

Chapter 750

She said, always with a very sweet, good-natured smile on her face.

The voice also took on a pleasing tone.

If it wasn't for that, Father Lin wouldn't have been able to indulge her so much and eventually give her to the men in the business to impress them.

From this, one also knew that Yusra Lin's appearance must not be bad.

Such a situation, such a moment, if it had been another man, he would have only been dazzled and dizzy by her beauty.

However, Gu Si Qian just gave her a cold glance.

The seeming smirk in those eyes, mixed with indifference, turned into an embarrassing mockery.

He said coldly, "Is the castle's cook dead? You want me to eat your cooking?"

Yusra Lin: "...and..."

It was the first time she'd ever been spoken to in such heartless terms, and her face was suddenly unable to hang on.

After all, anyone who works so hard to fawn over someone, only to be rejected back if they are merciless, would be embarrassed all at once.

But Yusra Lin had still been through so much lately, after all.

The mentality is very different from as well as the pride.

So the embarrassment was only for a moment, and it made her try to suppress it.

She placed the food on the table beside her and smiled, "It's okay if Mr. Gu doesn't want to eat my cooking, Yusra only wants to plead with you about one thing, as long as you're willing to agree, you'll let me do anything?"

Gu Si Qian looked at her coldly.

Yusra Lin bowed her head slightly, her fingers unconsciously tightened in front of her body, and only after a half-hearted sound did she say, "I meant what I said to you before, if you really sent me back to China, I would really be forced to marry by my father."

After a pause, he added, "Mr. Gu was born at the top as a child, so perhaps he doesn't understand the difficulties of us ordinary girls, you know, for us, marrying someone is the same as changing our lives."

"I just wanted to be like a normal girl, go to school normally, work, live my life and do what I wanted to do, not to be forced to marry someone who was old enough to be my father at a young age."

"Maybe this is a chance for another girl to fly off the handle, but for me, it's never."

"I'll do anything for my family, but that definitely doesn't include sacrificing my life and my love, Mr. Gu, count me in, please, help me!Okay?"

Gu Si Qian still had that calm and relaxed look.

He sat in the couch, his long legs overlapping, leaning against the back of the chair, and his whole body had the sparse coolness of an elevated position.

The words that were spat out were still cold as hell.

"Why should I help you?"

Yusra Lin wasn't unexpected his answer.

It was just a bit embarrassing when you actually heard it, but you still couldn't help but thump your heart.

She said in a deep voice, "Anything Mr. Gu needs me to do, I can do!As far as I can."

Including...a promise of a body.

She didn't say this, but Gu Si Qian seemed to have guessed it.

The mockery in those eyes grew heavier and sneered, "So tell me, what is it that I need you to do?"

Yusra Lin stalled.

She had come here with the idea of being the one to marry her, but how could she ask a girl to say something like that?

But now that the man is here, the arrow is in the air, and the arrow has to go.

So, after hesitating for half a moment, she finally took a step forward, looked at him seriously and said, "If Mr. Gu is willing, I can be your woman and serve Mr. Gu all the time, as long as you don't drive me away or send me back to China, I, I don't want the name."

The last words were said with some humiliation, biting my lip.

After all, there was a time when she was also a high-ranking thousand-year-old lady.

When have you ever whispered so low to anyone, when you're bossing people around?

But Gu Siqian was different.

She knew that if she didn't show some sincerity, she was afraid that they wouldn't even give her a second glance if she didn't say yes to her request.

Now that this was the case, he had become her only way out.

So she could lay down her dignity and do whatever she wanted, if he would agree to let her stay with him and let her do whatever she wanted.

However, Yusra Lin's request, which she thought had made things difficult for herself, seemed to be worthless in Gu Siqian's eyes.

He didn't even give any reaction, after she said something that would have put any girl at a loss for words.

He just still looked at her as calmly as before, the mockery in his eyes like a small knife, scraping her heart moment by moment.

Halfway through, he finally started his lips, "You think, I'm short of women?"

Yusra Lin stalled.

A hot shame on my face.

Gu Siqian laughed out lightly, his smile full of diffuse mockery and disdain.

"Don't say you don't want the name, I wouldn't take you even if you begged me on your knees, so put away those mo vain delusions of yours, understand?"

Yusra Lin shook fiercely.

If he had been just a little mean before, then this was a statement that was already hitting her in the face in the barest of ways.

