

Come on Daddy!

Chapter 101 He Is Not an Outsider

Rose saw that Timothy looked sincere. His eyes gleamed, it seemed that he really hoped that Rose could be touched and then agreed to marry him.

However, Rose would not be touched at all, because she was calmer than ever and she knew what she should do.

She knew that her parents had talked with Timothy, and they just wanted to push her to marry Timothy sooner.

They didn't regard her as their daughter, but just a kind of commodity. So they could sell her anytime.

She must resist, and she knew that only Bright could help her.

"Rose, what are you thinking about?" Timothy saw that she wasn't surprised or touched. It seemed that it wasn't going well, so he felt a bit nervous.

After all, there were so many people who were looking at him, including Bright.

Chandler and Joy had agreed that they would ask Rose to marry him as long as he proposed to her. Otherwise, he wouldn't propose to her so eagerly.

"Well, I think Rose must be surprised, so she doesn't know what to do now." Chandler explained with a smile.

"Rose, Timothy is proposing to you now. We are touched by what he does. What do you think? Don't you look forward to marrying him?"

Now, your dream is coming true." Joy exaggerated.

"Rose, since Timothy and you really hit it off, we will support you. Don't be shy. Please say yes." Timothy's mother said to Rose gently, because she also hoped that they could get married.

"We will bless you." Timothy's father expressed his attitude.

"Bravo!" Bright Lee clapped his hands and said, "I am also touched by Mr. Timothy. Miss Rose, why don't you say yes?"

"Mr. Bright, if you feel touched, you can marry him." Rose said.

Chandler suddenly felt angry and criticized Rose, "Rose, how could you talk to Mr. Lee in this way? You are so rude."

"Mr. Lee, I am so sorry. My daughter is always outspoken, we should have educated her well. Please forgive her." Joy explained to Bright, because she dared not to offend him.

"It doesn't matter." Bright said. And it seemed that he was smiling with the expressions on his face, as if expressing affection for Rose.

They didn't think it was normal, because they never saw Bright smile.

"Rose, our parents allow us to get married. Please give me a chance to take care of you and love you." Timothy kept persuading Rose to say yes.

Rose took the diamond ring from the box and smiled delightedly, and the diamond ring was shining under the lights.

"Rose, let me help you wear the ring." Timothy was going to take the ring from her hands and help her put it on.

Rose's profile looked like a soft light, just like a magnolia which was fresh and elegant. She said,

"It's too late."

"Why?" Timothy paused and blinked. He didn't know what she really wanted to say.

Chandler and Joy were also puzzled and even unhappy.

"Well..." Chandler laughed with awkwardness and said, "I think Rose just hopes that Timothy can propose to her earlier. Rose, it's a good choice to marry Timothy, because I think he really takes it seriously and he is trustworthy."

"If you think that it's too late to propose to you now, we can get married and then hold a wedding ceremony at once." Timothy also couldn't wait to marry her.

"Don't get me wrong." Rose smiled and said, "Although our parents allow us to get married, I need to seek the consent of another person."

"Do you mean Jennifer?" Timothy thought about her grandma.

"No." Rose shook her head.

"Then who?" Timothy didn't know who he/she was.

Rose said slowly, "He is also here today. If you want me to marry you, you should ask for his agreement."

Timothy looked around and then he saw Bright except for their parents. He felt nervous when he looked at Bright. Was he the person Rose mentioned just now?

That was impossible! How could it have anything to do with Bright?

What was the relationship between Rose and Bright? He didn't hear that they had any relationship.

Rose's parents and Timothy's parents also looked at Bright.

Bright sat there calmly, and he looked more powerful than others.

Even though everyone was watching him, he was calm as usual. And he quietly drank a bowl of fish soup given by Rose.

And then he gave the bowl to Rose and said, "One more bowl, please."

"OK." Rose obediently served him soup, just like his obedient wife.

"Mr. Lee..." Timothy thought that there was something wrong between them.

"Yes, I am the one Rose mentioned just now." Bright took the bowl from Rose.

"Mr. Lee... What happened?" Chandler tried to smile.

Bright was already married, wasn't he? If he had a relationship with Rose, it could only be an extramarital relationship...

Was it the truth?

"Does Mr. Timothy have to marry Rose?" Bright looked at Timothy seriously.

Timothy even dared not to look at him directly, and he was a bit nervous, "O... Of course."

"Then do you think you are qualified to marry her?" Bright asked him again.

"I... I..." Timothy started to stutter.

"Mr. Bright, what do you mean?" Timothy's father frowned and thought that he looked down upon them, "The Fan family really takes it seriously. If I may say so, I think you are an outsider, and it's none of your business."

"Outsider?" Bright sneered and then held one of Rose's hands to show them the relationship between Rose and him.

When they saw Bright hold Rose's hand presumptuously, they didn't smile anymore.

"Do you tell them I am an outsider?"

Rose glanced at Bright and then said, "To tell you the truth, Mr. Bright is not an outsider here. He is..."

"If Mr. Bright isn't an outsider here, why don't you tell us? Do you think our Fan family can be looked down upon?" Timothy's father was angry, but he had to suppress his anger.

"Rose, as we all know, Mr. Bright is married, you can't have any relationship with him." Chandler didn't know what to do, and he didn't want to cause any trouble, "Mr. Bright, it's my daughter's fault. Please let her go. Otherwise, I think your wife will be mad."

"Will you be mad?" Bright asked Rose.

Chapter 102 You Will Get It

They felt puzzled again when they saw Bright ask Rose gently.

Was this really Mr. Bright who was cold and ruthless? Why did he look so gently at that moment?

Indeed, Bright really looked gentler under the warm light.

Rose felt that her heart beat faster under his gaze, and she was even addicted to his handsome appearance.

"I... I certainly will not be mad." Rose said according to her own thoughts.

She didn't think too much at that moment, because she knew that every woman dreamed of getting together with him as he was such a handsome and noble man.

And he was holding her hands without thinking about any taboos in front of them.

Bright smiled with satisfaction. He looked up to them and said slowly, "Did you hear what she said? She said she would not be mad."

Chandler and Joy were anxious, and the members of the Fan family were angry.

But they dared not to offend Bright, so they didn't know what to do.

Chandler sat on the seat and held his pants tightly. He was going to be crazy in such an embarrassing situation.

He looked at Joy and didn't know what to do.

Joy was also very angry, and she watched Bright and Rose holding hands together and felt it was really bad.

"Mr. Bright, even if you want to be together with Rose, I have to say something because I am her mother." She encouraged herself and said, "Rose, we have no high requirements for you, and we just hope that you can be an upright person. However, you embarrass make us. As we all know, Mr. Bright is married. How can you be together with him? This is really shameless. You will be scolded by others. How can you do that? Rose, you really embarrass our Linder family. We don't even know how to explain to the other members of our family."

"Timothy treats you sincerely, and he even proposed to you in front of us and his parents. He is really sincere. Why don't you marry a man who has no wife? Certainly, I know Mr. Bright is very excellent, but he is married. I don't think you should be together with him."

"Mr. Bright, if you really love Rose, please let her go. You are married. If Rose breaks your marriage, she will be sinful. Right?"

Joy said a lot in a short time, and she tried to restrain her emotions in her words.

The expression on Bright's face didn't change, and he still looked calm. It made Chandler feel better, so he said, "Mr. Bright, in this situation, my wife may have said something inappropriate. But she just wants to express her concerns as mother and also an exhortation to her daughter. She doesn't hope our daughter does something wrong to have a bad influence on your family. Please forgive her."

It was a good excuse for a woman to say something wrong. But as a man, he could not talk to them like that. That was why he implied Joy to talk to them first.

In this regard, people were always more tolerant to women than men.

"Yes, you are right. I agree with you." Bright smiled and he didn't seem to be angry.

"Then, Mr. Bright will break up with Rose, right?" Chandler thought that they could persuade Bright.

Joy also felt happy because she thought that she had persuaded Bright.

In their opinion, Bright Lee was born into a famous family and he was married. Rose was just one of his lovers. Compared with his wife, Rose was nothing.

Among the rich, men often played love games with a few kept women. If they took it seriously, the game would be over.

Besides, men like them wouldn't choose to divorce because of lovers.

What's more, if a woman could marry Bright Lee, she must be outstanding, and her family would also be a big and famous family; and they would pay much more attention to the common benefits than their marriage life.

As businessmen, they would take benefits in the first place.

"I am sorry I have to let you down, because we won't break up with each other forever." Bright kept smiling, but he was still calm.

It made Chandler and Joy confused, and they also felt stressed and even couldn't breathe after they heard what Bright said.

"Mr. Bright, we don't understand." Joy said with scrupulousness.

"It doesn't matter. You keep paying attention to what we do." Bright didn't want to say too much.

Chandler and Joy looked at each other again. They thought that they had to persuade Rose to break up with Bright on her own initiative. Otherwise, they couldn't change his mind.

"Rose, I think we need to talk with each other alone." Joy asked Rose to come with her, so that she could persuade her to break up with Bright. But she couldn't let Bright know about it.

"Mom, why don't we talk with each other here?" Rose knew what Joy wanted to talk about with her, so she didn't want to follow her.

"I think it's our secret, so I don't want to talk with you here." Joy smiled, but she really hated Rose in her mind.

"Mom, do you want to ask me to break up with Mr. Bright and then marry Mr. Timothy?" Rose directly spoke out Joy's thoughts.

Joy felt very embarrassed, but she had to explain with a smile, "Rose, I just hope that you will live a good life. You shouldn't be a mistress and destroy his family. What's more, you have agreed to marry Timothy before. Otherwise, we wouldn't meet with his parents. If you can marry Timothy, and Mr. Bright can be loyal to his marriage again, it will be good."

"Mom, I know it will be the best choice. But what if I say no? What if I decide to stay together with Mr. Bright forever?" Rose said with a bright smile.

"..." Joy's face turned pale.

Chandler frowned more tightly and he closed his eyes because he was too angry.

Timothy's parents felt angrier after they heard what Rose said.

"Miss Rose, how can you do that?" Timothy's father was very angry and his hands on the table clenched into fists, "Since you have been together with Mr. Bright, how could you promise to attend the blind date with our son? Since you have attended the blind date with our son, how could you do this? I don't think we have done anything bad to you."

"Miss Rose, I always think that you are a good girl. I never thought that you would behave like that." Timothy's mother also felt regretted, she didn't think Rose should be praised anymore.

"Do you want to know the reason why I would do it?" Rose said scornfully, "Well, let me tell you about it."

Chapter 103 You Can't Live Without Me

Everyone was looking at her, including Chandler, Joy, Timothy Fan and his parents. And they were all angry, because they thought that Rose made them embarrassed with her tricks.

"I think you should know why I would do it. My grandma asked me to attend the blind date with Mark Fan and she made an arrangement for us. However, it wasn't Mark Fan but Timothy Fan on the blind date with me because of your tricks. I am the one who has been cheated, not you." Rose accused them of planning tricks.

"Today, Mark Fan and his grandma should have been here. However, because of your tricks, your younger son Timothy Fan and you attended the blind date today. I know you do it for benefits, but you can't get a good result."

"I just want to take revenge on you. Otherwise, you will always think that I am weak. As the saying goes, even a worm will turn. I will solemnly tell you now that even if Mr. Bright did not come here today, I will not agree to marry Mr. Timothy. Because I am no longer qualified to marry another person."

Rose finished speaking and drank two sips of soup.

When they saw her so calm, and she didn't feel sorry for making them embarrassed or even humiliated because of what she had done, they were very angry.

But they also felt helpless because Bright was here to support her. They were really angry.

Timothy especially felt angry. He had made an arrangement for today and he thought that everything would be under his control.

Unexpectedly, Rose wasn't under his control. And he dared not to do anything because of Bright, just like a tortoise. He thought that it was the greatest shame in his life.

Since Bright had admitted that Rose was his lover, how could he dare to argue with Bright? If he did it, he couldn't live anymore. However, it wasn't the most important thing. What was important was that the Fan family may decline from then on.

"She is my girl, how can she marry any other man? Who dare to marry her?" Bright held Rose's chin and looked at her face with a smile.

Rose also smiled at him. And she looked proud because she did it with her tricks.

"Mr. Bright, we never knew the relationship between Rose and you. And I certainly dare not to compete with you. Please forgive me for what I have done." Timothy felt scared because of what Bright said just now.

"As you said, I am married. How can my relationship with Ms. Rose be disclosed to others casually?" Bright still kept looking at Rose and appreciated her appearance carefully.

"Of course, I won't tell others about your relationship." Timothy said, "We won't cause any trouble to you. Please don't worry about it."

In the public, everyone thought that Bright was cool and noble without any scandals. If people knew that he had a lover outside, it would have a bad influence on his image.

What's more, he wouldn't allow other people to use his fodder for topics conversations as he was distinguished and married.

"We had no idea about it and we didn't see anything." Timothy's parents also had to endure this kind of humiliation, because they couldn't offend Bright Lee.

Bright just smiled slightly.

"Then we will leave first." Timothy and his parents wanted to leave here quickly.

They left here as if running away, which made Rose feel very happy, and she could hardly help laughing.

To be a fair lady, she tried not to burst into laughter.

"If you want to laugh, just do it." Bright knew what she was thinking about.

And then Rose burst into laughter. Her voice was nice, and her eyes were beautiful.

Bright watched her laugh and thought that she was so pretty.

Islamabad Janitor Became A Millionaire Almost Overnight!

They didn't know Rose was together with Bright, and they even wanted to ask Rose to marry Timothy.

Everyone knew that Timothy had bad characters. And Bright would know about it. So, if he asked them about it, they didn't know how to explain.

The only way was to turn to Rose. But they had always disliked this daughter, so how could they ask her for help?

"Mr. Bright, we..." Chandler wanted to explain first.

