

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 441

Fortunately I Got You

Michelle accidentally caught a glimpse of a person.

He stood by the river.

"Brother?" Confused, Michelle approached. She gradually saw the side face of Leon, and a bright smile appeared in his almond eyes.

She trotted over and shouted, "Brother!"

Hearing the sound, Leon turned his head and saw a sensitive girl running all the way through the lawn and steps of the park.

"Are you speaking to me?" At the first sight, Leon didn't recognize Michelle who had changed her style and worn made up.

In his eyes, Michelle had always been a soft rabbit who only liked strawberry cakes.

"It seems to be Michelle." Wynn recognized her as soon as he turned around. After all, he had spent some time with Michelle day and night.

As Michelle was getting closer and closer, Leon also recognized her. "Sister?"

"Brother, brother..." Michelle hadn't seen him for more than half a year, and the two of them didn't have contact information. She missed him so much.

She quickened her pace and smiled more happily.

Leon saw her cute canine teeth from a distance. He turned around and walked toward sleeves.

"Brother, the coat is too big." Michelle raised her hand. 1/3 of her sleeves were empty.

"It doesn't matter." Leon pulled the sleeves and was about to take her away.

Michelle stood still and said, "Brother, I really have to do something important."

Before she finished her words, she withdrew one of her hands, turned around and escaped from her coat. Then she ran away again. "Brother, wait for me here. I'll come back to you after I finish my work."

The caramel colored overcoat fell to the ground, and only one sleeve was still held by Leon.

Leon was petrified for a moment. He shook his head and sighed, "She is so stubborn. I don't know if I have time to wait for her to come back after she finishes her work."

He took his coat back and threw it to Wynn. He found that a phone was left on the floor.

It was Michelle's phone that just fell down.

Leon picked it up and lit up the screen. He saw his own photo, which was taken by Michelle in the amusement park.

She used the photo as a screen wallpaper.

Leon stared at the phone for a while and suddenly smiled.

Chapter: 442

Mr. John Had A Car Accident

play\_arrow

stop

Michelle arrived at the wedding venue, only to find that the wedding site was empty, only the northwest wind blowing.

But as soon as she turned around, she saw one of the targets.

Vivian was wiping her tears with her head down.

Michelle heard from her mother that every girl would cry on their wedding day, because she was reluctant to leave her parents' family.

'If you don't want to leave your parents' house, then don't marry John.'

Michelle took out the lighter from her pocket and was about to show off, but she saw Chester walking towards them.

This made her stop.

What if Chester was hurt?

"Mr. Ye, Mrs. Ye, Miss Ye." Richard and Chester walked towards them.

Howard was facing them, while Julie and Vivian were standing with their backs to them. Only Richard made a sound. Julie and Vivian didn't notice that Chester also came over.

"Chester?" Howard frowned, "Are you here alone?"

Who?

Chester?

The backs of Julie and Vivian froze at the same time, and the hands of the mother and daughter holding together tightened at the same time. They looked at each other by himself?"

Adrian, who suddenly stood up, attracted everyone's attention. Henry reached out his hand to touch Adrian's arm, "Didn't he drive well? Sit down."

Vivian also heard the noise and looked over. She stared at Henry's hand on Adrian]'s arm for a while.

Noticing a strange look, Henry turned his head and found it was Vivian. He didn't know why, but he felt that Vivian might have known something.

"Sit down." Henry withdrew his hand.

Everyone looked back to the road outside the window. The Rolls-Royce was about to arrive at the hotel.

At this moment, the Rolls-Royce did not slow down. It rushed to the fence as if the brake failed.

Bang

Boom

The car crashed into the fence and rushed into the Mist River.

It kept sinking.

Everyone was shocked by what they saw. They widened their eyes and couldn't make a sound, as if something was blocking their throats.

"Oh, no! There was a car accident!" The media reacted quickly and rushed out with the cameras. "Hurry up, help! Help!"

Only then did everyone realize the fact.

Mr. John had a car accident.

