

Chapter 897

"You're just trying to get me one step out of Gu Si Qian's sight, out of the security range of the bodyguards, and then take the opportunity to knock me out for them to take away, aren't you?"

This time, Yue Ling did not deny it.

"Yes."

Bella Qiao's heart sank one step at a time, "Why? Was I not good enough for you? Why did you betray me?"

Hearing her words, Yue Ling's eyes darkened slightly and said indifferently, "You are good to me, but in this world, not everything can be solved by saying I'm good to you."

She paused and said quietly, "I'm sorry, I didn't want to hurt you, but I couldn't help it."

Bella Qiao sneered, "Why don't you tell me, how helpless it was for you to do such a wolfish thing!"

Yue Ling looked at her and suddenly laughed at herself.

"Sister Bella Qiaobao, don't even think of trying to get me to say anything else, I'll be honest with you, it's useless even if you turn me against them, I'm just an insignificant pawn in their eyes. The biggest decision maker."

Bella Qiao was not annoyed when she revealed what was in her heart.

She just asked quietly, "Tell me your story, and your story with them."

She was sure that Moon had a lot of stories to tell, and they might really be, as Moon said, of no use to her at all.

But, also, maybe, she'll find the slightest flaw, and just start with it, tearing an opening for her to escape.

Xiao Yue didn't refuse, as she still had some kindness for Bella Qiao, so she sat down opposite her and began to talk slowly.

"Let's start with the name, actually my name isn't Moon, my real name is Yue Ling."

Bella Qiao shuddered slightly.

Although it had been known for a long time that if she really had lurked into the castle, relying on the fact that even Gu Si Qian's probing of his men hadn't detected anything wrong with her, then her name must not be true.

Only the falsification of the entire identity would make any problems apparent.

Bella Qiao didn't say anything, Yue Ling continued, "I didn't lie to you, I am indeed an orphan, my mother died shortly after giving birth to me, I was raised by a mother-in-law from an orphanage."

"My mother-in-law she was very kind to me, but she was old, very, very old, so old that she wasn't able to run that orphanage, so it was actually her two sons who ran the orphanage at that time."

"Her two sons are no good, amassing much wealth through their mother-in-law's name, but very bad for us homeless children."

"They would beat and abuse us at will, they wouldn't give us food or clothes to wear, and they would take a lot of handiwork from outside for us to do."

"The beauty of it is that we're told to practice our craft, but in reality we're reduced to being a moneymaker for them."

"Then, they began to grow dissatisfied with the meager amount of money they were earning from their handiwork, so they targeted us girls."

"At that time, a very mysterious man came to adopt orphans, saying that if they adopted one they would give the other a large sum of money, and those two brothers knew that the other was not a good person, but they still put the

The other side welcomed us in."

"Unfortunately, I was one of the orphans picked out when my mother-in-law wouldn't allow them to take me, but she couldn't fight those two brothers."

"We've all been taken away and locked up on an island for inhuman training, and all this time, my mother-in-law has been trying to find me."

"Then when I came out again, I was fifteen, and I had been to that town, and luckily my mother-in-law was still there, but her two sons had fled home because of gambling debts."

"The orphanage was also closed because two lives were lost at the time, and the mother-in-law was implicated in that case, which affected her reputation even though she herself was innocent."

"Everyone says she's amassing money and harming people's lives in the name of goodwill, but I'm the only one who knows that she had nothing to do with any of it, and it was all done by her two sons."

"I couldn't bear to see her living alone and being bullied in that town, so I picked her up, but I never told her where I'd been for the last few years."

"I just told her that I had been adopted by a very rich family for the past few years, but they weren't nice to me, so then I escaped."

"She was too innocent and didn't suspect me of anything, so we lived together as two people."

"But in reality, at this time I was already a member of the Chinese Society, one they had secretly selected for training."

"The mission I received was to go in to Gu Siqian's castle as an undercover agent and monitor their every move, and the rest of the story just needs to be done on their orders."

"I've been at the castle for over three years, and in those three years, I haven't received a single order, and sometimes I'm almost delusional."

"I feel like that training time of a few years doesn't even exist, and they've probably already forgotten that I'm such a person, so I'm not actually going to have to do what they've set me up to do."