"There is no outsider, so I think we need to talk with each other seriously." Bright sat well and looked serious as usual.

"Yes, please." Chandler and Joy nodded with agreement like a dog.

As expected, only people like Bright could make them afraid.

Rose took a piece of watermelon and enjoyed it. She looked like an outsider here.

"As we all know, Rose is my lover. I hope you won't arrange any blind dates for her anymore." Bright said with aggressiveness.

"OK. We won't do it again." They nodded repeatedly.

"Moreover, no one will be allowed to hurt her." Bright smirked and gently squeezed Rose's face, "Except me, of course."

"That hurts!" Rose was eating the watermelon and she felt unhappy by bothering him, so she slapped his hand.

Bright released his hand and said coldly, "You shall remember it."

"Yes, we will remember it."

"If she tells me that she's hurt, I won't let you off." Bright said it to make them take it seriously.

Rose smiled and thought that they wouldn't dare to be mean to her anymore, because there would be someone helping her as long as she cried.

Chandler and Joy really felt bad. If Rose told him that they did something bad to her, they would be over.

Therefore, they had to fawn on Rose in the future. And they couldn't be mean to her anymore.

Would they have a good life in the future?

"Mr. Bright, I will be spoiled if you love me so much." Rose held one of his arms and said.

Bright held her shoulders and even tapped the tip of her nose gently with one of his fingertips and said, "I want to spoil you, so that you can't live without me in the future." _____

Chapter 104 It Feels Good to Be with You

Rose slowly leaned her head against his shoulder, pretending to be affectionate and said, "Then I will depend on you for the rest of my life."

"It's my pleasure!" It made Chandler and Joy know how important Rose was to Bright.

"Mr. Bright, I love you so much." Rose kissed his face quickly.

Chandler and Joy looked around and dared not to see them.

This time, they lost to their most annoying daughter. With the support of Bright, they couldn't bully her again, though they might get close to Bright Lee because of her.

"Please remember to pay what you owe me." Bright implied her with his words.

Rose was taken aback for a while and then smiled like a fool. He gave her a disgusting look and then left with her by holding one of her hands.

"What are you going to do?" Rose was pulled up by him with puzzlement.

"I want to see Doris." Bright just wanted to come here to see Doris and her.

"OK." Rose nodded with agreement.

"Are you really her mother?" Bright thought that she was too calm.

"Of course!" Rose argued with him.

"It doesn't matter whether she is mine or not, as long as she is a daughter." Bright didn't want to think about whether she was the daughter of Sky Tanner. The only thing he cared about was that he liked her and he felt happy when he stayed with her.

Rose looked at her with surprise because she didn't expect that he would say it like this.

He was Bright. Why didn't he care about whether Doris was his own daughter? In her mind, any ordinary man would mind this.

"Mr. and Mrs. Linder, I am sorry to bother you today. I would like to leave with Rose first." Before they left, Bright said to Chandler and Joy like this to show his respect to them.

After all, he was the younger generation, and they were the parents of Rose. They might meet with each other in the future, so he thought he should get along well with them.

"It's OK. Have fun!"

Chandler and Joy stood up and watched them leave. Since they had been together, they couldn't discourage them from being in love with each other, so they could just let it be.

In addition, this was not all bad for them. There would be benefits. At least they could cooperate with Bright through the relationship between Rose and Bright. In the future, in the entire southern part of City H, the social status of the Linder family would be improved and they would be able to obtain more commercial resources.

For the benefits of the Linder family, it was necessary to make some sacrifices.

Bright left the Linder family with Rose. There was a Bentley car parked outside.

After they got in the car, the driver started the car and drove away from the Linder family.

Bright leaned against the seat, and he looked elegant, handsome and charming.

Rose looked at him stupidly, as if seeing a handsome guy for the first time.

"Why do you keep looking at me?" Bright asked her after a long time. And then Rose was awoken from a dazed state and said, "Mr. Bright is so handsome and charming, so I want to keep looking at you."

"It's OK. But I need to get something in exchange." Bright looked at her and said.

Rose turned her face and looked at his eyes, "I'd like to invite you to dinner."

She didn't eat lunch today because of them, and indeed she didn't have an appetite. So now she was a bit hungry.

"No, I don't agree." Bright refuse it in exchange.

Rose looked at him with her pretty eyes and said seriously, "Then what do you want?"

"How about having a sexual relationship with me willingly?" He said casually, as if saying that the weather today was good.

"..." Rose didn't know what to say.

Couldn't he talk in a normal way?

"Why? Don't you want to take responsibility for me after getting help from me?" He kept asking her.

"Mr. Bright, I certainly will repay you." Rose said.

"Then what do you want to do?" Bright said with dissatisfaction.

"I don't think it's a good idea. What else do you want except this?" Rose acted like a spoiled child.

"How can you haggle with me?" Bright said with a light laughter, "I flew from City J to City H to help you. Do you intend to repay your savior in this way?"

"Mr. Bright, although I am just Mrs. Lee in name, if you didn't help me, I would commit bigamy, which would make you ashamed." Rose let him know her condition on purpose, and she didn't know whether he would help her or not at that time.

"Certainly, I should say thanks to you."

Actually, she was touched when she saw him appear in the Linder family. She thought that if he didn't come to City H to help her, she had to disclose the agreement and marriage bonds between them, so that she could destroy the plan of her crazy parents and Timothy Fan, who was concupiscent.

Bright looked at her long eyelashes gently.

"Well, no one dares to bully you from now on. If someone tries to bully you, I will try my best to help you." He certainly wouldn't allow any other people to bully his wife.

Although he didn't tell them about the marriage between Rose and him and made them get him wrong, it was fine because he solved the problems.

As for the real relationship between Rose and him, he would tell the Linder family when it was needed. And there was no need for others to know about it.

"Mr. Bright, I hope you can keep your words." Rose emphasized.

"Certainly!" Bright never went back on his words.

"I trust you." Rose laughed at ease, and she looked so pretty.

"Why do you laugh?" He felt warm when he saw that she laughed happily.

"It feels good to be with you." Rose said to him sincerely.

Her grandma loved her most in the Linder family, and she protected her all the time. However, her grandma was getting older, and she couldn't protect her grandma forever from being hurt by her parents or other people.

Now, Bright could help her and protect her from being hurt. So she felt warm and touched.

She even wanted to cry because she was touched when she thought about that.

"Why do you cry? I didn't bully you, right?" Bright saw there were tears in her eyes and thought that she really looked beautiful.

"I don't cry." Rose blinked twice and tried not to cry.

Bright held her face and wiped her tears at the corner of her eyes, "No one will like you because you will look ugly because of crying."

"..." She didn't think she looked ugly.

"How can you stare at me?" Bright frowned and got close to her face, "If you dare to keep staring at me, I will let you have a relationship with me forever." ____

Chapter 105 A Real Domineering President

Rose felt touched and smiled happily.

Bright held one of her hands and gently touched her skin on the back of her hand with his thumb, and he still looked at her gently.

