

Charming Mommy of adorable triplets Chapter- 1980-1989

Chapter 1980

Daisie shut her mouth, lay obediently on his chest, and tried to get some sleep.

Nollace rolled over and hugged her.

A thick layer of the quilt was clamped in between her waist and his lower abdomen to prevent them from rubbing against each other.

He despised coaxing her with tricks to get her to go all the way with him.

What he wanted was her complete willingness

At the same time, in the Comfort Inn...

Because Colton had come to visit her earlier today, Sandy did not dare to let her guard down.

Sandy packed her luggage and opened the cupboard because it was already midnight.

Deedee had been locked in the cupboard for a whole day without getting any food or a drop of water.

She was too feeble at the moment.

The strong light forced her to open her eyes slightly, and her voice sounded very weak." Grandma, I'm hungry..."

"Hmph! You won't die from a little hunger."

Sandy dragged her out of the cupboard.

Deedee could barely stand still, and the arm that was being grasped by Sandy gradually became numb.

"Hurry up! If you dare to delay my escape, I'll kill you."

“You don’t need to apologize.” Colton put his hand on her shoulder.

“Spend some time with her. I’ll take care of the rest.” He turned to leave, but Freyja held onto him.

Colton turned to look at her.

“What’s wrong?” Freyja let go of him, looked away, and pressed her lips together.

“Thank you.” Colton looked at her face and asked, “That’s all you want to say?” She nodded.

Colton put his hand on the back of her head, pulled her closer, and whispered, “If you really want to thank me, do it with your actions.”

Freyja was stunned, but Colton suddenly kissed her lips. He kissed her for a long time before he let her go and left the room.

Freyja froze on the spot and could still feel that kiss on her lips.

The police officer was stunned and looked suspicious.

“What did the Goldmanns do?” The Goldmanns were a big family in Bassburgh.

It sounded absurd that they would kidnap someone’s grandchild.

“Sir, it’s true.I’m not lying.” Sandy was flustered.

“My daughter...She abandoned her child because she wanted to marry one of the Goldmann sons.She neglected her for years, but now she worked with the Goldmanns to take her away.They just threatened me not too long ago.You can check the surveillance footage if you don’t believe me.”

There were cameras in the corridors of the hotel, so if they looked into it, not only would they see who did it the night before, but they would also see that Colton had met her yesterday.

Even though the police officer didn’t believe her, he had to check the surveillance videos.He sent someone over to get the videos and questioned the front desk.

The staff confirmed that they had seen Colton at the hotel.

Sandy hid her joy when she walked over to the police officer.

“You heard them.He did come and see me, and I could recognize his men.If you found the footage, you should believe me.” The police officer saw how certain she was about it, so he didn’t say anything until the footage was out.

Chapter 1982

After ten minutes, the police officer who went to get the footage returned.

“Sir, I’ve checked the footage and saw Mr. Goldmann came over with a group of people and left soon after that.” Sandy was overwhelmed.

“What about what happened to the footage from yesterday? They attacked me and took my granddaughter!” The police officer looked at her and frowned.

“There’s no footage of you getting attacked.” Sandy’s face dropped.

“No...that’s impossible!” She yelled, “I was attacked yesterday! How could that not have been recorded!? You must be afraid of the Goldmanns and lied to me!”

“Ma’am, you can take a look for yourself if you don’t believe me.” She immediately walked to the manager, who was holding a tablet.

The footage had a timestamp on it, and it was showing what happened last night.

There was nothing that showed her being attacked.

Most of the time, their words held more truth than the adults’.

Usually, when children lied, they wouldn’t contain as many complicated reasons as compared to adults, and they did it mostly to get attention.

Children were innocent.

They would cry when you hit them, and if you treat them badly, they would react badly too.

Sandy choked, and her body trembled.

The lawyer stood in the corridor and worked with the police.

He soon received a phone call from Colton and went aside to take it.

“Mr. Goldmann.” Colton asked, “Have you submitted the evidence?”

The lawyer replied, “Yes, we’ll be able to go to court the soonest in a week.” Colton calmly nodded.

“No matter what you do, strip her of her custodial rights and send her to jail for 15 days.”

Chapter 1983

The lawyer said, “Don’t worry, I’m confident in winning this one.”

Meanwhile, at the hospital... Deedee slowly started looking more cheerful with Freyja by her side.

Freyja was afraid that her mother would have traumatized Deedee, so she took counseling very seriously.

Daisie showed up at the door with a little cake, then knocked.

Freyja turned around and smiled.

"Deedee, this is Aunt Daisie. Say hello." Deedee no longer remembered Daisie, but she wasn't as shy as she was before.

"Hello." Daisie walked to the bed, placed the little cake down, smiled, and said, "I got you this little cake because Aunt Fey say you love them."

When she saw Daisie open up the box, Deedee stared at the six slices of chocolate cake and started to salivate.

