

Cruel Heart Lover Novel

Chapter 241

---

Chapter 241

Know the world but not the world...

Rebellious but kind and gentle...

I have experienced a lot, but I always maintain a pure heart...

best girl ever...

Ouch! The old man's girlish heart!

Selena clutched her chest with her beating heart and almost fell to the ground.

Who doesn't like others to praise themselves?

What's more, Daniel also boasted that he was so sincere and so technical, every word poked at the softest place in her heart.

Shouldn't Daniel's character design be abstinent and aloof? It's unscientific to have such a sweet mouth!

Looking at the big devil who is still waiting for her to make a move...

Selena really wanted to kneel down and kowtow three times to beg him to let him go!

You are a queen with a full-level divine outfit, do you still need me to carry it?

Selena coughed lightly, and said earnestly in the tone of a person who has been here before, "Master Boss, with all due respect, in fact, with your internal and external conditions and understanding, you don't need me to teach you at all. If you are not tempted, then there is only one possibility."

Hearing this, Daniel lowered the hand that was resting on his forehead, and narrowed his eyes slightly, "What's possible?"

Selena took a deep breath and said firmly, "You're not her type!"

"Not her type...?"

Accompanied by these words, there is also a cold wind from the Arctic glaciers...

Selena swallowed, forced her head against the sharp eyes of the Great Demon King, nodded affirmatively and said, "Yes, as the saying goes, radishes and vegetables have their own favorites, and people who like radishes, no matter how perfect the vegetables are, it is impossible Go to those who like green vegetables!"

Daniel tapped the armrest of the seat regularly with his fingers. After three seconds of silence, he said quietly, "If I'm sure, I'm a carrot?"

Selena: "...!!!"

fcuk!

What do you mean you are sure you are a carrot?

You are so sure that my wife likes you! Do you want to be so... witty...

"Then...then maybe she already has other radishes she likes? One radish and one hole, there are already radishes in it, so naturally the other radishes can't hold it!" Selena twitched at her metaphor. The corner of my mouth twitched, why use the weird metaphor of "radish"...

"Other favorite radishes..." Daniel pondered for a while, then his eyes turned, "Who is it?"

At this moment, the cold wind has properly evolved into a tornado!

Selena, who was in the center of the storm, felt that she couldn't hold on any longer. She tried to move to the window while pretending to be looking at the scenery, and said with a dry smile, "I don't know how to tell fortunes, how would I know that! Anyway, I think so, you It's better to keep the status quo, otherwise, if the other party really likes someone, once you talk about it, what should you do if you can't even be friends?"

Daniel's thin lips were tightly pursed, his face was as frosty, and he didn't speak for a long time. In the airtight compartment, the air pressure was so low that it was almost like hail...

Just when Selena was so oppressed by the atmosphere that she couldn't breathe, Daniel finally spoke. He said...

"Then... pull out that carrot."

Selena: "..."

Pull...Pull that carrot!

Brother, do you want to be so scary with your words!

Originally, I wanted to find a shield, but which shield could withstand the big devil's move? Not enough to get between the teeth!

Sad reminder, communication failed again...

Could it be that she can only use her ultimate move? I hope I won't be able to use that trick...

Chapter 242

Selena's new residence is on the seventh floor of Zhujiang Emperor View. It has three bedrooms and one living room. The decoration is simple and comfortable. There is a beautiful river view behind the balcony.

She, Daniel and the driver took three trips to bring everything up.

Looking at the sundries in the room, Selena wiped off her sweat, "There is one last bag, I'll go down and get it!"

Daniel nodded, "Yes, I'll tidy it up for you."

"Wait, I forgot something..." Selena took out a long black gift box from one of the boxes.

"What is this?" Daniel asked.

Selena smiled mysteriously, "Use it to coax my sister!"

downstairs.

Selena finally finished taking the last luggage bag. When she entered the lobby, she saw the little girl at the front desk peering at her. When she met her gaze, she immediately lowered her head and pretended to be busy.

Rao has seen too many big stars at the front desk of Pearl River Royal View, so she has already calmed down, but Selena's recent popularity is too high, she is still a little surprised to see her suddenly, not to mention that she is still dating a very handsome and mysterious man today came together...

Selena smiled generously at the little girl, then walked towards her.

The front desk was a little surprised to see her walking towards him, and then boldly said, "Are you Selena?"

Selena nodded, "Yes, I just moved here today."

After speaking, he took out the black gift box that he had just brought and handed it to her, "It's our first meeting, a little gift, please pay more attention to me in the future."

"Ah... this... I can't accept this!"

"It's okay, someone gave it to me, and it didn't cost any money. You can take it! Your lips are so beautiful, you must look good when you use them!"

The little girl touched her lips, her cheeks flushed slightly, "Then...thank...thank you!"

"You're welcome."

After Selena walked away, the little girl immediately opened the box to have a look, and then showed a surprised expression.

It turned out to be a whole dozen lipsticks, a whole set of different shades.

God! She likes this brand of lipstick very much, but she can't afford it. Her boyfriend also has an elm head, and every time he gives them weird things, Nima, you can't give my wife a lipstick!