"But how can we forget, they're all carefully selected pieces one by one, each one arranged just right for their use."

"So just when I was so full of joy that I could live the normal life I dreamed of, they showed up."

"They shattered my ordinary dreams and gave me the task of poisoning you."

At this point, she paused and looked at Bella Qiao, "You don't know yet, do you? The cook, Sister Zhang, is also one of us, it's just that she and I didn't know each other before she did it."

"She was so sloppy that she actually exposed herself after poisoning herself, and I watched her die in front of me, but I couldn't keep her safe."

"I don't think I can bail her out, after all, what does she have to do with me? It's not like I love that organization, it's all just inevitable."

"Then, when it was finally my turn, they gave me two bottles of medicine, the same two bottles of essential oils that I gave you."

"It's not actually the blossom oil in that one, I don't actually know how to concoct those things at all, it's a kind of divine change water, something that can confuse the other person's mind."

"I used it on you as they said, and that's why, later man, you're being led by me step by step."

Bella Qiao frowned.

She said quietly, "But I had my suspicions about you at first and gave that bottle of essential oil to Gu Si Qian for examination, but the results said it was fine."

Chapter 898

Yue Ling smiled faintly.

"Of course you can't find out what's wrong, because that itself is indeed a bottle of essential oil."

"The Changing Spirit Water doesn't work without a specific person doing a specific act, not to mention that the bottle I gave you to take for inspection in the first place was originally a bottle of regular essential oil, not the one I gave you to use before."

Bella Qiao shook hard.

It was only then that I realized that I had really trusted Moon too much in the first place.

That's why even though she was suspicious of her, she just scribbled a check and found it to be fine and trusted her completely.

Little did they know that the other side was taking advantage of this trust in her and was plotting against her.

Bella Qiao's eyes went cold, and Yue Ling didn't care.

She sat there quietly, and both her mannerisms and her aloof demeanor were different from how she had been in the castle.

She looked at Georgie and held up the bread she hadn't finished feeding on her hand.

"Are you still eating?"

Bella Qiao did not speak.

Yue Ling laughed.

"You don't need to get angry with me, I've already said that I'm just a man who follows orders and even if I did, you should fill your stomach first, I'm sure you understand that better than I do."

Bella Qiao stared at her with a cold stare, and only after a half-hearted moment did he say in a deep voice, "Bring it over."

Yue Ling took the bread over to her and continued to feed her little by little.

Although this was a somewhat humiliating position to be cast in, Georgie didn't ask for her to release her hand.

She knew that even if she made the request, these people would never agree to it.

After all, he knew what he was capable of, and these people must know it too.

If they did untie her, it would definitely be prone to change, so they wouldn't agree to it anyway.

Bella Qiao didn't bother to waste any more effort, and when she finished eating the bread in her hand, she let Yue Ling feed her some water before leaning against the wall of the car again.

She looked at Yue Ling, her eyes were pale, but not as cold as before.

Only a faint voice said, "Where are you taking me."

As Yue Ling screwed the lid on the water bottle and placed it next to him, he said, "Would you believe me if I said I don't know?"

Bella Qiao sneered.

Yue Ling said in a deep voice, "I'm really not sure."

After a pause, he advised her again, "But I advise you better not to have any thoughts of trying to escape, since they've captured you, they've made thorough preparations, you can't escape anyway, and if you have to resist, you might even get hurt easily."

Bella Qiao sneered, "You think I'd be afraid of getting hurt?"

Yue Ling choked.

She sighed, "Well, I'm just being nice, but what exactly you want is your business."

When you finished, you tilted your body to the side and rested your head against the body wall with your eyes closed.

Bella Qiao saw her stop talking and didn't bother to speak anymore, anyway, she already knew all that she could get out of Yue Ling's mouth, the rest, whether it was because she didn't want to say it or she really didn't know, at least now she couldn't get it out of her mouth anymore.

With the car still shaking and moving, she closed her eyes and took a nap against the wall of the car as well.

I don't know how long it took.

The car suddenly braked, followed by a steep acceleration.

Georgie woke up to the emergency brake and opened her eyes.

On the other side, Yue Ling also opened his eyes and stood

Getting up and walking to the front to open a small window connected to the driver's seat, he asked, "What happened?"

