

Charming Mommy of adorable triplets Chapter 2410

Chapter 2410

#Is it possible she is pregnant?#

Noilace was making breakfast when Daisy walked down in her pajamas. She quietly hugged him from behind while running her hands over his chest.

He held her hand and chuckled. "Why are you teasing me so early in the morning?"

She rested her chin on his shoulder and lazily smiled. "You seem to be very at peace recently. Not seduced by my beauty?"

Noilace turned the gas off, turned around, and hugged her. "Did you forget that you wanted to sleep in separate rooms before this?"

She looked ashamed and lowered her head.

He had always been very good with self-control. His self-control was flexible. It was like a string that had been pulled tightly, but once it was released, chaos would ensue.

Noilace picked her up, let her sit on the table, and leaned in. "Are you blaming me?"

Daisy cupped his face with both her hands. "I just don't have as good stamina as you do. I'm going to start training tomorrow."

He squinted. "Training for what?"

"To lose weight." Daisy pinched the flesh around her waist. "All my dresses are tighter now. If this goes on, my waist will turn into a barrel."

Noilace chuckled and asked her in a serious tone, "Is it possible that there's a baby here?"

He placed his palm on her belly.

Daisy was shocked. "I... don't think so."

Daisy said that but was the first to think about that, but she didn't have any other signs of pregnancy. She didn't have morning sickness, other than that one time during the fashion show.

She lost her appetite after that. She didn't throw up but couldn't eat either. All she could have was soup.

Her period was late before, and when everyone said it was just a change in her appetite, she never thought it was caused by pregnancy.

But what Noilace said stunned her.

He touched her face and quietly asked, "Do you not want a baby, Daisy?"

She batted her lashes. "No... I'm just not ready yet."

What if she really was pregnant?"

Noilace kissed her forehead. "I'll go for a check-up with you after breakfast. If you really are pregnant, I'll leave work and spend time with you."

Noilace brought Daisy to the Obstetrics Department for a scan. She sat in the office waiting for the report. When the doctor walked in with the report, she told

Daisy she was already five weeks pregnant.

Daisy was stunned because she really was pregnant!

The doctor told Noilace about things that they needed to pay attention to, and Noilace nodded. "Alright, I got it."

After that, he walked over to the spaced-out Daisy and knelt in front of her on one knee. "Daisy?"

Daisy snapped back, and her eyes were suddenly red. "I'm afraid that I might not be a good mother..."

She really was pregnant without getting ready for it.

Noilace wiped her tears away. "I'm here."

The doctor smiled. "It's normal for first-time mothers to be nervous.

There's a first for everything. That is how all parents do it."

People would leave smiling after finding out that they were pregnant, but Daisy left with tears. The passersby assumed she couldn't conceive and was sad about it.
