

“Mr Chu, is this car okay? I just collected this Bentley Continental today, and it costs about $5 million. I was planning on picking you up with our Benz, but I decided to drive the car back halfway and go straight to the car shop to collect this Bentley I ordered a while ago. That Benz is worth less than $1 million and isn’t good enough for you!” bragged Lei Ao-Ting as he drove the luxury car at top speed.

The engines roared deeply like a wild animal as its cylinders rang thunderously.

Lu Wen-Jing was particularly curious and ecstatic since it was her first time taking a ride in such a fantastic car.

She scoffed angrily, “Humph! Those baddies looked down on Fan and didn’t let us into their cars. Fan doesn’t give a hoot about those lousy cars of theirs!”

Although Lu Wen-Jing was young, she could discern whether people were good to Ye Fan or not.

His relatives made excuses saying their cars were full, when Ye Fan’s grandfather told them to give him a ride.

But were their cars really full?

Lu Wen-Jing didn’t buy it. Those vile people simply didn't want Ye Fan to get into their cars.

The more Lu Wen-Jing thought about it, the angrier she got. Then she turned to Lei Ao-Ting and said sulkily, "Ao-Ting, drive faster. Catch up with those baddies. Let them see how well Fan is doing even without them! Humph!"

"Of course. Jingjing, sit tight," replied Lei Ao-Ting sportingly as he smiled.

Then Lei Ao-Ting floored the gas.

Vroom...

A sonic boom exploded like a clap of thunder.

It left huge gusts of wind in its wake.

Lei Ao-Ting's sports car instantly transformed into a blue ray as it tore through the sky!

A few kilometers ahead of them...

Ye Tian and the others drove swiftly on the road.

Melodious music played in the car.

“Tian, why did you lie to Dad? It’s not like there’s no space. Why couldn’t we give Fan a ride?”

Ye Tian was humming along to the music in the car as he drove their Audi A4.

The moment Ye Tian heard his wife’s words, he instantly sneered, “Why should I? Isn’t he an arrogant and capable man? He messed up the county chief’s son’s wedding and even publicly argued with his uncles a few days ago, so he can find his way to the city on his own since he thinks so highly of himself. He was exiled from the Chu family, and now he’s a useless live-in husband. Despite making nothing for himself, he acts so cockily. I don’t know what he’s trying to do! Where does he get all this confidence? If he’s that proud, then don’t count on us for a ride. Does he expect Yu-Yan to support him in the future? Since he was so disrespectful to us, he can forget about using us to open any backdoors in his life!”

The thought of his nephew made Ye Tian seethe in anger.

After all, they were relatives, so if Ye Fan treated them with respect and fawned over them, Ye Tian wouldn’t mind doing some charity.

Ye Tian might have found him a job as a chauffeur or security guard for some building, but Ye Fan was unappreciative and impolite to them, so he couldn't blame his uncle for being heartless.

"Uncle Tian's right, Aunt Mei. Ye Fan is an ingrate and isn't worth our pity! Fortunately, Uncle Tian didn't let him into the car, or else we won't get to have lunch in peace today," said Ye Jian. He was sitting in the same car as them.

Ye Jian's father's car was full of gifts and in a mess, so he hitched a ride with Ye Tian and his family.

"Hmm? Jian, what do you mean?" asked Dong Mei quizzically the moment she heard Ye Jian's words.

Ye Jian replied, "Aunt Mei, can't you tell? Ye Fan happened to choose to go to the city at the same time as us. But is he really meeting a friend?"

Dong Mei went into a slight shock and asked, "Jian, do you mean..."

Ye Jian nodded and replied, "Yes, Aunt Mei. I think Ye Fan is actually here to freeload on us for lunch! I reckon Ye Fan wants to join us for lunch to meet General Lu and get to know him after he heard Grandpa saying Yu-Yan was buying him lunch today!”

Ye Tian immediately slapped his thigh at the realization when he heard Ye Jian and said, “Jian, you’re right! I was wondering how a loser live-in husband like Ye Fan would have any friends in the city? From the looks of it, he’s lying to us. How could he have any friend to hang out with in the city? He must be gate crashing our lunch to meet Yu-Yan’s teacher! He’s not fit to eat with us!”

Vroom...

Ye Tian suddenly heard an explosion as he was scolding Ye Fan. Then a blue sports car whizzed past them like a bolt of lightning.

