

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 561

Where Is He

With his head tilted to one side, Tim looked at John. One of them stood and the other sat, with solemn expressions on their faces. The temperature in the room dropped to freezing point, and neither of them dared to breathe heavily.

Only the soft song was heard. The bunny girl's hand holding the microphone was shaking all the time. Her heart was in her throat, and she didn't dare to stop or sing wrong.

"What's your name? Good song." All of a sudden, Tim turned his head to look at the bunny girl, only to find that her hands were trembling and her whole body was trembling. He was a little impatient, "I just praised you, but you can't do it. Get out and change someone in."

The bunny girl seemed to be relieved and ran out with her head down.

There was only background music left in the room.

"Sit down," said Tim, looked at the people in front of him, waving his hand.

Then, John and Adrian sat down. With a cold expression on his face, Richard stood beside them. In the eyes of Tim, he was like a door god.

"It's annoying. Go to the corner. I can't eat your boss."

Richard didn't make any move. 'I only follow Mr. Shi's orders.'

When their eyes me n calm, as if he wouldn't be disturbed by the surrounding environment. He was a man of few words and looked calm and dignified, which made people's legs weak.

In this way, everyone looked like a contemptible scoundrel.

"You are really boring. Don't always look down upon others." Tim threw the cigarette on the table, took out another one, put it in his mouth and lit it.

After taking a drag on his cigarette, Tim said, "I don't know exactly where he is. You have to ask his daughter, Vivian. He wanted to go with his daughter at that time. How can I know where he is going?"

The fake smile on Adrian's face immediately disappeared. 'Isn't this a trap for us?'

"Mr. Tim, you said that as long as Mr. Shi came to see you, you would tell us..."

Tim raised his hand and interrupted him, "Hey, Mr. Adrian, don't label me as a fool. I said that only John who could talk to me. I only see him."

"You..." Adrian was speechless. 'It seems so.'

With a smug smile, Tim took a sip of wine.

"Where is Vivian?" John had known from the very beginning that it was Vivian who wanted to see him.

After a pause, Tim turned to the woman who was singing and sneered.

John Kiss Me

With a scornful smile, Tim said, "Turn right when you go out and the second to last box on your left."

John stood up and walked out. Adrian pushed the woman away in disgust and was about to go out, but he heard the ghost like voice of Tim again.

"Don't blame me for not reminding you. She only sees John. If there are two more people, don't come to me if you can't achieve your goal."

Adrian stopped and the three of them went out and closed the door one after another. Except for several waiters and ladies walking, the corridor was quiet again.

"You stay. I'll go there alone." John looked at the intersection ahead, put one hand into his trouser pocket, and walked over as if nothing had happened.

Adrian grabbed John's arm and said, "No, what if there is a trap? Vivian can't forget you. What if she rapes you?"

When John heard that Vivian wanted to rape him, his eyes showed disgust and he held Adrian's wrist tightly.

"Ouch, it hurts. Be gentle..."

John shook off Adrian's hand.

Amy said, "Don't worry, Mr. Adrian. Mr. Shi is now fighting against ten alone. Unless he is a special soldier, they may not win Mr. Shi."

Adrian nodded and said, "The problem is that Mr. Shi doesn't beat wo he took a sip of red wine and wiped the corner of her mouth gently with her finger pulp. Then she opened her mouth and licked it clean, seducing him with a faint smile.

At that time, John was as abstinent as a monk. He only liked Nina.

"Where is he?"

"Who?" Pretending not to know, Vivian suddenly laughed at herself, "I really envy my brother. He called you back with a phone call, but I couldn't find you no matter how hard I tried. I just wanted to ask you for an explanation. I wanted you to clarify it, so that I wouldn't be under the pressure of the public opinion on the Internet, but..."

'But no matter how hard I tried, I couldn't find you. At first, I really thought something had happened to you. I was extremely scared.

You know what, John? I was really scared. I cried every day and night. I was afraid that you would really die.

But it turned out to be a fraud."

Vivian sneered in her heart.

The red wine in her glass was bottomed up. Vivian walked towards the man with a smile and said, "John, can you kiss me? You kiss me..."

The more she said, the more anxious she became. Her smiling eyes widened as if she was crazy.

"If you kiss me, I will tell you where he is? Okay?"

You A Freak

A cold smile appeared on John's face. As Vivian approached, he quickly reached out his hand and pinched her neck.

All of a sudden, Vivian's throat was grabbed by someone, and her eyes widened. There was no smile on her face, but only horror.

"John..."

John only used three forces so that Vivian could still breathe. She was frightened and couldn't believe what she had seen.

"Why? John, ah..."

With more strength, John asked, "Have I reminded you how to call me?"

"Mr. Shi, Mr. Shi..." Vivian immediately corrected herself, but enough air did not come as expected, and her neck had been pinched red.