Chapter: 443

Cancel The Wedding

play\_arrow

stop

"Oh my God!"

"Mr. John..."

"John, John..."

"Uncle John!"

"Oh my God! What happened?"

"Help! Help!"

The banquet hall was in a mess. Adrian ran downstairs, followed by Henry.

Only Sam stayed there calmly and asked the butler to push the wheelchair to the window.

In winter, there were few people going out. The river here was quiet, and no passer-by.

They could do nothing but watch the car sink into the river.

At this critical moment, James jumped out of nowhere, took off his clothes and ran to the river. He jumped into the river to save people.

"Uncle John! Uncle John!" The cold water almost made James cramp, but he couldn't think so much.

Just now, they saw John's car rushing into the river.

John was afraid of water, so he couldn't even breathe when he saw the river. He fell into the river now, he must...

James was so anxious that his eyes turned red. He swam forward with all his strength.

"Uncle John..." Emma, who ran to the river, widened her eyes in horror and didn't react for a long time. The river was full of the sound of James flapping the water. She finally came to her senses and said, "James, you must be careful."

She st

It would probably be another two days of turmoil.

As for the wedding, if John was safe, the wedding would be continued. If John was still missing, it would be no good for Ye family to get married now.

Howard thought for a while and said, "Now the wedding ceremony is not a big deal. The safety of John is the most important. Let's talk about it when we find John."

"Okay." Knowing what was on Howard's mind, Sam turned to ask, "Vivian, what do you think? Alas, no one here is an outsider. Everyone knows that John is afraid of water, right? Now he is sinking into the river with his car..."

Tears welled up in Sam's eyes. He was really worried about his son.

Why did John choose the most dangerous path?

"Alas..." Sam sighed heavily.

Vivian raised her red and swollen eyes and was about to speak but her mother pulled her, Vivian pushed away her mother's hand.

"I will wait until I find John. I only marry him all my life." Vivian said firmly with a nasal sound of excessive crying.

Julie's face turned blue and glared at her daughter.

Judging from Sam's words, John was likely to be in danger this time. Why did Vivian want him for the rest of her life?

Chapter: 444

The Micro Listener in the Necklace Was Exposed

play\_arrow

stop

Julie winked at her husband. Howard thought for a while and said, "Let's talk about it after we find Mr. John."

"Okay." Sam nodded slightly, "Then let's wait for a while."

He had planned to take this opportunity to cancel the marriage. He had seen the little trick that Julie had done just now, but he didn't expect Vivian to be so stubborn.

It seemed that this kid really liked John.

Unfortunately, John didn't like her.

Love was something that couldn't be forced. People can't pretend to love someone.

Sometimes, love can't be cultivated. The two of them had known each other since they were children. To John, Vivian was an exception, but he still didn't fall in love with her even after so many years.

Sometimes an exception couldn't win an unexpected encounter.

Both Vivian and Nina were someone special to John, but the relationships were different.

John fell in love with the unexpected encounter, and then made Nina the only special person in his life.

"Brother John will be fine. He will be fine." Vivian held her mother's hand tightly and prayed silently.

He must come ting.

The two of them didn't dare to look back, but Vivian knew that the brooch was used to break the crack on the necklace.

Back then, she had someone break a small crack on the necklace and put the tiny listener on it.

Vivian pretended to faint in her mother's arms, in for a penny and in for a pound.

"Vivi! Vivi!" Julie was also a smart woman. She reacted quickly and held her daughter in her arms.

"Honey, hurry up. Take my daughter to the hospital. She has fainted."

Howard got anxious at once. He went straight to his daughter and picked her up. He said apologetically, "I'll take my daughter to the hospital first."

At this time, Chester just opened the crack of the necklace and picked out a small listener. Before Howard stepped out, Chester said, "Aunt, I've checked it. The listener was not installed by the designer, but the person who gave you the necklace."

"Vivi?" Jessica was stunned, and then looked up at the person at the door and raised her voice, "Vivi gave me the necklace."

