

Chapter 581: My Husband Allowed

Under the crowd's astonished gaze, Jiang Yao initiated the transfer on her phone. She had a wide smile on her face as if she was trying to piss Zhu Qianlan off.

"It's okay! As long as I'm happy! My pet sure is a unique one, he likes toys that are a little different." Jiang Yao showed the crowd Moe's diamond ring, just like a brat showing off her luxurious possessions.

Huang Chengjing immediately recognized the brand and the design of the diamond ring. He was left speechless, that trinket alone cost twenty thousand.

The Huang family was considered very well off but they were not as generous as Jiang Yao, spending a small fortune on their pets.

It was not easy for Lu Xingzhi having a wife so reckless as Jiang Yao, Huang Chengjing thought.

In just a while, she had spent close to three hundred thousand.

That was enough to buy two fantastic houses located in the center of Nanjiang City!

With her x-ray vision and Moe's help, Jiang Yao bought the top six most valuable stones in the trade fair. The most expensive piece was worth seven hundred thousand while the cheapest she paid for a stone was fifty thousand. All in all, she spent close to four million.

Before purchasing a raw stone, other people would need to spend some time examining it while Jiang Yao only looked at it once and asked the cat in her arms. If the cat purred, she would then purchase it.

Many trailed behind her, wanting to see what she was doing. They shook their heads in disappointment after seeing just how reckless Jiang Yao was.

"I'm done, Mr. Huang. Thanks for bringing me here tonight. What about you?" Jiang Yao asked.

"I was very interested in two stones and I'm just about to make the payment." Huang Chengjing looked at Jiang Yao and shook his head. "You are very reckless."

"I am, my husband allowed it. He told me that I should live my life the way I want it and buy the things my heart desire. If we run out of money, it's not my fault but instead his inability to earn more." Jiang Yao nodded. "I suppose my husband was attracted to my brash personality."

Huang Chengjing was stumped, he could not think of a reply.

Anyway, it was her husband's money, she had every right to spend it the way she wanted to.

Chapter 582: Ulterior Motives

Jiang Yao found it troublesome to explain that she was actually very picky with her purchase even though it did not seem like it.

“Which two did you pick, Mr. Huang? As thanks for your help, I don’t mind taking a look at what you chose.” Jiang Yao put Moe back into her backpack, seeing that he was fast asleep.

The employee approached her wanting to know where to deliver the purchased stones to. Jiang Yao gave Manager Sun a call and asked him to bring it back for temporary storage in his house.

After all, she did not have a house in Nanjiang City yet and her dormitory was definitely off-limits. Manager Sun’s house was a perfect choice since she trusted him.

She would have to buy a house soon though; storing it at Manager Sun’s house was only a temporary fix.

“Those two over there.” Huang Chengjing pointed in the direction and smiled. “Did you just put your cat into your bag?”

He did not expect Jiang Yao’s help, but he still answered honestly when she asked.

Jiang Yao looked and saw the same stone she saw previously, the one with an extremely weak glow.

“The one on the left is no good!” Jiang Yao lowered her voice. “Trust me, switch it with the second stone on the third row instead.”

The other piece was pretty decent. If not for Jiang Yao’s greed, buying the top six most valuable stones away, it was still rather impressive that Huang Chengjing was able to choose a rather good stone among the ones left.

An evil thought suddenly popped up in Jiang Yao’s mind.

She dragged Huang Chengjing to a quiet corner and said, “Let’s make a deal.”

Huang Chengjing was surprised to see Jiang Yao’s smile. “I think I know what you are up to. You are thinking of some devilish idea, aren’t you?”

“Heheheheh!” Jiang Yao nodded. Indeed, she had ulterior motives.

“I’ll choose the stones for you, but you have to quit the contest and open the stones back at your own company. You cannot open any stones here.”

Both Huang Chengjing and her would leave with the most valuable stones and leave the ordinary ones behind. The rest of the customers would either earn a little profit, if they were fortunate, or rack up a huge loss.

That would damage the Zhu family’s reputation since nobody was able to get a good stone out of their trade fair.

As an old saying went, never cross a woman, especially one who would take vengeance at all cost.

Zhu Qianlan deserved it!

So what if her assistant gave a discount? It did not matter, Jiang Yao was rich.

Lu Xingzhi told her before that she should always take what was rightfully hers and go after people who wronged her.

