

Charming Mommy of adorable triplets Chapter- 2000-2009

Chapter 2000

After Nollace left Bassburgh, Daisy returned to the Goldmann mansion. Taylorton was empty without him there. She was lonely thereby herself, but more importantly, she was very worried about him.

Freyja could tell that she had a lot on her mind, so she sat next to her.

“Nollace wouldn’t let anything happen to him.He’s such a smart man, so he must be very confident.” Daisy picked up the coffee and took a sip before mumbling.

“Does he really think that he can do everything?” Freyja smirked.

“He never failed to do anything that he wanted.You know that.” Daisy pressed her lips together and didn’t answer.

At that moment, Freyja received a call.

The caller said something which made her expression change and stand up.

“What? Deedee is missing!?” Daisy and Freyja went to the Seaview Villa together.

every corner of

of the car and grabbed the nanny's

"She was there in the morning. After breakfast, we started our chores, and no one noticed her. We thought she had gone back to her room. When the therapist came over, we realized that she wasn't out her phone and anxiously said, "I remember that there were cameras in the yard. If she went outside, we should be able to see her. I'll ask Colton for the surveillance footage."

up

he found out that Deedee was missing, he immediately ended his meeting

Colton walking through the Colton loosened his

so she

and couldn't find her..." Colton fell something and said, "Colton, when we were playing hide and seek as kids, we where he did?" It was the house they lived in when they were kids, so they rushed upstairs, followed closely by Freyja and

They got to the store room on the third floor. It was a door behind the stairs that no one would see if they didn't get close enough. It used to be a storage area.

Colton opened the door and immediately saw Deedee hiding inside under the dim lighting. Freya rushed forward.

"Deedee!" Deedee rested her head on Freya's shoulder and didn't say anything.

Freyja carried her out of there and put her down. She started being anxious, probably because she was nervous when they couldn't find Deedee.

"What were you thinking? Do you know how worried everyone was? We were looking all over for you. Why did you hide?" That was the first time Freyja yelled at her.

Deedee looked down as tears started rolling and dripping onto the floor.

Daisie walked forward.

"Freyja, don't be angry. I don't think she intentionally hid. There must be some misunderstanding." Freya realized that she was too loud.

When she saw Deedee crying, her heart ached, and she tried to wipe her tears away. Deedee suddenly pushed her belly.

Chapter 2001

Colton hurriedly went forward to catch Freyja to prevent her from falling down. He frowned tightly.

“Deedee, how can you push your aunt?” Deedee was scared by his furious gaze.

She shrunk back a little and bit her lips to stop herself from crying.

Freyja took a deep breath and approached Deedee again. She lowered her voice and said, “Deedee, I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have raised my voice just now. I was just too worried about you...”

Deedee pushed her hand away and cried, “My parents didn’t want me, and now you don’t want me either.” Freyja was stunned.

“Deedee, I didn’t say I don’t want you — ”

“Liar! I heard everything you said that night! You’re going to send me away!” Deedee sat on the floor and bawled her eyes out, venting her spleen.

Freyja’s heart skipped a bit, and her chest tightened. She did not expect Deedee to have heard everything she had said that night.

That was why she thought she did not want her and was going to abandon her.

never wanted to abandon was Deedee her brother’s daughter, but she was also the Pruitts’ only descendant. She would be the one to inherit take care of her just fine, but what would the outside world think of Deedee? For the Goldmanns, Deedee was not related to them at all, and Freyja could not possibly expect the Goldmanns to raise Deedee until she grew up, once Freyja had her own child, she might end being said, she did not know how to think that I am doing this for Deedee's she said, "I've never wanted to abandon you, Deedee." Deedee finally calmed down after

so she

back to her room

that, she closed the door saw that Colton was standing in the couldn't tell if he was still angry she approached him and asked, "Are pushed her, Colton

not know

Deedee was doing that because she thought she was going to know how severe the consequences would be if I didn't catch you it was for her to read

Freyja lowered her head.

"She didn't mean it. She didn't know that..." Colton took a deep breath and walked past her.

"I don't want the same thing happening again." Freyja turned her head around.

"Colton, do you only care about your kids?" She couldn't understand Colton's anger at all.

Deedee had just pushed her. She had not done it on purpose.

Colton stopped in his tracks and turned his head to look at her.

"So you only care about Deedee? What about your own child? Do you not care about them?" She was stunned.

"What do you mean?"