Everyone present heard what she said.

Howard and his wife stopped at the same time.

Chapter: 445

Denial

play\_arrow

stop

With her eyes closed, Vivian stopped breathing. At this time, she couldn't suddenly wake up and explain. She had to pretend to be unconscious to the end.

With her father around, she should be fine.

Although Vivian tried to comfort herself, her heart was still beating fast.

When Chester suddenly appeared, she knew that the matter would be exposed.

What happened today happened one after another. Before she could think of a solution, the other party caught her off guard.

Vivian was so nervous that sweat began to break out on her forehead.

Julie took advantage of the situation and wiped the sweat off her daughter's forehead. "Honey, let's go to the hospital quickly. My daughter must be very painful. She sweated and her forehead is hot."

Howard turned his head to look at Julie, but Julie didn't dare to look at him directly. She kept her head down and cared about her daughter.

Obviously, Julie was trying to avoid something.

He didn't think about it carefully and just nodded.

"Wait!" Jessica shouted at the three of them.

Julie's throat tightened. She turned around and s

I'm sorry."

She looked at him with pleading eyes.

Her father had always been nice to her, so it was impossible for him not to help her.

But this time, Vivian thought too much.

Howard was a man who knew how to make a choice. It was impossible for him to cover up his daughter when Sam already knew the truth.

"Thank you." Howard put his daughter on the chair.

Vivian's heart sank. She clenched her teeth and opened her eyes, pretending to be in a daze.

"Father," called Vivian uncomfortably. She was shocked by her father's look that asked her to rely on herself and immediately turned to her mother. "Mother, what's wrong? My head hurts. "

"It's Okay. I'm here." Julie immediately held her daughter's shaky body and comforted her, but Julie was too nervous to know what to do.

Doctor Brian was right in front of her, and her husband just ignored her and her daughter. What should she do now?

What should she do?

Julie trembled with anxiety.

Vivian was also suffering like an ant on a hot pan, watching Brian walking towards her.

'Oh my God! I'm so screwed this time!'

Chapter: 446

Insisted On Denying

play\_arrow

stop

Brian checked on her and said in surprise, "Miss Ye doesn't have a fever. Her temperature is normal."

Julie thought she would be doomed. Howard suddenly said, "Then why does she feel a headache and pass out? If it's not a physiological problem, is it a psychological problem?"

The last sentence seemed to remove the clouds and let the sunlight shine through, indicating the way to move on.

Julie didn't understand what her husband meant, but retorted, "How could Vivi have a mental problem? Don't..."

Vivian held her mother's hand hard, indicating her not to talk nonsense. As expected, Julie shut up halfway.

"Doctor, I don't know what's wrong with me. I just felt dizzy and felt uncomfortable all over, so I fainted." Vivian squinted her eyes, as if she was not feeling well.

She reached out and rubbed her temples. Two drops of tears fell from her eyes and slid across the cold tip of her nose.

"I saw Brother John... Brother John, I saw Brother John." When Vivian thought of the scene that the car rushed into the river, she choked with sobs. "Brother John had an accident. I...I..."

Even Vivian couldn't compl

h red eyes, "I really don't know what's going on."

"This is the copy from your computer. How dare you say that you don't know what happened?" Jessica flew into a rage and walked towards Vivian in her high heels.

Jessica was so angry that she wanted to beat Vivian.

Knowing that the angry Jessica was no worse than those street shrews, Vivian was a little scared and moved her feet.

At this critical moment, Vivian pulled the corner of her father's clothes.

Howard stood in front of his daughter and said seriously, "There are only recordings here, which can't prove that they are copied from my daughter's computer. Ye family can't be wronged for no reason."

"Dad," Vivian cried.

With her husband's support, Julie suddenly straightened up. "That's right. You can't wrong us. Don't think our Ye family is easy to bully."

Jessica stopped and hesitated, but the anger in her eyes did not disappear.

Suddenly, Chester sighed, "Jake, open the video please."

"Video?" Julie was stunned. "What video?"