The blue sports car outran Ye Tian’s car with a swoosh.

The low rumble came off sounding like they were mocking Ye Tian and the others and left a ringing sound in their ears.

“Darn! Who the hell was that? How dare he outrun my uncle’s car? Uncle Tian, chase after him. I’m going to give him a piece of my mind! How dare he? Even the Yeyang mayor wouldn’t dare to outrun my uncle’s car!” said Ye Jian as he flattered Ye Tian. Ye Jian got a huge shock from all the noise too.

Sure enough, Ye Tian got conceited from the flattering.

“Of course! Jian, just watch me! I will catch up with him in no time with my great driving skills. Don’t hold back when you scold him! I have your back!” shouted Ye Tian in a domineering tone. Then he floored the gas, and his Audi A4 instantly charged forward.

Ye Tian couldn’t catch up with the car at first.

But after Ye Tian stepped harder on the accelerator, the blue sports car quickly came into sight.

“Haha! What do you think, Jian? My driving skills are pretty good, right? This Audi can go beyond 180 miles per hour!” bragged Ye Tian as he saw that he was closing the gap between his car and the blue sports car in front.

“Oh my god! Uncle Tian, you’re brilliant! I can’t believe you caught up with a sports car! Haha! Uncle Tian, you are so all rounded. You have a prosperous career as an official, and you have great driving skills!” flattered Ye Jian.

But Ye Jian immediately noticed something amiss as he fawned over his uncle.

Ye Tian had caught up with the car too quickly. It was as though the car in front wasn't moving at all.

Until...

"Damn! Uncle Tian, hit the brakes. There's a red light! There's a red light! Stop the car! Hit the brakes now!" howled Ye Jian in shock.

SCREEECH!

Rate the Translation to Get 2 Pearls.

Wait! I Have Something to Say!

Send a Gift to the Writer!

Ye Tian realized there was a red light up ahead amid Ye Jian's screaming.

It finally dawned on Ye Tian why they managed to catch up with the sky blue sports car. It was because there was a red light up ahead.

Ye Tian quickly screeched to a halt when he came to a realization.

The Audi's wheels came to an immediate stop, but the car slid for over a hundred meters due to inertia.

In the end, the Audi crashed into the blue sports car's rear with a bang.

The sky blue car's rear lights blew up amid the stifled bang, and its metal form instantly became distorted.

Fortunately, Ye Tian slammed the brakes just in time.

Since the Audi had decelerated in time, it didn't lead to a major traffic accident when the collision occurred.

But even so, the blue sports car they ran into slid several meters to the front.

Ye Tian's face turned pale when he noticed the Bentley logo on the car in front. His heart turned cold as he exclaimed, "Oh no! We're in big trouble!"

The Bentley car owner got off the car after getting chased by them while Ye Tian and the others were still reeling in panic.

"What the hell! Get out now, you asshole! It's a brand new car! How could you run into it? Oh my god! Get over here now! I'm going to slaughter you!" yelled Lei Ao-Ting as he blew up.

Lei Ao-Ting was beyond furious.

It was his first day driving his $5 million car, and someone collided into its rear!

Now the car's rear had gone out of shape, and the rear lights were busted.

His brand new car had gotten into a traffic accident.

Lei Ao-Ting's heart was bleeding.

He strode over to the culprit's car briskly and opened the car door to yank Ye Tian right out.

"Calm down, my friend. It was a mistake. It was just an accident."

"Mistake my ass!" yelled Lei Ao-Ting without giving a hoot to Ye Tian's guilt-ridden and apologetic smile. Instead, he kicked Ye Tian to the ground right away.

"The...the audacity! My uncle is the deputy county mayor of Dongyang County. How dare you hit him?" threatened Ye Jian sternly. Ye Jian threw Ye Tian's official status at Lei Ao-Ting the moment his uncle got beaten up.

Lei Ao-Ting instantly laughed when he heard Ye Jian's words and replied, "Ha! Are you threatening me with your official status? You picked the wrong guy to threaten! Even if the mayor of Jingzhou were here, he wouldn't have dared to pick on someone from the Lei family!"

"Are...are...are you Young Master...Lei...Lei?" asked Ye Jian with complete shock on his face as he trembled after hearing Lei Ao-Ting's words.