She clearly knew that their marriage agreement would expire in less than one month and the three-year period would expire. Then their marriage would be dissolved. Therefore, she couldn't take his words seriously; otherwise she would make herself sad.

For the rest of the time, both of them kept quiet until they arrived at the place where Jennifer and Doris were playing.

When Doris saw Bright at first sight, she ran over and hugged his legs and said, "Handsome uncle, do you miss me?"

"Yes." Bright squatted down to touch her head tenderly and said, "I miss you."

"I also miss you so much. I miss you more than you miss me." Doris said seriously.

"So I came here to see you this weekend." Bright squeezed her soft face lightly.

Her smile was so sweet after hearing that. And then she saw Rose and said, "Mom."

"You finally see me." Rose complained, because she was ignored by her own daughter just now.

"You know I rarely have a chance to see my handsome uncle." She stuck out her tongue playfully.

"Your mom is jealous." Bright stood up and looked at Rose, and then he turned his head and approached her, "We are a family. Why are you jealous?"

Rose glanced at him and then turned back to see her grandma.

Bright and Doris looked at each other and smiled, and then Bright held Doris in his arms and followed Rose to see Jennifer.

When Jennifer saw Bright, she was surprised, because she knew that the Lee family lived in City J, and City J was thousands of miles away from City H.

"Grandma, why do you keep looking at Mr. Bright? Do you forget him?" Rose asked Jennifer and reminded her that it was impolite.

"Why did you come here together with him?" Jennifer looked at her and Bright with puzzlement.

Rose didn't want to come here together with him, but she didn't dare to show her dislike to him. She said, "Well, Mr. Bright comes to City H because of work. And we happened to be nearby, so I wanted to come here to see you and Doris."

Rose lied to Jennifer and didn't tell her about the real relationship between Bright and her.

"Oh, I see." Jennifer didn't ask her about it anymore.

She knew that Bright was married and he was a decent man, so she didn't think that he would have a relationship with Rose except for work. However, she also felt that there was something wrong.

"Grandma, let's go back home together." Rose said to her.

"It's a nice day. I want to stay here for a while. You can go and have fun. Don't worry about me." Jennifer looked at the sunshine and said,

"Bright is our guest, you should treat him well."

"Don't worry, grandma." Rose smiled and said, "Then we'll go first."

"Jennifer, welcome to City J when you have time. I think my grandma will be very happy if you go to visit her in City J." Bright held Doris in his arms and invited Jennifer to visit them in City J sincerely.

"OK." Jennifer nodded and said, "I want to talk with Rose."

Bright got it and knew that she wanted to talk with Rose alone, so he went away with Doris.

Rose looked at the back of Bright and then turned to Jennifer,

"Grandma, what's wrong?"

"Rose, I know Bright is excellent and charming and he is decent and born in a famous family. So there must be many girls attracted to him. If he isn't married yet, I certainly hope that you can be together with him. And I don't have to worry about you anymore if you can be with him. I However, it's too late because he's married."

"Grandma, why do you talk about this?" Rose didn't dare to look at Jennifer's eyes with a guilty look on her face.

"Although you work together with him, she needs to keep distance from him. Otherwise, other people will gossip about you. Moreover, if his wife and the Lee family know about it, I don't know what will happen. You can't destroy his family. It's not good for you and him. Do you understand?" Jennifer worried that someone would spread rumors.

"Grandma, I got it. I know what to do. Don't worry." Rose patted her hands gently to comfort her, "I will behave myself."

"That's good." Jennifer really worried her so she talked with her about it, "Well, you can go first. Bright is waiting for you."

"OK." Rose smiled and then turned back and left.

After taking a few steps, Rose turned back to look at Jennifer's face and said, "Grandma, Mr. Bright and I..."

She was thinking about whether she could tell her grandma the relationship between Bright and her. However, their marriage would be dissolved in less than a month. If she told Jennifer now, the latter would be sad in the future.

"What's wrong?" Jennifer asked her.

"Nothing important. I just want to say that I will treat Mr. Bright well. And we know what we should do." Rose had no courage to tell her at last.

And then she left. Doris sat in the car, and Bright was waiting for her outside the car.

Bright didn't ask her about what Jennifer talked with her, and Rose didn't tell him about it.

"I will tell Jennifer about our relationship when it is appropriate." It seemed that Bright knew what Jennifer talked with her.

Rose thought that he had supernatural powers, because he seemed to know everything.

"If you tell her, I am afraid she will be shocked." Rose knew that it was out of her expectation. And Jennifer also hoped that he wasn't married so that they could be together with each other. So if she knew it, she would be too excited.

"I will tell her when everything is ready." Bright looked at her with dissatisfaction, "You shouldn't doubt my ability."

She thought that he was a real domineering President.

"Get in the car!" Bright opened the door for her like a gentleman.

They sat by Doris's side and looked like a real family.

"Where do you want to go?" Bright held Doris's hands and asked.

"As long as my mom and handsome uncle stay with me, we can go anywhere." Doris held one of Rose's hands with her small hand, and looked at them with her big eyes.

"Let's go to the Ocean Park." Doris made a decision happily.

When they arrived at the Ocean Park, Doris saw that there were many marine organism, including penguins that looked stupid, docile white whales, and smart dolphins, etc..

They also watched the show of white whales, and it was awesome with the wonderful music...

And then, they found somewhere to take a rest. Bright went to buy spring water, while Doris and Rose were sitting there and waiting for him.

"Hello, Doris. You are here!" Suddenly, there was a kid who was calling Doris with excitement. _____

Chapter 106 Let Our Parents Be Together

"Wyatt." Doris saw Wyatt.

Wyatt looked so happy. He shook his fat hands and his face was red. He said, "Aunt Rose, Doris, nice to meet you."

"Why are you staying here alone?" Rose asked him, "Come here and have a seat."

"I came here with my father. He is talking on the phone with someone over there." Wyatt pointed to a man who was standing not far away.

Matthew was indeed talking on the phone. Sometimes he frowned, and sometimes he put one hand on his hips.

"Why do you run away from your father by yourself? It is crowded here. What if you get lost? It's too dangerous." Rose talked to Wyatt, "No matter where you want to go, you should tell your parents first."

"I agree with my mom. If you run around like this, your dad can't find you after he talks on the phone." Doris also said that he was wrong by doing like this.

"I am sorry." Wyatt lowered his head and then he raised his head and explained to them, "I saw you just now, and I wanted to play with you. But my father had been talking on the phone, and I dared not to bother him. So I came here to find you first. I never ran around like this before."

"That's fine." Rose looked at Matthew, who was not far away. And then she took out her phone and texted him to tell him that Wyatt stayed together with them, so that he could find Wyatt after the phone call.

"My father is often very busy. This weekend, he finally has time to take me out to have fun. I didn't expect that I could meet you. If I knew you would also come here, I had to come here together with you." Wyatt looked at Doris and smiled, "Doris, can we play together every Sunday from now on?"

"If you behave like a real man and never cry again, I will play with you." Doris wanted to encourage Wyatt to be a strong kid.

