Chapter 146

Selena, what should I do...

I'm not as good as you think I am.

Sometimes I am really afraid that you will look at me with such trusting eyes.

If one day, you find that I am not what you think...will you leave me?

At five o'clock in the morning, Daniel was awakened by the doorbell.

As soon as he opened the door, he saw Saul standing outside anxiously, "Brother, don't scold me, this time there is a real emergency, if you don't go back, your little treasure will tear down the house! They can't contact you, Selena's phone didn't work either, so she could only call me!"

At this time, Selena's voice suddenly became sober came from behind, "What's wrong with Rick? I'll go back immediately!"

Within ten seconds after finishing speaking, he picked up his bag and helped Daniel pack his things, "Let's go, let's go!"

The three hurried back to the Lu residence.

Selena was dumbfounded as soon as she entered the yard.

"What's the situation? This is it! What are those?" Selena rubbed her eyes, looking in surprise at those humanoid objects shining with silver-white metal light walking around, feeling as if she had traveled to a different dimension.

Saul blinked, "Can't you tell? A robot!"

Selena was going crazy, "Of course I can tell...but why are there so many robots?"

Saul had a headache and said, "This is one of Rick's hobbies. It's just that I haven't taken it out for a walk for a long time. Now it's done. When I'm stimulated, I'll let it all out. It's like a zombie siege..."

There are probably dozens of those robots that can be seen at the scene, and they are wreaking havoc everywhere at the moment.

Digging, running wildly, bumping into trees, destroying flowers, one of them even lifted up a little maid... With the servants' exclamation, the scene was in chaos...

Seeing that the little maid was about to fall from the robot's hands, Selena opened the car door and rushed over to catch the girl before she fell to the ground.

"Are you all right, Wan Wan?"

Wanwan patted his chest in shock, then looked at Selena gratefully, "Thank you, Miss Selena! Miss Selena, you are back, go and see the young master!"

In the Lu residence, the servants, especially the maids, had a repelling and wary attitude towards Selena, but they never dared to show it in front of Selena. Only Wanwan, because she often went to the set to help Rick deliver juice to Selena, got along a lot, and felt that Selena didn't rely on the favor of the young master and the young master to be domineering, her attitude was modest and easy to talk, so she had a good impression of her.

Seeing Selena's quick "hero save the beauty", Daniel's expression in the car was rather helpless.

Saul poked his head out of the car window and howled mournfully, "Selena, I don't want to take you like this! You stole my job! Oh! Help..."

As he was speaking, one of his arms was clamped by one of the robots.

"Brother, save me! Turn off these things!" Saul, who was clamoring for a hero to save the beauty just now, now asked for help.

Daniel looked helpless, "Rick changed the program last time, even if I can crack it, it will take an hour."

"One hour! Then my hand will be useless!
Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa..."

"Where is Little Treasure now?" Selena asked hastily.

"It should be in the computer room." Daniel quickly got out of the car, "I'll take you there."

"Okay!" The two hurried towards the computer room.

Saul looked at the backs of the two leaving anxiously, "Hurry up, both of you!"

Chapter 147

A while later, Daniel asked the housekeeper to prepare a small convertible car similar to a sightseeing car, and quickly brought her to a small single-family building behind the golf course.

The shape of this house is very strange, and the texture looks like glass or some unknown metal. It is very high-tech and very futuristic at first glance.

The Lu residence is too big, and Selena hasn't visited all of them after living in it for so many days. This is her first time visiting this place.

"There is a mechanical device at the bottom of this house, which can rotate with the sun. The outer layer of the house is made of solar panels, and all the energy inside comes from solar energy. The housekeeper and servants are all robots." Daniel acted as a tour guide to explain.

"It's so cool!" Selena's face lit up, excited like a child.

"If you like, you can come here often. I'll set up access permissions for you later. I thought you wouldn't be interested in these things, so I didn't bring you here." Daniel said.

"No, no! I really like these things! When I was a child, I always imagined that one day I would be taken away by an alien spaceship, and when I grew up, I also thought about falling in love with a robot, ah! Thinking about it is romantic!"

Daniel: Don't give her permission yet.

When the two walked to the door, they saw a robot lying on the ground, its eyes suddenly glowing red, as if it was shooting at Selena and Daniel.

After shooting at Daniel, the robot struggled and made a whistling sound, "aster... aster..."

This robot that called "Master" intermittently in its mouth, a miserable-looking robot who wanted to make a small report but couldn't speak, was probably the housekeeper of this computer room.

Daniel sighed, and opened the warehouse door behind the robot. He didn't know what to control, and then the robot's eyes dimmed and it didn't respond.

Selena nervously moved over to touch it, "Why isn't it moving? It won't be dead, right? Oh, no...it won't be scrapped, right?"

"It's okay, just go back and fix it."

Selena breathed a sigh of relief, "Oh, that's good, otherwise it would be a pity, this one is quite handsome!"

Daniel: Let it be scrapped.

Daniel went straight into the main building, and Selena followed behind, looking left and right, anxious, "Where the hell is Rick?"

The hall was full of robots patrolling back and forth, and after spotting Selena and Daniel, they immediately turned and pointed at them.