Chapter 583: It Felt Good

“What on earth?” Huang Chengjing was stunned for a moment. After returning to his senses, he asked, “Why?”

Jiang Yao rolled her eyes. “You don’t believe me? Fine. Let me tell you, my cat here is a blessing. Whichever stone he points at, that is the one with the most value. Even I am willing to risk it; are you fearless enough to follow me? If we get it right, we are going to make a lot of money. If you lose money, however, I will pay for your losses. So, tell me, Mr. Huang, what do you think?”

It was not an exaggeration when she said Moe was a blessing.

The antique chamber pot was a good example.

Even without the Medical System, he was able to determine the values of minerals and antiques. This was how good he was.

Having his thoughts so readily exposed by Jiang Yao, Huang Chengjing smiled. Frankly, he was hesitant. After all, Jiang Yao’s purchase of raw stones felt more like a grocery trip down the aisle of a supermarket.

It was no wonder he was surprised and doubtful with Jiang Yao’s sudden proposition.

“Mr. Huang, either way, you are not going to lose your money. If you did not side with me and stood up to Zhu Qianlan, I wouldn’t have done this.” Jiang Yao raised her eyebrows. “What do you say?”

Perhaps it was Jiang Yao’s over-confident demeanor, or maybe it was her smile, Huang Chengjing, after a few seconds of hesitation, nodded.

Having convinced Huang Chengjing, Jiang Yao pulled Moe out from her backpack. Once again, the cat and his master trotted off into the fair. With the cat purring incessantly and his master recklessly giving instructions, Huang Chengjing was just as impulsive and bought all the raw stones mentioned by Jiang Yao.

The trade fair was smaller in scale compared to the one in Purple Orchid Garden and was only a one-day event along with a smaller number of raw stones. In less than a half-hour, Huang Chengjing had managed to acquire two-fifth of the raw stones in the fair under Jiang Yao’s direction.

The entire place was speechless when Huang Chengjing finally went to make the payment.

When Jiang Yao, carrying the cat in her arms, instructed Huang Chengjing to purchase the stones like a housewife doing grocery shopping, everyone present in the fair flocked toward them.

Jiang Yao was a crazy little girl, that they knew a few minutes ago. However, nobody expected Huang Chengjing to follow suit.

Zhu Qianlan's face was as sour as it could be, her expression darkened like the sky right before a heavy rainstorm.

"Mr. Huang, what is wrong with you? Why are you doing everything the crazy girl says?" She looked at Jiang Yao with murderous intent in her eyes.

Of course, Huang Chengjing's purchase of over a dozen raw stones brought in a lot of revenue for the trade fair. But that was not what Zhu Qianlan wanted.

She would have rather that Huang Chengjing reprimand Jiang Yao and not make a single purchase here than for him to act so recklessly with Jiang Yao. That could only mean one thing, Huang Chengjing liked the young girl very much.

"You know what, it is true that we shouldn't be restricted by our age. Life is full of wonders and it is up to us to make the most out of it." Huang Chengjing raised his eyebrows and looked at Jiang Yao.

"Frankly, it felt amazing!"

Chapter 584: Unexpected

"Mr. Huang, which stone are you planning to open first?" While some were looking forward to seeing just how much money Huang Chengjing was going to lose.

If none lived up to their potential, Golden Phoenix Jewellers would have the honor of being the first company in the industry to file for bankruptcy right as they opened their doors for business.

"I won't be opening them here, I have some appointments to make in a while. I will get them opened back at the company when I have some free time." Huang Chengjing did promise Jiang Yao he would not open the stones. As for the contest, it was considered a forfeit.

Although, they were more interested in how much money he would lose after making a series of crazy purchases.

At the same time, they thought to themselves that it was important to teach their children not to get involved with deranged young girls who had no idea what was going on.

Huang Chengjing made a phone call and arranged for the stones to be transported back to Golden Phoenix's warehouse. He did not stay any longer in the trade fair and left with Jiang Yao as he was anxious to open some of the purchased stones.

As they both arrived at the fair separately, they split up after exiting the courtyard. Jiang Yao went to see Wu Zhong in the hospital while Huang Chengjing headed back to his company.

Huang Chengjing's assistant was on the wheels of his car. He saw Huang Chengjing sitting in the rear seat with a solemn expression and asked, "Are you nervous, Mr. Huang?"

"Slightly." Huang Chengjing was frank with his assistant. He nodded and said, "There's this lingering feeling of nervousness after I left the fair."