Ye Jian finally recognized the man before him. Wasn't he Young Master Lei, the man who turned up at the wedding banquet the other day?

"Who else can I be? Is there anyone in Jingzhou who can afford to drive a $5 million luxury car? Damn! You collided right into my new car! Tell me, how are you going to settle it?" asked Lei Ao-Ting furiously. The more he thought about it, the angrier he felt. He was dying to kick these stupid idiots to death.

"$5...$5 million?" stammered Ye Tian as he went completely dumbstruck when he heard its price tag.

He knew it was an expensive car, but he didn't expect it to be that pricey!

Ye Tian estimated the damage was probably going to cost him upwards of tens of thousands to fix.

"What are you shouting for? If it's a fight you want, it's a fight you get!" said Ye Yu-Yan coldly as she glared at Lei Ao-Ting. She had gotten off the car while Ye Tian was moaning in his heart.

An iciness had already surged onto her face.

"Yu-Yan, mind your manners. He's the son of Master Lei from Jingzhou," said Ye Tian hurriedly as he stopped her.

Lei San owned Jingzhou, so Lei Ao-Ting was right about Jingzhou's mayor treating Master Lei with great respect.

Since Ye Tian didn't even have political power that went beyond Dongyang County, he was naturally terrified of the Lei family.

"So what? I'm from the military and I hate people like him who throw their weight around and bully others! Like I said, if it's a fight you want, it's a fight you get! If you dare touch my father, don't blame me for not warning you!" said Ye Tian. Everyone might be afraid of the Lei family, but not her, Ye Yu-Yan.

Ye Yu-Yan's teacher was a major general while she was captain of the special forces, so why should she be afraid of some hooligan?

In Ye Yu-Yan's perspective, these people from so-called influential families were nothing but thugs.

"Oh? I was wondering where this aggression came from, so you're actually from the military! I might be unable to do anything to you, but I'm telling you, you're in big trouble today! The man sitting in my car is a big shot! If you offend him, you won't be able to withstand his fury even if you drag your chief military instructor here!" replied Lei Ao-Ting fearlessly to Ye Yu-Yan threats.

What should Lei Ao-Ting have to fear with Mr Chu in his car?

Lei Ao-Ting had witnessed Mr Chu's prowess. The bloodthirsty wolf, Wu He-Rong, couldn't even survive one blow from Ye Fan, much less this young lady here.

"Shut up! How dare you insult my teacher?" said Ye Yu-Yan when she heard Lei Ao-Ting's words. She was on the verge of arguing with Lei Ao-Tian, but Ye Tian pulled her back.

"Enough, Yu-Yan. Stop making trouble. I'm having a tough time as it is," said Ye Tian with his face livid. His heart was in sheer panic.

Lei Ao-Ting's words had certainly frightened Ye Tian.

Even the Lei family regarded the man in the car as a big shot, so Ye Tian couldn't imagine who it was sitting inside.

In his panic, Ye Tian had no choice but to lower his head and agree to compensate for the damages to the car.

"How about this Young Master Lei? I acknowledge I was at fault for running into your car. Why don't you give me your bank account number? I'll pay you $50,000. Then we can move on and consider us even, okay?" asked Ye Tian as he smiled genially.

What?

"$50,000? Who are you trying to kid? Even if you pay me $500,000, it isn't enough! I tell you, this is a brand new car, and it's the first time I drove it. If you don't compensate me with a brand new car, I won't let it go," roared Lei Ao-Ting furiously.

What?

"Com-Compensate a new one?" said Ye Tian as he stuttered. He was in such shock that he almost passed out.

Oh my god!

$5 million!

Even if Ye Tian sold everything he had, he couldn't come up with $5 million.

"Young Master Lei, I can't afford it. How can I afford to buy you a new car? Look, my name is Ye Tian, and I'm a Dongyang County official. Can you help me out here and just accept $100,000 for repairs instead? Please do me a favor, and I'll be in your debt!" said Ye Tian. He had no choice but to beg Lei Ao-Ting to reduce the cost of the car damage shamelessly.

After all, Ye Tian was at fault, and Lei Ao-Tian outranked him in social status, so he had to lower himself and beg!

Rate the Translation to Get 2 Pearls.

Wait! I Have Something to Say!

Send a Gift to the Writer!