

The Alpha Claimed Me Deeply Chapter 19

19

Aurora's pov)

“Hi,” The red haired girl from last night mumbles out awkwardly as she enters the room and spots me on the bed

I was awake already. In fact, I hadn't slept properly. It wasn't because of the rope around my wrists Alpha Xavier hadn't made it tight and uncomfortable.

It was just that, my mind was clogged up with restless thoughts of the intimidating Alpha One moment he was seeming to be sweet, totally opposite of the rumors. But then he'd show me the untrustworthy beast he truly was

But even his beast side, I was sadly fawning over.

The girl hadn't done anything to me, so I answered “Hi,”

Well, this is awkward.

The girl looked shy as she walks over to me, almost cautiously. “Alpha Xavier said to free you –

Was he going to let me go freely?

A smile nearly lit my face before it vanishes. Why did I not like the fact that I was leaving him? “From your binds.” She finishes, her thin fingers reaching out to softly pull at the ropes around my wrists.

oh.

Just to free me of the ropes.

I looked at the girl. She looked fairly young, around my age.” Why didn't he come to do it himself”

I wanted to bite off my tongue for ever speaking. I didn't want the girl to think that I fancied her Alpha or think something else that was more atrocious.

I felt heat crawl to my cheeks as she answered blankly. ” Alpha Xavier is in an important meeting He will not come to do such a foolish thing for a mere girl.” 1

Her words stung, a lot. A mere girl.

But she was right. She really was.

I blinked away the shame in my eyes as she removes the ropes. “You’re right. It was a stupid question” I murmured in humiliation as I rubbed my wrists where the rope was.

It wasn’t red or achy, it was more so I was doing it subconsciously.

The girl looks down at me, her stare turning to one of pity. I flinched. I hated that stare. “It’s fine Every female who’s ever laid their eyes on our Alpha can’t resist his handsome features.”

My eyes widen when I caught the meaning of her words. Did she really think I fancied her Alpha?

“No no it’s not like that. I was just asking a question to make conversation with you. I’m not good with starting a conversation.” I confessed. Maybe that’s why it was so hard to make Trends back at the Crystal River pack. But then again, no one wanted to be my friend except for Cas.

The girl looked at me blankly as if unsure if I was telling the truth or not She nods almost reluctantly before speaking “I’m Josie, one of the maids here.”

Rubbing my wrists still, I sat up on the bed. My actions had her taking a step back as if afraid of me I frown. Did I look like a threat to her? Yes, my features were rare but I didn’t look evil. Or did I?

Smiling shakily, I murmured “I’m Aurora,” I held out my hand and she looks at it skeptically, I looked down at my hand frowning, Did she not want to take it because it was the hand that had the healing balm on it?

Tucking the hand away, I stretched out the other but she still doesn’t take it. Awkwardly retracting it back to my side, I stay muted. She looks down at me, her eyes scanning my features

“What are you?” Her words were not supposed to shock me but they did. I stay muted for a little while, looking at her lost.

I’ve heard that question many times before. But still didn’t know the right answer I should give.

“I don’t know,” I murmured as her features twitches in accusation. But as my words settled in her ear, her face morphs into one of disbelief.

“I will have someone bring your breakfast. Apparently Alpha wants to make sure you eat. I don’t see why he’s being weirdly kind to you even though you’re a threat,”

Her words made me flinch and pain jabs into my chest.” I’m not a threat
She rolls her eyes. “That’s what they all say,” Shaking her head she turns around to leave “Don’t leave this room ugly.” Her harsh words made me blink back tears as I lift my fingers to touch my cheek. Ugly. The door bangs behind her and her fleeting footsteps made me wish it was me walking away and getting out of here.

She was right. I was a threat. As long as blood runs through my veins, I would always be a threat to the entire werewolf community.

: Xavier’s pov

Go to mate now. I want to taste her again.’ Reckon snarls. He was starving, but not for blood like his usual, he was starving for her, ‘We’re in the middle of a sucking meeting Reckon.’ I blasted annoyed that he was showing me images of a naked Aurora. My cock throbbed
Aurora was taming the craving blood lust of Reckon but now he was craving for something more. Something only she can give. And I’d be a fool to not admit that I was craving her too. An image of her glistening pussy creeps into my head and I groan. Shit I’m getting a hard on in the middle of a meeting,

Calm down Reckon, we will go to her when this is over. We have to check up on her anyway: I hissed at him while taping my fingers on the oak desk “Alpha, the girl can’t be trusted No matter how innocent she looks, something about her rubs me the wrong way.” Samuel paced the room.

At any moment now he’d definitely make a print from how much pacing he has done

Rubbing him the wrong way! Kill him! kill him now for even saying something like that about her Reckon roared and I winced, trying my best to ignore him

“I’ve told you Samuel, I’m leaving her here for further questioning We can’t have a girl looking like her just slip through our fingers without knowing what she is and what potential she has “I grunt.

When can they leave so I can go to her ?

This wasn’t Reckon’s thoughts but my own, which consumed me.

“Samuel is right Alpha She looks suspicious and when we caught her, it was like she was running away from something. “Chris added

“She can’t be trusted. She’s a threat to us all by being here.” Beta

Samuel spoke up and I wish he hadn’t

While the two voiced out their hatred for Aurora Elichose to stay mute.

‘Spill their blood for accusing her. Murder them. We’ll get better warriors.’ Reckon snarled

He wasn’t making this easy as he filled my head with thoughts of murder I needed to get out of here before I paint the walls with the blood of my Beta and my two Gammas

I could feel my canines extend as Reckon forces me to accept that I wanted to wash my hands with their blood. Noticing my mood, all shifted on their feet nervously and neither spoke

They knew what happens when Reckon takes over.