"I promise I won't cry again. I will be a real man and protect you." Wyatt was so glad when he heard what Doris said.

At this time, Bright came back with some snacks and water. When he put down the snacks and water on the desk, he found that there was a little boy.

Wyatt felt that Bright was looking at him seriously. He was a bit scared and dared not to look at Bright.

"Who is he?" Bright sat down and asked.

"He is my classmate in Kindergarten. His name is Wyatt Sue. You can call him Wyatt." Doris quickly introduced Wyatt to Bright, and then she said to Wyatt, "He is my uncle. He is very handsome, right?"

"Wyatt glanced at Bright again and said timidly, "Hello, uncle. Nice to meet you."

Rose glanced at Bright and said to him, "Don't make him scared."

"Why are you scared? I am not a monster." Bright laughed lightly and said, "Since you are Doris' classmate, you can play with her."

"Thank you, uncle." Wyatt felt relaxed at once, and he found that this uncle would also smile though he looked so cool.

Rose gave a bottle of spring water to Wyatt and said, "Are you thirsty? Drink some water. I have texted your father and told him that you are staying together with us, and he will come here to find you after the phone call."

"Thank you, Aunt Rose." Wyatt took up the water and drank it.

Bright turned on the lid of the spring water and then turned to look at Rose when he heard she mention Wyatt's dad.

Rose also felt that he was looking at her and then asked, "Do you think he would come to Ocean Park by himself? He is just a kid!"

"You know I don't mean that." Bright drank some water and then put the bottle on the desk, "Do you know his father?"

"He is Doris' classmate. I met him in the kindergarten, so I know him." Rose didn't take it seriously.

"I never thought that you would have a new friend here in such a short time." Bright said with dissatisfaction. He thought that he should pay much more attention to her later.

"When you move to a new place, you will certainly have some new friends." Rose thought that it was normal.

Bright just nodded without saying anything.

Wyatt got close to Doris and said in a low voice, "Doris. What's the special relationship between you and this uncle?"

"He is just my uncle. But I think he looks more like my father, because he loves me and regards me as his daughter." Doris also answered him in a low voice.

"Well." Wyatt nodded his head with puzzlement, "So you mean that he has got married to your mother?"

"..." Doris looked at Wyatt for two seconds and then said, "I also hope so. But they are just colleagues and friends. However, I am trying to make them get married, so that he can be my real father."

"..." Wyatt also looked at Doris for two seconds and then said with hesitation, "Can my father compete with your uncle?"

"What?" Doris was surprised, "Does your father like my mom?"

"No. It's because I like Aunt Rose. I also hope that I can have a mom who loves me so much." Wyatt looked so poor, "Doris, since you want a dad and I want a mom, we can make our dream come true if my dad and your mom get together with each other, right?"

"Yes, you are right. But I really like my handsome uncle." In this term, Doris would support Bright, "He's very good to us."

"I think my dad is also very good, and he will be very nice to Aunt Rose." Wyatt talked with Doris, "I will also be very nice to you and protect you."

"I am a tough girl. I don't need anybody to protect me." Doris said seriously, "I know your father is very good. But your father and my mom are not in love with each other."

"Are you sure your mom and your uncle love each other?" Wyatt was smart.

"Yes, they will. I believe they will fall in love with each other in the future." Doris said with confidence.

"But my dad works together with Aunt Rose in the same company, so they have much more time to get on with each other. I think they are more likely to fall in love with each other." Wyatt argued with her for reasons.

"I can't make a decision for my mom. It depends on my mom." Doris said, "My mom will choose the one she really loves."

"I will ask my dad to try his best." Wyatt clenched his small fists and made a cheering gesture.

At this time, Matthew finished talking on the phone and he was looking for his son. When he read the message from Rose, he found them smoothly.

When he got close to them, he saw Rose, Doris, Wyatt, and Bright who looked so domineering.

Bright also saw Matthew, who looked mature. Although he was 40 years old, he looked charming with special characters.

"Nice to meet you, Mr. Bright." Matthew knew that was Bright at first sight.

Since Bright was so famous and shining like a star in the sky, everyone knew him and appreciated him.

Unexpectedly, he didn't think that Mr. Bright would come to Ocean Park with Rose and her kid to have fun.

Obviously, he didn't come here for work.

"Who are you?" Bright looked up to him and looked him up and down seriously.

Chapter 107 Stupid Teammates

Everyone knew Bright, but Bright did not necessarily know everyone.

Therefore, it was quite normal that he didn't know Matthew, who worked in YM Group City H Branch.

But it was hard to say whether he deliberately pretended not to know Matthew.

"Mr. Bright, hello, I am Matthew Sue, general manager of YM Group City H Branch. It's a pleasure to meet you here." Matthew said politely but without flattery, neither humble nor arrogant, just right.

He didn't become cowardly because the person in front of him was Bright, nor did he become servile because of Bright.

He was righteous with integrity, not showing even a trace of cowardice or panic faced with Bright, who had a strong aura.

Bright finished looking Matthew up and down within several seconds, and slightly curled his lip.

To Bright's surprise, Matthew was not only the father of Doris's friend, but also Rose's colleague in the same company, with superior-subordinate relationship.

But Rose didn't mention this just now.

"Hello, Mr. Matthew." Bright crossed his long legs, looking so lazy,

"What's the matter?"

"Wyatt is my son." Matthew answered an emergency call just now, so he didn't notice his son, who had run away alone.

"It's OK as long as there is nothing wrong with the child." Rose said to him fervidly, "Don't just stand there. Sit down and have some water." Matthew didn't sit down. Just now Bright didn't say any courteous words, which meant that Bright didn't want being disturbed, and that was to say, Bright didn't want Wyatt and him to disturb them here. Matthew could guess what others were thinking through subtle observation and verbal expression, with his 20 years' experience in the workplace.

"No, thanks. I need to take Wyatt to another place. See you." Matthew refused politely, "Mr. Bright, have a good time."

"Since Mr. Matthew has something else to deal with, then good-bye." Bright pretended to be polite.

"Then just take this bottle of water with you, Mr. Matthew." Rose stood up and handed a bottle of water to Matthew.

"I appreciate your kind intention, but I have in my car. Just leave for yourself." Matthew didn't stretch out his hand to take it over, but took Wyatt by the hand, "Wyatt, say good-bye to Mr. Bright, Miss Linder and Doris."

"Daddy, where are we going? Didn't you allow me to have as much fun here as I want? I want to have fun with Doris... Can we stay?" Wyatt held his father's hand, looked up and begged pitifully.

Wyatt told the truth, which made Matthew a little embarrassed, but he was quite imperturbable, "Wyatt, don't you want to find mommy? Let's go to find her."

"Do you allow to mention mommy?" Wyatt was very grieved.

Previously when it came to mommy, daddy would always keep a dark face, but today daddy took initiative to mention her, surprising Wyatt.

"Daddy has figured it out. If you want to see her, let's go to find her."

Matthew was forced by the situation.

"Really? Can we go to find her under any circumstances in the future?" Wyatt's eyes lit up.