She looked up at him sharply, incredulous, as if she couldn't believe such words could come from his mouth.

After all, he had saved her and brought her out of an abyss like that.

Now, even more of a push to send her home.

She thought that even if he didn't like himself, he should have some affection for her and that's why he was helping her like that.

But now, he actually said....

Yusra Lin bit her lower lip in embarrassment, a pair of bright eyes suddenly turned red, tears swirling around inside as if they might fall at any moment.

Only after a long moment did her voice tremble slightly and she asked with humiliation, "Then why did you help me? If you don't like me, why do you keep sending me home? Wouldn't it be cheaper to just throw me out of here and leave me to fend for myself?"

Gu Si Qian sneered, "I can throw you out now too, if you want to try?"

Yusra Lin: "...and..."

Gu Si Qian's fingers still played with the ring on his hand, and his tone was indifferent: "The reason why I would save you is just for the sake of the same Chinese people, if it makes you have any other misunderstanding, then I'm really sorry, you're not qualified for Mrs. Gu's position, as for a woman without a name."

His gaze was unbridled, like he was trying to see through her.

In fact, Yusra Lin also felt as if he had seen right through her.

I only heard his cold smile, "I haven't bothered to play with the leftovers that others have played with."

Boom-

Like a thunderbolt, it struck her heart.

Chapter 751

Shattering the last of her dignity and pride as well.

The man in front of him was so venomous that he was simply unbelievable, but the colder his words were, the more severe the bad smile on his face became, making people just feel both love and hate.

Yusra Lin didn't hold back after all, and after hearing this, tears fell down at once.

A plain white face, at once, also reddened with embarrassment.

She lowered her head slightly, biting her lower lip, her thin body standing there like a willow in the wind swaying like a valley yawning.

She opened her mouth and trembled, "Mr. Gu, I didn't..."

"Tsk, don't explain, explaining is covering up."

He interrupted her mercilessly, like he didn't even want to hear what she wanted to say next.

Yusra Lin could only reluctantly keep her mouth shut.

I only saw Gu Si Qian coldly say, "I never want to embarrass a woman too much, but today you're asking for it, blame it on me, I can pretend I don't know what you've been through before, but if you want to use this to fool me, heh, that's too naive."

Rumble-

The mountain in Yusra Lin's heart only completely collapsed this time.

She looked up, incredulous, at Gu Si Qian.

There was no way to imagine how he knew those things.

In the first place, her body was already unclean after she was sold by that man to those traffickers.

Those people, because she had already broken her virginity, played with her every night with impunity, and she screamed that there was no way to resist.

Later, she was sold to the Koch brothers.

The traffickers had left, too, and she thought that none of this would ever be known again.

But now, Gu Siqian was unabashedly revealing these things!

How would he know?

Could it be that he had already gone to investigate her?

An unspoken fear suddenly surfaced, causing her face, which had been blushing red, to turn white all of a sudden.

Of course Gu Si Qian had investigated her.

Who is he?The future successor of the Gu family, one of the four great families, and the leader of the largest underground force outside of the country, the Dragon Corps.

A character who learned from a young age how to screen those around him, a character who has been on the knife edge since he was a child.

To have one more person by his side for no reason, if he didn't even check her bottom line as well as her experience, wouldn't that mean that anyone could mix with him and victimize him?

Therefore, it was not surprising that Gu Si Qian would send someone to find out more about her.

It was only because Yusra Lin didn't know his full identity at this point that she was surprised.

Now that he knew all about it, there was no need to hide it from himself.

With a broken attitude, Yusra Lin just put her heart in the right place and said, "Who says I'm trying to lie to you?I, I just haven't gotten around to it yet."

She was trying to be righteous, but she was only halfway through her words when she touched Gu Si Qian's icy cold eyes.

The momentum didn't hold back from weakening all of a sudden.

Her eyes were a little red, and she said in a gesture of forced humiliation, "But can I be blamed for those things? I was also victimized to go through those things, if you dislike that, then, then it's good that I don't entertain that kind of thought anymore, I'm a weak woman, I'm alone, I have a home and I don't dare to go back, now I've easily met someone who can save me, what can I do?"

"Mr. Gu, you're a high and mighty man who flips his hand, so of course you don't understand the fears and sorrows of little people like us."

"I'm like this now, even if I did go back, I'm just afraid that people won't want me, I have no use for it, my father won't care about stepping on me, I'd rather die than go back and be humiliated, so I can end up clean."