“She heard everything that night, so do you think she still doesn’t know that you’re pregnant?” Colton asked, his face stern.

After that, he turned around and left, leaving Freyja to stand stiffly in the corridor. She did not know if it was her brain or her eyes playing a trick on her, but this was the first time she realized that Colton did not like Deedee.

But Deedee was just a kid.

“Just because she pushed me out of anger, Colton has to dislike her so much?” Daisy saw that Colton went out of the door with a stern face. It seemed to her that he was in a bad mood. She went upstairs to look for Freyja and saw her leaning against the wall dejectedly.

Chapter 2002

Freyja forced a smile onto her face and said, “She’s sleeping now.”

“What’s wrong with Colton? Why did he suddenly leave? Were you guys fighting?” asked Daisy.

Freyja pressed her lips thin. She did not know how to answer Daisy’s question at all.

It was true that they were fighting, but the question was, why would she be so concerned about Colton’s changes? Daisy asked carefully, “By the way, why did Deedee say you don’t want her anymore? What actually happened?”

Freyja told Daisy that she wanted to send her back to the Pruitts, but Deedee thought she did not want her anymore.

Perhaps, Deedee just wanted to stay with Freyja, but the latter selfishly thought that sending Deedee home was for her own good.

Maybe she should consider Deedee's feelings too? She did not know about that.

"Am I selfish?" asked Freyja.

Daisie fell silent for a moment before replying, "No, of course, you're not. You've done your best taking care of her." Freyja did not reply.

When Daisie was leaving the Seaview Villa, she received a call from an unknown caller.

she heard the voice,

"Zephir?" Zephir laughed gently.

can recognize

I can," she your

"Yeah," said Zephir.

phone number.” Zephir

Daisie arrived at the private room in the restaurant,

Daisie that he did not like with a brown sheepskin vest. It was a simple outfit, but very few people could her face, which was covered behind a come out freely after becoming an actress.” Daisie removed her it. Those paparazzi just won’t let me take a break. They even took a picture of me when I came out that day.” Zephir my fault. I should’ve thought about it earlier.”

your fault. No one can expect something like that.” He Daisie picked up the cup you like to eat, so I waited for you to order the okay. I’m not a picky eater.” He pressed the service bell up the cup in front of him that you're engaged. Why didn't you announce

She scratched her cheek and replied, "Well...I don't think it's the right time yet."

"Is it because of some reason?" He pressed on.

She averted her gaze.

"Nope." He knew that she was lying.

He pressed his thin lips and asked, "Does he treat you well?" Daisy rested her chin on her hand and grinned.

"He has been treating me very well." Zephir did not ask anything anymore.

When all the dishes were served, Daisy bit her spoon and asked, "Zephir, why did you suddenly want to invest in a film?"

Not only that, but he invested a whopping amount of $30,000,000.

It was not a small amount, and the $30,000,000 would go down the drain if the film flopped.

He smiled and replied, "What if I say it's because of you?" Daisy was shocked.

"Because of me? Then I'll be very stressed." He chuckled.

“Don’t need to feel stressed. I believe in Mr. Fallon’s skills.” Daisy spooned out some soup and put it near her mouth.

Perhaps she did not expect it to be so hot and scalded her lips. Zephir hastily grabbed a tissue paper and helped her wipe her mouth.

Chapter 2003

Daisy was stunned.

Zephir was so close to her that she could count his eyelashes. His finger felt cold on her skin, and even though he was just wiping the soup off the corner of her lips, she had a feeling that he was caressing his girlfriend.

If it were in the past, she would have thought that he did this out of goodwill or he was just taking care of her like his sister. However, she felt it was strange right now.

Perhaps it was because his breathing felt scalding on her skin. Daisy took the tissue paper away from his hand and put some distance between them.

“It’s okay, Zephir. I can do it myself.”

Zephir did not say anything. He just smiled

After they had finished their meal, they left the restaurant stopped his car in front of her. However, he did not drive away even after she got into his car. While she was wondering what Zephir was doing, on his shoulder to push him away

“What’s wrong? I’m just helping you to put on your helping her to put on her seatbelt. She laughed dryly and said, smiled. “It’s okay.”

got out of his car. He only retracted his gaze after she disappeared from his was, he was certain his hand on his face and laughed at really are a monster.’

evening, at bed with her arms around her legs. Her eyes were slightly red and and sat at the side of the bed. “Deedee, I know you’re very lowered her head and continued. "Deedee, I know this is my fault. I should have asked you if you wanted to stay with your grandfather or not.

to stay by your side, but stunned.

that man, so you don't want me anymore. Is that Freyja's expression changed. She was so stunned that she did not know what to say at all.

