

Chapter 474

Jenny's face was flushed red, and she gathered the shredded hair by her ears and smiled a little shyly.

"That... Although I think it's a bit unrealistic to be together for the rest of my life, but for the sake of you being so sincere, I'll guess and agree to you first."

Biden Lu curled his lips, and the smile gradually spread under his eyes, growing larger and larger.

"Well, thank you Mrs. Land for making it happen."

He took her hand and gathered her into his arms, resting his chin lightly on her head and lowering his head to k*ss her forehead again.

"I love you, Ninian."

Jenny stretched her arms around his thin waist, around the sound of happy shouts of tourists, her heart because of his warm embrace, a warm and quiet.

After releasing the river lanterns and walking around the area, it was midnight by the time we were ready to go back.

It was too late, Ann was still a child after all, and prone to sleepiness, so the old woman had sent them a message an hour ago that she hadn't found them, so she went home first.

They were squeezed and scattered in both directions when the river lanterns were released, and then when they tried to go back for more, they naturally couldn't be found.

Jenny received her message and knew that they had gone home first, so that's why she simply took Biden Lu for another stroll around the neighborhood.

After all, it was the place he grew up in, and she wanted to know more about it.

Two people held hands and walked for a while, until they reached the parking area.

Biden Lu told her to stand here and wait while he went to get the car.

Jenny agreed that the car park wasn't far from the river, about a few hundred meters away, and from where she stood, she could still see the stone path that the two had just walked over, spreading all the way to the river.

There were still a lot of people on the other side of the river, and for them, twelve o'clock was still early, probably the beginning of the nightlife, so the number of people saving not only did not decrease, but tended to increase.

Jenny held his arms and waited a moment.

There was a sudden movement behind him.

She thought it was Biden Lu driving over and was turning around when a strong wind suddenly hit her.

Her heart pounded suddenly, and she subconsciously tried to avoid it, yet it was too late.

The visitor was so quick that he had a hand over her mouth before she could move, dragging her behind a nearby tree.

Jenny struggled hard, using all the various defensive moves she had learned before.

However it didn't work.

The reactions and skills of the visitor were simply faster than normal.

After all, she had to take care of her child, and was unable to exert all her strength, so after a few strokes, she was losing ground.

Jenny was covered and dragged off to a dark alley next door.

"Don't move!! I'm not going to hurt you, I just need your help."

The visitor's voice was very hoarse, as if extremely tired and thirsty, and somewhat weak.

Jenny tensed his heart and nose, suddenly smelling blood.

She tried to glance back, "Are you hurt?"

The visitor didn't speak, but he didn't need to answer, the growing smell of blood on his nose had told her the answer.

Jenny's heart suddenly relaxed for no reason.

She whispered, "You untie me and let me see."

The visitor still didn't say anything, but the hand over her mouth was quietly loosened a bit, allowing her to speak clearly and still get some air.

"You're a very good fighter and I'm no match for you at all, so don't worry, I just wanted to see how badly you were hurt, and I'm sure that's what you dragged me here for."

The hand that clamped down on her wrist paused slightly, then released her.

"Sorry for the trouble."

His voice was low, and it was hard to imagine that a kidnapper, in a situation like this, would even say the word sorry to a kidnapped person.

This reinforced Jenny's thoughts.

It's not an ordinary person.

She turned over to the alley, it was dimly lit and the place was completely off the beaten path, not only was there no light, but there were very few people passing by.

Jenny couldn't see his face, and by the dim light of the gross moon in the sky, he could only vaguely make out the tall form of the man in front of him, sitting on the wet ground, breathing weakly.

She frowned.

Reach out in the direction of the blood coming from the smell of blood.

The tentacles were hot and wet, and the man grunted, as if in great pain.

She said in a deep voice, "Your injuries are very serious and this place is out of sight and out of mind for me to treat, so if you trust me, come with me and I'll take you to a place where you can be treated."

The visitor did not speak, and Jenny could feel that he was looking at her.

I guess it's a review!

For a moment, he finally spoke, "How am I to believe you?"

Jenny Jing coldly hooked his lips, "The one who needs help now is you, it's your choice to believe or not, not my obligation."

The other side was silent for another moment.

Just then, there was a rush of footsteps from outside.

Jenny Jing's mind moved and looked towards the entrance of the alley, and indeed saw a familiar figure.

In a heartbeat, I'm about to make a sound.

But his mouth was suddenly covered again, and he only had time to let out a loud "N-no" sound, and then the whole person was brought to roll inside.

"Well...let go!"

"Don't move! Move again and I'll kill you!"

When a dagger was suddenly placed against his waist, Jenny didn't react before a strong wind hit him in front of his face, followed by a muffled grunt and a whirlwind in front of his eyes, his entire body was brought into a warm and familiar chest.