Then, they ignored Daniel and rushed towards Selena.

"Ahhh, what are they trying to do? Why are they all coming at me!" Selena was taken aback, no matter how good she was, she couldn't beat a formidable robot!

Daniel stretched his arms under her armpits, and gently lifted her from one side to the other, avoiding the mechanical claws of one of the robots, and said helplessly, "Because you don't have permission, they treat you as an intruder."

"Then what should we do now?" While speaking, Selena had already been thrown back and forth by Daniel several times.

"Close to me." Daniel ordered.

"Ah! How close is it?" Selena was bewildered.

"Little Treasure is in the main control room on the top floor. Now we have two options. First, defeat them and break in."

"How do you fight with so many! What about the second one?" The material made her hands hurt, so she didn't want to fight with them!

"Second..." Daniel looked down at her, "I'll carry you up because they won't attack me."

Selena blinked, then stretched out her hand without hesitation, "Hug."

Chapter 148

Seeing the girl open her arms towards him for the first time, Daniel's ice-like eyes rippled.

"Ahh! It's coming again! Daniel, hurry up!" Selena had already jumped on him with all her might.

Sure enough, as soon as she stuck to Daniel, those robots didn't dare to touch her immediately.

so amazing!

The warm and fragrant body suddenly rushed towards her, and Daniel was dazed before he realized it. He leaned over and picked her up by the waist, and then walked towards the spiral staircase step by step.

This should be the first time he was so close to her when she was awake.

I really hope this road never comes to an end...

If Saul knew what his brother was thinking at the moment... um...

When Daniel and Selena went upstairs, the robots followed behind, keeping a close distance.

In order to maintain her balance, Selena wrapped her arms around the man's neck, breathed in the man's cold and pleasant breath, and looked at the large group of robots following on the winding stairs behind her, inexplicably felt that this scene was so romantic!

But the pink bubbles didn't last long.

Just as they successfully reached the top floor and were about to open the silver-white door, the robot behind them suddenly made a caracal sound, and then stretched out their iron arms towards them in unison. A firing trajectory similar to the muzzle protruded from the inside.

Selena suddenly turned pale with shock, "Dmn it! Are they real? I thought they were just toys!"

Is it really okay to give such a dangerous and lethal thing to a five-year-old child?

She no longer knew how to complain about Daniel's way of raising children.

"What should we do now?" Selena was on the verge of crying.

They just came to find Rick, why did they have to go through five levels and kill six generals, making it the same as playing a dungeon in the game.

Daniel held her shoulders, pushed her to the door panel behind him, and then blocked her whole body in front of her, with one arm behind her.

Selena was silent for three seconds, swallowed and said quietly, "Master Boss, do you know that your Bidong posture is very standard?"

"Bidong?" This was obviously another word that Daniel didn't understand.

Selena supported her forehead. Invisible teasing girls is the deadliest, dear!

At this moment, out of the corner of her eye, Selena saw a robot on the opposite side firing a bullet straight at Daniel's back, "Daniel! Be careful!"

It's just that it was too late, Daniel protected her tightly, and let out a muffled groan.

"Daniel..." Selena completely panicked.

"I'm fine." Daniel slowly raised his head.

"How can you be fine! Daniel, how are you? I'll take you there...vomit..."
Midway through speaking, Selena suddenly felt her stomach churn, "Daniel, you stink...what is so stinky?"

With a dark face, Daniel took off his coat, only to see a sticky lump on the back of his suit jacket that looked very disgusting.

Selena covered her nose, and at the same time she was relieved knowing that he was fine, she said speechlessly, "What is this, it can't be sh1t, right?"

Daniel reached out and threw the coat far downstairs, and said expressionlessly, "Canned herring is said to be the most smelly canned food in the world. It was Saul's idea."

The corners of Selena's mouth twitched slightly, "Second Young Master is really talented... This is not just smelly, it's like a biochemical weapon!"

As soon as the words fell, the door behind her suddenly opened towards the two sides automatically...

Chapter 149

"Let's go." Daniel took her hand and walked inside.

The movement is extremely natural.

Selena glanced at the hands they were holding. Although she knew that Daniel was just afraid of another accident, there was still a strange feeling in her heart.

The light in this main control room is very dim, only dozens of computers in operation are glowing faintly and coldly.

Selena followed Daniel back and forth, and finally found Rick next to the biggest machine.

Under the behemoth with countless lines, Rick was sitting on a small chair specially customized for him, staring numbly at the screen with countless programs flashing, and standing beside him was a small robot, which was only about his size, was pointing straight at her and Daniel with the barrel in his hand.

Seeing the indifferent and dull expression on Rick's face, Selena felt as if her heart was being tightly strangled by an iron claw, and she could hardly breathe due to the pain.

"Little Treasure..." She called out tremblingly.

The little guy stared at the screen without any reaction.

Selena was really frightened. She had only heard about it from Daniel and the others before, but she had never seen Rick's appearance with her own eyes.

"What to do...it's all my fault..."

"Selena, don't blame yourself. It's okay. It's very common for him to be like this. Just call him a few more times." Daniel comforted.