She knew her mother was up to no good for taking Deedee here, but she did not know what her mother had said to Deedee that had turned her into such a sensitive girl.

Freyja clenched her fist tightly and asked, "Deedee, do you believe what she said?"

Deedee wept and asked carefully, "Can you not be with that man? I don't want to lose you."

Freyja froze.

It was very late by the time Colton returned to the mansion.

He pushed the door to his bedroom open and saw Freyja. She should have been asleep by now, yet she was standing in front of the window in her sleeping gown, staring at the dark in front and lost in her own thoughts. Colton placed the jacket down and walked toward her. He carried her in his arms, and she hastily wrapped her arms around his neck when she suddenly lost her balance.

After she came to her senses, she asked, "Colton?"

Colton put her on the bed and secured her in his arms. "Why are you not asleep yet?"

Freyja averted his gaze and said, "I can't sleep." Colton realized something and squinted. "Are you still upset with what happened today?"

Chapter 2004

Freyja pressed her lips tightly and did not say anything.

In fact, it had nothing to do with the things that transpired today.

Colton squatted in front of her and pressed his cheek on her stomach. As he listened to the movement inside, he chuckled. "Can a one-month-old embryo move around?"

Freyja was stunned. This was the first time she saw this side of Colton. He was very careful, and she lowered her head to look at him. Then, she said gently, "It's only been a month or so. Our baby can't move yet."

Colton raised his head to look at her. "Have you felt nauseous recently?"

Freyja shook her head. "Not anymore after taking the medicine"

He caressed her stomach gently and said, "Let's go get a marriage certificate too, Freyja."

Freyja was stunned. She thought her ears had failed her as she asked, "What did you say!?"

at her fixedly and said, emphasizing every word that spilled out of his lips, "I said, let's go it to come so soon, leg and said, "Don't tell me that you only want to get the marriage certificate after our kids have grown up. After all, I long while, she opened her mouth and asked, "Is with confusion written all of the

Pruitt," he called her by her full name displeasingly. "What are you talking about? Even bad way. I admit that I was not considerate enough in the past and always made you misunderstand. If there is something you aren't satisfied with, I'll change. Is that not enough?"

a daze, and she did not know why but she had the she did not want Colton to see the tear in her eyes. "Actually, you don't have to do this..."

breath and asked patiently, lips tightly, Freyja felt as if there was a thorn in her heart, and it hurt you mean?" When she refused to her eyes, he was stunned, and

He wiped the tear off the corner of her eyes and said, "Don't cry."

She was caught between tears and laughter as she said, "Stop that." Colton was tickled pink by her. "If I don't do this, people will say I bully you when they see you crying."

She couldn't stop her tears from falling out of her eyes. "You are bullying me-Umm!"

He planted a kiss on her lips, and at that moment, her heart leaped into a gallop. She wanted to claim him for herself, but she was afraid she would rely too much on him. Colton pried her teeth open and deepened the kiss. After a long while, she stopped crying, and he left her lips. He looked at her swollen red lips and asked, "Do you still want to cry now?"

She freed herself from his arms and lay back on the bed. Colton followed suit and hugged her from the back. He buried his head in her neck and said, his voice low and thick with emotion, "I've never seen you cry so much before."

Freyja turned around and rolled into his arms, but she did not say anything. As Colton hugged her and kissed her forehead, he looked toward the dark night through the window and fell deep in thought.

In the next few days, they signed Deedee up for psychological counseling therapy. At first, Deedee refused to cooperate, and she only would cooperate with the therapist in the presence of Freyja.

After the session was over, Freyja stayed in the room to keep Deedee company.

The therapists stopped in front of the study room and knocked on the door. After he received the permission, he entered the room. "Mr. Goldmann."

Chapter 2005

Colton put the document down and tapped on the desk. "How is she?"

The therapist replied. "According to my observations and tests in the past few days, she is indeed very sensitive. Perhaps it's due to her upbringing that she's introverted and has low self-esteem. She always feels lonely, so she likes to stick to the people she wants to be close to." Colton frowned and fell deep in thought. After a long while, he asked, "Can I ask you a question?"

"Sure," replied the therapist.

"Would a 4-year-old kid harm the one who loves her? Like causing her to have a miscarriage?"