"Bang!"

Something was slammed to the ground, and Jenny was busy stopping him.

"Biden Lu, stop it!"

Biden Lu stopped, his face full of frost.

He took hold of her shoulder and looked her up and down carefully, not seeing any wounds, which slowed his face a little.

Jenny, however, was in a hurry.

Pushing him away, he tried to move forward, but Biden Lu held her back.

"What do you do?"

"Biden Lu, he's not a bad guy! He didn't mean to hurt me."

Jenny explained, but Biden Lu didn't believe it at all, and his face was still frighteningly cold.

He looked coldly at the man he'd kicked off the ground, who was cowering there, spitting out a mouthful of blood, already out of breath and in.

Jenny Jing's face changed.

Biden Luren stepped forward, one foot on the other's chest, and said in a stern voice, "Speak! What are you?"

The man lifted his eyes slightly, his face half-glazed by the blood spitting out of his mouth, unable to see the exact face, and his voice was hoarse as hell.

He looked at Biden Lu, then at Jenny Jing, and finally, his head tilted.

Completely fainted.

.....

There was silence on the way back.

Jenny sat in the passenger seat, sneaking glances from time to time at the man who was driving beside him, and at the dying man in the back seat.

She reached out and gave his sleeve a gentle tug.

"Hey, don't be mad, he's really not a bad guy, he just wanted me to help him, he didn't want to hurt me."

Chapter 475

Biden Lu's face, however, was still very unpleasant.

No response or words.

Jenny deflated her mouth in aggravation, "You're the one who didn't protect me, and you're mad at me?"

The man's brow moved.

For a moment, coldly, he spoke, "I was wrong to leave you waiting there alone, but you shouldn't have had to save him either."

Jenny choked.

Patiently, he explained, "He's a very good fighter, look at how badly he's been injured, I'm not a match for him at all just now, don't you want to know who such a powerful person is?"

Biden Lu tugged lightly at the corners of his mouth, his eyes sweeping over the person lying in the backseat from the rearview mirror.

Slightly open collar, dazzled by blood stains, eyes slightly darker.

"Biden Lu, let's just help him out, okay? Please."

The man's gaze moved to her face, his face pale.

"For another man, begging me?"

Jennyton was speechless.

"Where were you thinking? I was thinking that this guy is really quite mysterious, so I just wanted to know more about him."

The man eyed her, "Get to know him better?"

"Well."

Jenny nodded her head like a chicken pecking at rice, afraid that he wouldn't believe it.

Biden Lu "Heh!" A snicker.

He didn't say another word, but there was a condensed atmosphere throughout the carriage that highlighted his displeasure.

Jenny drummed his gills.

What is this man...well, what is he angry about?

After a moment, she thought, she looked at him again and suddenly leaned in and k*ssed him on the cheek.

The man looked stiff.

She hooked her lips and k*ssed him on the mouth again.

Biden Lu shouted low, "Sit still!Don't move."

"No, I'm going to k*ss you."

I said, and leaned in again, and the man held her down, forcing her to sit in her seat.

Jenny was held down by him, unable to move, and drummed her cheeks in dissatisfaction, negative, "What the hell is wrong with you!Where am I supposed to guess if you're good and angry and don't tell me why?"

The man's eyebrows crested, and a deep smile flashed across his eyes as he caught sight of her exasperation out of the corner of his eye.

Still, he didn't say anything, his grip on her hand tightened, and soon, he was driving back to the Maple Bridge villa.

Jenny got out of the car, and Biden Lu jumped down with him.

She opened the door to the back compartment and saw the seat, where the man had fallen into a coma, and pushed him on the shoulder, "Hey, wake up!"

There was no response from the other side.

Jenny Jing frowned and turned to Biden Lu, "He passed out, it's not safe to put him anywhere else right now, so why don't you bring him in first..."

This time, though, Biden Lu did not object.

Get the man out of the car, carry him to the villa door, open it, and get him inside.

Jenny even went to fetch hot water, it was now the Chinese New Year period, because most of the two of them were staying over at the old mansion during this time, and the people kept here were also vacant, so they were all given a holiday to go home for the New Year.

Because of this, there was surprisingly no one else in the house at this time except for Biden Lu and Jenny Jing.

But the good news is that no one is home, but there are common medicines for injuries.

Jenny rummaged through the medicine cabinet, wrung out the towel, and then wiped the blood off his face.

A thin, pale face was becoming visible.

It was a face that could be called handsome, with eyebrows like distant mountains, a high nose and thin lips, and even when dizzy, the whole person breathed a gentle and elegant smell.

difficult

Oddly, at that juncture, the man still had the heart to say sorry to her.

Jenny couldn't help but hook her lips and reached out to undress him.