I really didn't expect this Selena to be really good at life...

Although there were quite a few big stars who gave her things, they all had a haughty attitude, throwing her a little of what they didn't want, just like giving alms.

It's not like Selena, who makes people so happy when giving gifts! A look is specially prepared!

Most people look down on staff like her, but they don't know that she knows a lot of secrets in this profession...

Elevator door.

With a "ding dong", the elevator door opened.

Outside the door, after seeing the people in the elevator, Selena frowned slightly. She never expected to meet Janice by such a coincidence.

"Selena..." At this moment, Janice was staring at her in surprise, and said with a defensive expression, "What are you doing here?"

Selena rolled her eyes, "Is this your home? Only you can come?"

Janice put her arms around her chest, and looked up and down at her dusty and dirty attire contemptuously, "Oh, although it's not from my family, it's not like you can come here!"

Selena passed her, went straight into the elevator, and pressed the close button: "I'm so sorry, I live here!"

Janice stood there in a daze when she heard the words, looking suspiciously at the elevator that closed the door and went up...

Chapter 243

Selena lives here?

how is this possible!

But you have to swipe your card to enter and exit the community. How did she get in?

Janice muttered to herself as she walked, and finally couldn't help but went to the front desk to inquire.

"Xiao Fang, the girl who went in just now... is Selena, is she a resident here?" Janice asked.

Xiao Fang put on a polite and embarrassed expression, "Miss Chang, it's not easy for us to disclose this property that belongs to the residents, and you know that we are very strict!"

Janice stuffed a shopping card into her hand calmly, "Sister, it's convenient for you! I just want to know if she lives here, and I don't ask about sensitive issues, it won't affect you of!"

Xiao Fang glanced at the shopping card disdainfully, thinking that you are usually arrogant to me, but now you have something to ask me, do you know how nice you are?

I wanted to push it back, but changed my mind, accepted the card, and said, "That's right, she lives here, and the information was just registered about half a month ago."

When Janice heard it, her eyes lit up immediately, "Who is the head of the household?"

Xiao Fang knew what she was thinking just by looking at her expression, and told the truth, "It's registered under the name of Shengshi Entertainment, so it must be the accommodation arranged for her by the company!"

Janice was dumbfounded, "What? Are you sure you're right?" She thought she could catch Selena's braid...

Xiao Fang said in a firm tone, "How can I make a mistake, that suite is the best location in the entire Pearl River Imperial View, facing the Pearl River, the scenery is very good, it has been empty until half a month ago, the staff of Shengshi took the workers Came here to redecorate the house, and the information on the property information form is filled with her information!"

"I see, thank you..." Janice hurried out with a dark face.

Dmn it, is Shengshi Entertainment crazy? To give Selena such a good treatment to a newcomer!

Thinking of what she said to Selena not long ago, about how good the dormitory Empire arranged for her was...it was a slap in the face of herself...

It seems that it is necessary to keep a close eye on Selena, she must find out who is behind this bltch!

...

With Daniel's help, what Selena would have been busy with all day was completed in half a day.

Seeing that everything was neatly packed, her mood improved.

After entering the prosperous age, she has always felt unreal, but now looking at her future nest, she finally feels a little real.

Selena took a new towel to wipe Daniel's sweat, and thanked, "It's really hard for you today, may I treat you to a meal?"

No matter what, Daniel had been busy all day moving her, so at least one meal was a must.

"Can I have dinner at home?" Daniel asked.

Selena scratched her head, "Huh? But the kitchen hasn't fired yet, there's nothing there, I'm afraid I can't cook..."

"It's okay, you don't need to do anything, you're already very tired today." After finishing speaking, Daniel made a call, and said two words to the person on the other end of the phone: "Come in."

The next second, the doorbell rang.

Selena opened the door suspiciously, and was taken aback.

There were two rows of people standing in an orderly manner outside the door, all wearing uniforms and holding various delicacies in their hands.

The little brother standing at the front is holding a large bouquet of fresh lilies in his hand.

Daniel was tall and straight, walked over with strong steps, took the flowers from the little brother, turned around and held them in front of her, "Send it to you."

Chapter 244

Looking at the large bouquet of pure white lilies, Selena blinked blankly and took them reflexively.

Then, the waiters came in one after another, spread the tablecloths and arranged the candlesticks, set up an extremely exquisite candlelight dinner in just five minutes, and then bowed and retreated in a well-trained manner.

It turned out that this was what Daniel meant if he could eat at home...

She thought she was cooking at home!

How naive!

Just now she saw the words "Red Restaurant" engraved on the uniforms of those waiters. The Red Restaurant is the most famous private restaurant among the aristocratic circles in City B. It only serves one table a day, and the people who order food have been queued until next year.

There is also a rule in this restaurant, no ordering is accepted, you can eat whatever you want, such a wayward restaurant, Daniel actually let him come to deliver food...

Selena looked at the flowers, then at the candlelight dinner table...

"This... These are clearly the standard equipment for a confession?" Selena whispered in horror.