Even if Deedee had misunderstood them after overhearing their conversation that night, even if she was upset with them, why would she push Freyja's stomach?

He began to grow wary of Deedee after witnessing what she did that day.

he did not want to put Freyja in a difficult position. After all, Freyja was to her. However, if a 4-year-old girl wanted to harm Freyja, therapist pondered for a while and said, "Actually, I've come across a similar mother down the stairs so that the unborn baby in his mother's womb wouldn't share or take narrowed his eyes. "Then, is her case similar anyone to take his parents away from him. Some kids are fragile. They are afraid their parents won't love them anymore after having a second kid. If the parents fail to remedy born, so she's very attached to her. However, in her subconscious, she knows that Ms. Pruitt isn't her mother, no matter how close she's to her. The more right from wrong since they're still young. If left unchecked, chair and asked, "Then what should I do?"

If he sent Deedee away now, the latter might resent Frevia. Besides, he was certain that wouldn't agree to it either

The therapist said, "You can get some kids to make friends with her to divert her attention. If necessary, you can also talk to her so that she can slowly let go of her fears and shed away her defenses."

Colton fell silent.

When the therapist left the study room, he bumped into Freyja in the corridor. He nodded at her and then continued to walk away.

Freyja stopped in front of the study. When she saw that Colton was massaging his temples with a stern look on his face, she pressed her lips tightly.

Colton had not been to the company the past few days and had signed Deedee up for psychological counseling therapy. Even though he did not like what Deedee had done, he did not punish her or anything.

Freyja knew that it was because of her that Colton did not punish or insist on sending Deedee away.

Chapter 2006

If it were before, why would Colton have any concerns?

Deep down, Freyja's heart was filled with mixed feelings at this moment, and she could not tell them apart. On the one hand, it was Deedee who was very dependent and only wanted to stay with her. On the other hand, it was her child's father and the man she loved.

"Why are you standing at the door?" A voice pulled her back to reality

She exchanged gazes with Colton, hesitated for a bit, and then walked into the study. "What did the therapist tell you?"

"He didn't say much." Colton put the documents away. Upon recalling something, he added, "I'll find some kids to come over to accompany her tomorrow. Although they're slightly older than she is, they should be able to mix well"

Freyja was astounded and seemed to have realized something

While she was in Yaramoor, apart from FTV.1, Deedee would only stay with the nanny. When it came to friends, she had only played with the nanny's granddaughter, but they did not keep in touch all day, every day. She used to think that Deedee did not like to mix with other children of the same age, but that was not true.

inferior. And because she had no friends to play with, she would had friends to play with, maybe she would become onto Google Trends' hottest topic again. The title was "Kissing in the Car". The paparazzi revealed that the man's identity was Zephir Gosling, the eldest descendant of the Goslings, who had just returned from studying abroad. To make latest project was set to be played by Daisie, and netizens thought that Zephir was the significant other that Daisie had announced to the public. However, they soon realized that Zephir was still abroad when Daisie made the announcement and had fiance/husband, and the engagement was only a marketing stunt used to hype her career. And,

Daisie's studio with the newspaper and opened choked by his abrupt appearance. "Have you lost your mind? Who told

"This kiss in the car is

This photo looked even worse than that from the last had been helping her with the seatbelt in the car the other day, but because he had gotten a little too close, in addition to the angle where the photo was taken and misalignment, it really looked like they were

James crossed his arms, walked to the couch, and sat down. "What's the use of your fiance being so good-looking? You still cheated on him at the end of the day."

"Stop bullsh*tting here!" Daisy's expression looked stern, and it did not sound like she was joking at all. "We're just friends, and he was only fastening my seatbelt at the time out of courtesy. It's not a kiss! Those paparazzi are just making crap up!"

James spread his hands. "Your friend fastened your seatbelt for you and got so close to you? Who would choose to believe in you if you were to respond to the photo with this explanation?"

"That's because..."

Daisy stopped abruptly, not because she wanted to hide anything but because James' words had caused her to fall deep into contemplation. 'I was extremely startled when Zephir approached me all of a sudden, saying that he was helping me with the seatbelt. I've always felt that something was wrong, but I couldn't pinpoint exactly what it was.

Her phone rang at this moment, and it was Colton calling.

She answered the call. "Colton." Colton's tone did not sound very friendly. "Has that b*stard, Zephir, returned to Zlokova?"