Vivian was surprised. How could there be a video?

Where did the video come from?

What kind of video?

Chapter: 447

A Slap

play\_arrow

stop

Jake clicked on the file and a video began to play.

The video was displayed on the LED screen. The desktop of Vivian's computer could be seen.

The desktop background was a photo of Vivian.

It was a screen recording video.

Seeing this video, Vivian's pupils contracted all of a sudden and she stood up from the chair.

Someone had controlled her computer and even unlocked her encrypted computer folder, which was full of recordings of the monitor. Jake clicked to play the recordings and Jessica's voice could be heard.

The voice echoed in Vivian's ears.

"How, how could it be? Vivi, your computer..." Julie was too shocked to speak a complete sentence.

Howard's face darkened.

He thought, 'There are so many important things in the computer so you should have fortified the system.

What a loser.'

"Surprised?" Chester kept a calm look, not like a child at all. "Uncle John hacked into your computer, recorded this video and copied the recording files."

'John? He did it?'

Vivian's lips tremble

and.

He wanted to help his daughter, but he also knew which was more important between his daughter and his company.

Vivian felt an unprecedented chill when her hand was shook off by her father.

She thought, 'Why do you abandon me?'

As a father, why do you abandon your daughter?'

I couldn't get much love from dad when I was born. It was not easy for me to return to my own home, but I had to get dad's love by special means. It was not easy to get dad's love, but you chose to abandon me because of a little profit.'

Vivian lowered her hand, feeling hopeless.

At the same time, Jessica waved her hand in anger.

Knowing that she couldn't escape the slap, Vivian closed her eyes subconsciously.

Jessica slapped her.

There was the sound of a slap.

Vivian didn't feel any pain. When she opened her eyes slightly, she saw the back of a person, who was thin and wearing a cheongsam embroidered with red gold thread.

Her mother liked cheongsam the most.

"Mom?" Vivian said with tears in her eyes.

Chapter: 448

A Little Impatience Would Spoil A Great Plan

play\_arrow

stop

Julie took the slap for her daughter.

This slap carried one hundred percent of Jessica's strength, and the slap mark on Julie's face was clearly visible. It was as red as a hot iron, burning her skin.

"Mom, mom, are you okay? Does it hurt? Does it hurt?" Vivian stood in front of her mother, tears streaming down her cheeks. Her trembling hands tried to touch her mother, but she was afraid of hurting her. "It must be very painful. It must be painful to death. Mom, why do you take it for me?"

"I can't let my daughter be beaten." Enduring the pain, Julie pulled her daughter behind her to protect her. Julie looked up at Jessica and said, "it has nothing to do with Vivi. I did it."

"Mom?" Vivian's voice trembled.

Jessica sneered, "You?"

"Yes, it's me." Julie put the blame on herself. Anyway, she had to protect her daughter.

Howard was an unreliable man. She had to admit it and assumed all responsibilities, or Jessica would not let them go.

Vivi had almost entered into Shi family. She couldn't fail now.

"Vivi has been kind since she was a chi still in danger. But you kept calling me sister. Are you reminding me that my brother had an accident? You are a jinx. Vivian, you are a jinx. If John didn't hold the wedding ceremony, this wouldn't have happened!"

Jessica had been worried about her brother's safety, and she had also been disturbed by the matter of the listener. She seemed to have eaten a bomb and would explode when anything made her angry.

Jessica pointed at the pale face of Vivian and said, "If anything happens to my brother, I won't let you go. And if I find out what your mother has done behind my back with the recording, I won't let her go either."

Vivian endured the humiliation in her heart and the impulse to go up and slap Jessica in the face. Vivian lowered her eyes and didn't say anything.

She had to put up with it.

A little impatience would spoil a great plan.

When Vivian was silent, Chester raised his lips slightly, revealing a shrewd look that didn't match his young age. "Aunt, the two of them really hurt someone with your recording. It was grandpa who was hurt."