The eyelids of the man who had been standing next to the cold-eyed spectator jumped.

"What do you do?"

Jenny naturally replied, "Undress him ah."

Biden Lu's face sank, "No!"

Jenny was stunned and looked up at him in puzzlement, "How can you drug it without taking off your clothes?"

Biden Lu frowned and looked at the man lying on the bed in disgust, but finally snorted.

Snatching the pillbox from her hand, she said quietly, "What is to be done? You tell me, I'll do it!"

Jenny was stunned, and when she saw his serious face, she had a hidden suspicion in her heart, so she pursed her lips and smiled.

Biden Lu's face stiffened and stared back at her fiercely.

The more Jenny looked at him, the more adorable he felt, reaching out to hug his waist and k*ssing him on the cheek.

"What are you thinking about? Now he's a patient to me, and isn't it normal for a doctor to undress a patient?"

Biden Lu looked down at the woman in his arms from top to bottom, his face still not looking good.

"But he's also a man."

Jenny blinked.

"I don't care about the other doctors, not you."

His attitude was strong and unquestionable, and Jenny smiled, "Fine, then I'll do as you say."

Her rare good-natured obedience slowed the man's eyes and he lowered his head and k*ssed her on the lips, patting her on the waist.

"Just stand over there and you'll be there to guide us on what to do."

"Good."

Jenny stood to the side and let him undress the other man before cleaning the wound with alcohol and applying the medicine.

Biden Lu's brain is smart and quick to learn anything, plus so many years of life experience, the handling of some trauma is actually handy.

It didn't take long to take care of the other man's wounds.

Jenny examined his body again, and although all that had been found so far were traumatic injuries, there were inevitably things that had been missed.

She didn't let it go until she was sure there were no other injuries.

Taking an anti-inflammatory pill and feeding it to him, he said to Biden Lu, "Let him lie down for a while first, and we'll talk about the specifics when he wakes up tomorrow."

Biden Lu nodded and moved the person to the guest room, and after making sure it was safe and sound, the two of them returned to their room to rest.

The next day, Jenny woke up late, as soon as they came downstairs, they saw breakfast already laid out on the table, and Biden Lu came back from the outside fitness.

Seeing her, he put the towel with him on the couch and said, "Eat first."

Jenny nodded, breakfast should have been sent over from the old mansion early in the morning, Jenny could eat the taste of Mama Li's cooking over there and praised as she ate, "Mama Li's cooking is still so good, lately I've been fed fat by him."

Biden Lu looked at her, "If you like it, eat more."

I said, and gave her a small half bowl of porridge.

Jenny couldn't eat the small half of the bowl and sat there touching his stomach.

Biden Lu saw the situation, and that's when he said, "The man woke up, you?"

Jenny was stunned and reacted, "Awake?"

"Well."

"I'll check it out."

She got up, thought about it, and went back to filling a bowl with some food before heading to the guest room.

The guest room was on the third floor, and upon entering, I found that the man was indeed awake and sitting on the bed, staring out the window at the green landscape.

Permission to hear footsteps, he turned back, and was slightly shaken when he saw a pair of wallflowers standing in the doorway.

"You're awake! How are you feeling? Is there anything uncomfortable about it?"

Chapter 476

Naturally, he remembered Jenny, his gaze sizing her up and passing over Biden Lu's face.

"Did you guys save me?"

"Yeah, the way you were last night, we couldn't see death, we didn't know what had happened to you, and we didn't dare take you to the hospital, but the good news is that you're all traumatized, so it shouldn't be a big deal after you've been treated."

Jenny said, thinking of something, and asked Biden Lu next to him.

"He didn't have a fever last night, did he?"

Biden Lu said indifferently, "No."

"That's good. Looks like that medicine I fed yesterday is working."

The other looked slightly deeper at the way they exchanged questions and answers, the natural intimacy of the exchange.

"Thank you for helping me, I'm here to apologize for offending this young lady in a rush last night."

He said, bending deeply over her.

Jenny Jing smiled, "You're welcome, the situation last night... I understand."

The man nodded and looked at Biden Lu again.

"I'll repay you for saving my life if I get the chance to do so in the future, I wonder how you two will be called?"

Jenny smiled, "My name is Jenny, and his...his last name is Lu."

In the end, she kept her eyes open and didn't give out Biden Lu's full name.

The man didn't count and nodded.

"I have something else on me, so I won't stay much longer, and I'll repay the two of you for your kindness if I get the chance later."

Jenny was stunned, "Leaving now? Are you okay with your injuries?"

"Thanks for your concern, no problem."

Seeing his insistence, Jenny was not in a position to say anything more and took the leftover medicine from last night to him, telling him to bring it with him just in case, before sending him away.

After sending the man away, they returned home and Jenny asked curiously, "Biden Lu. I always had the feeling that this man had a secret."