Chapter 2007

Daisie lowered her gaze.

“Zephir has indeed returned to Zlokova.”

‘It’s been such a long time, and Colton still dislikes Zephir to the bones. At first, he didn’t like Nollace either, but it was only superficial. However, he really dislikes Zephir from the bottom of his heart.’

“Since you’re now Nollace’s wife, don’t contact him that often. I’ve suppressed the news for you already.”

Colton ended the call, rubbed the bridge of his nose, and summoned Leonardo into his office.

Leonardo walked into the office. “Mr. Goldmann, are you looking for me?”

He gave the order, “Send some men to keep an eye on Zephir Gosling, who recently returned to Zlokova. Don’t give him the opportunity to take advantage of Daisie’s relationship with Nollace.”

Nollace, I don’t like Zephir even more After all, Nollace will at least sincerely think about the consequences of his actions and how they will affect Daisie’s well being. But Zephir is different. Lisa was expelled from school back then because wanted nothing to do with her anymore. However, the expulsion back then was was the one who forced her into walking the plank. That's why she hated Daisy and even continued to go the end. To put it bluntly, front of Daisy again. In any case, since I already regard Nollace as my brother-in-law, this scandal has nothing to do for other children to come to the villa to accompany Deedee-the nanny's kid and some of his employees' children were all there. The oldest among the group was ten years

Seaview

Freyja's side. "Young lady, there's no need to worry. You can see how much fun Deedee is having with the other kids. Deedee will be surrounded by more children when she goes to kindergarten and will not feel lonely kindergarten, Freyja that the nanny brought it up, Deedee should've started attending kindergarten at this age'

a cry came from the Freyja ran over with the nanny and the child's parents, only to see a 6-year-old girl covering her mouth and crying loudly. Her mother rushed forward to check her out and found out that her mouth was bleeding, "Beth, what happened to you?"

The nanny also asked the other children. "What just happened here?"

One of the older boys explained, "She was playing with Deedee and might have gotten flicked in her mouth with a rubber band."

Everyone's gaze was fixed on Deedee, who was standing behind the crowd.

Deedee still had a broken rubber band in her hand.

"Deedee..." Freyja wanted to ask her something, but Deedee turned around instantly and ran into the villa without saying a word. Freyja pursed her lips tightly. Whether it was Deedee's fault or not, she could only apologize to the child first

The originally harmonious atmosphere ended with the incident. Freyja walked upstairs, came to Deedee's room, and knocked on the door. "Deedee, I'm coming in."

Before waiting for Deedee to respond, Freyja pushed the door open and went in. Seeing that Deedee was squatting on the carpet beside the bed and not making a single sound, Freyja walked up to her calmly, squatted down in front of her, and asked gently, "Deedee, don't you like playing with the other boys and girls?" Deedee did not speak at all. Freyja stroked her hair. "Can you tell me why?"

Chapter 2008

If Deedee really flicked the girl on purpose with a rubber band, there must be a reason behind that.

Unexpectedly, Deedee blurted out, "I don't like her."

Freyja was stunned and frowned. "You flicked her with a rubber band only because you don't like her?"

Deedee refuted loudly, "She's the one who pushed me first!"

"Deedee!" Freyja yelled at her abruptly as the atmosphere got tense in the room.

When she subconsciously returned to her senses, Deedee had already run out of the room.

Freyja went downstairs after her. "Deedee, don't run "

Her stomach cramped all of a sudden, causing her to stop at the entryway. The nanny immediately stepped forward to support her. "Young lady!"

and beads of cold sweat rolled down her forehead and a call and hurried back to the villa, had happened from the nanny, he walked into the bedroom with a pillow behind her waist, and she looked as if she felt a lot the bedside. "I'll call the doctor to come and Freyja stopped him. "I'm fine now. The most urgent task you should attend to now is locating in an instant, and she could not tell whether he was upset or straight up exasperated. “Deep down, neither you nor the baby is up and get a good rest. I’ve already sent a few bodyguards out to look for her.” His voice sounded eerily calm and see that he was angry and was worried that he would take his anger on Deedee, so she suggested, “Just leave Deedee’s matter to faint hint of coldness beaming from his eyes. “You didn’t agree to get officially married to me the few seconds, lowered her gaze,

“That’s not what I’m thinking.”

I don’t mind raising her, but if she doesn’t stay put and insists on making a fuss all the time, I won’t keep her here. I know you’ll definitely compromise for her, but I don’t hope and stopped.

