

Chapter 56

Fernando's laughter stopped abruptly.

At this moment, all the people present were stunned!

No one expected that William would throw out two marriage certificates at this time.

What on earth was he doing?

Even Felicity was dumbfounded.

However, she could feel a strange warmth inside her that she couldn't explain.

William was as cold and ruthless as Rebecca the moment he threw out the marriage certificates. He was exactly like Rebecca when she threw out their divorce certificates previously.

However, William would never harm her.

Fernando was surprised when he saw the two marriage certificates in front of him.

"Yo- yo- you, what are you doing?" Fernando shouted.

William put on a faint smile and replied, "Don't you like to get others' marriage certificates? I'm just helping you to get one for yourself."

"Hahaha!" Fernando burst out laughing.

He had already joined arms with Rebecca to pull some strings secretly at the marriage registration office.

Felicity and he had already been registered as a married couple there.

This kid said that he had gotten his marriage certificate.

Then, it must be his marriage certificate with Felicity!

This kid had actually given in!

"Hahaha, then I must thank you for giving up your beloved wife," Fernando chortled loudly.

Felicity's face froze instantly.

The marriage certificate belonged to her and Fernando?

What on earth was William doing?

Felicity's grip on William's hand tightened right away.

However, William scratched her palm gently, as though he was reassuring her not to worry, for he would always be there for her.

Rebecca had been standing by the side watching them. Her heart skipped a beat.

Rebecca had actually changed her mind. She had decided to marry Felicity off to the mysterious rich man who had been supporting Felicity secretly.

However, she didn't expect that William would bring and show everyone Fernando and Felicity's marriage certificates.

This kid was indeed a useless dog!

A dog couldn't change its eating habit. He was just a dog who would always eat his own poop!

What was she supposed to do at this moment?

What if the mysterious rich man got upset....

Fernando chuckled as he flipped open the marriage certificate with a complacent grin. "Then let's celebrate this joyous moment together. Felicity and I, our—"

All of a sudden, he stopped giggling.

His face froze all of a sudden!

His hands were trembling!

The veins on his face were popping!

Everyone was left in a befuddled state.

Why did Fernando's expression change so quickly?

Rebecca mustered up her courage to go towards Fernando. She went against her will and rejoiced, "Fernando, congratulations. Finally, we could settle this matter for you—"

But before she could finish her words, Fernando gave her a kick!

Fernando was infuriated. He threw the two marriage certificates on the ground and rushed to Rebecca, who was also on the ground, and gave her another two kicks.

He kicked Rebecca so hard that she could not stop wailing!

Felicity wanted to go over when she saw her mother being humiliated, but William stopped her. "This is the price she has to pay for what she has done to you!"

Felicity gazed at William, whose eyes were icy cold, and didn't know what to do.

"You b*tch!" Fernando cursed. He bared his teeth and roared, "How dare you collude with William to plot against me? I will kill you!"

Rebecca didn't know what she did to deserve these kicks from Fernando. She immediately yelled, "What did you mean? Why would I collude with William? Don't you know you will always have all my heart and support!"

This was supposed to be a normal sentence, but Fernando became angrier after hearing it and kicked Rebecca a few more times.

At this time, Xena who was at the side carefully picked up the marriage certificates from the ground.

Almost right away, she let out a scream in disbelief after giving only one glance at it.

"This... This!"

The way she looked at William had completely changed.

Everyone was perplexed and rushed forward. After looking at it, they couldn't help but shriek together!

Felicity was even more confused.

What was going on?

What did they see?

Rebecca got up from the ground and snatched the marriage certificates from them. When she saw what was written on the certificates, she fell to the ground right away. She felt so miserable as if she had just stepped on the dog poop.

There were indeed two names on the marriage certificates.

One was written with Fernando's name.

However, unexpectedly, the other name did not have Felicity's name.

It was Rebecca's!

These two marriage certificates were for Fernando and Rebecca!

Fernando's eyes were about to shoot out arrows of fire when he glared at William.

The moment he saw the marriage certificates, his instinct told him that they were fake.

However, when he saw the seals that proved their authenticity on the certificates, he suddenly realized that these were not fake at all!

These were not counterfeited marriage certificates!

He was a reputable young master in Qena City. However, he was married to a middle-aged woman at this moment.

William Lu!

It must be William's trick!

However, how did he know their plans and how could he pull that off?

Was he a god? How could he possibly know everything!

Darn it!

His exasperation and fuming anger seemed to have roasted and injured all his internal organs.

Felicity's face froze when she saw the names on the marriage certificates.

How could Fernando and his mother...

That was too ridiculous.

She couldn't help but turn to William. "William, what's going on?"

William's eyes were as cold as ice.

Previously, he accidentally discovered that the marriage certificate he left in the drawer was missing.

Immediately, he went to look for Felicity's marriage certificate. Without surprise, it was gone too.

At that moment, he had already foreseen that Rebecca was going to make them divorce by force.

Thus, he ordered Melissa to pull some strings and to keep an eye on their marriage status at the marriage registration office at all times.

Sure enough, a few days ago, Melissa reported to him that someone fabricated their marriage status behind their backs.

Therefore, William decided to play along with their plan, but he added a twist to it. They were trying to pull some dirty tricks to plot against him, huh?

Then he would make them have a taste of their own medicine!

They were going to reap what they sowed!

Everyone turned to look at William at this moment.

Even Yasmine questioned William angrily, "Hey kid, what have you done?"

This marriage between Fernando and Rebecca had obviously disgraced the Bai family.

At this time, a voice came from the door. "Let me explain what's going on."

Everyone looked at the door, their eyes lit up at once.

The person who came was an extremely gorgeous woman.

The tight jeans she wore perfectly accentuated her rounded thighs and her slender legs.

Her long hairs tumbled over her shoulders like the waterfall that raced down in a series of cascades and gave off a bewitching feminine charm.

She was Melissa Wang!

The Bais' hearts missed a beat when they saw Melissa show up here.