"Nothing, met a wildcat."

The man in the driver's seat didn't look back, just faded back.

Yue Ling sniffed and took a wary glance around to make sure there was nothing out of the ordinary, before sitting down at ease.

The car continued on its way.

On the wide highway, passing cars are becoming scarce, visible cars are heading in more remote directions.

The light from the crack in the car door was fading, letting Jackie know that it would soon be night.

She looked at Yue Ling and asked, "I've always been curious, why did you guys go to so much trouble to catch me?"

Yue Ling ton.

She pursed her lips and shook her head, "I don't know."

I said, and laughed at myself.

"Honestly, I used to think they wanted to kill you, so I agonized over whether to do it, but then they just let me bring you out, so now I don't know what they're trying to do to you."

Bella Qiao laughed out coolly.

"Tangled?Why the tangle?"

She accurately caught the loophole in Yue Ling's words that was accidentally revealed, and the other party stalled for a moment.

There was something that had been trying to be hidden, or unwilling to admit, and it was pulled out all at once because of those two words.

Bella Qiao said softly, "Xiao Yue, oh no, I should call you Yue Ling now. In fact, you don't really want me dead as much as you appear to, do you? All this time at the castle, though, you've been acting, and maybe you've been really soft on me?"

"I've always thought of you as a friend, I don't believe you feel anything at all, did they hold onto something you care about and threaten you? Or do you have some other unavoidable affliction?"

Yue Ling fell silent.

She didn't answer, yet Bella Qiao found the answer she wanted in her silence.

She snorted softly, "I see."

Yue Ling looked up sharply.

"What do you understand?"

It was as if someone had been privy to his deepest secrets, and his eyes were cold with a hint of unease.

Bella Qiao faintly said, "You were forced to do the same, and I don't blame you."

Yue Ling's fingers suddenly clenched.

For a moment, she even saw a strong sense of sarcasm and disdain for her in Bella Qiao's eyes, which were always warm and calm.

Yes, not sympathy, not pity, just that kind of intense sarcasm.

She bit her teeth and said, "You don't need to say these words to coax me, I know, you must hate me now because I betrayed you and also cheated your feelings, but Bella Qiao, in this world, there is no right or wrong in many things originally, we have different positions, and I never regret doing all this."

"So I don't need your forgiveness, and I hope you don't make a fool of yourself thinking that I regret the situation as it stands."

When she finished, as if she was a little angry, she turned her head to the side in exasperation.

Bella Qiao saw this and raised her eyebrows.

Those eyes that were indifferent a second ago, only this moment did a hint of an amused smile flicker.

However, the fight between the two didn't last long.

Because the car slowed to a stop after a bumpy stretch of road.

Feeling the car stop beneath her, Georgie focused her attention and pricked up her ears to listen for movement outside.

Chapter 899

She heard a footstep coming and then quickly, the car door was opened.

"Come on down!"

One man said coldly to them.

Yue Ling stood up and walked over to Bella Qiao and helped her up.

Jackie looked at her tied feet and smiled, "You expect me to jump off the bus like that?"

Yue Ling looked at the rope on her feet and frowned.

I was about to crouch down to help her out, but the man in the doorway stopped me.

"No need to untie it, you can choose to stay locked in the compartment overnight if you feel uncomfortable jumping off, we don't have a problem with that anyway."

After saying that, he actually ignored her again and turned around to leave.

Bella Qiao lagged.

I had no idea the other side was so difficult.

Next to her, Yue Ling straightened up and looked at her helplessly, "How is it? You choose to stay in the car, or I'll help you jump."

Bella Qiao smiled slightly.

The first time I was in the car was when I was in the car, I was in the car, and I was in the car, and I was in the car, and I was in the car, and I was in the car, and I was in the car.

So with a smile and a nod, "I can move down by myself."

Then, they held onto the wall, moving out one side at a time.

Yue Ling felt that her actions were a bit funny and couldn't help but puff out a laugh.

But only for a second, and then they closed in and rushed forward to help her again so she wouldn't fall.

It took a long time before Georgie finally moved out of the car, sorely.

The only thing in sight was a deserted village, and the car was parked on the only dirt road in the car.

I don't know if it had just rained, but the ground was a little soft and there were many deep and shallow puddles, and the whole road looked a little muddy.