In fact, Daniel said that because the other party was Selena. It would be so easy to change someone else.

Selena tried her best to calm herself down, and approached him cautiously step by step.

The head of the little robot turned with her movements, but Rick still didn't respond at all.

Selena walked up to Rick, then knelt down slowly, and carefully took one of his little hands, "Rick... Auntie is back... I'm sorry...Auntie happened to something last night so I couldn't catch up with you." return..."

Selena couldn't explain to him what happened, she could only hang her head in pain.

After an unknown amount of time, a small fist suddenly appeared in her sight.

Then, the small fist slowly opened, and a pink hairpin lay quietly in the soft palm. The hairpin was a heart made of about a hundred small pink diamonds, shining brightly under the cold light of the machine.

"This is..." Selena immediately raised her head, both surprised and delighted. Although the little guy still had no expression on his face.

Daniel looked at the hairpin on his son's palm and said, "This is a birthday present from Rick."

"Give it to me..." It really is a diamond!

Selena was in a dilemma for a while.

Daniel saw what she was thinking, and promptly explained, "It's just an ordinary rhinestone, not worth much, but the ninety-nine rhinestones were all glued on by Rick with his own hands."

After hearing this, Selena was immediately overwhelmed with emotion. Instead of picking up the hairpin, she said to Rick, "Can you help Auntie put it on?"

Little Treasure moved his gaze to the hairpin a little dully, then stretched out his small hand, and put the hairpin on her ear clumsily.

Selena touched the clip with a happy face, "Does it look good?"

Rick nodded.

Finally getting a response from Little Treasure, Selena couldn't bear it any longer, and hugged the little guy into her arms.

At the same time, with a "bang", the little robot next to it fired a bunch of colorful ribbons and played a happy birthday song.

With wet eyes, Selena looked up at the colorful stripes flying all over the sky, "Thank you baby, this is the most romantic birthday I've ever had in my life!"

Chapter 150

Rick carefully prepared birthday gifts and surprises for her, from full of expectations at the beginning, to a little cold expectation, to the panic and fear of not being able to contact her...

How cruel must this be for him?

Thinking of these things, Selena's heart ached, and she didn't want to let go of Rick even for a moment.

Daniel didn't want to disturb the two of them at first, but for the sake of the little brotherhood left, he reminded, "Selena, tell Rick to call those robots back."

"Oh oh yes..." Selena then remembered that there was a group of bear robots rebelling and demolishing the house, and Saul's arm was still in their hands!

So he hurriedly said to Rick: "Honey, can you call them back?"

Rick nodded, and then faced the screen, operating the keyboard nimbly with his short fingers.

Selena was amazed at what she saw, and she exclaimed with admiration, "Baby, why are you so good? I thought you could only draw! Really, your wife is so good! I have become a top student in recent years, what? Crazy to learn things, but only this stuff can not learn, what programming, c language c++, it is my nightmare, but you are only five years old! You can play like this! You are a genius!"

Rick's expression was still dull, but the light in his eyes was much brighter.

However, Daniel on the side couldn't stand it anymore, and sighed softly, "Selena, you shouldn't praise him at this time."

"Uh... yes!" Selena finally realized that Little Treasure had caused a catastrophe.

She scratched her head in embarrassment and looked at Daniel, "Aren't you going to ask me to teach him not to do this again, are you? He did everything he promised me before. He didn't go on a hunger strike or throw things around. As a result, His methods are more advanced! What if I tell him not to do this this time, what if he uses some more advanced method next time?"

Daniel: For Rick, this is indeed possible.

Selena spread her hands, "To sum up, I think it's better not to talk about him."

In fact, out of selfishness, she didn't want to criticize Rick in today's situation. She felt so distressed, and it was too late to hurt him. How could she be willing to say something serious about him.

Fortunately, Daniel didn't force himself in the end.

Basically, in front of Selena, his principles are just floating clouds.

The three returned to the door of the residence in an open sightseeing car.

Selena was surprised to see that the robots who were making noise just now had all stood neatly in two rows, as if they were in the aisle to welcome them. The scene was very spectacular.

The only thing that spoiled the scenery was the wailing at the side...

"Brother, why have you been here for so long! My fcuking arm is dislocated!"

"A dislocated arm is worth your howling!" Selena rolled his eyes at him, jumped down, held his arm and pulled it, making a click.

"Oh..." Saul let out a cry like a pig being slaughtered.

Selena patted his arm, "Stop howling! It's ready, try it!"

"Huh?" Saul blinked his eyes and moved his arms again. It's really good.

However, he still murmured worriedly, "You won't pick it up wrong for me, will you?"

"How is it possible! I have rich experience!" Selena was full of confidence.

Saul looked skeptical, "May I ask why you have so much experience in this kind of thing?"

Selena: "Because I used to fight with Louis a lot, I dislocated his arm several times and I picked it up for him!"

Saul: "..."

Are you sure it was a fight, not you beating him unilaterally?

I'm really worried about his brother's future, won't he be domestically abused in the future? Forget it, what is he worried about, even if he is raped, he must be happy...