Why on earth was someone from the Genuine Care Medical Center here as well?

William was from the Genuine Care Medical Center. Could it be that he had been conspiring with Melissa against them?

Melissa entered the villa and glanced at William with a faint smile before she gave an order all of a sudden.

Two men came into the villa while carrying a man. That man was shaking like a leaf.

Then, the two of them threw the trembling man on the ground.

Who was this man?

Everyone was flummoxed.

However, when Rebecca saw this man, uneasiness drifted through her at once. "Bodie..."

This man, Bodie was none other than the staff at the marriage registration office who had been helping Rebecca.

Seeing him here, Rebecca felt as though her head had blown up.

It was over!

It was completely over!

Melissa glanced around and giggled when she saw Felicity's face was quivering with nervousness. She explained, "Felicity, let me reassure you that William and you are not divorced."

Chapter 57

Felicity was stunned.

She wasn't divorced with William?

Then the previous divorce certificates...

Like a grin of a vixen that could only be found on a woman's face, Melissa smiled with a devilish twinkle in her eye.

She pointed to Bodie who was on the ground and demanded, "Go ahead and tell everyone the truth."

Bodie, who was lying on the ground, was trembling. He stuttered as he told the whole story.

It turned out that Rebecca found Bodie and bribed him with money. She instructed him to fabricate the divorce certificates for William and Felicity.

Melissa had already sent an informant in the registration office who managed to catch Bodie red-handed while he was misusing his power.

Since Bodie had failed this operation, he was scared out of his wits. After all, he could have lost his job.

Melissa made good use of his fear. Not only did she manage to secure the marriage between William and Felicity, but she also commanded Bodie to register Rebecca and Fernando as a married couple as per William's instructions.

Fernando's head was buzzing upon hearing this! William and Felicity's divorce certificates were fake. Instead, Rebecca and his marriage certificates were genuine and official.

What a failure!

He had been completely defeated!

Well, it did not matter although he had failed.

But he could not believe that he was married to this b*tch, Rebecca!

What the f*ck! This was too f*cked up!

Upon hearing this, the way everyone looked at the Bai family and Fernando changed instantly.

Rebecca was still on the ground, her face flushed red. She reprimanded Melissa, "You guys! You guys shouldn't do this! This is illegal! I will call the police!"

At this time, William said with a playful smile, "Very well. Calling the police is going to take too much of our time. Why don't I just ask the reporters to come in?"

Terrified, all the Bais and Fernando's faces turned pale right away.

To begin with, it was Rebecca and Fernando who plotted this dirty act.

William was merely playing along with their tricks.

If they were to call the police, the first two people

the police would arrest would be Rebecca and Fernando.

"Well, we'll talk about it later!" Yasmine immediately interrupted their conversation.

William didn't even bother her. He looked at Melissa and said, "Thank you."

Melissa glared at William and replied, "You're welcome!"

Her impression of William had completely changed.

This guy did not only treat her as his personal housekeeper.

But he also ordered her as though she was his maid.

She had become someone who could be sent away right after she completed the tasks he assigned to her.

Being such a talented man, he should be able to achieve something much bigger.

However, he was willing to live a humble life for a woman. Melissa really didn't know if he was too narrow-minded or he was just too faithful.

At this moment, she could only let him take his revenge.

He must be the only one in the world who could come out with such an out-of-the-box idea. Who on earth would think of registering Fernando and

Rebecca as a married couple?

He was such an evil genius.

Despite being enraged, Fernando was aggrieved as well. Rebecca, on the other hand, was at a loss for words while sitting on the ground. Melissa glanced at them and shook her head.

Poor things.

They should not have provoked and offended this little b*stard. They would be much better off even if they got on the country president's nerves.

Melissa reminded herself to be more cautious when she was around William.

He was really excellent at getting his revenge.

From now on, she had to be more tactful to him. Otherwise, perhaps someday, he could make her marry someone else too.

After Melissa revealed the truth, she left the Emperor's Flower knowing that she had accomplished her task.

However, the crowd had burst into an uproar.

Like headless flies that were fluttering around, all the Bais were clueless about what to do next. "What should we do? What will happen to our family's reputation?"

There was only one person who was covering her mouth and tittering secretly.

She was Xena.

Xena had been enraged since the days William and Felicity were being pushed around and bullied.

However, she didn't hold much power to have a say in this matter.

It seemed like William had finally started fighting back.

Besides, it only took William one strike to give the Bai family and Fernando a licking.

They could not vent their frustrations nor get their revenge.

This felt ecstatic.

As her brother-in-law, William was definitely a gem!

As she thought about this, Xena couldn't help feeling so proud of William. She scampered towards William and held his hand coyly, "William, you are really amazing. I really admire you."

William gazed at Xena who looked just like a little girl and replied with a gentle smile, "Well, you shouldn't add more trouble for me."

As expected, Felicity, who was standing by the side, was peeping at William while pouting her lips.

Without releasing William's hand, Xena sneaked a glance at Felicity with a mischievous smile. "William, where is the bracelet you promised to give me?"

William was taken aback for a while before he lowered his head sheepishly. "It's at my home. I've forgotten about it. If you have some spare time, you can come to my place and get it from me."

The resentful look in Felicity's eyes became even more apparent.

However, Felicity decided not to say anything since William had managed to turn the tables on the Bais several times.

All of a sudden, she had a strange feeling about William.

Previously, the only feeling she had for William was love.

It was a kind of love that sprouted since they were young. Their relationship progressed from friendship to love before they started to cherish each other as their closest family members.

However, for some strange reason, there was a trace of admiration in her eyes at this moment.

It felt as if she was like a beauty who was yearning for a hero...

How long had it been...

It seemed that she started to have this kind of feeling since he saved her ten years ago.

Then, it was buried deep inside her for the last ten years.

This feeling of admiration had consumed her entire being once again. It was smoldering in her as if it would set her heart on fire and blow it up.

When Felicity thought of this, she was overwhelmed with emotions, her eyes twinkled with her love for William.