Daniel deliberately dismissed Rick today, and arranged things in advance. He even asked her a very pointed question about how to chase girls...

Is it really necessary to...

Why did the more she thought about it, the more she panicked?

In the next second, her gaze fell on the dessert on the small shelf by the table with a whoosh, um, there must be something like an engagement ring hidden in the cake, cough cough...

Impossible impossible! With Daniel's personality, how could it be such an easy way to guess!

"Don't you like the dishes?" Daniel frowned slightly when he saw that her expression was not good, then picked up the phone, "I'll ask them to withdraw and start again."

Selena waved her hands hastily, "No, no, no! It's all my favorite food! What I mean is... I should invite you, how did you invite me!"

"Same." Daniel said nonchalantly, and then pulled out the chair for her in a gentlemanly manner.

"Hey, thank you..." Selena could only sit down.

She took a closer look at Daniel, and then noticed a detail.

It is reasonable to say that today is a day off, he should wear casual clothes, but today he is dressed very formally, and tied a bow tie for the first time!

After sitting down, Selena realized that she was absent-minded and forgot that she was still holding flowers in her arms, so she hurriedly found a vase and put it in.

"Do you like it?" Daniel asked.

"What?" Selena froze for a moment.

"lily."

"Uh, I really like it..."

"Well, I think Lily is more suitable for you."

Selena: "..."

Does he mean that lily represents "innocence", or does he mean that lily represents "a hundred years of love"?

"Let's eat." Daniel picked up a chopstick dish for her.

"Yeah... I'll do it myself!" In order to hide her nervousness, Selena began to work hard.

When she ate until her stomach was full, she finally realized something was wrong, holding the half-eaten cake in her hand, she frowned and looked at the man opposite...

Daniel didn't eat much all the time, but opened a bottle of wine and sipped it for himself, and the bottle was almost empty...

"Daniel, why did you drink so much alcohol? I didn't see how you ate the food, uh...poof..."

When Selena was talking, there was still a mouthful of unswallowed cake in her mouth, but as she was talking, she suddenly felt that she had bitten something hard, and hurriedly opened her mouth to spit it out.

"I'll go, what the hell, my teeth are numb..."

With a "ding dong", a shiny ring... fell on the white porcelain plate in front of her...

Chapter 245

Selena stared at the ring on the plate like a light bulb, her whole expression was stunned.

I go!

rather! Xi! you! this! individual! Wu! crow! mouth!

She was actually hit by what she said...

She must guard against everything! I always subconsciously feel that the big devil's way of picking up girls must be a blockbuster that makes people hard to guard against. How did I know that I fell into such... an old-fashioned way!

However, the final result is the same, and it is still hard to guard against.

Is the Great Demon King doing the opposite on purpose?

At this moment, what Selena regretted the most was why she didn't swallow the ring just now to destroy the corpse...

Under Selena's dull gaze, Daniel drank the last sip of wine in his glass, put down his glass, and looked at her with deep eyes: "The reason I keep drinking is because I'm nervous."

Selena: Is he still nervous? Who should be nervous!

The coldness on Daniel's face turned into a slightly drunk mist, but the bottom of his dark night eyes was full of clarity, and his cold voice was like raindrops falling on a cold pool: "I never do things that I'm not sure about, but this time, I still do it." gone."

"This may be the most impulsive thing I have ever done in my life, but I have no choice and no room for regret."

"Now whether I advance or retreat, you have decided to stay away from me. It's just the difference between sooner and later."

"From the first day I met you, I have been planning this day and planned countless plans. However, you are becoming more and more afraid of me. For you now, those seem to only scare you, so , I chose the most traditional and gentle way."

After hearing the last sentence, Selena was speechless: "..."

The gentlest way... Thank you for being so considerate!

But I'm still scared to pee, okay?

Daniel paused, then raised his head, and continued, "No matter which method I use, I don't have the confidence to completely impress you. Although today's plan is the safest method I can think of, but I'm within the budget. The probability of success is only 17 percent."

Selena: "Huh?" What the hell is 17? How on earth did he figure out this magic number?

"Uh, cough, cough...that what..."

Confused, Selena subconsciously wanted to touch the wine, but found that Daniel had already drunk it all, so she poured herself a full glass of juice and gulped it down.

After putting down the glass with a "bang", Selena finally found her voice...

"Daniel, you are practicing how to confess your love to the girl you like! Well, it's pretty good, it's traditional but classic, low-key but still connotative, and the lines are sensational..."

Daniel quietly looked at the girl opposite, pulled back the chair slightly, stood up, stretched his long arms across the dining table, pinched her chin where she was speaking, and leaned over to k!ss her lips in the next second. ...

Selena's voice stopped abruptly.

Three seconds later, just as he realized it, Daniel pressed the back of her head firmly and k!ssed her more deeply...

The room was so quiet that you could hear a pin drop, only the sound of rapid breathing, the slight friction between clothes and the sound of lips and tongues intertwining, the air temperature rose quietly...

After an unknown amount of time, the k!ss finally ended. Daniel slowly left her lips, but his broad palm was still covering the back of her neck, and his forehead was gently pressed against hers...