"You surprised us, Mr. Huang." The assistant smiled. "Even I was startled. If I didn't know better, I would have thought you were seduced by Ms. Jiang."

He knew about Huang Chengjing's relationship with Jiang Yao and was aware of his boss' crush on Ms. Jiang's sister-in-law.

However, he did not think that Huang Chengjing was trying to go after Lu Yuqing by getting on Jiang Yao's good side. After all, he was a very rational person.

Ever since they got to know each other, this was perhaps the most impulsive thing the assistant had seen Huang Chengjing do in his life.

"I don't know why, but I believed Jiang Yao back then. Even though I am feeling nervous now, I have no regrets." Huang Chengjing grinned. The Huang family was financially stronger than most people thought.

At the age where he should have been calm and rational, it was quite satisfying to be able to take huge risks and go all-out.

After all, it was quite interesting when it happened, was it not?

Then again, Huang Chengjing thought, at least a few good stones would come from his purchase. With the number of stones he bought, it was impossible not to attain at least one high-value stone.

It would be amusing if his luck was that bad.

While Jiang Yao was driving, Moe jumped out from her backpack onto the passenger seat. He found a comfortable spot to lie on and wagged his tail. "So, when are you buying me the new toy?"

Chapter 585: I Feel Bad For Him

"Once I sell the stones, let's go to the jewelry store and have some fun." Jiang Yao was feeling generous. "I'll buy you a custom-made diamond cat tag with your name on it!"

Moe wagged his tail even more vigorously after hearing what Jiang Yao had to say. Obviously, he was very pleased.

Huang Chengjing must be on his way to his company, anxious and excited to open the stones, Jiang Yao imagined. She thought he was a pretty awesome person since he trusted her and played along with her shenanigans. He had the guts to take risks and was okay with letting loose once in a while.

Even though the sum of money spent was no big deal for the Huang family, Jiang Yao saw Huang Chengjing as a person that she could develop a deep friendship with, just because he had faith in her.

Jiang Yao parked her car in the hospital's parking lot. Moe was feeling lethargic and chose to nap in the car instead. On her way up, she dialed Lu Xingzhi's cell phone.

It took a while for him to pick up the call. Instead of Lu Xingzhi's voice, Jiang Yao heard a symphony of noises from the other end of the line. There were shouts, cries of children, and people screaming at the top of their lungs.

"I'm on the train to Province C." Lu Xingzhi stood upright, afraid that a passerby would accidentally knock his cell phone away from his grasp. "I will arrive at Ying County tomorrow early morning. Once I am over there, I'll have to give up my phone, so you won't be able to contact me. If you need anything, you can give Brother Liang or even Weiqi or Xuyao a call. As for people you need in the research lab and the pharmaceutical company, I had Brother Gu contact some people overseas. He will contact you right away once he has some updates."

Jiang Yao answered in acknowledgment. She decided not to tell him the reason why she called.

She felt bad for Lu Xingzhi, her husband, for involving himself right away in the special forces unit selection process after his recovery from a serious injury. She had no idea how difficult it would be for him, so she did not want to burden him with more things.

Initially, she wanted to deliver the purchased raw stones to Jindo City and have an expert, probably through Lu Xingzhi's connection, open them before selling them off there.

Perhaps another time, she thought. He had had enough on his plate for now.

"Did you bring the medicine I left at home? How about waterproof tools? It has been raining in Ying County for the past few days. I asked a friend from Ying County and she told me that it is currently the rainy season over there."

"I know." The superiors did inform them of the weather conditions in Ying County earlier on. Truthfully, it was welcomed by the superiors as the rain would increase the difficulty of the selection process.

Listening to Jiang Yao's concerned nagging, the noise and chaos around Lu Xingzhi suddenly ceased to exist. He had her love, her affection, her care and that was all he needed.

One of them found a seat while the other stood at the hospital entrance as they kept talking over the phone until it was time to end the call, reminded by a loud blast of the train's air horn.

"The signal will get interrupted after the train starts moving. Let's end it here. I'll give you a call if I have some time after I arrive at Ying County. If otherwise, don't worry. I'll call you after the selection process, we'll see each other very soon!" Lu Xingzhi said hurriedly before ending the call.

Chapter 586: Visit

"Captain Lu, was that your wife?" A comrade sitting next to him asked curiously after Lu Xingzhi ended his phone call. "I can see she cares a lot about you."