The scene was still filled with noises and chatter.

Rebecca was still on the ground. She was so angry that she burst into tears.

She knew very well that she brought this upon herself.

"It's all my fault. I've done all kinds of evil things. This is karma. This is the time for me to pay back for what I've done wrong."

When Yasmine pointed her finger at Rebecca and reprimanded her, rage flowed through Rebecca right away.

This was the first time she failed, wasn't it?

Why was everyone making such a fuss?

Fernando didn't say anything.

When Rebecca thought of this, she got up from the ground and roared, "Stop talking!"

The people who were criticizing her quieted down instantaneously.

Rebecca glanced at Fernando with an abashed look. "Fernando, how about..."

Fernando had been suppressing his anger. When he heard this, he exploded instantly. "How dare you? Do you want to marry me? Why don't you take a look at yourself in the mirror? You're not even qualified to be my servant! Are you daydreaming? I will always have all your heart and support? You must be crazy! If you fail to come up with a solution for me, I definitely will kill you!"

Rebecca felt bitter; the bitterness in her heart was as much as that of a bitter gourd.

Rebecca gazed at William. Suddenly, she wanted to go to beg him.

As soon as this thought flashed across her mind, she shook her head immediately.

"I'm his mother-in-law!"

Dream on!

Even if she was going to ask something from him, she would do it by giving him an order.

Rebecca shouted at William right away, "You'd better help me to find a solution to this matter! Otherwise, I will not forgive you!"

William sneered. He was too lazy to entertain Rebecca.

This group of people was like clowns. William looked at his watch and asked Felicity, "Haven't you always wanted to listen to Flavia sing? Let's go."

Felicity was stunned. Flavia? To listen to her sing? Well, at this time, they should be able to make it if they rush over to the concert.

But...

Rebecca, who was on the other side, sneered coldly.

"Hmph, you're still thinking about having fun, aren't you? What a coincidence! I have more than 200 tickets with me. Do you want them?"

VAMP2.0 WORK

Chapter 58

After she said this, Rebecca took out a stack of tickets from her bag.

Fernando, who was standing by the side, also burst out laughing. His laughter was sinister.

In order to prevent Felicity from going to the concert and not coming to the birthday party, they had made full preparations!

The tickets to Flavia's concert had been sold out on the internet. They were afraid that William and Felicity would buy the tickets from the scalpers, thus Fernando spent about 100,000 yuan to purchase all the tickets available on the market!

They thought that by doing this they could make sure Felicity attended the party.

At this moment, unexpectedly it had become a tool for them to make William lose face!

Didn't they wish to watch the concert?

They would have to beg him!

Fernando snatched that stack of tickets from Rebecca and exclaimed arrogantly, "Do you want it? Let me tell you the truth. These are all the tickets you can find on the market. I have all of them."

William was too lazy to entertain him. He seized hold of Felicity's hand and left.

"Stop there!" Fernando roared again.

His face was extremely livid!

D*rn it!

"He doesn't take my words seriously, does he?"

Alright!

Didn't they want to see the concert?

"As you wish!"

While Fernando was thinking about this, he took out the lighter from his pocket all of a sudden and set all the tickets aflame. The crowd immediately burst into an uproar!

Looking at the flickering fire and the burning tickets, Fernando felt ecstatic.

He chortled like a madman. There was only one thought left in his mind.

"Two of you can watch the concert in h*ll!"

With a swing of his hand, the burning tickets were thrown in the air before they danced their ways down to the ground.

Everyone's heart was aching. These were money after all.

100,000 yuan was gone just like that!

However, Fernando didn't care about it at all.

He was humiliated a while ago. If these tickets could make William look up to him, even just a little bit, no matter how much it cost him, it was worth it!

Felicity's eyes darkened as she watched the ticket being burned to ashes. She turned to William and murmured, "Forget it. I'm very happy and grateful for what you've done tonight."

However, William darted a glance at Fernando as if he was staring at a raving lunatic.

He blurted out, "Who told you that I'm going to the concert?"

Fernando's laughter came to an abrupt end.

Everyone stared at William with a puzzled expression, not knowing what he meant.

"Di-di-didn't you say..." Fernando's voice was a little hoarse.

"Must I go to her concert to listen to her songs? You must be so stupid," William replied sarcastically.

Everyone on the scene was bemused by William.

What on earth was he talking about?

Fernando couldn't figure it out either. Suddenly, a thought flashed across his mind and he burst out laughing again.

Fernando guffawed loudly. "Hahaha, I finally know what you meant! You are going to take Felicity and listen to the concert outside the hall. It's really pathetic to know how the poor date."

When everyone heard it, they all turned to give William a strange look.

Since William said he was not going to the concert, there was only one plausible explanation. They were going to listen to Flavia sing outside the concert hall for free.

This...

This was so embarrassing!

They really didn't know how William could say this himself.

Was he not afraid of disgracing his family?

A man who was as poor as William might as well be dead!

However, Felicity gave him a faint smile and replied, "It doesn't matter. I like it."

"Let's go. It's just outside the door." William took Felicity's hand and walked towards the door.

Just outside the door?

Everyone widened their eyes in confusion.

What was there to listen to outside the door?

Was he going to play a tape?

Everyone followed William out of the door with a bewildered look on their faces.

Outside the door, there was a large group of reporters.

Since it was announced that the Emperor's Flower belonged to Felicity, all reporters from the whole city had come to gather here.

When they noticed that Felicity was heading out of the villa, they immediately started taking pictures. The ka-chick sound of their dazzling camera flashes reverberated in everyone's ears.

Felicity was not used to this kind of attention, thus she covered her eyes with both hands instantly.

William pulled Felicity into his arms gently to protect her from the flashes. He then urged the reporters, "I'm sorry. Can you not take photos? Just give me a minute."

The reporters had a good impression of William, hence they turned off their cameras right away.

At this time, William stared at Felicity who was in his arms and whispered softly, "Do you still remember I told you that I would give you two gifts?"