"It depends." Matthew couldn't guarantee, "But I won't keep you from meeting her all the time."

Wyatt pressed his lips together and looked at Doris, "But I don't want to say good-bye to Doris and Aunt Rose."

"You can meet Doris at school, five days a week." Matthew tried his best to comfort Wyatt in order to take him away, but Wyatt didn't want to leave.

"Today it's different." Wyatt felt that Aunt Rose was tender and beautiful, looking more like mommy than that woman who was like his mommy.

He thought mommy should be like Aunt Rose, who accompanied the child, patient and kindhearted, smiling warmly like sunshine. He envied Doris, who had such a mother, and he also wanted the same one. Therefore, only if Aunt Rose was married with daddy, could she be his mother.

"Mr. Matthew, since Wyatt wants to stay, just let him have fun with Doris." Seeing Wyatt so unwilling to leave, Rose took initiative to ask for Wyatt's stay, "Now it's very late. You can choose a whole day to take him to find his mother so that he can stay longer with his mother, which is beneficial to promote their affection. What do you think?"

"Why do you poke your nose into Mr. Matthew's family affairs?" Bright was not happy because Rose tried to make Matthew stay so fervidly. Bright knew that Matthew had already know what he was thinking, so Matthew tried to persuade the child into leaving, but Rose always ruined things at the crucial time.

Why was his wife so troublesome?

Bright helplessly stretched out his hand and rubbed his forehead with his long fingers.

"Mr. Matthew, just let Wyatt stay." Doris said.

Bright's lips convulsed helplessly. Even Doris, who was a smart girl, did something against his desire.

What should Bright do with such two stupid teammates?

"Daddy, shall we stay?" Wyatt begged his father again.

Matthew didn't know what to do, and his gaze passed by Bright.

"We will disturb Aunt Rose and Mr. Bright." Matthew sighed in his mind. He was really not deliberate. He could not take the child away and felt in a dilemma with Rose and Doris' request for his stay.

"Not really. Since Doris wants to have fun with your son, just stay." Bright could only say this and had no choice but to make them stay today.

"Thank you, Mr. Bright." Matthew sighed with relief. He felt really stressed being stuck in the middle.

"Mr. Matthew, sit down. You should be tired standing and talking for so long." Rose put a bottle of water in front of Matthew, "Drink some water first."

"Mr. Matthew, eat some fruits. They were bought by handsome uncle."
Doris handed bananas to Matthew and Wyatt, "Wyatt, help yourself, too."

Wyatt took it over and began to eat happily. He was so innocent, smiling joyfully, not knowing the war of love among the adults.

"Thank you, Mr. Bright." Matthew glanced at the bananas in front of him and handed them to Wyatt, "Wyatt likes eating bananas. Just let him eat and I will have some water."

Could he eat the food bought by Bright?

It was already very lucky for him to stay.

But he wondered how Bright minded if he stayed here, so that Bright wanted him to leave.

"Miss Linder and Mr. Bright have known each other long since, no? Why hasn't Miss Linder mentioned this? Matthew asked after drinking some water.

"We got to know each other just because of work. Should I show off at anywhere?" Rose gave a sidelong glance to Bright, who didn't speak and looked cold and serious, "I am afraid of being blacklisted by Mr.

Bright." _

Chapter 108 You Are Nothing

Bright only took the bottle up and drank water, but did not reply, even averting his gaze to somewhere else.

He screwed the bottle cap slowly, and then put it on the table, "You are quite conscious and keep a low profile."

"I have self-knowledge." Rose lightly raised her eyebrow, "Without any fantasy."

She needed to keep a clear head, and otherwise, she would be confused about herself and the future direction.

Rose stretched out her hand to touch Doris' back of head, and smiled faintly.

Afterwards, they had a rest and went to see other animals, such as fat polar bear and smart sea lion. They also watched acrobatic performance of sea lions.

The sun was bending in the west and it was very late now, so they walked out of the park.

Matthew took Wyatt's hand and said good-bye to Rose and Bright, "Mr. Bright and Miss Linder, good-bye."

"Mr. Matthew, good-bye." Rose waved her hand to him.

But Wyatt was still unwilling to leave and held Doris' little hand, "Doris, see you in the kindergarten."

"OK." Doris frowned with a little disgust, "Don't show such a grieved appearance. We will meet again in the kindergarten."

"Fine." Wyatt raised his lips and began to smile, looking somewhat silly.

"Let's go." Matthew opened the car door and let Wyatt get into the car first.

He nodded at Bright and Rose, got into the car and drove away.

Rose and Doris looked at the receding car all the time. Bright cleared his throat in order to bring back their attention, "They have gone but you are still looking. Are you so reluctant to separate from them?"

"Handsome uncle, I will cry sadly if you leave." Doris walked forward and hugged his leg with smile, "I will hold your leg, not to let you go. Are you satisfied?"

"Only you can make me happy." Bright bent down and stretched out his finger to rub her nose.

Bright lifted Doris and said to Rose, "Get into the car. Where do you want to go for dinner?"

"Can we fuel up on cola, French fries and hamburgers?" Doris put her arms around Bright's neck, with two big eyes full of expectancy.

"No." Rose refused directly.

"..." The hope in Doris' eyes went out.

Bright felt Doris so pitiful, just like a dog abandoned by its owner.

He stretched out his hand to touch her head, and bent down in order to make his lips close to her ear, "Listen to me, and I promise you will get what you want."

"What are you talking about?" Rose was unsatisfied with Bright's smile, "Don't mislead the child."

She didn't allow Doris to eat the junk food. If Bright dared to make trouble, she would give him hell.

"Nothing." Bright put Doris into the car, "I asked you to get in. What are you doing?"

Rose got into the car and Doris was still seated between her and Bright, which made Rose increasingly find that they were a family.

The driver drove away and the car ran on the crowded road.

"Where are we going?" Rose looked at the streetscape flashing by the window. This was the direction to the downtown, "Doesn't Mr. Bright go back to the hotel or City J?"

"Rose, can't you have some conscience? I came to help you solve the problem, but you want to send me off after using me? Rose, don't you feel guilty?" Bright accused Rose of kicking down the ladder.

"I didn't mean that. Mr. Bright is in charge of HY Group and must be very busy. I can't waste your time." Rose said seriously, "Besides, it is also beneficial for you to deal with this thing."

Bright frowned, "But I still helped you. You owe me a favor, don't you?"

"..." Rose didn't know how many favors she owed him. Anyway, it was OK with one more.

"What do you want?" Since he wanted her to return the favor, he definitely had his own intention.

"Just follow me." Bright leaned backwards and lightly adjusted his collar.

Rose curled her lip unhappily. Why was he so mysterious?

The car stopped at a fast food flagship store in the downtown. Rose frowned as soon as she got out of the car, "I have told you not to mislead the child. Why do you take us here?"

"I want to eat." Bright held Doris between his arms.

"Mr. Bright, don't fool me. Do you think I will believe you?" Rose looked coldly at Doris, who stayed between Bright's arms, "Doris, come down to mommy."