There was obviously envy in his tone. After all, many soldiers in the platoon were still bachelors.

There were also quite a few married men in the platoon but their wives were not with them but back home instead. Truthfully, the relationship between these husbands and wives was cordial at best, as the long-distance was not helpful in nurturing a loving relationship.

Yet, any man would want a tender and loving wife, someone who cared for them deeply.

Lu Xingzhi acknowledged with a soft “Hm”. But he sat there cross-legged and curled his lips into a smile, obviously feeling pleased with himself.

She was his wife, if it were not him, who else?

If it were not forbidden, she would have personally followed him to the selection process.

The thought of Jiang Yao had Lu Xingzhi feeling giddy as he gently touched the few things given to him by her in his suitcase.

Yes, after the first round of selection was over, he would visit his wife at Nanjiang City. She would be so happy to see him!

Jiang Yao entered the hospital after hanging up the call.

Wu Zhong did not have any family in Nanjiang City. A caretaker, arranged by Manager Sun under Jiang Yao’s instructions, was tasked to look after him. He was around the same age as Wu Zhong. They had endless conversations together as they found themselves to be quite similar in temper and demeanor.

The atmosphere in the room was very pleasant. Wu Zhong was in the midst of telling the caretaker stories of his years in the military. They were both very engaged in the conversation and did not notice Jiang Yao’s arrival.

“Brother Zhong, how are things going?” Jiang Yao stomped her feet on the floor, interrupting the conversation. She then approached Wu Zhong, whose leg was encased in a plaster cast.

The plaster cast was put on to prevent Wu Zhong from moving his leg around. It was also a cover to delay the doctors at the hospital from giving him a follow-up check.

Jiang Yao checked his conditions using the Medical System when she entered the room. Even though the surgery happened only a few days ago, Wu Zhong’s recovery was amazing. Barring any accidents, the plaster cast could be taken off in a few days’ time. After that, he could be discharged from the hospital and recuperate in his own quarters.

“You’re here?” Wu Zhong sat up straight and smiled apologetically. “I was busy talking and didn’t realize you came. Don’t worry, I’m doing quite well here. This brother right here talks to me every day. Plus, Chen Zhibin visits me whenever he gets out of work.”

As for his leg, he was not too worried about it.

He was already crippled from the start, if it turned out bad, it would not be worse than before.

Moreover, Wu Zhong knew that Jiang Yao would never agree to perform the surgery if she had doubts about the outcome.

When the surgery was first mentioned, Jiang Yao only said she would give it a try. But ever since she returned, her stance became firm. She was very confident because she must have gone somewhere and improved her skills, Wu Zhong thought. If that was the case, he trusted her.

After the surgery, Wu Zhong had never felt better. All he did every day was to eat and sleep. He talked to people around him whenever he was awake. Since he worked as a security guard here at the hospital, his co-workers would come to visit him from time to time. Plus, he had a caretaker to look after him, thus he never felt alone.

Chapter 587: Unbelievable

“I was out to attend to some matters and came to see you on the way. I’ll have the doctors remove your plastic cast next Wednesday, you don’t need to go for a check-up. If anyone asks, just say it’s your surgeon’s instruction. Trust me, you’ll be alright.”

Before the surgery, Jiang Yao told Wu Zhong that if anyone asked who did the surgery, he would just say he did not know and that she introduced him to the doctor. She was not afraid that he was going to expose her identity as the Divine Doctor.

“Of course!” Wu Zhong continued, “Chen Zhibin told me to stay with him for the time being, since I still need time to recover. He has a caretaker and an extra room over at his house. I couldn’t refuse and accepted his invitation.”

She was glad that both Chen Zhibin and Wu Zhong were on friendly terms.

Since Lu Xingzhi was now in Province C for the selection process, the matter of opening the raw stones she purchased would have to hold off till a later date.

While she was still racking her brain trying to figure out the fastest way to turn those raw stones into cash, she received a phone call from Huang Chengjing later in the evening when she was having dinner with her roommates in the cafeteria.

He was thrilled on the other end of the line.

“Ms. Jiang, you are a prophet!” Huang Chengjing opened with a remark of amazement. Jiang Yao could hear the whirring noises of machines in the background. Apparently, he was still not finished cutting open the stones.

That was all she needed to know. Huang Chengjing had them opened the first thing after he left the trade fair. If she was not mistaken, he should have opened at least half of them by now. Each one of those came out to a value way higher than its purchased price, how could Huang Chengjing stay calm?