She was still wearing the flat white shoes on her feet that she had worn on her previous trip out, and by this time, they were already dirty.

Bella Qiao didn't care and followed them to the opposite side of the village.

There weren't many families in the village, I should say, originally.

There were four men following their line, only one of them came forward and knocked on the door of a house, which opened to reveal a dark face.

Their mouths were saying something that Bella Qiao couldn't understand, which should be a local dialect.

She raised an eyebrow, and though she couldn't understand it, she could still tell from the accent that this was supposed to be somewhere in the Middle East.

I don't know what the man and the man said, but the man poked one head out of the door, took a look at Bella Qiao and Yue Ling behind him, and finally nodded and opened the door to let them in.

After a long day locked in the car, Georgie finally got off the ground, and at this point didn't mind doing whatever they let herself do.

When they entered the house, the group had something to say to the family, and the family gave them the house and the keys, then turned around and went out.

Bella Qiao felt in her heart that these people should not come back today, maybe they just rented out the place to this family.

My mind was searching for the place, and I didn't know exactly where it was, but if I rushed out at this point and shouted for help, I didn't know if I had any hope of being saved.

But then she caught a glimpse of what was bulging around the waists of the four men, knew it was a gun, and at once dismissed the thought again.

After all, as tough as these people looked, they were actually ordinary, unarmed men.

Plus, having just seen her hands and feet tied, none of them said anything, only that they had already colluded with these people and would not be able to help her.

Most of the time there is only one chance to escape this kind of thing, and once you can't get away, it's not easy to get away again.

Therefore, she must not act rashly without complete certainty that she will be caught off guard.

Thinking so, Georgie sat down nicely in the room they had arranged for her.

Soon, Yue Ling fetched a basin of water and used a clean towel to wipe her face.

Bella Qiao's heart was actually touched, after all, under such circumstances, there was still someone who could think of washing his face, it was simply too difficult.

She looked at Yue Ling and said, "Thank you."

Yue Ling's movements stiffened.

The face changed dramatically a few times.

Bella Qiao looked at her with a seeming smile and whispered, "What? Why do you look so ugly when I tell you thank you?"

Yue Ling knew what was in her heart, it was nothing more than being certain of her benevolence towards her and had been pushing her to be soft.

She said coldly, "Don't waste your breath, I can't help you, and I can't let you go."

After a pause, he seemed to look out with some scruples and lowered his voice, "If you really don't want anything to happen to you, you'd better go along with them, they're not ordinary people, they can do anything, and I can't stop them if they really want to do something to you."

Afterwards, he gathered his things and turned around to go out.

Georgie was silent for a moment, pondering those words she had just said in her mind.

She knew that these people were from the Chinese Society, so naturally they were no ordinary people.

There was nothing wrong with Yue Ling letting herself go along with them, but to this day she still didn't know what these people were trying to do by capturing her here?

The answer to this question is obviously not going to be found in a short time.

Bella Qiao was in no hurry, anyway, she was here now and would have known sooner or later.

Thinking so, she simply relaxed and waited for another half hour before Yue Ling brought in her dinner and fed her.

Jackie was not shy about having a full dinner and offered to use the bathroom again.

This was something they didn't embarrass her about and let Yue Ling accompany her.

Only when they went to the bathroom, a man still followed them to the door of the bathroom and watched them go in before going to the side to keep watch.

Bella Qiao saw that there was no hope of escape even if she went to the toilet, and knew that these people would never relax their guards easily, so she was in no hurry.

She thought that when she was at that villa before, Gu Si Qian had already found her way over, but it was a pity that Yue Ling had let herself miss it with him.

I don't know where he was at this time of year, and if he'd found his trail.

You'll have to leave a mark on him yourself to do so.

Thinking so, she took advantage of Yue Ling's lack of attention and pulled off one of the buttons on her trousers, throwing it into the corner.

Although she wasn't sure if Gu Siqian recognized what was on her clothes, but a little was better than nothing, and anyway, a dead horse was better than a dead horse!

Thinking so, after using the restroom, she followed Yue Ling back to the room she was staying in before.

It was all dark after dinner.

We all had a bumpy day and were actually tired at night.

But spare her, they refused to let their guard down.