"Well..." Doris didn't dare to retort and agreed obediently. Then she loosened her arms around Bright's neck, "Handsome uncle, put me down."

But Bright hugged Doris more tightly and said to Rose, "Why did you talk so fiercely to the child?"

"Did I? She doesn't listen to me, and as a mother, shouldn't I teach her a lesson?" Rose asked rhetorically.

"Just calm down." Bright didn't know how gentle he was at this time, looking like a loving father who protected his precious daughter, feeling pitiful for her.

"I have already said no, but you still take her here to eat junk food. We all know it is not good for children. Why do you insist? Bright, you will only spoil the child in this way." Rose was quite angry about his indifference, "We have agreed on not eating junk food like hamburgers. Now who is violating the agreement?"

"Mommy, it's my fault. I will not eat. Please don't be angry." Seeing mommy so emotional, Doris knew she shouldn't be willful.

"Look, she almost cries." Bright felt painful for Doris, whose eyes turned red with grievance.

"That's because she has violated the agreement. She has no reason to cry." Rose didn't think Doris deserved the compassion, "Will you appraise her even if she makes a mistake, Mr. Bright?"

Bright thought Rose was too unreasonable, and he asked, "Doris, how long has it been since you ate these foods last time?"

"I can't remember. It was very long ago." Doris remembered she ate those foods secretly with Jane last time, but was found out by Rose, who arrived earlier than she had expected.

Rose was very angry, so she threw away the cola and hamburgers and fiercely criticized Doris and Jane.

Of course Doris received a beating, because she did something wrong and tried to keep it secret from mommy.

"Listen, she said she couldn't remember because she hasn't eaten these foods for a long time. It's okay to eat them every few months. Why do you press the child so hard? She doesn't have much to take pleasure. If you continue like this, she will only feel unhappy. As a parent, don't you want your child to be happy?" Bright said clearly and logically.

Doris plucked Bright by his clothes, "Handsome uncle. Don't say that anymore. I will not eat. Let's leave here."

"Don't be afraid, I am here and believe me." Bright held her little hand, full of confidence.

Rose curled her lip coldly, "It's no use, Mr. Bright."

"You owe me a favor." Bright reminded her.

"So what? I am Doris' mother, but you are nothing! Mind your own business, please." Rose pressed her lips together, looking very determined.

'You are nothing!'

These words really hurt Bright. He was not Doris' father indeed, but just an outsider. Only Rose had the guardianship to Doris as her mother.

An unprecedented darkness spread out on Bright's cold face. He held Doris and looked directly at Rose with slightly narrowed and sharp eyes. Rose's stubbornness was like a flower blooming on the top of a mountain, flickering in the wind and snow, not afraid of being snapped.

"Rose, say it again." Bright exhaled lightly.

"Mr. Bright, put Doris down." Rose didn't reply to him directly, "Doris, come down."

"Handsome uncle, put me down." Doris was struggling.

Bright was afraid that she would fall down, so he put her down. Doris walked to Rose once she got freed.

Doris took Rose by the hand and bit her lip, "Mommy, I know I have done wrong. Don't quarrel with handsome uncle."

"We are not quarreling." The two answered simultaneously.

Bright and Rose looked at each other and then looked away. Glancing at them, Doris pressed her lips together, lowered down her head and couldn't help smiling, but she didn't dare to behave evidently.

"Mr. Bright, I have no discrepancy if you want to eat these foods. You can eat as much as you want and I will buy for you. But the agreement between the child and me cannot be invalidated arbitrarily. If I allow her to eat junk food, this will be irresponsibility to her health and as a mother, and I will be a bad mother." Rose restrained himself and slowed down her voice, "What do you want to eat? I will go to order for you."

"Well, give me one portion for all the foods inside." Bright felt angry, childish like a kid.

"OK." Rose walked into the store with Doris.

She stood in front of the ordering counter, "One portion for each kind of foods in the store."

The attendant thought he had misheard, "Are you sure?"

How could the two of them eat so much?

"Yes." Rose confirmed, "Please be quick. Someone cannot wait already."

"OK. Please wait a moment." The attendant ordered all the foods and told Rose the amount.

Rose paid by QR code scanning. Looking at the amount, Rose felt a little distressed.

Ordinarily Rose was not a person who wasted money, and she was always economical. To her surprise, Bright came up with such a request, which made her lose a lot of money in her wallet.

But the promise had been made and she couldn't go back on her word. After quite a while, the foods were finally prepared, which were put on several trays.

Rose passed them to Bright one after another, which were put on the rectangular table, "Mr. Bright, help yourself. See you."

"Stop." Bright shouted coldly, "Hasn't Miss Linder heard 'It's easier to raise the devil than to lay him'? Since you have called me over, then I need you to look at me eating and to leave after I finish."

Rose bit her lip and clenched her fists, telling herself to calm down and not to be irritated by him.

"Mr. Bright, could you please stop behaving like a child?" Rose said impolitely.

"Miss Linder, this is the consequence for you provoking me. You have to take responsibility for that." Looking at so much food on the table, Bright took the French fries and began to eat, ignoring them, after getting a glimpse.

He raised his lips while eating, smirking.

His appearance was really annoying.

Rose chuckled lightly.

Seeing Bright eating, Doris felt she was hungry and she stretched out her little hand to touch her tummy.

Bright glanced at Doris and looked up at Rose, "If Miss Linder is hungry, I don't mind you sitting down to have some with me."

"I am not hungry." Rose said clearly, but the result was that her stomach rumbled loudly.

Rose suddenly felt embarrassed and her face turned red. She bit her lips and really wanted to disappear.

Bright laughed at the same time, feeling very complacent.

"Mommy, your stomach is saying it is hungry." Doris added.

"I heard that too." Bright took up a spicy chicken wing and put it close to his nose to smell it, making an attractive gesture, "So delicious. Does Miss Linder want one?"

Rose ate nothing this noon while staying at the Linder family, and then went to pick Doris up. She was really hungry at this moment.

"These were bought for Mr. Bright. Please help yourself." Rose refused to resign herself.

"Then I will begin to eat." Bright took a bite with satisfaction, "You are adult and it's OK for you to keep hungry for a while. But how can you let a child to suffer with you? She is just 5 years old, and it is high time for her to grow up. Please don't be so stubborn."

"If Mr. Bright really feels pitiful for the child, you should allow me to take the child away, instead of asking me to accompany you here to look at you eating." Rose retorted.

"There is so much food here. Can't you eat some? Will you die after eating this?" Bright said seriously, "You will not die, will you? Besides, the agreement is made by people. Can't you be a little flexible?"

"Mr. Bright doesn't want to let us go, then please eat quickly." Rose said coldly, without any desire to compromise.

Bright put down the chicken wing, and really wanted to know what she was thinking in her mind.

She continued to force herself against him at this time.

Bright took up the tissue to wipe the oil stain on his hand, then took out something from his suit pocket and put it on the table.

A marriage certificate with red background and gold letters entered Rose's eyes, which surprising her.