The man rubbed her head in amusement, "There are a lot of people with secrets in this world, you don't have to know them all, it's almost noon, let's go over there."

Jenny nodded.

At noon, the two received a call from the old lady asking them to come back to the old house.

Today was the second day of the Lunar New Year, and Jenny had thought that calling them over was just an ordinary party, but unexpectedly the old lady suddenly talked about the wedding.

It was about the death of Master Ji that made both the old lady and the old man feel some emotions, and cherish the people around them even more.

They felt that although Jenny Jing and Biden Lu had been licensed long ago, they hadn't had a decent wedding for so long.

Now that we have a baby again, we might as well take this opportunity to have a small bash and have a little fun for the two oldsters, and then make it official later when we have a baby.

But Jenny Jing and Biden Lu both felt it was too much trouble for the two young men.

The two elders saw the situation and talked at least a little, before finally backing off on each side and not having a formal, just wearing a wedding and a few families getting together for dinner.

The matter was agreed upon, and though it was only briefly done, the old lady was so happy that she immediately had someone go and pick a date to make the wedding dress.

Jenny Jing and Biden Lu were in tears at the sight of him, but since the old man was happy, they just went with him.

That night, they went out to dinner.

The place to eat is right on the river and is a very unique and upscale restaurant.

Jenny was now pregnant and couldn't eat a lot of things, so she could only eat some light food.

It's her favorite cold shrimp, which was originally an absolute no-no during pregnancy.

Nay, seeing that she was a glutton, Biden Lu peeled one and put it in her bowl, saying seriously, "Only one can be eaten."

Jenny agreed in succession, so easily relieved of his cravings, feeling only immensely satisfied.

Lu Enping smiled and said, "I'm glad your pregnancy didn't react very well, or it would have been even harder."

Jenny had a few days of morning sickness some time ago, and deeply experienced the difficulties of motherhood, and deeply agreed with her words.

Biden Lu heartbreakingly held her hand and whispered, "We'll just have another one and never have another one again."

Jenny smiled at him and didn't say anything.

A simple meal, warm and pleasant.

The next day, they were informed by the old lady that the time was set for the weekend of the week.

The wedding dress was made to order on an expedited basis, and it was not too late, and the venue for the reception and everything else didn't need them to worry about, the old lady could handle it herself.

The two of them were fine with what they saw, and the time passed, and soon it was the day of the weekend.

Because it was promised to be a simple affair, not many people came to the wedding, just a few people from the Lu family, and some people from the Guan family.

Since Master Guan had passed away, it was only Guan Ji Ming and Jenny Jing who were a bit more affectionate on the Guan family side.

So the Lu family invited Ji-Ming Guan to be their witness.

Guan Jiming even looked down on life, old age, sickness and death, originally thought that this kind of happy event should not cause much turmoil in his heart, but when he looked at the moment when Jenny came out in her wedding dress, he still couldn't help but be moved to tears.

Like, too much like.

It was simply the same as Guan Jiwan back then.

If Guan Jiwan hadn't died, if she had been lucky enough to live to the day she married in a dignified manner, she would have looked so beautiful in her wedding clothes.

Because Jenny Jing had said that she wanted to wear a wedding dress again when she had a formal wedding, the Lu family had prepared a Chinese dress for them.

The gown was in the style of a cheongsam, with a big red colour, full of joy, and an inventive design and cut that set off Jenny's slender, well-proportioned figure to perfection.

Since there's no father figure, it's Kuan Ji Ming, the uncle, who temporarily takes that role and holds her hand from it.

Guan Jiming held Jenny's hand and walked out of the house.

All the people were sitting in the courtyard behind the old house, the ground was green and grassy, the weather was beautiful, cloudless, the sky was blue as blue, and the wind was blowing, bringing a hint of the fragrance of flowers and grass.

The Land family had a professional pastor over, which is a combination of Eastern and Western, and when asked about the vows, they both said, in unison, "I do."

Then there's the exchange of rings, the rituals, the k*ssing.

The applause around him was as loud as a drum.

Jenny's face was somewhat flushed, and she lowered her head slightly, her lips curving up in a gentle light smile.

Lu stepped forward and took her hand, patting it on the back of her hand.

The old man was so excited that he couldn't speak for half a moment before saying, "Good, very good!"

Jenny worried about his body and was concerned, "Grandpa, don't get too excited, take care of your body."

Master Lu wiped his tears and said joyfully, "I'm fine, after waiting for so many years, I'm happy and relieved to finally see Ah Shen actually having a wedding today, and living up to the spirit of his parents in heaven."

Saying that, he said to Biden Lu beside him, "Treat Jenny well and don't bully her, okay?"

Biden Lu nodded, "I know."