Freyja lowered her gaze. ‘Colton has already made the biggest concession to the matter, while I... I guess it’s time for me to make a decision.’

Deedee had run out to the lively streets, High-rise buildings surrounded her, and people came and went, but she was unfamiliar with the city and did not know where to go, so she could only sit at a bus stop on the side of a road. Seeing that Freyja did not chase after her, she felt distressed. Feeling frightened and helpless, she regretted running out of the house and could only cry silently.

That was until a silhouette blocked the light in front of her eyes. She lifted her head, and her pupils constricted as she trembled from head to toe.

At the Seaview Villa, in the study...

Colton interlocked his fingers, rested his chin on the back of his hands, and stared at the computer screen. He inquired the nanny about today's matter, and the nanny told him that Deedee had flicked a girl's inouth with a rubber band.

After checking the courtyard surveillance video that was recorded earlier today, Colton found out that it was the girl who wanted to grab the doll in Deedee's hand. Deedee refused to let it go, so she pushed Deedee, and that was why Deedee flicked the girl's mouth with a rubber band.

The girl started crying immediately, but Deedee just stood still and did not try to defend herself.

The phone rang, and Colton answered it. The other party reported that they had not found Deedee.

He closed his eyes and rubbed the bridge of his nose. "Continue searching for her. She's not familiar with the city and shouldn't have gone too far." Meanwhile, in a motel...

Sandy took off her hat, pushed Deedee into the room, and locked the door. Deedee stood there, and her body trembled vigorously.

Chapter 2009

Sandy pulled the chair over, sat down, and sneered, "What's wrong? Has that aunt of yours started to despise you and kicked you out?"

She finally found out where Freyja was living and thought about how to find them without letting Colton find out about her plan. She did not expect to run into Deedee, who had run away from the villa.

Deedee shook her head timidly.

Sandy stood up, walked in front of her, and pinched her chin. "Deedee, if you listened to me back then, why would I hit you willingly? And if it weren't for Nollace Knowles, why would your parents leave you behind?"

"And that aunt of yours. Before we came here, I already told you that she'd ignore you as long as she got married to that man, but you just wouldn't believe in what I said."

Deedee burst into tears and sobbed softly. "Aunty Freyja didn't say that she doesn't want to keep me anymore... It's just that Aunty Freyja now has a baby."

then squinted her eyes immediately. "Is what you said

b*tch actually got pregnant?'

remembered Freyja's nauseated reaction the other day, and everything even before getting married. She has paved her path into the Goldmanns with the child's help.

smirk on her face." Then why not let me help you? After all, you should hope that Aunt Freyja will stay by people that Colton sent out

Colton had already sent someone out to look for her, she could not and fears about to him, but he's willing to take her in and even said that he'll raise her until she reaches adulthood. That might be the final concession that he'll make too much for Deedee, Colton would get even straight into the study. "Colton, can we talk?" Colton was flipping through some documents casually. He raised his head, you're angry with Deedee. I'm also responsible was the one who neglected my responsibility in educating her before this, but you have my word that if we manage to get Deedee back, I'll make it clear to her that I'll be raising her together with my father.

"Then I'll send her back to the Pruitt residence for a few years and then bring her back to my side and raise her for a few more years. When Deedee reaches adulthood and has her own thoughts about leaving us or staying with us, that's when we'll let her decide."

She could not have thought of a better way. The only way out of this matter was that she and her father would take turns raising Deedee for a few years. Deedee lacked care and love throughout her whole life, but she knew that her father would definitely treat Deedee well.

Colton was a little afraid about her well-being now that she was pregnant. Thus, if Freyja were to keep making Colton's life difficult, she was afraid that Colton would one day forbid Deedee from seeing her in this life.

She did owe it to Deedee, so she did not want things to go to that point. As such, that was the only way that she could come up with.

Colton looked at her and frowned slightly. "Do you think I'm so selfish that I won't take Deedee's safety into consideration?"

Freyja paused for a bit. "That's not what I mean!" "Freyja, I hope you'll have faith in me." He stood up and walked around the corner of the desk and toward her. "And now isn't the time to think about this matter. I promise you that I'll find out Deedee's whereabouts.

"I've also looked into the surveillance footage. The girl was indeed the one who pushed Deedee first, which was why Deedee fought back. Even though what she did is wrong, we can't just claim that this incident is all her fault. It's only natural for me not to get down to the details and put all the blame on her."