The six most valuable stones were bought by her, Jiang Yao thought, while the rest of the good ones were taken by Huang Chengjing. He was already ecstatic after opening a portion of his purchase, how would he feel if he finished opening them all?

“I suppose you are making a lot of money, listening to how ecstatic you are, Mr. Huang?” Even though it sounded like a question, Jiang Yao was very convinced. She added, “You are an experienced and knowledgeable man. Please control your emotions, I am not responsible if you get overly-excited and pass out.”

“Seems like there’s more surprises waiting for me?” Huang Chengjing’s voice trembled in hysteria. “Ms. Jiang, oh, Ms. Jiang! You gave me a massive surprise! Your luck is just unbelievable! You are right, your cat is a blessing indeed!”

He then rebuffed his sentiments. “No, No! Every single one of the stones I opened was of good value. This cannot be just a lucky break? Say, Ms. Jiang, you’re an expert in stone betting, right?”

It was a miracle, created by Jiang Yao!

Chapter 588: You are a Miracle

Even though he studied hard for his jewelry business and gained a lot of knowledge and experience from his mentors, there were still many times when he lost money.

Previously at an underground trade fair, for example, he bought a highly sought-after raw stone for over two hundred thousand. Yet, he discovered that the stone’s actual value was a mere few thousand.

That incident became the talk of the industry for a while. After all, you needed Lady Luck on your side to succeed in the business.

Even under the guidance of highly-experienced mentors who had decades of experience, he was not safe from unfortunate circumstances like this. Jiang Yao, however, must have had luck and a hidden ability to determine the valuable stones, despite her random pickings.

“I have an extra request, Mr. Huang. If anyone wants to know how the purchase turned out for you, just tell them that you bought it for decoration and had rather not open it.” Jiang Yao chuckled. “We have got to keep a low profile.”

She did not want people to know that Zhu Qianlan’s trade fair contained any good stones this time round. She wanted people to think that Zhu Qianlan was trying to con her customers by putting low-value raw stones in her trade fair.

“Understood.” Huang Chengjing recognized the reason behind Jiang Yao’s reminder. He did not think about her wanting to take revenge on Zhu Qianlan. Instead, troubles might arise for Jiang Yao if news of her picking all the valuable raw stones without error was known.

Money was the root of all evil.

Jiang Yao felt comfortable interacting with Huang Chengjing and told him she wanted his help to open some of her stones. “We can discuss the price later.”

Huang Chengjing’s mind was currently in overdrive, he immediately agreed. They concurred for Manager Sun to deliver some of the stones to Huang Chengjing’s warehouse the next day before he hung up the phone call and hurriedly entered the workshop.

It was already dark outside, but inside the workshop, it was bright as day.

The master craftsman’s hands trembled in excitement. Seeing Huang Chengjing, he immediately said, “Mr. Huang! We got ourselves another quality stone! It’s not as good as the previous ones, but it still has a wonderful color and a good working size. We can make a pair of bracelets out of it, and the leftovers can be used to create some trinkets, like little earrings, rings, and breast pins. If the jewelry is designed well, this will be good business!”

The master had no idea where Huang Chengjing procured these raw stones. “Mr. Huang, today’s batch of raw stones are really high quality. Even if the rest is awful, you are still a winner today!”

This success rate was unheard of in the industry. Huang Chengjing was very excited to see if Jiang Yao would be the first person to achieve a one-hundred percent success rate in the industry. Whatever it was, with her youthful age, she would be a highly sought after talent.

Compared to Huang Chengjing’s high emotions, Jiang Yao was much calmer. She lay on the bed and managed to text Lu Xingzhi for a little while before entering the Medical System.

Chapter 589: How Much is it Worth?

Recently, Jiang Yao was not in a hurry to continue her studies of the knowledge found in the Medical System’s library. Due to her overstepping her authority to perform surgeries, the previously locked-away contents were now all hers to consume. Now, she spent her time going through the various information and performing the experiments one after another until she could do them flawlessly.

Remembering her promise to Du Chen, Jiang Yao retrieved the medicine for Old Man Du when she entered the Medical System. She would have it delivered the next day so that Du Chen could receive it as soon as possible.

The medicine was formulated to reduce Old Man Du’s blood pressure and also to provide relief for his liver. Yet, it could only alleviate symptoms, and not actually treating the condition itself.

The late stages of liver cirrhosis was always a difficult issue to solve. Jiang Yao had yet to see a medication or a surgical procedure that could effectively treat the condition.

Perhaps she did not have the necessary qualifications to access them yet, but she did not want to overstep her authority again just to help Old Man Du.

Moreover, Jiang Yao did ask the System Admin if an artificial liver was available for an organ transplant surgery. All she received was the System Admin’s look of scorn.

They were humans from the Future Galaxy, not robots, how could the organs be replaced with artificial ones?

The next day in the afternoon, Jiang Yao was about to leave for Huang Chengjing’s office as she wanted his help to open her stones, but saw the blazing sun shining on mercilessly and decided against it. She dialed Manager Sun up and instructed him to take her place and get things done.

Throughout, Huang Chengjing and Manager Sun kept calling Jiang Yao, telling her the excellent contents of her stones.

She did not know much about emeralds, all she knew was the little lecture given by Lu Xingzhi the other day. Listening to Huang Chengjing and Manager Sun almost shouting over the phone, telling her the immense value of the stones, Jiang Yao's first reaction was to ask, "How much is it worth?"

She was not concerned at all about what the emerald ore inside the stones was capable of becoming. She only wanted to know how much she could sell them for.

She desperately needed money now. Although she had the bank's one hundred and fifty million loan, she thought having a little more money would do good. After all, she could use it to buy a house in Nanjiang City, which she really needed. It was about time to stop treating Manager Sun's house as her own personal warehouse.

"It seems like you are planning to sell them off for cash?" Huang Chengjing managed to glean an important piece of information from Jiang Yao. "Aren't you planning to open a jewelry company too? Why do you want to sell the stones?"

Chapter 590: Changkang Group

"Well, I need money to start a business, isn't that right?" Jiang Yao laughed. "You know I have a pharmaceutical company and a research lab, both are quite expensive to run, unfortunately. The jewelry company will have to wait until I have more money in hand. If these stones are just like you claimed, and can be sold for a good price, then I'll have the capital to start my jewelry business."

Huang Chengjing thought that Jiang Yao had a good point.

"Why don't you sell two of them to Golden Phoenix at market price, while the rest will be sent to the underground trade market. I estimate you can earn at least a hundred million from these six raw stones." Huang Chengjing had nothing but respect for Jiang Yao now.

He was so excited when he returned home last night that he could not sleep well. Now, it seemed that the sleepless nights would go on for at least a month.

The one hundred percent success rate was achieved by none other than Jiang Yao.

To the uninitiated, it was as if she was doing a grocery trip down the market with a cat in her arms, and Huang Chengjing was crazy enough to follow her stunts. The truth, however, was that she brought in massive fortune for him and showed him never to judge a person by their appearance.

Everyone thought that Jiang Yao, a young lady hailing from a different city, would not be able to survive in Nanjiang City. However, she proved them wrong. It was only a matter of time before she would become a person of importance here.

It must be a gift from Providence for the Huang family to meet Jiang Yao.

First, she saved Chairman Huang and kept the family's peace, and later on, Huang Chenchen was found by her sister, Lu Yuqing, and now she gave Huang Chengjing the opportunity to make a big fortune out of the raw stones.

If she was not a blessing, what else could she be?

Jiang Yao put Huang Chengjing fully in charge of selling off the emerald ores. She also agreed to attend the underground trade fair under Huang Chengjing's invitation.

He brought prosperity onto her, there was no need for her to decline his way of showing appreciation.

After that, she shifted her attention toward that piece of land in the suburbs and found a time to talk to Liang Yueze over the phone. He must have done something because the very next day Manager Sun received a phone call informing him that the date of the bidding for the land would be pushed forward. The person in charge requested that Manager Sun look for companies he had good relationships with to attend the bidding.

It was only done for official purposes to show that the relevant authorities followed standard procedures in the bidding process. In the end, Changkang Group would of course win the bid.

That was right, Changkang Group was the new name for Jiang Yao's new company, which was originally intended to be registered as Changkang Enterprise. During the registration process, Lu Yuqing suggested the new name, to which Jiang Yao assented. Since she would have a couple of companies under her belt, the name "Changkang Group" seemed to be the most suitable.

Huang Chengjing was extremely well-connected and offered to help out. Since they needed at least three companies present, Huang Chengjing, aside from his very own Hairun Group, found two more companies he had good relationships with to attend the bidding.