“They did so much to bring her to court. She must have done something terrible.”

During the session...

When the court stripped Sandy of her custodial rights over Deedee, she stood up angrily and snarled, “What do you mean!? She’s my granddaughter! How could you take her away from me!?”

Two guards held her back into her seat. She clenched her jaw while she glared at Colton, who was in the plaintiff’s box.

“Coleman Goldmann! Who are you to interfere in my family’s affairs? I’m from Yaramoor! Zlokova’s laws don’t apply to me!” The lawyer replied, “That doesn’t change anything. You committed a crime in Zlokova, so you’ll be punished by our law. Is child abuse and stripping a child of her freedom not illegal in Yaramoor?”

Sandy’s pupils shrank while she shook.

“No...You can’t do this to me. I’m Fey’s mother!” Colton chuckled and picked up a document on the desk.

“Other than Deedee’s custody rights, Freyja will no longer have any relations with you. From now on, she will be a citizen of Zlokova, a member of the Goldmann family.”

Everyone heard that and gasped. Colton was announcing good news.

If Freyja married him, she would become a citizen of Zlokova.

Chapter 1984

For a woman, the family she married into wouldn't be as close as her own family, but if Colton wanted his future wife to cut ties with her own family, how bad must that family be? Sandy was still trembling as her expression changed.

"What did you say!?" Colton looked at her coldly.

"You keep calling Freyja your daughter, but what have you ever done for her as a mother? "

"You neglected her just because she was a daughter instead of a son and did not carry out your duties as a mother. You would rather smear her reputation, so how dare you call yourself her mother?" Everyone started chattering.

Freyja was just 'exposed' for 'leaving her daughter' so she could marry into the Goldmann family.

That informant was her own mother!? Sandy lost her mind.

"She came from me, and I gave her life, so I get to decide if she lives or dies!"

Since the queen was the daughter of a duke, the king had to live with an arranged marriage before ascending to the throne.

The king hadn't married the queen out of love but for power.

On the other hand, it was love at first sight with Freyja's grandmother.

If the king were a commoner, they would have had a happy family.

The king loved Freyja's grandmother and took great care of her.

Even after what happened to the Knowles, his grandson, Nollace, had almost died in the hands of kidnappers because he was taking care of his illegitimate lover.

That was why the king felt guilty and had to acknowledge Nollace as his grandson, as reparation for the Knowles.

Chapter 1985

Also, even though Sandy was an illegitimate child, the king had never mistreated her. Still, she wasn't happy about that and even taught her son to try to take the throne from the Knowles.

Ken's future and the king's disgust were both caused by her ambition.

Sandy covered her ears.

"That's b*llshit! I won't admit to that! My son didn't die because of me! No way..."

Unfortunately, it didn't matter if she admitted to it. It was the truth.

The court sentenced her to 15 days in jail.

After serving her time, she would be deported and never allowed to re-enter the country.

"Good job." He finished his wine and went to the bedroom.

When he tried to open the door, he realized that it was locked.

He covered his face and chuckled.

“Freyja Pruitt, you’re thanking me by locking me out?” Freyja leaned against the door on the other side and smiled.

“I’m pregnant.It’s for the baby’s good.” Colton was rendered speechless.

Freyja heard no sound coming from the other side of the door, so she pressed her ear against it.

‘Did he leave?’ She opened the door, and the man standing on the other side took the opportunity and squeezed in.

Before she could react, she was already pressed against the wall, and her lips were warm.

Colton held his kiss for a long time before hugging her.

“How could you lock me outside? I need to punish you.” Freyja blushed and turned her face away while she mumbled, “You’re handsy when you sleep.” Colton chuckled.

“I can’t do anything to you, but I can’t even touch?” Freyja choked, “Colton, you’re shameless!” Colton smiled.

“Likewise.” Freyja suddenly hugged him, which made him freeze and look away.

Chapter 1986

Freyja pressed her cheek against Colton's chest and listened to his heartbeat.

"Let me hug you. for a while." Colton lowered his head to look at the woman in his arms.

This was also the first time she showed her dependence on him.

"Colton, I used to think that you were arrogant in the past. You had a bad attitude, and someone like you will never put yourself in other shoes." He frowned.

"Someone like me what,"

"But it seems like I was wrong." Freyja lifted her head to look at him and smiled.

"Other than the fact that you can't speak, you're a good man." Colton squinted.

"Is this a compliment or a negative comment?" She smiled.

"It's both." Colton carried her to the bed and laid her down. He tucked her into the bed and said, "Then take good care of the little baby in your womb. After it comes out, I'm going to settle the score with its mother."

Poking her head out, she asked, "Have you been home the whole time?"

He put the stew onto a plate and continued.

"I didn't have anything to do. My wife is working so hard with her career, so I can only be a househusband."

'Househusband...' Daisiechuckled.