She averted her gaze from the red marriage certificate to Bright's face, and a trace of surprise flashed by in her eyes. What did he mean? Did he carry the marriage certificate just like ID card?

"Miss Linder, since you are so disobedient, I can only do this." Bright's fair fingertip fell down on the marriage certificate, and his finger appeared to be elegant and perfect against the certificate, "Rose, I am not only the person in charge of the cooperation project between you and the company, but also the one who has intimate relationship with you. As your other half in law, I think I am qualified for the child's education."

Looking at Bright's handsome face, which turned more and more serious, Rose swallowed.

Was he serious?

Legally speaking, he was her husband and thus the child's father. Even though he was stepfather, he was qualified for the child's education.

"What do you want to do?" Rose stood in front of Doris to protect her, "I gave birth to her."

She meant that Bright was not her biological father, so she denied his qualification.

"The law doesn't care about blood relationship, and gives me duty and right." Bright smiled. What he said really made sense.

Rose frowned, looking like a mother wolf which protected her wolf cub, with much alertness.

"Are you angry?" Bright's fingertip lightly hit the marriage certificate, "I am just bringing out the facts and reasons."

"Rose, Mr. Bright, what a coincidence." At this time a cold and elegant figure walked forward, but was attracted by the red marriage certificate on the table, "Whose marriage certificate?"

Chapter 110: Charter 110 Men Are Fascinated with Tender Women

Coming across Nora Copper, Bright said gently, "Ms. Cooper, it's been so long."

"It is unexpected to see you eat fast food at leisure time at City H. If this circulates, it is supposed to create a buzz." marveled Nora. Being in a floral dress to the knee, leggy Nora was gorgeous with her outstandingly fair complexion.

"Rose, don't you agree?" asked Nora.

Rose felt surprised about Nora's appearance. Having mixed feelings about the marriage certificate, Rose didn't really take notice to what Nora said at all.

"Rose, what happened? You look pale." Nora asked in a worried voice and nudged her lightly after founding she was not totally herself.

Rose did a double take and said, "What's the matter?"

"That's what I want to ask you. Your complexion is as pale as a ghost. Do you see something horrible?" whispered Nora. Looking around, Nora never detected something uncommon and terrible.

"It is dreadful than ghost." Rose muttered and her resentful sight flicked Bright. In her mind, Bright was terrible than ghost.

"What's that? Tell me." Nora's curiosity was aroused by the mysterious thing.

"Mr. Lee knows better than I do. You can ask him about that." Rose shifted the knotty problem to Bright and let him solve it by himself.

"Mr. Lee, can you explain it for me?" Nora beamed. And then she pulled up the wooden arm-chair and sat on it.

"Well, it's a long story." With a soft sigh, Bright intended to seize an opportunity to take marriage certificate away.

Nora never distracted her attention from the dazzling stuff. Noticing Bright's little trick, Nora's radiant smile appeared on her face, which seemed to bring thousands upon thousands of peach trees into bloom and generated a magnificent spring spectacle before their eyes.

With natures of self-confidence and enchanting beauty, Nora was more than impressive for people who had seen her before. Therefore, a sea of deep-pocketed young men had become addicted to her.

However, Nora chose to marry the third son of the Ways five years ago.

They got along well during this period, though her husband was just an average Joe.

It was an only great pity that they didn't have children yet, even though Nora kept her intriguing appearance.

"Mr. Lee, it is your marriage certificate?" Nora's gaze fell upon that red book.

"Yes, it's mine." Bright held it with his fingers. "Do you want to have a look?" asked Bright.

"Exactly. Mr. Lee is such a bright spark." Nora remained her curiosity, though she was an elegant lady from a rich family and became inured to the unusual. She was still curious about the identity of Mrs. Lee. It was said that Mrs. Lee was a girl in a wealthy family. Moreover, Nora knew all the girls in wealthy families and she would know her, provided she saw the name on that certificate.

"Nora, there exists nothing interesting." Rose got butterflies in her stomach when Nora had great curiousness in the marriage license. "You have your own certificate, and do whatever is fine for you in home." If Nora found that the identity of the person inside was Rose herself, Nora would complain Rose about not telling this to Nora who was Rose's bosom friend.

With a guilty conscience, Rose couldn't image how Nora faced the truth. "I'm tired of seeing things, what's so interesting." Nora looked at Rose who had been standing, "Why are you standing, sit down and let's talk." Rose didn't move, Nora got up and pulled Rose to the side of the chair, pushing her into the chair.

"Doris sits here." Nora also carried Doris into the chair, "You can stand up if you want to stand, why let the child stand with you? Why are you tossing yourself?"

Rose sat reluctantly. She just wanted to leave here quickly, even taking Nora with her.

"Nora, Doris and I haven't eaten yet. Let's go to dinner with us." Rose found an excuse.

"Isn't there something to eat here? For such a big meal, you can eat whatever you want." Nora took a hamburger and placed it in front of Rose, very generous, "Mr. Lee, I hope you don't mind."

"Of course. I can't finish so much. It is an honor for me to have two beautiful women, Ms. Cooper and Ms. Linder, accompanying me." Bright now wished Rose could eat a bite because Doris was drooling over the dishes.

"Doris and I won't eat this." Rose refused.

Nora looked at Rose's expression, only to feel something was wrong.

"What are you doing? This is Mr. Lee's kindness." Nora picked up a French fries and put it in her mouth, "Look, I have eaten it."

"It's doesn't matter for adults, but it's not nutritious for children." Rose pushed the burger away, she felt even hungrier when she smelled the scent.

"It's better than to be hungry." Nora gave a piece of egg tart to Doris, "This is made of eggs. It's okay."

Rose kept silent for a while. Looking at Doris's wrinkled face, she felt a little distressed.

"It's better to eat rice."

Nora picked up the phone and dialed out, "This is Nora, and I will deliver a nutrition meal for children to the fast food restaurant immediately.

Five minutes... eight minutes at most, no more. That's it."

Nora put the phone on the table casually, and looked sideways at Rose who was worried, "You can rest assured."

"How can the restaurant deliver food so fast? It is your restaurant?"

"Rose teased her friend.

Nora snapped her fingers and smiled, "You are right."

"Have you opened a shop for business?" Rose was surprised, "When did it happen?"

"Just for the past two years, there is nothing to do anyway, just find something to do." Nora took another piece of popcorn chicken and stuffed it into Rose's mouth. "What's the use of you holding out? It will only torture yourself. Why not be softer? Do you know? Only women who are tender and flirtatious in this society can be loved. No one likes tigress."

Nora sighted a couple sitting on the corner. They had meal sweetly and their eyes sprinkled of twinkling stars, which generate a sensation of envy.

Nora gave a slap on the wooden table, "Dare to do PDA before my eyes? You guys are making light of me."

"What's wrong with you?" Rose felt that there remained anger in Nora's eyes.

"I catch you." Nora moved away the chair.

Although driven to rage, Nora remained graceful while stepping toward that couple.

"Brother, is she your girlfriend?" Nora leaned forward, propping her
