eyebrows, "You don't want to go?"

Nina Hua laughed, "Not really, it just feels weird, and I think she's drunk, inviting me is fake, wanting to invite you is real."

After all, the last time Kepler had given Mo Haoran an embarrassment, it was unlikely that Gu Xiyue, even if she was more atmospheric, would really be heartless.

The reason for inviting them, first, was because of the identity of the seasonal lingering.

After all, he was the current head of the Jin family, a pivotal figure in the business world, and if he attended, he would certainly add another layer of glory to the banquet.

Secondly, the Jin family is in control of the various docks and land transport, while the Gu family is industrial hair, a lot of industrial transport needs to be through the Jin family, if you can get in good with Kepler, there is only good but no harm in the future business.

To be clear, even if Gu Xiyue liked Mo Haoran, she was a businesswoman, a businesswoman who valued profits and would look at the most profitable option at once, at least for now she still was.

Kepler looked at her, "If you don't want to go, forget it."

Nina Hua was at a loss for words, "Huh?No, I didn't not want to go."

The man raised an eyebrow, obviously thinking she was being verbose.

Nina Hua pursed his lips and paused before saying, "It's actually fine to go and have a look, there's nothing to do at night anyway!"

Only then did Kepler smiled lightly, tossed the invitation to her, and got up.

"Gone!"

Nina Hua was stunned for an instant, not expecting him to leave just like that, but he even got up to keep up and asked, "Where are you going?"

"Aren't we going to a party? Did you bring a tux?"

"Nope. But, huh? Did you pay the bill?"

"Buy it early!"

"Oh."

Celebrity Hills has an area that is pedestrianized and shopping, with all the major name brands.

Nina Hua followed him into a French luxury shop, the shop was small, but the clothes inside were all the latest this year.

Nina Hua took a glance at a deep V black dress with red crushed diamonds and pointed to the dress, saying, "Take that down and show me."

Kepler frowned.

The shopkeeper smiled and took the dress down, smiling, "This lady really has a good eye, this dress is the brand image model launched by our jane, currently the only one in the whole country, and the lady's skin is white and delicate, it is very match black and red."

Nina Hua happily received the skirt and looked at Kepler as she compared it to her body.

"Well? Does this look good?"

Kepler frowned and suddenly reached out, taking a small sky blue dress from the shelf.

"Buy this."

Nina Hua: "....."

How much this man loves blue!

The shopkeeper is obviously a very sharp-eyed, and with a turn of his gaze, he found that these two people obviously Kepler has more to say, so immediately smiled: "The name of this dress is called dream, and as the name suggests it represents dreamy sweetness, Miss looks not very old, wearing this just matches your age."

Chapter 452

Nina Hua was embarrassed.

She's the mother of a child. How can she be so young?

But the clerk's words were clearly very much in the man's mind, and the corner of his lips quirked, and he didn't ask the price, just waved a big hand, "Wrap it up!"

Nina Hua even pulled him back, "Don't you have to try?"

The dress had an extremely narrow waist and she was a little worried that it wouldn't fit.

The man looked down at her, his eyes on her, and said, "No need to try, you can definitely wear it."

For some reason, Nina Hua blushed inexplicably after he said that.

The clerk smiled and asked, "Do you pay cash or credit card, sir?"

"Swipe the card."

"Well, this way, sir."

Kepler followed the shopkeeper to pay the bill, and Nina Hua stood still and waited.

He was soon seen coming out with a bag, a dress, but three bags, and received a handbag and shoes for her.

The heart tastes inexplicable.

This man!

The shopkeeper was obviously delighted, and although most people who come here to play are either rich or poor, it's rare to find a customer as crisp and nimble as this, so he kept sending them to the front of the shop.

They took a few steps away and even waved enthusiastically, "Slow down, and I wish you a hundred years of love!"

A hundred years together?

Nina Hua fell a bit at those four words.

Kepler's quick-eyed grip on her arm was condescending, and he looked at her with a very teasing gaze.

Nina Hua stood up immediately and shook off his hand as if it was covered in some kind of virus.

"Oh! This clerk has a bad eye, doesn't he?"

She smiled awkwardly.

Kepler was a light-hearted cloud, "No, she has a good eye."

Jim Takano stared at him hard.

The man looked calm and serious and said, "The bag and shoes for you are beautiful, I'm not good at this, but I'm happy with her masterpiece."

Nina Hua: "....."

They went back to the hotel and each went back to their rooms to rest for a while, agreeing to go out together at nine o'clock.