Not only that, John also tightened his grip on his hand. His strength was just right. He didn't want her to suffocate to death, but he made her feel the feeling of being close to suffocation.

Vivian's eyes were almost split. It was futile for her to open her mouth and swallow the air, like a dying fish on a chopping block struggling desperately.

When she was about to faint, John let go of her.

As soon as John loosened his grip, Vivian lay prone on the ground, coughing and gasping for n it," said Tim, expressionless, as he glanced at the crying Vivian.

When John was still confused, Vivian asked, "Tim, did you install the monitor here? Didn't you say that you wouldn't disturb each other?"

'I often brought men here.

If Tim installed the monitor, wouldn't that mean...'

"When did I bother you?" Said Tim indifferently.

'Sure enough, he saw everything!'

Vivian's blood seemed to have been drained, and her lips were pale, frozen in place.

"You has a good figure and looks energetic. It's better than our two first time..."

"Shut up! Tim, you a freak!" Vivian trembled with anger.

Tim was surprised, "I thought you knew it when we first had sex. I didn't expect that.... It turns out that you don't know. It doesn't matter. It's not too late to know now."

John watched them quietly aside, 'It seems that there is a grudge between the two people.'

John put down the glass and asked Vivian again, "Where is he?"

"I won't tell you if you don't promise me." Vivian turned her head away, not daring to look into John's eyes.

'He must think I'm disgusting and dirty.'

Nina Secretly Appeared In The Lexingport City

At that time, John's patience had run out. He picked up the glass again.

"If you don't want to talk, then never speak again."

He grabbed Vivian's two cheeks with his powerful hands and was about to pour them into her mouth.

At the beginning, there was no movement of Tim's subordinates. When John was about to pour them into Vivian's mouth, Tim suddenly grabbed John's wrist and took the glass from Tim's hand to the person next to him.

"John, that's enough."

Being saved, Vivian pushed them away, lowered her head and ran out of the room with shame and impatience, gnashing her teeth in hatred.

'Just now, with so many subordinates and John in the room, how could Tim tell them the truth in front of everyone?

Tim, Tim!

Clenching her fists, Vivian bumped through the hall and bumped into a woman wearing a black cap and a black mask.

"Get out of my way!" Vivian gave her another push.

The woman didn't want to make a fuss about being hit, but after hearing the roar, she suddenly grabbed Vivian's arm.

"Vivian?"

Suddenly, Vivian was grabbed by someone and called ou

w."

John stopped, he suddenly remembered that there was another person behind them who had seen the whole process, so he turned around.

"Tim."

Tim understood what John meant, "I know, I haven't seen the princess of the C Island tonight."

It was always time and energy saving to deal with smart people.

"Send the bill to my assistant." John took a deep look at Tim and left with Nina in his arms.

Tim took out another cigarette and lit the lighter, but he didn't light it. After a while, he put it out and irritably blew out the cigarette in his mouth.

'I didn't expect that the princess of the C Island would appear here, which meant that it was not like what Vivian said.

In the beginning, I didn't want to provoke the Shi family easily. Now, there is C Island behind that helped John, and I won't provoke John.

Vivian asked for it herself. She even wanted to push me into the trouble.'

In an instant, Tim was furious. He kicked away the bottle on the ground and left in a huff.

'If I don't teach Vivian a lesson, she will think I'm easy to deal with,' Tim thought.

When John passed through the corridor with Nina in his arms, he touched her exposed waist and patted to symbolically punish her.

"Why allow you to dress like this?"

"Don't they always wear this when they come to the nightclub? And I wear trousers, not a skirt." After lying in John's arms for a while, Nina came back to her senses and rubbed her face against his neck.

"Sophistry." John patted Nina on the waist again, trying to pull the clothes down to cover her. It was impossible to pull the bare midriff clothes into normal clothes.

John had to put Nina down first, take off his coat and tie it to her waist. Nina also obediently stretched out her hands to let him tie it, allowing him to carry her back.

As soon as Nina touched him, she was hurt by something. She reached out to touch his clothes and took out the marriage certificate and mobile phone.

Nina put the marriage certificate back. The screen of John's phone had been unlocked by her fingerprints, and there were several missed calls.

Except her, it was Noah.

"You muted it. No wonder you couldn't answer my phone. I called you because I couldn't get through to you. Noah also called you several times." With h the group of people, and Richard was in charge of driving. Amy sat in the co-pilot and looked back from time to time.

Nina had already become lying on John's legs, face facing his abdomen, and back facing the others.

"Go to the hotel first, and then you two go back to the Stone Road." John ordered.

With a calm look on his face, there was something wrong with his hand holding the steering wheel, but Richard didn't dare to ask.

After hesitating for a long time, Amy asked, "Mr. