

Chapter 609

He Si smirked, "Of course the more valuable something is, the more you like it? Is it any wonder you really think I'm collecting it for fun?"

Evelin smiled, "That's easy, like jade ah painting ah are quite valuable, and easy to bring, you can look at it then."

He Si felt that there was something strange about Evelin today.

It's just too good to be true.

So well behaved that it made him feel like it was all a bit unreal.

Admittedly, because of the situation at this time, Evelin might not dare to disobey him.

But so proactive in telling him the whereabouts of his family's collection, even inviting him to get it, and asking him what he would prefer and suggesting he get something lighter.

This man is sick!

When He Si looked at Evelin again, he couldn't help but grow suspicious.

However, it was as if Evelin hadn't noticed anything and was driving the car seriously, as if it was really just a casual suggestion with no extra thoughts.

Just when He Si's heart was in a state of seven ups and downs, not quite settled.

Evelin suddenly said "eh" and pointed to a clothing and bag shop not far away.

"There's a suitcase for sale in there, do you want to get one?"

He Si turned his head to look at the shop, not exactly in the downtown area, the surrounding pedestrians are also very few, because the shop is not big, and even only has two shopkeepers.

But he was still wary of looking up, and he did see the camera.

He turned his head coldly and used slightly more force in against the dagger at Evelin's waist, gritting his teeth, "Cut the crap! Drive your car!"

Evelin trailed off and muttered, "Don't know a good heart."

Afterwards, Gojin stopped talking and drove his car in silence.

It took about twenty minutes of driving before the car stopped in a villa area.

Evelin pointed to a villa not far ahead and said, "Here, that's it, are you going there by yourself or should I take you in?"

He Si looked left and right vigilantly, as it was Evelin who brought him in, so no security guard suspected anything.

It's just that it's an upscale villa area and the security is still very good.

He wasn't sure what would happen if he went in and left Evelin alone in the car.

Therefore, it was prudent for him to decide to bring her down as well.

He Si put the dagger against Evelin's waist and whispered, "You go in with me."

Evelin raised her eyebrows and didn't refuse, following along down.

He Si kept pushing her to the door and ordered her to open the door.

This was a tough one for Evelin.

In fact, she doesn't know the code here.

Because it's not even her home.

Rather, the last time, she was drunk and Tailor Feng brought her here, where she woke up the next day.

Previously, over at the abandoned factory, she had also been bullshitting to trick He Si into bringing her out.

Originally, I was holding a dead horse and trying to fight for as much as possible, but I didn't expect He Si to really agree.

But she just forgot, with a thousand calculations, that she didn't remember the password thing here.

Last time, Tailor Feng did tell her once that this would be her home from now on, and that after her mother recovered, she would need a better environment to heal her body, and that this side was comfortable and quiet, perfect for recuperating.

She didn't really care at the time, thinking that she hadn't necessarily agreed to actually move here yet.

So when Tailor Feng told her the password, she didn't remember it by heart.

Now that's embarrassing!

He Si's face sank as he saw that she had been standing still.

"What are you staring at? Still not opening the door?"

Evelin paled and smiled awkwardly.

"That...sorry, I forgot my password, can I make a phone call and ask?"

He Si stared at her, almost incredulous.

"I thought you said this was your house? You can forget your own family's password?"

Evelin's smile was a little forced, "I'm not always out, not at home, and I also have to often go to the flat side to live for a few days to cope with you, stringing around, don't forget."

"Besides, it's too big for me to live here alone, and sometimes it's inconvenient, so it's more of a warehouse, and I don't usually come back very often, so it's normal that I can't remember the password."

However, how could He Si believe her so easily?

He looked at her coldly and smirked, "You're not just going to find anyone's house to cheat on me, are you?"

Evelin shook her head incessantly.

"Of course not, do you look like such a gullible person? And this is indeed my home, I even know what colour the carpet inside is, you don't believe me I said stay a while and go in and verify it yourself."

That, however, gave He Si a bit of credence.

He looked at Evelin half-heartedly and asked, "Who are you going to call?"

Evelin pursed her lips and said, "My boyfriend."

After saying that, he followed it up by adding, "He's been out of the country on a business trip recently, so he shouldn't know about my disappearance yet, so if I call him, he won't notice."

"If you're really worried, I can put you on speakerphone, and if anything happens, you can just stab me to death, and I'll never complain."

He Si thought about it and decided that while it was risky, it wasn't a big deal.

After all, he is abroad, and even if he senses that something is wrong, he can't put out the fire from afar.

By the time he took care of the gang this afternoon, he'd already arranged the route for his own departure.

Now it's just a matter of going in and getting your money and stuff and driving straight to the marina.

At full strength, twenty minutes is definitely enough.

A man in a foreign country can't get anything done for twenty minutes.

Thinking of it this way, he put his mind at rest.

However, he could never have known that it was this one phone call that betrayed him.

Because he didn't know the identity of the boyfriend that Evelin was talking about, and he didn't even think that he would be the second young master of the Feng family, who could be said to be all-powerful in Kyoto, not to mention twenty minutes, even five minutes, he could arrange for someone to come over immediately.

But none of this, at this time, He Si, had thought of it.

The immense wealth inside was tempting him, and there was no turning back now.

The previous gang had a grip on him and threatened him with $10 million before they would let him go.

He had no choice but to try to raise the money.

The other side learns that he has an adopted daughter who is a star, so they set their sights on Evelin.

He Si actually tied up Evelin half voluntarily and half forcibly.

After all, if he went by his own original idea, even if he didn't sign a divorce agreement with Evelin's mother, there would be no need to tie someone out and just tear them apart to such an extent.

After all, either of these two options is bad for him.

Chapter 610

Whatever he chooses, it amounts to, he will lose Evelin as a long-term meal ticket.

So, if He Si really had to choose on his own, he certainly wouldn't choose either.

It was in his best interest to maintain the status quo and get Evelin to suck some blood from time to time.

But they were so tough that if he didn't do it, they might have killed him on the spot.

Those people were all very well-connected and he couldn't afford to mess with them at the moment, so he could only do as he was told.

But just now in the afternoon at the factory, when he heard Evelin say that there were still a lot of jewellery and antiques in the house, he was instantly moved.

How good would it be if he had all this money to himself?

Those people are bullying him all day long, looking for him to pay back money, and he used to be too poor and powerless to mess with them.

But if he has such a large sum of money, who is he afraid of?

By the time he takes the money and runs overseas, he'll be far away, and even if these people know he killed them, what can they do? You still can't find him?

Moreover, he knew that those jewels and jades were worth far more than the twenty million.

That's why he dared to do it.

Money can be maddening, let alone someone who loves it so much.

And when the time came, he would naturally not keep the little girl in front of him.

Run abroad without being noticed, and then he'll be free!

Thinking of this, He Si's eyes could not help but reveal a touch of burning madness.

While knowing that the immediate approach poses a great risk to itself.

More than likely, it will pay off all previous plans.

But there was no way back for him.

Without this money, even if he kills Evelin, he won't be able to leave the country.

It would just be jade and stone, and he didn't want to die.

So, why not take a chance!

He Si had lost so much money over the years, originally because he was a good gambler, and when the time came, he would naturally choose to gamble rather than give up on it.

So, he agreed to Evelin's request.

Taking Evelin's phone out, but instead of giving it to her directly, he let her unlock it, still holding it herself.

He asked, "What's his name?"

Evelin thought about it and said, "His eldest."

He Four: ??

What the hell?

Who the hell is that?

Evelin was embarrassed and smiled awkwardly, "Erotic, it's a love interest."

He Si seemed a little speechless.

In fact, Evelin was also depressed because Tailor Feng was always bullying her before, and she wanted to curse, but she didn't dare to do so.

I could only change his memo name to "your uncle".

It's a chance to have a little fun.

He Si flipped out the phone number, dialed it, and gave it to her.

On the other side, Tailor Feng had been waiting for news from below, but for some reason, it was as if this He Si had vanished from the face of the earth and couldn't be found.

Tailor Feng was very annoyed, but it made him even more certain that this time, Evelin's disappearance was related to He Si.

I was in a hurry, and just then, the phone suddenly rang.

At first he thought it was a message from below, but he was busy picking it up, but it was a hard shock.

Only the screen of the phone showed a call from Evelin.

He even picked up on it.

"Hey, Yoyo..."

"Darling!"

Before he could say more, he was quickly interrupted.

On the other side, Evelin's voice sounded incredibly light and not dangerous at all.

Even with a smile, I asked, "Honey, I just got back from work, I was getting ready to go home, and I realized I forgot my home password, do you remember my home password?"

Tailor Feng frowned.

That small flat of Evelin's own wasn't using a code door.

Moreover, ever since Evelin's accident, Tailor Feng had been sending people to guard that side, so if Evelin returned, he would definitely be notified.

So.....

Tailor Feng was silent for a moment and said, "Why don't you remember the password again? I forgot about it last time, didn't I tell you to remember?"

As we spoke, we gestured to the men under our hands and ordered them to drive.

On the other side, Evelin's soft voice was petulant, "I'm just too busy, I forgot all of a sudden! Honey, just tell me more."

Tailor Feng sighed helplessly and said, "Alright, the password is 845963, remember?"

Evelin immediately smiled sweetly, "Remember, love you yo."

Afterwards, the phone was simply hung up.

Over there, He Si used this number to try, and the code door really opened.

He even grabbed Evelin and walked to the house together.

And this side, the car.

Leng Mei heard the phone call spoken by Tailor Feng the entire time, and asked with a heavy face, "Second young master, Miss Evelin she..."

As soon as Tailor Feng hung up the phone, his face went cold and commanded, "Go to Lanxi Villa, be quick! You have to be there in five minutes!"

Lengmian was so impressed by the words that he said, "Yes."

The car was heading to Villa Langhorne at breakneck speed.

And now, the villa.

Once inside, Evelin was once again tied up with rope by He Si.

In order to prevent her from making small movements, He Si tied her directly to the corner of the bed and stuffed cloth in her mouth, which would prevent her from shouting to draw people over when she was looking for something in another room.

There was nothing Evelin could do, she had done her best, now, it was up to Tailor Feng to get here in time.

Ho Si first found the $20 million check from the bag she said she was looking for, then went to the treasury and found the jewellery and antiques she said she was looking for.

In fact, the reason why Evelin knew there would be so many valuable things here.

It's also because the last time I came over, I found it by accident.

Tailor Feng said that this place was for her and Kang's mother, who was Tailor Feng?

That was a young prince who was known in the circle for his generosity.

Since he had already decided on Evelin, he would naturally not treat her badly in this regard.

Therefore, although Evelin hadn't moved in yet, Tailor Feng had already bought her a lot of big-name jewellery and diamonds and such at home in advance.

As for antiques, it was because he knew that Khamma used to love these antique paintings and stuff.

The family has since fallen, and the years have been wasted, so naturally there is little opportunity to appreciate it.

But that doesn't stop her from still having that hobby and appreciation.

Since Tailor Feng truly wanted to be with Evelin all the time, he would naturally be very pleasing to his mother-in-law.

As a result, a large number of valuable antiques were also deliberately acquired at great expense.

Paintings and jade are the most numerous.

Including the entire set of jade jewellery given to Kang-mu, which is also worth a lot of money.

It was all kept in the room, and the last time Evelin had known about it.

At this point, He Si had scavenged all of these things and was literally red-eyed as he looked at the entire bag of valuables that had been filled in front of him.

Chapter 611

How much do I have to sell this much stuff for?

Just a set of jewellery alone is worth tens of millions, not to mention so many paintings and calligraphy, there must be hundreds of millions here!

He's really getting rich, really rich!

He Si's entire body was thrilled with excitement and excitement at the great surprise and wealth.

Evelin, on the other hand, was tied up in the bedroom, unable to move her hands or feet, and could only hear He Si rummaging through the boxes in the other room.

There was a chandelier clock ticking away on the wall and she looked up weakly, it had been four minutes since she had entered the house.

There was a lot of stuff, but it was all neatly placed and it wasn't hard to pack.

A few minutes is enough!

So, I don't think he'll be able to make it in time.

Even after all your efforts and thinking of all the ways you could possibly do it, you still can't escape today's fate, I guess.

Thinking of this, Evelin couldn't help but smile bitterly.

Not really scared much, just sorry.

I used to always look ahead, but until this moment, it seems like I didn't realize how insignificant all those previous fears and hesitations seem when you're actually about to reach the end of your life.

She closed her eyes slowly and took a deep breath.

Just then, however, it was as if I heard the sound of a revving engine.

She froze, incredulous, and opened her eyes, looking out through the floor-to-ceiling windows in her second-floor bedroom, and sure enough, she saw a familiar car coming this way.

Evelin got excited.

But she didn't dare to say anything, and couldn't say anything, because her mouth was gagged.

In the end, the only thing to do was to stare at the car lights, watching it go from far and near, and finally come to a steady stop downstairs.

Evelin held her breath.

Because her side was close enough to the road to faintly hear a little noise, she wasn't sure if He Si had noticed the car coming at this point.