After she said that, she suddenly turned around and slammed her head into the wall next to her.

That beauty hit the wall, pear-shaped, if it were any other man, he would only be heartbroken and hurried forward to stop it.

Unfortunately, Gu Si Qian was not an ordinary man.

He will not eat this drama of crying, crying, and hanging.

Not only did they not eat, but they kept sitting there with a great deal of gusto.

Yusra Lin turned around and hit the wall with her forehead at eye level, but no one came behind her to stop her.

Not only did no one stop her, she didn't even let up, she was suddenly stunned.

When she froze, her speed naturally slowed down, so when her forehead actually touched the wall, it wasn't much of a force, and even the noise was just a muffled soft noise, not at all the momentum of the movement as she ran out.

Now that's embarrassing!

Yusra Lin hit the wall, not even fainted, still can not hold back, a big "ouch" sound.

The whole man took two steps backwards and covered his forehead.

It wasn't knocked out, but the bumps and pains were definitely there.

She cupped her forehead, crying tears of pain, having thought this would be the least the man could do to feel sorry for her.

Even if it wasn't heartfelt, the most basic gentlemanly manners should always be there, right?

But Yusra Lin apparently hadn't even realized by this point that the men in front of her really weren't the men she thought they were.

Gu Siqian looked at her playfully, not only did not go forward to care, but also gave an idle "tsk".

"Miss Lin, you're not hitting the wall hard enough, and if you really want to seek death, this little bit of noise won't be enough to kill you."

Yusra Lin: "...and..."

Before I could explain, I heard him say again, "I also understand, girls, they are afraid of pain, hitting the wall is only difficult, how about this, I'll give you a suggestion."

His tone of voice, though, was somewhat like he was about to let up.

Yusra Lin's eyes lit up, and she turned to look at him and asked, "What suggestion?"

I can't help but see that Gu Siqian raised his hand and pointed to the window, saying: "Jump off the building, although the floor here is not very high, but the following are hard stones, even if you don't die, at least half disabled, really bad, we at least know each other, I will do a good deed, and then go down and give you a stab, I'm sure you will die quickly and well, not because of their hesitation and let themselves suffer in vain! How about pain that doesn't leave you half dead?"

Yusra Lin's face went white at the news.

The face was white, and the neck was red with fear and anger, and all at once red and white and so hilarious.

She looked at Gu Si Qian and screamed, "How could you, how could you say such a thing?"

Gu Si Qian raised his eyebrows, quite puzzled, "I'm not being serious? You're the one who said you'd seek death, and you're the one who's afraid to hit the wall yourself, so what's wrong with just giving you a little advice?"

Yusra Lin: "You!"

She was so angry and her face was so red that all she could do was spurt old blood out of her throat.

Chapter 752

But in the face of Gu Siqian, not a single word could be said.

Eventually, all that could be done was stomp your foot in hatred and scream in anger, "You're heartless! I hate you, I hate you so much!"

After saying that, he covered his head and turned to run out.

The back of the girl's da-da-da-da running away from the doorway kept disappearing into the hallway.

It wasn't until she completely disappeared that the playfulness on Gu Si Qian's face gradually dissipated, replaced by indifference.

Ober waited outside at some point and saw Yusra Lin leave, which was why he came in.

Seeing Gu Siqian sitting there, he respectfully stepped forward and asked, "Young Master, Miss Lin she..."

Gu Si Qian lowered his eyes, played with the ring on his hand, and said indifferently, "She said she wanted to give me her hand in marriage."

Ober: "..."

If it had been just before, Ober might have been so happy to hear that.

Young Master is already 30 years old!

A thirty year old man who has never been around a woman before, to convince him that he's normal, can't believe it.

Now it's hard to have a woman who's willing to take the initiative to make a promise to him, even if there's no later, to prove that the young master isn't bad, that's fine.

But now that Ober had seen what Yusra Lin was like from what had just happened, he didn't think so.

This woman is not correct, there is no polite welcome to the high and low is just, the reason close to the young master, also may be what kind of ghost thought.

The young master had at least saved her and brought her out of that kind of tiger's lair, and not only was she ungrateful, but she wanted to use him.

How can such a person with such a vicious mind stay?

So, Ober said directly, "The young master wants to keep her?"

A question is used.

Kusken lifted his eyes and looked at him.

It was a laughing look, but with a faintly sarcastic look.

"You think I have such bad taste?"