9:00 pm.

Nina Hua had already freshened up ahead of time, taking out her dress and putting it on.

Halfway through the change, a sudden pause.

I don't know if she's been a little too comfortable lately, but she seems to be getting flesh on her waist, and this dress is extremely narrow, with the zip in the back, so she can't pull it up herself.

There was a knock at the door from Kepler, "Is it ready?"

She stood in front of the mirror, holding her breath as she zipped up and answered, "Now."

And yet, I can't even pull it up with this stupid skirt!

In a short time, dense sweat oozed from his forehead.

"Can I help you?" The door sounded again.

Nina Hua rang, anyway, last time she had drug him with her bare back, this time it was nothing more than a zip.

So he opened the door to let him in.

Open the door and it's not bright.

I saw that Kepler wore a dark blue suit tonight, black tie and sapphire blue crystal cufflinks, shining mysteriously under the light, exquisite three-dimensional features, as if crafters carefully carved, more and more elegant and reserved, handsome people.

Heart, beating a little fast!

As soon as Kepler entered, he found her small face flushed red and her skirt hanging abnormally on her body.

With a quick glint in his eye, he smiled, "Can't wear it?"

Nina Hua's face darkened, but he nodded honestly

Nodded.

"Show me."

Kepler said, coming up behind her.

Nina Hua wore a small vest in her dress, the kind that was a little longer than underwear and clung to her body to prevent it from going bare.

It was a habit from her previous life, because she was often on missions and might attend various banquet occasions, so in order to move her hands conveniently, she was fully armed under her skirt, a habit she felt good about, plus her skinny body couldn't see it even if she wore it inside, so she had kept it.

Kepler pulled her hand away and looked at the zip.

Eyes darkened as they swept over the girl's flesh-colored tank top.

An involuntary movement of the Adam's apple.

He reached up and moved the zip and said, "Get your hair done."

Nina Hua was busy getting one long hair all the way to the front.

Underneath just the dark hair, there was a small fiery red birthmark on the back of the neck, so realistic it seemed to burn.

Kepler's eyes tightened.

The majestic rainy night came back to mind, with the girl lying on the ground, thin and cold.

Some fuzzy image in his memory crossed and overlapped with that rainy night, so realistic that even he couldn't tell if it was a dream or not.

Thousands of thoughts flashed through my mind, yet in the end, they all just turned into a silent sigh in my heart!

Nina Hua stood quietly, there was no sound in the room, she felt a little embarrassed.

After a few moments, only to be relieved at the waist, the zip pulled up smoothly.

She was finally relieved.

The dress wasn't really small, it was just the right size to wear. She went to the mirror and looked at it, but was a little surprised.

She has always preferred darker and heavier colours, and originally thought that a girly colour like sky blue wasn't suitable for her, but when she saw the youthful and energetic girl in the mirror, with a hint of still childish charm between her eyebrows, she realized that she could also wear this colour.

The three-dimensional cut and simple design look generous and unique.

It was especially refreshing against the sapphire bracelet on her hand.

As I was taking stock, there was a sudden soft laugh.

"Can we go now? Mrs. Gee?"

Nina Hua looked up, only to see Kepler appear behind her, handsome and upright, handsome, with a few hints of banter between his handsome brows less of his usual fierce sharpness and more of his banter.

He picked up the bag from the table and handed it to her, and held out his arm to her.

"Mrs. Gee, you'll be late if you don't leave."

Nina Hua's pretty face blushed slightly, turned around, and glared at him.

Before reaching for his arm.

The party was being held in the first floor lobby of the hotel where they were staying.

They took the lift down.

As one of the leading leisure clubs for the rich and famous in Jiangcheng, the hotel is naturally incomparably luxurious, and as soon as you enter the lobby, you will feel the bright lights and splendor. People come and go and drink together, a bustling scene.

Nina Hua's gaze shifted, easily finding a few familiar faces in the crowd, military, political, business, elites from all walks of life gathered here, and couldn't help but once again be impressed by the Gu family's appeal.

To her surprise, the Lu family and Tailor Feng were actually here!

Biden Lu was abroad and unavailable, so the Lu family naturally sent other people, while Tailor Feng was the representative of the Feng family.

This man was the most long-sleeved of the descendants of the Feng family, and was now standing in the crowd, chatting with several real estate entrepreneurs.

And to her further surprise, Li Manxin was actually with them!

Li Manxin wore a long white dress tonight, a long hair pulled up, under the light of the skin like jade, the more graceful Chu Chu, pure and touching.