Therefore, she could only try to wait with bated breath, praying that He Si wouldn't find out so soon.

In fact, it was true that He Si hadn't noticed anyone returning at this point.

Because it was the first time he saw that there was so much money, his heart was already happy and full of money, where else could he care about that?

However, it was without him noticing.

Downstairs, Tailor Feng had already touched into the villa with cold and light hands and feet.

Because he came in a hurry, the others were still on their way here, and he was worried about Evelin's safety so he and Lengmai came first.

Therefore, it was too late to call out for people to surround the villa at this time, after all, they were afraid that making too much noise would alert the snakes and instead put Evelin in danger.

At this time, relying on his familiarity with the villa, Tailor Feng took the cold darkness to the first floor.

From a distance, I could see the clothes on on the other side of the cloakroom and the lights on the other bedroom.

He gestured to the cold, which went to the cloakroom, while he went to the bedroom.

Evelin was tied to the end of the bed with her back to the door, and was staring out the window the whole time, thinking to herself that she didn't know if they had come in or not.

Just suddenly I felt extremely light footsteps behind me.

Although the other party had already played her voice very softly, but she, who was already tense and her alertness had been raised to the highest level, naturally still found out.

The mind was on the verge of turning back.

Just suddenly there was only a flash of light, followed by the sight of an incredibly familiar face.

"Ooh...ooh..."

Because her mouth was stuffed with cloth dough, Evelin couldn't speak and could only make vague whimpering noises.

Tears of joy were about to come out as they looked at Tailor Feng who suddenly appeared in front of them.

Tailor Feng's face, however, was gloomy, first taking a glance at her entire body to make sure there were no external injuries anywhere, before ripping off the ball of cloth in her mouth.

"Yoyo, how are you? All right?"

Evelin finally got space in her mouth and couldn't help but gasp a few times before lowering her voice, "I'm fine, He Si is over there in the storage room packing up."

Tailor Feng nodded as he bent down to untie the rope from her body and said, "I know, the coldness is over, I'll take you out first."

Evelin responded, and after Tailor Feng untied the rope for her, he helped her stand up.

However, only after taking a step, before she could walk, Evelin suddenly stumbled and planted her entire body forward.

Tailor Feng's eyes were quick to help her, and he thought she was injured somewhere, but his face changed and he bent down to check.

"What's wrong? Is it an injured leg?"

Evelin shook her head, somewhat embarrassed, "Tied for too long, my legs are numb."

Tailor Feng was relieved at the news.

He bent over and directly picked Evelin up in a cross body and headed out.

After being on edge for so long, and now that it was so safe, Evelin only felt as if her strength had suddenly been sapped from her body, and her entire body went limp, unable to exert half of its strength anymore.

She nestled softly in Tailor Feng's arms, wrapping her arms around his neck and resting her head on his shoulder, her whole body and mind loosening up.

Tailor Feng carried her until she left the villa, opened the car door and put her in the car.

Just then, a few more cars drove up not far away.

The car door opened and a group of young, strong bodyguards dressed in black jumped down.

Tailor Feng said to Evelin, "Sit in the car for a while, I'll be right over."

Evelin thought he was leaving and subconsciously tugged on his arm, asking, "Where are you going?"

Tailor Feng looked at her gripping her fingers, her eyes warm, and said, "Don't be afraid, I'm not leaving, I'll just come over here and explain a few things to them."

Only then did Evelin let go of his hand with relief.

Tailor Feng walked over and explained to the few bodyguards.

They all answered "yes" in unison.

Then immediately head to the house.

Tailor Feng walked back after giving his instructions and got into the car to accompany Evelin.

It wasn't long before Leng Mei was escorting He Si out.

At this point He Si hadn't realized what was going on and was cursing and fighting back as he was being held by a group of people.

"What are you doing? I'm telling you, you don't mess around! This is my house. I just came back to get my stuff. What's it to you? You guys let me go, or I'll call the police!"

As he cursed nonsense, he heard a cold voice.

"The police? Well, report one to me instead!"

He Si froze and looked up just in time to see the two men sitting in the car.

He blanched and couldn't believe it when it came out.

"How are you? You're not abroad, you..."

He suddenly understood something and looked at Evelin in shock.

Frightened and angry, "Don't you fu*king dare lie to me!"

Evelin stared at him coldly and said to Tailor Feng, "He's gone crazy! Don't leave him alone."