After hearing it, Felicity quipped with a sour look, "Of course I do. You said that you would give me a flower and a gust of wind. I had received the flower. As for the wind, I guess you mean that we are going to work really hard to make ends meet for the rest of our lives."

William was amused by Felicity. He didn't expect that she was so creative.

William ruffled Felicity's hair tenderly. Suddenly, he pointed at somewhere not far away and mumbled gently, "Oh my silly wife, look! The gust of wind that I'm about to give you is..."

The direction he pointed at was the huge curtain that they had passed by earlier.

The curtain looked like a budding flower.

Speaking of this, William stretched out his hand in the air and snapped his fingers.

Like a magic spell, after the snap, the huge curtain opposite them fell to the ground.

All the lights in Pinnacle Real Estate went out concurrently!

Myriads of neon lights were lit up around the place where the curtain fell.

It was as if the whole world had its eyes fixed on that place.

Over there, a spotlight moved across the stage.

A person was standing in the spotlight.

William finally continued what he had yet to say.

"The gust of wind I am giving you is Flavia!"

When the crowd finally recognized the woman in the spotlight on the stage, they let out a deafening scream instantly!

Everyone rushed towards her along with all the flashlights of their cameras.

She was Flavia!

Flavia, who should have been at her concert, showed up in Pinnacle Real Estate!

What on earth was going on here?

This had brought so much shock to the people present there!

At this moment, Flavia was dressed in a splendid dress, her hair crashed over her shoulders. Under the spotlight, she looked like a fairy descended on the earth, stunning and astonishing.

She held a microphone in her hand and was greeting everyone with a faint smile. It was as if her actual concert was organized here.

Why was Flavia here?

Some reporters shouted this question out loudly.

Some of them were even trying to climb onto the stage!

At this time, a group of security guards came in and blocked all these overzealous people from getting closer.

No one had foreseen this.

Everyone thought it was just some unfinished renovation work that was covered under the curtain.

However, to everyone's surprise, this curtain that had the shape of a flower bud had become the attention of thousands of people at this moment!

This curtain had 'blossomed' into a profoundly beautiful flower!

It was a flower that could light up the whole Qena City!

Its anther was Flavia herself, who was as stunning as ever.

Flavia thanked the reporters with a gentle smile and cleared her throat.

All the people present immediately held their tongues but they could hardly hide their excitement. They were waiting for her to tell them the reason she showed up here.

Flavia gazed at somewhere far away.

"The reason I'm here..."

She paused for a while and continued, "Miss Felicity, do I have the honor to invite you on stage and sing a song with me..."

Chapter 59

Felicity had been covering her mouth since the moment Flavia showed up under the curtain out of the blue. It was difficult for her to believe what she was seeing.

She was Flavia!

Flavia Li!

Wasn't she having a concert?

Why would she appear here?

Soon, all the doubts in her heart were clarified.

Everyone fastened their eyes on Flavia. What she said next shocked everyone a lot more.

"Do I have the honor to sing a song with you..."

Felicity could not believe that Flavia invited her on stage!

Felicity's head was buzzing.

A strong wave of happiness surged to her mind and consumed every single cell of her body.

She was so excited that she was about to pass out!

Flavia had always been Felicity's idol.

It was Felicity's wish and dream to watch Flavia's concert.

Of course, the idea of singing a song with Flavia was nothing more than her wishful thinking.

For a long time, she had always felt that her dream was too unrealistic.

She didn't dare to tell anyone except William.

However, on this day, at this very moment!

Her dream had come true!

Besides, all of these seemed to be from her husband, who could make all impossible possible!

Their original plan was to go to the concert.

However, their tickets were torn off by Rebecca. Fernando even burned all the remaining tickets he bought from the scalpers.

Felicity had completely given up the idea of attending the concert.

Although this was going to be a tiny imperfection for her birthday, Felicity was satisfied of what she had had.

Whose life would be perfect anyway?

It was not possible that everyone would get what they wish for on their birthdays.

That only happened to princesses in fairytales.

Meanwhile, she was just another ordinary woman.

Felicity was already extremely grateful for whatever that she had received.

Unexpectedly, William didn't want to leave any imperfection on her birthday!

No, she should no longer use the word 'imperfection'.

William was practically helping to fulfill her biggest dream and wish!

How did William do this though? Felicity wondered.

She was Flavia!

Besides, her concert was about to begin half an hour later!

Felicity felt that William was as mighty as a god.

When William saw Felicity staring at him with her sparkling eyes, he couldn't help but pinch her little hand and said with a gentle smile, "Flavia is calling out to you. Aren't you going up the stage?"

All the cameras were also focusing on Felicity.

All the reporters felt as if they were going crazy!

Flavia was here for Felicity!

This was insane!

They were told that the Emperor's Flower belonged to Felicity a while ago!

The two most famous men in Qena City even came to her birthday party!

At this moment, even Flavia, a popular superstar, came here right before her own concert, for Felicity!

All these happened for Felicity!

Thinking of this, the reporters couldn't calm themselves down!

Almost at the same time, every reporter was ringing their own newspaper offices and TV stations!

"Leave tomorrow's headline for me!"

"The headline will be 'She has been asleep in the last three years, but she has awakened as a phoenix this evening in Qena City!' She's Felicity Bai!"

Felicity's name would be known across the whole Qena City the next day till forever!

Felicity walked up to the stage while the camera flashes lit her path up.

Her heart was beating erratically.

The flowers William gave was the Emperor's Flower.

The gust of wind was referring to Flavia!

Her husband was such an almighty lord!

There was no other person who could materialize all the romance in this world and piled them up in front of her in the form of surprises.

She was afraid that she could no longer find someone as great as him.

For there was only one person in the world named William Lu!

She was only a few steps away from Flavia.

Her smile was so elegant...

It took them only a while before the two of them stood on the stage together.

The crowd was looking at two beauties with their eyes wide open. Both of them were emitting a dazzling charm without them knowing.

They were so gorgeous!

One of them was regarded as the most beautiful flower in Qena City.

Meanwhile, the other one of them was like the soothing evening breeze.

There was no one in Qena City who didn't know Felicity for her alluring appearance. At this moment, her smile was like a flower. Her face was flushed with a touch of shyness.

Flavia, on the other hand, was elegant and graceful. She stood on the stage like a blooming lotus. Even when she bowed her head, she managed to bewitch everyone present.

They were practically the flowers that blossomed on a spring; their elegance was as pleasing as the full moon on an autumn night.

The reporters could not stop taking photos, hoping to capture this rare moment forever as a picture.

The people were cheering and roaring excitedly. However, there was a group of people who stood out so much. Their faces were twisted in fury.

They were Fernando and the Bais!

Seeing Felicity being invited onto the stage, Fernando almost went crazy with anger!

Why did Flavia appear here at this time?

He'd burned 200 tickets. He thought he'd destroyed all the possible ways that Felicity could take to meet Flavia.

He didn't expect that Flavia, who was the spotlight of the concert, would come here!

Rage welled up in him. He felt as if he was being humiliated again.

It was as if he was being ridiculed.

What good did it do for him to tear up the tickets?

What good did it do for him to burn all the tickets?

William had brought Flavia here!

Well, he couldn't set Flavia on fire as well, could he?

Anger!

Anger was fuming in him!

He thought he was going to win for sure, but he was defeated by just a snap of his opponent's fingers.

All the people in the Bai family were dumbfounded.

Flavia was here to meet Felicity.

It seemed that Felicity's comeback was inevitable...

The Bai family couldn't help but look at another person.

William Lu!

It seemed that William was behind all of these!

Everything that had happened on this very night!

William seemed to be the one who made all these happen, either directly or indirectly.

Flavia seemed to be invited by him as well...

If they remembered correctly, Flavia also had signed a contract with the Genuine Care Medical Centre to endorse their products.

"This kid must have paid Flavia a huge sum of money to make her come here..."

He was obviously a good-for-nothing. Why was he so lucky every time?

There was always someone to lend him a helping hand every single time!

It was disgusting!

On the stage, Flavia sang a song with Felicity. It was called 'Our Innocence'.

Everyone was intoxicated by the sweet melodies of the song and Flavia's melodious voice. Her voice was made perfect by Felicity's mellifluous voice which was tinged with a hint of shyness. It took them a long while before they could come back to their senses.

Felicity sang the song while looking at the gentle smile on William's face. Suddenly, tears spilled out of her eyes. He was staring at her down the stage.

Although it looked easy for him to put on this smile, she knew very well he had to pour in a lot of efforts to make all of these happen.

"Oh my silly husband, it seems like you would get anything in this universe as a gift for me..."

Before their story began...

The winters of those forgotten years...

That was the time when she still didn't know how difficult life could be.

She hadn't fallen in love with him.

His shirt was as white as snow.

He looked up as he waited for the leaves to fall off from the branches, unblinkingly.

He seemed to have some words to say.

But he decided to keep them for later.

He was waiting for the time when he could reveal her to the world as the most stunning woman.

"William, here comes the time. I'm now dressed up in such sophisticated clothes. I have no more regrets in this life."

After the song ended, Felicity was overwhelmed by her own emotions. Even Flavia felt as though she had taken a time machine and embarked on a journey that brought her back to her guileless teenage life.

As a singer, besides familiarizing herself with the melody, she had to indulge herself in the song too.

After she finished singing, her nose became stuffy.

She was reminded of her bittersweet youth.

All of a sudden, she reached out and held Felicity in her arms.

She whispered in Felicity's ear, "I really envy you. You have such a good husband. Please treasure him, always."

She paused for a while and added, "Would you like to go to a bigger stage and sing with me?"

Chapter 60

The endless flashlights seemed to light up the whole night sky the moment Flavia gave Felicity a hug.

At this moment, the two stunning women in Qena City seemed to have entered another realm. It was as if their harmonious presence complemented each other.

Such a beautiful scene was definitely going to illuminate the dawn of Qena City the next day.

There was a glimmer of hope in Felicity's eyes when she received Flavia's invitation.

That was such a huge stage.

There were at least ten thousand people there. If she could sing a song with Flavia, it would be the most wonderful memory in her life.

However, Felicity replied to Flavia with a smile while looking at her envious eyes.

She turned around and gave Flavia a gentle hug, saying, "Thank you. But I am already content."

Flavia was stunned.

She couldn't help inviting Felicity because she was so immersed in that song.

She was convinced if Felicity was one of her fans, she would definitely accept such an invitation.

However, Felicity thanked her and said that she was already content.

Content...

She was right. Life was supposed to be like this, wasn't it?

They should be grateful and content if it was good.

Flavia nodded and let go of Felicity.

Her affection for Felicity grew deeper.

No wonder that little b*stard would love her so much that he was willing to ditch the whole world in order to realize her dreams. After all, she was such a kind and innocent woman.

After thanking Flavia, Felicity walked down the stage.

As for Flavia, she announced that she would be heading towards her concert soon, hoping that those who liked her could join her and show their support.

Felicity walked towards William.

Looking at William who was smiling at her, she knew that she no longer had any regrets.

Why didn't she accept the invitation to the concert? To that stage that was much more striking?

This was because William had given her enough warmth to last a lifetime.

She already had the best dream that anyone could have ever asked for.

She plunged into William's embrace and hugged him tightly.

At this moment, she wanted to make William and her as one so much, in the hope that she could etch this moment in her heart for the rest of her life.

"What did Flavia tell you just now?" William asked, his smile so charming.

Felicity told William her conversation with Flavia.

William was shocked before he mused, "I'm also envious of you."

"What do you envy me for?" Felicity looked up and asked.

William showed a gentle smile. "I envy you for having such an amazing husband like me."

Felicity was speechless. It seemed that her husband was being shameless again.

On the stage, Flavia had already left while being escorted and besieged by the security guards.

She got into a car, stretched out her hand from the window, and waved it in William's direction.

It was as if they were bidding each other farewell.

However, Felicity's heart missed a beat when she saw Flavia's car.

This car was so familiar...

Oh right! This car was on the one in the photo that Rebecca threw at Felicity when she mentioned that William had an affair with a rich woman.

This was the car in the photo.

It turned out that the woman wearing a mask and sunglasses was Flavia.

The last mystery that was kept deep inside Felicity's heart was finally solved at this moment.

She buried her head in William's arms again and mumbled, "William, I'm so glad to have you."

A large number of people followed Flavia to the concert hall as soon as she left.

There were only a dozen reporters who stayed there. They had been there since the beginning.

No one knew when Fernando sneaked away.

Those reporters had surrounded the Bai family.

The reporters were elated to see the Bais who were so devastated at the moment. The Bais looked like they just lost someone they loved dearly.

Yasmine's attitude towards them was extremely bad earlier. But, at this moment, they had lost the upper hand.

All the reporters whom Yasmine yelled at previously pointed their microphones at her and asked, "Madam Chen, I remember that you promised to swallow the Emperor's Flower if it is owned by Felicity. Would you please tell us your thoughts at this moment?"

The reporter's question made Yasmine's face freeze.

She recalled her remark earlier and was so embarrassed that she felt she had an egg on her face.

No one in the whole Qena City, not to mention her, would have thought that the Emperor's Flower belonged to Felicity!

Despite knowing that these reporters were merely taking this opportunity to assail her, Yasmine could not figure out anything to refute them.

She looked at William and Felicity who were leaving secretly and the anger in her began to smolder again!

She swore to deal with these two rascals sooner or later!

William silently left the scene with Felicity.

Everything that he had to do here was over.

Felicity had also received the most fabulous gifts from him. He had made her the most dazzling goddess in this evening.

They were heading home at this moment.

A man glared at the direction they left in the darkness, then took out his phone before he instructed in a voice full of resentment, "They are going back now. Hold your positions."

William and Felicity were unaware of the imminent danger. They were chatting happily as they were on their way back home.

However, William's brows immediately became tightly knitted when they got off the car in the underground parking lot.

His eyes were fixed at a pitch-black place!

Someone was moving there.

All of a sudden, a baseball bat was thrown out of there!

It smashed in William's car!

More than a dozen people, with baseball bats in their hands, were running towards them fiercely!

When Felicity saw this scene, she shrieked with fear.

William protected Felicity behind himself instantaneously.

In the blink of an eye, those people were already in front of William!

The one leading them was none other than Fernando.

Fernando glared at William, his eyes gleaming with fuming anger that looked like it could roast anyone to death.

He should be the one who won Felicity's heart this evening. They were supposed to spend their first night of marriage together!

However, things did not turn out the way he wanted, all thanks to William's tricks. William had humiliated him countless times and made him a joke in everyone's eyes.

How could he bear such a shame?

He had already recruited some men earlier. He planned to murder William right after he married Felicity.

He did not expect that this group of men would come in handy in this way at this moment!

If he could not win William fairly, then he did not mind playing some dirty tricks!

Felicity's face turned pale when she saw Fernando. "Fernando, what on earth are you doing?"

"What am I doing? Hmph, are you playing dumb on purpose? Of course, I'm here to pick you up so we can enjoy our first night together!" Fernando did not even bother to hide his fury at this moment.

"Yo-you are a beast!" Felicity was so enraged that she stamped her feet.

It seemed like Fernando would not let go of her and William no matter what.

"What should I do now?" Felicity was anxious.

There were so many of them.

An idea flashed across Felicity's mind. "Right, I should call the police!"

However, when she was about to fish out her phone, she saw a sly smile on Fernando's face.

She looked at her phone screen and was dumbfounded.

Without them realizing, the phone signal had been blocked by a jammer.

Fernando had come fully prepared!

He was sure this evening he would get his revenge!

Fernando did not even want to talk to William. He waved his hand in the air and ordered, "Go! Beat the man to death! Take the woman away!"

More than a dozen people marched towards them at the same time!

Felicity's heart trembled. "Goodness, it's over!"

But at this moment, she saw William made a move!

Chapter 61

All of a sudden, William picked up the bat that had rammed his car and stood in front of Felicity.

Those men were already in front of William.

William swung the bat in his hand and smashed the man closest to him!

Blood gushed out from the man's head who was hit by William.

However, William was immediately surrounded by more than a dozen people.

Seeing this, Felicity burst into tears.

Her heart was about to jump out of her throat.

There were more than a dozen of them.

William, on the other hand, was the only person fighting against them.

How could he win?

Fernando did not expect that William would dare to resist. He hissed, "Beat him up! Beat the sh*t out of him! I would be responsible if he dies! I promise to give everyone a generous reward!"

When those men heard Fernando, they immediately became much fiercer. They made a circle around William before they flung their bats on him.

William had been studying the Scripture of Tranquility for quite some time lately. Every night, he used silver needles to poke on his acupoints to stimulate the potential in his body.

His body was much tougher than ordinary people. However, he would not be able to dodge all of them since there were a dozen bats that were targeted at him.

Several bats hit on his back and it hurt so much.

He let out a moan before he waved the bat in his hand to beat the few men in front of him away!

Those men were terrified by the sudden aura exuding from William and took a step back.

William's clothes were already torn.

Blood began to ooze out of the wounds on his body.

Fernando burst out laughing when he saw it. "I'd like to see how long you can hold on! Come on! What are you waiting for?"

Those people approached William again.

William was acting strange. He did not hide nor dodge their bats.

He stood in the same place as he began to wave the bat in his hand crazily while being bashed by the other bats.

It was as if he did not mind putting his life on the line!

Seeing this, Felicity's eyes were brimming with tears.

What a fool!

He didn't dodge because she was right behind him!

There were more than a dozen people surrounding him. They hit him so fiercely. William could feel the excruciating pain even in the core of his bones.

They seemed to have triggered the potential that was hidden in him.

He roared and clasped a man's bat with one hand before it hit onto his face. He then gave the man a merciless kick at his stomach.

He waved his hand and hit the man's head with the bat before he could retreat.

The man yelled and fell to the ground, lying there motionlessly.

William was giving his best to fight and survive.

A few minutes later, William's body was already covered with countless injuries.

He was still there without moving an inch. Yet he seemed to be on the verge of collapsing.

But he was still standing there.

He couldn't fall to the ground!

Despite the intensely sharp pain that pierced through his bone, he felt as though he had fallen into another unknown realm.

There was blood at the corner of his mouth.

His body was full of bruises and injuries.

But what was surging out of his eyes was madness!

Arrogance was the only thing that could be seen in his gaze!

"I, William Lu, will die in another battlefield!"

Not here!

Not by a dozen baseball bats!

"Come on!" William bellowed all of a sudden. For the first time, he took the initiative to attack the men in front of him!

The men were completely stunned by William's roar. They could hear his bloodlust and determination in his voice.

Seeing William had started his attack, Fernando's eyes widened in fury. "Kill him! Hurry up!"

There were at least eight people who surrounded William.

Fernando, on the other hand, was waiting for an opportunity to sneak on William.

He carefully dashed to the back of William when William was not paying attention. He then bashed

William with his bat on the back of William's head!
This hit made William let out a groan right away.

Everyone at the scene stopped what they were doing at once!

Scarlet-red blood spurted out from the back of William's head!

In the blink of an eye, his whole face was covered with his blood!

Seeing this, Felicity felt as if her heart had shattered into a thousand pieces.

All the fear and tension a while ago was gone at this moment.

She plucked up her courage that had been welling up in her chest.

She screamed at the top of her lungs and rushed towards William!

"Stop it!" She stood in front of William and hugged him as if she wanted to protect William behind her.

Looking at William, whose face was covered with blood, she was so distressed that she felt suffocated.

Why did this happen?

Why did he beat William up?

What did William do so wrong?

Even if there was a mistake, it was she who did it!

"Come at me instead! Don't hit William anymore!"
Felicity begged, tears rolling down her cheeks.

Fernando, who was standing by the side, burst into laughter when he saw William who was seemingly clueless and anxious about what to do next.

"Haha, did you see that? This is what you get for offending me! You ask for it! You must die if you provoke me!"

Fernando glanced at Felicity and added, "Felicity, it's your honor that I like you! How dare you be so ungrateful?"

He bared his teeth. "I'll let you witness this with your own eyes today. Your man will be beaten to death by me here! You'll see what I can do!"

"Don't you love each other very much? Well, I'll give you a chance. As long as you kneel in front of me and apologize to me, I'll let him go! Hahaha!"

Fernando guffawed like a maniac.

Every chamber in Felicity's heart was filled with bitterness.

Why couldn't she just be with William?

Why were people torturing them like this?

Kneel down to him...

Apologize to him...

Felicity looked at William, who seemed to have frozen to the ground, his eyes tightly shut. Tears started to stream down her face.

Her legs turned to jelly. She was about to fall down to the ground.

"William, thank you for doing so much for me."

Should she do something she could to repay him...

Even if she had to sacrifice her life and dignity, she refused to live a life without him.

Felicity had made up her mind, but someone clutched her shoulder tightly.

A hand was on her shoulder. It was like a latch that lifted her up from the ground.

She looked up and noticed it was William.

His face was covered with blood. His eyes, which had been closed a while ago, were opened widely at this moment!

His gaze seemed to be emitting with bloodlust.

William almost passed out when he was being smashed on the head by the bat a while ago.

However, he managed to resist the dizziness and endure the pain.

"I can't fall down!"

If he did, there would be no one to protect Felicity...

When he saw that Felicity was going to kneel down to Fernando, his blood quickened as if his whole body was set aflame!

"Felicity, if you're willing to sacrifice so much for me, I'll be willing to die for you..."

This was all he needed in this life.

A few silver needles suddenly appeared in William's hands.

He looked at Felicity who was completely dumbstruck and gave her an evil yet sorrowful smile.

"Honey, don't be afraid..."

He mumbled, "Do you still remember the question you asked me before? You asked me if I have changed."

"Then let me tell you the answer now."

Felicity was taken aback. She didn't know why William would say these at this moment in time. They were on the verge of death.

Had he lost his mind after being beaten up?

All of a sudden, Felicity, Fernando and the hitmen widened their eyes.

They saw that William poked himself with the silver needle in his hands!

In the blink of an eye, there were 14 needles that went into his skin!

His body suddenly began to quiver.

There was one last needle in his hand.

Without hesitation, he poked his Holy Court acupoint with this 15th needle!

"If Felicity is really in danger, I, William Lu, am still..."

He paused for a while and exclaimed, "The same fearless young man who would fight for her 10 years ago!"

VAMP2.0 WORK

Chapter 62

After poking himself with the needles, William looked up and let out a thunderous roar!

He was exuding a compelling aura to the surrounding.

He seemed to have entered a state of madness. Holding the long bat in his hand, he sprinted towards Fernando and the men!

Everyone present was dumbfounded by William's drastic change.

Felicity couldn't help but tremble when she heard what William said.

When she saw William rush out with the bat in his hand, the memory of what happened a decade ago popped out in her mind.

Ten years ago, on a snowy night, he used a stick as a sword to save and fight for her!

Ten years later, she was again being confronted by a bunch of thugs who were no better than a pack of wolves and wild dogs.

Just like the man in her memory, William did not care about his own safety. His blood was spilled across the place!

These two images gradually overlapped on each other in Felicity's mind.

At this moment, she burst into tears!

That fearless young man who was willing to sacrifice his life for her ten years ago...

He was back!

He was the only hero in Felicity's heart!

Prior to this, Felicity had resented him many times because of his cowardliness.

It was true that the emotional knot in her heart had already been untied after so many incidents that happened lately.

However, she couldn't help but hold on to a tiny bit of expectation in her.

At this moment, what she had been hoping to witness had happened. But it happened in such a bloody way!

William's body was shaking constantly.

He knew what the 15th needle would do to this body if it was poked on the Holy Court acupoint.

But so what?

"If I can't protect Felicity, I will be too ashamed to face her again! I will never meet her even if I have become an invincible man."

A powerful, forceful wave of determination was quickening the blood in his system, seeping into his every cell.

The blood he shed a while ago had ignited the potential in his body!

Kill!

Kill!

.....

He swore to kill all these people who tried to humiliate his woman!

He ran into the crowd. But this time, he was like a wolf leaping onto a flock of sheep!

His only weapon was the bat in his hand. His enemies were holding similar weapons too.

So what?

"I'm stronger than you!"

"You try to murder me, huh?" William sneered.

Why did it matter?

"I have nine lives!"

Everyone was terrified and struck by the domineering aura around William!

Despite being hit by the bats, one after another, he did not show any expression at all, as if he could not feel any pain.

At this moment, he was howling like a vicious monster!

The only thing he did was to fight like a ferocious tiger!

They could not win him at all!

In less than a minute, those hitmen were all beaten up by William!

Fernando, who was standing by the side, was so petrified that he literally peed his pants.

He thought that he had already secured the victory.

It was clear that William was being beaten up like a wild dog by them a while ago.

But at this moment, he had become so strong!

What did he do to himself?

When Fernando noticed that all his men had been knocked down by William, his heart skipped a beat!

He had failed yet again.

"What kind of monster is this man?" Fernando could not help wondering.

He wanted to sneak on William, yet William managed to overthrow him as though he was merely a stray dog.

Now that he was trying to use violence against William, he was still defeated.

Was there anything else that William couldn't do?

While Fernando was quivering with anger, he saw William tramped towards him slowly.

He dragged the bat in his hand along the floor.

Blood coursed down the bat, leaving a long trail of blood on the ground.

Fernando was scared out of his wits as he watched this.

The man standing in front of Fernando was like a devil who was summoned from the underground!

The bat was his wand that could end one's life and take his soul away!

His legs felt weak and wobbling like a gelatin before he knelt down right in front of William.

His entire body was trembling while he pleaded with his shaky voice, "William, I'm so sorry. It's my fault. Can you spare my life? I swear I won't dare to lay my eyes on Felicity again."

He rubbed his palms together and added, "I'm also willing to give that house to you. Or whatever you want, I'll give them to you. Please don't kill me."

However, William did not stop. He trod towards Fernando steadily.

He did not slow down his speed when Fernando was begging for mercy!

Fernando cursed in anger when he saw William's reaction. Then, he fled away immediately!

But at this moment, William had made a move.

He swung the bat in his hand!

The long bat hoveled its way through the air!

Bang! It landed right on the back of Fernando's head.

Fernando yelled with pain and fell to the ground.

William strolled to him slowly.

Fernando was still begging for mercy. His face turned pale when he saw William lifting up his foot.

It seemed like he was going to use his kick to send Fernando to the afterlife!

William stamped his foot onto Fernando mercilessly!

Fernando could feel pain in one part of his body before he screamed at the top of his voice as if he was a pig that was being slaughtered.

He covered his crotch and curled up his body like a shrimp.

Like a river, there was blood gushing out from his crotch.

In this life, he would never be a man again!

After William finished what he wanted to do, he felt that the strength in his body was rapidly dissipating from his system.

It was as if something was draining out of his body.

Within seconds, the feelings of soreness, weakness and pain scuttled across his body.

He nearly lost his balance. He could barely stand up straight.

He held his breath and pulled out all the silver needles from his body.

At this moment, the feeling of weakness overwhelmed him again. He couldn't hold on any longer and fell to the ground!

Felicity's screech could be heard from behind him. "William!"

Hearing Felicity's voice, William struggled to get up.

With much difficulty, he walked towards Felicity who was darting in his direction.

William was staggering towards her with blood covering all his body. Felicity's heartbreak poured out in a flood of uncontrollable tears right away.

This scene was very similar to what happened ten years ago.

Ten years ago, when he helped her to drive those stray dogs away, he was also covered in blood.

Ten years later, he did it again. However, this time his injuries were much more serious than what he inflicted ten years ago.

But there was only one thing that remained the same. After he vanquished his enemies, he would walk towards Felicity.

Although he was stumbling, the determination in his eyes was evident!

Felicity held onto William, who was about to fall down. She was so distressed that she could not say a word.

She could only shed tears of agony to vent the fear she experienced a while ago and her thankfulness towards William.

"William, I believe in you!"

She mumbled, "I believe in you!"

She believed in him. Ten years had passed yet he hadn't changed at all!

He didn't become weaker!

He didn't stop loving her!

He was learning how to love her more!

When she needed someone to keep her company, he stayed by her side silently and guarded her for the last ten years!

When she needed someone to stand out for her, he never hesitated to give her a warm and firm answer, even if he had to put his line on the line!

Having William by her side was all she needed in this lifetime.

With Felicity's aid, William took ten minutes before he recovered a bit of strength in him.

He gazed at Felicity whose makeup was completely ruined by her tears, his heart ached.

"Please stop crying, Felicity."

He was willing to do all of this.

Just like ten years ago, he never regretted his choice.

Now that ten years had gone, he would still make the same choice.

It was really not easy for them to stay together...

He reached out his hand and held Felicity's little face gently. He forced a weak smile and mumbled, "Let's go home."

These three words were as deafening as thunder and brought Felicity back to ten years ago.

Ten years ago, he chased the stray dog away. When he came back to her, he told her the exact same things as well, "Let's go home."

At that time, he was asking her to go home early.

Ten years later, he said it again.

However, at this moment, they were going home together, as husband and wife.

These three words seemed to give Felicity so much strength. She cracked a smile with tears on her face.

She replied with a warm and firm tone, "Okay, let's go home together!"