"Well, it seems like I've married a gentleman." Nollace turned around and pulled her into his arms.

He kissed her forehead and continued.

" Alright, stop teasing me.I still have to cook." She blinked her eyes and went out to the dining room.

After Nollace brought the dishes to the table, Daisy couldn't resist anymore and took up her fork, only to be smacked by Nollace.

Chapter 1987

Daisy smacked her lips and went to wash her hands. While she was washing her hands, Nollace had already finished serving the table.

Daisy took a bite from his stew.

The meat melted in her mouth like ice cream.

Not only was it tender, but it tasted good as well.It was not greasy, and this was the best stew she had ever had.

Nollace looked at her.

"How is it?" While munching on the stew, she nodded.

"It's delicious." Nollace pinched her cheek and smiled adoringly.

"Then eat them all.These are all yours." She was stunned.

Meanwhile, in a small town near the sea in the south of Rowerl City...

Sandy checked herself into a simple rental house.

The house was clean, but the furniture was old.

Even the bed was a normal wooden bed. She put her baggage down and asked disgustingly.

“How long am I going to stay here?” The man standing in front of the door replied, “Well, you’ll need to ask Mr. Matthews about that.” Sandy continued impatiently.

“Where is Mr. Matthews? I need his help.” The man let out a cold smirk.

“You’re the one who needs his help, not him. You need to be clear about that.” He snuffed out his cigarette and walked into the room.

“Mr. Matthews isn’t happy with you this time. How could you offend the Goldmanns as soon as you arrived at Bassburgh? Are you out of your mind?”

Sandy was shaking from her anger as she shouted, “It’s the Goldmanns who— Ugh!” The man grabbed her neck and hissed.

“Mr. Matthews just wants to know if Nollace Knowles is in Zlokova or not. He doesn’t care about other things. If you dare to spoil his plan again, he won’t mind sending you to reconcile with your son down there.” The man released Sandy and walked out of the room.

Chapter 1988

Sandy lost her balance and fell to the floor. Her entire body was trembling nonstop in fear. When Colton learned that Sandy was still in Zlokova, he hastily sent someone to look for her.

Meanwhile, the police had put Sandy on the list of people wanted for illegal entry.

When Freyja passed by the study room with Deedee, she overheard Colton and Leonardo's conversation.

She tightened her grip on Deedee when she learned that her mother was still in Zlokova.

Deedee raised her head to look at her and said in a low voice, "Aunt Freyja, you're hurting me."

Freyja snapped herself back to reality and loosened her grip a little bit.

Leaning forward, she touched her hand and said, "I'm sorry. Does it still hurt?"

She shook her head.

"Not anymore." Leonardo suddenly opened the door at that moment, and both of them were startled.

"You made it as if you're such a smarty," mumbled Freyja.

Colton squinted.

"What did you say?"

She freed herself from his arms and said, "Nothing. I'll go look after Deedee now."

Colton hugged her from the back and buried his face into her hair.

"Do you really want to raise Deedee?"

At night, the food street was lively and filled with all kinds of snacks on both sides of the alley.

Daisie and Nollace were slaloming among the crowd. She was wearing a hat and a facial mask, leaving only her pair of clear eyes out in their. She just put on a sweater and a pair of black sandals when they came out.

Nollace did not wear his usual suit and leather shoes either. Instead, he was dressed in casual sportswear that made him look youthful.

Chapter 1989

Daisie was holding a skewer in her hand. She would pull her facial mask down to take a bite every other step, looking like a greedy kitten carefully stealing food from its master.

Nollace looked at her and chuckled adoringly.

“It seems like I didn’t feed you enough today. You’ve been eating non-stop ever since you came here.”
Daisie was stumped.

She did not know why, but she felt it was weird when he said he did not feed her enough. She covered her mouth and mumbled, “It has been a long time since I had a skewer.”

As if she thought of something, she took one out of the bag and said, “Do you want to try one?”

Suddenly, he leaned forward and took a bite from her skewer. Daisie was stunned, and it took a while before she came around to her senses.

“Why did you...”

When she sensed the gaze from the crowd, she hurriedly put on her mask and said, "What are you doing? Do you want us to get caught?"

She did not know why Nollace refused to wear a mask.

He had attracted a lot of attention, and many women were staring at his handsome face along the way.

Nollace suddenly reached out for her and scooped her up from the ground. She wrapped her arm around his neck and asked, "What are you doing?"

He smiled.

"We're home."

She turned her head around and realized that they were already at the entrance of Taylorton.

When she noticed the security guard's gaze, Daisie buried her face into his neck and pitched her voice low.

"Then hurry up and go in!"

She felt embarrassed being stared at by other people.

Nollace lowered his head to look at her.

A smile tugged at the corner of his lips as he carried Daisy back to their house.

The light in the bedroom was switched on, and it showered on the balcony through the curtain veil.