“This meeting is over The girl stays here until I fish out what I’m looking for from her” With that, I rise to my feet, my vision already going red as I marched across the floor towards the door

One second staying here and I’ll kill them

I needed to go to Aurora

She’s the only one that can calm Reckon down for me to be able to control him. If not, he’ll surely kill someone today.

My long strides drove me towards her door. I needed to taste her right now.

The Alpha Claimed Me Deeply Chapter 20

(Aurora's pov)

jolted when the door is suddenly opened. I knock on the opposite wall.

The door had been through a lot since I've come here

I placed the buttered biscuit back on the tray and looked at Alpha Xavier with widened eyes. His eyes were red and his canines were pecking out. My eyes call to his hands. The nails. They were ready to tear through flesh. His wolf had taken over. Or was about to,

The tray falls off my lap, the plates shattering as I crawled to the furthest corner of the bed. He came here to finally kill me. To get rid of me. Alpha Xavier growls in warning, as if not pleased about my frightened state. He slams the door close, locking it. I shivered with fear.

Why did he come to kill me now? Had he found out about my secret?

Did someone stumble on the flower and knew it was me?

I flinch every time his boots slammed on the floor as he nears me. He snarls when he reaches the bed.

"Please," I whimpered, shaking my head. No matter how defiant I had been last night, I was still afraid of death. I didn't want to die. At least not yet. As he stares down at me, I couldn't help but wish for the swirls of amber. "I want to examine you again," Examine me again?

I reddened when I realized his meaning. He wants to see me again. Did he mean naked like the last time?

Tongue tied of fear to question him, I stay rooted where I am. "Strip off your clothes, Aurora," His command rocked through my body. I tried to roll off the bed but he shakes his head. "No, stay right there and strip." I nodded, my mouth feeling impossibly dry as my fingers work to strip me off my clothes. I am very aware of his piercing gaze following the movement of my fingers as they work to remove every last piece of clothing on my body. I did not feel angered or disgusted by his order. In a sick way, I enjoyed it. To see the way his eyes flickered with lust, the way his breathing became rugged and rough. I enjoyed it.

But didn't know why.

I was now bare in front of him with my clothes limply beside me. I don't have the urge to cover up, I never did. Some would've thought it was the fear of upsetting him that made me do as he asked without question. But I knew the truth. I knew I wanted to I had no problems with him touching my body or looking at me The addition felt wrong but it was the absolute truth Xavier stares down at me with what I presume was uncontrollable lust. It lickered hotly and made me squion with the urge to beg him to touch me Gone was the scared girl, Ho visibly sucked in some air, his eyes rolling back as if tasting something delicious. My heart pounds when suddenly his hovering over me. He was a huge beast. If he were to drop his weight, I'd be crushed Xavier doesn't speak but keeps his gaze on my face "You have tiny freckles peppering on your nose," He hums, a finger reaching up to skiin my nose to my check.

"You blush casily," He whispers skimming his fingers from my jaw to my pointy ear. I stiffen. I hated when anyone touched my ear They mocked me for it, taunting me with bad words that would make me feel like my heart was shattering In that moment, as I stared at Xavier Knight, I prayed he'd not be like them and mock me for the features I had no control of.

But his next words had me shocked.

"Cute,"

My eyes widen when he playfully rubs the pointy ends. The last time he touched my ear, I was too frightened to feel anything other than the emotion. But right now, as he stared at the ear i n keen fascination, I couldn't help but want him to touch the part of me that throbbbed for him, Xavier's eyes flickered to mine. "Your arousal smells delicious,"

I squirmed in embarrassment.

For a second there I had forgotten his senses were heightened and that he could smell everything, especially my arousal. There would be no denying it.

Smirking down at my flustered state, he lists then crawls down my body until sitting up. His huge thighs cage my ankles between them. "Well let's see it then. Let's see if I can help you with that little predicament.”

His warm fingers circle around both my ankles and guide them to slip up and part. “Part them further Aurora. Or are you now too shy to make me have a look at what's mine?”

His possessive words and tone should've made me back away. But instead, my body shuddered, my stomach cramp with heat and the wetness trailed down my slit to my butt until drenching the covers under me.

Never having felt this before, I had no way of knowing how to stop it. I couldn't stop it.

My legs part further until I'm completely ready for any examination he'd do to me. Right now

I didn't want to know the answer to why I felt such a strong pull toward a male wolf. Right now, I didn't want the answer to why I couldn't resist him.

I just wanted him to touch me. To ease that burning heat that has started to crawl like an untameable fire inside me.

Xavier lets out a deep growl from the back of his throat and I shivered.

“You're very obedient....

“He drawls, eyes glistening with desire.

“And ready,” Suddenly his hot breath delicately blows against my wet warm core and I gasped. “Alp

My words get stuck in my throat when I felt his tongue on my folds. He groans, pushing his tongue in further as if wanting to drown in the taste of me.

I scream out, thrashing as he slurps my juices. Xavier's fingers quickly come to wrap around my thighs to keep me in place. My fingers dig into the covers, bundling them beneath me as my screams grow louder by the second

To anyone else, they'd think he was murdering me or punishing me badly. I suppose he was indeed punishing me with his wicked tongue inside me

“Alp-ha Xa-vier

I couldn't seem to form words without stuttering My heart quickens the more he pushes his tongue in and out My skin tingles and I found myself pushing closer to him, urging him to continue even though my body couldn't take it. Xavier seems to like this and his wicked tongue dips into me more. My hips buck and my core contracts against his tongue. He slowly pulls away, his gaze staring at my glistening pussy Before he breathes out. "Fuck," Suddenly he wrenches away from me like I had just bumped him. I couldn't understand but his actions made my heart squeeze painfully. His eyes. They were back to the normal amber,