Chapter: 449

Fell Into A Trap

play\_arrow

stop

Before the trouble of micro listener was over, another trouble came. With a pale face, Vivian stepped back slightly, trying to leave this awful place as soon as possible.

After she just moved a step, she stopped her movement.

She couldn't run away now, or people would think that she ran away because she felt guilty in conscience and tried to escape from scolding.

She didn't believe that Chester would show evidence to prove that what he would say next had anything to do with her.

Vivian tried her best to calm down and struck first to gain the initiative before other people made a sound.

She asked in surprise, "Chester, what do you mean? Did my mother do something else wrong to you?"

Chester had already known the truth of the whole matter. When he saw the skilled acting of Vivian, he couldn't help but sneer, "So you don't know about this either?"

Vivian's pupils narrowed, and a bad feeling spread in the bottom of her heart.

"I don't know." She insisted on denying.

Chester glanced at the others and had contacts with their confused gazes. Jessica stood up and asked Chester with a serious look, "Chester, me?" Jessica turned her head to look at Vivian. Jessica's hatred had reached the peak. "How dare you use me?"

Jessica was about to tear Vivian apart, but Angela stopped Jessica and said, "Let's listen to her first."

"Humph!" Jessica said coldly.

With so many eyes staring at her, Vivian finally came to her senses and said, "These are just speculations."

She kindly advised, "Chester, children can't talk nonsense, understand?"

Chester remembered what Uncle John had told him to do and then answered, "I have a witness. Grandpa is the witness. Grandpa heard the voice of the person making the call clearly. So Grandpa could tell who the person is"

"Child's words are really brainless. How could he tell who it was when a voice changer was used? I've told you children cannot lie." Vivian smiled complacently, not knowing that she had fallen into a trap.

Sitting still in the wheelchair, Sam finally showed a touch of mockery. "How do you know that a voice changer was used?"

Vivian's smile froze.

She stood straight unconsciously, and a gust of cold wind blew from her back.

'I'm doomed! I fell into a trap!'

Chapter: 450

A Chick To Be Slaughtered

Vivian's reaction proved that what Chester said was true.

All of a sudden, Jessica shook off Angela's hand and rushed towards Vivian. "It's really you! You bitch! It's really you!"

Jessica grabbed Vivian's hair and pulled it hard. It hurt so much that Vivian opened her mouth and shouted, "It hurts! Let go of me!"

"Hurt? Do you still know it hurts?" Jessica pulled Vivian's hair with more strength. Vivian protected her hair with her hands and bent back with a painful face. This did not vent Jessica's anger. She stepped on the back of Vivian's foot.

The heel of Jessica's shoes was like an awl and the sound of bones breaking could be heard as soon as she stepped down.

"Ah!" Vivian screamed and was so painful that her face turned pale and tears kept rolling down.

Enjoying the pleasure of revenge, Jessica said viciously, "Does it hurt? My husband taught me this. You used me to hurt my father. You are such a vicious woman. I must punish you heavily today."

She lifted her foot gently and stepped down hard again.

At the same t

The sudden pain made Vivian loosen her hand. The bottle fell to the ground and broke into smaller pieces.

Astonishment and unwillingness were written all over Vivian's face. Before she could dodge, she was kicked far away by Yvonne, who had jumped up in the air.

Vivian fell down where she had pushed Jessica. There were still fragments of the wine bottle on the ground and each of them stabbed into her body like a sharp blade.

"Ah!" Vivian curled up in pain.

Dora blinked her eyes and asked, "Where did Yvonne come from? So awesome."

"I've been here all the time." Yvonne turned around and asked, "Miss, are you okay?"

With a lingering fear, Jessica patted her chest and said, "I'm fine. Fortunately, you're here."

She pointed at Vivian, who was curling up on the ground, and ordered, "Take her back. I'll get even with her."

Yvonne walked over to carry Vivian, which was as easy as lifting a chicken.

Sam only said, "Don't kill her. It's hard to explain."

With this, Vivian was like a chick waiting to be slaughtered.