Ober's heart was finally at ease at the news.

Smiling, "Young Master's taste is naturally good, and it's understandable that Miss Lin wants to climb the dragon and phoenix, but she's just looking at the wrong person."

Gu Si Qian nodded and said indifferently, "Have someone not send her back tomorrow, and in addition send another competent person by her side to take care of her daily life."

Ober was stunned and a little confused.

What does that...mean?

He asked, puzzled, "Didn't you just say...you're trying to keep her?"

Gu Si Qian sneered lightly, "Yes, she's so proactive in sending me to the door and wants to stay by any means, if I'm not as good as she wants me to be, wouldn't it be a waste of someone's heart?"

Ober frowned, somewhat unhappy, "But young master, I wasn't supposed to say this, but I couldn't help but say it, this Miss Lin, really isn't a good person..."

Kusken looked at him and said, "Where were you thinking, Ober?"

Ober froze.

Kusken said, "I don't think much of her, but I have to admit, she's got a point."

Ober was a little confused.

Gu Si Qian continued, "I saved her, so she should naturally repay me, it's fine if I give her my body in return, but if she can make someone else happy for me, it's not a bad way to repay her, right?"

Ober was shaken hard at the news.

The face changed slightly.

But in the end, without saying anything, he lowered his head and responded, "Yes."

Only then did Kusken wave his hand and let him go down.

On the other hand, Yusra Lin had come back from a bad trip, having hit a snag, and was having nowhere to vent her anger.

Suddenly I saw a mold outside.

The handsome maid was coming this way.

She froze, and after a moment, the door was knocked on from the outside, and she realized that they were really here for her.

I just saw her coming in my direction from the window and thought not, just happened to be passing by.

I can't believe it actually came to her.

Outside the door, the maid said in a respectful and polite voice, "Miss Lin, are you there?"

Yusra Lin tensed up all of a sudden.

Who is she?

What are you doing here?

Are you here to kick her out?

Thinking of Gu Si Qian's cold and heartless appearance just now, Yusra Lin's heart beat like a drum, beating faster and faster, only to feel as if it had jumped to her throat.

But the knocking at the door continued, and she couldn't keep pretending she couldn't hear it.

In the end, it only managed to sink in, thinking that no matter what, they couldn't be thrown out today.

Even if it's just relying, it's still here.

That's what I thought before I cleared my throat and walked over to the door and opened it.

The door opened, and there stood outside, a maid of about ten years of age.

The maid was pretty looking, and although she was a little worse than Yusra Lin, she was still considered a small house type.

She stood there and smiled at Yusra Lin, "Hello Miss Lin, my name is Xiaotao, I was sent by Housekeeper Ou to take care of you, I'll be following you from now on."

Yusra Lin was stunned.

Some silly.

Sent to look after her?

Stay with her from now on?

What do you mean?

Isn't she, isn't she going to be thrown out? She should have been chucked out soon after Gu Si Qian didn't agree to let her stay and humiliated her so badly.

How could...send someone to take care of her?

Yusra Lin still didn't understand, over there, Peach spoke up.

"Miss Lin, this is the dress you changed out of today, isn't it? I'll take it right away and wash it for you."

She said, and walked in, picking up a set of clothes that Yusra Lin had changed into on the side and heading out.

It was only then that Yusra Lin reacted, her face changing, and she was busy stopping her.

"Hey, wait."

Peach stopped and looked back at her.

Yusra Lin restrained her expression before asking, "Are you... really the one they sent to take care of me?"

Peach nodded, "Yes, Miss Lin, what's wrong?"

Yusra Lin's heart drummed and her eyes rolled around a few times before she asked again, "So did they say that I'm leaving here soon?"

Peach's eyes were dazed at the words.

"It's...no, Miss Lin, are you leaving?"

Yusra Lin stalled for a moment, shaking her head incessantly.

"No." She forced a smile, then said, "I'm just saying, okay, there's nothing more for you here, you go down."

With that, Peach nodded and turned away.

After Peach left, only then did Yusra Lin's face sink, thinking carefully about it, ultimately feeling indecisive.

Just in time, she saw Ober outside passing in front of her.

So he went out in a row, went around and caught up with Ober.

"Ober."

She shouted after her as she ran.

In the meantime, Ober turned back at the sound of her voice and saw that it was her, and his brow knitted.

His reaction was naturally seen by Yusra Lin, not unaware in his heart that his previous actions had offended him.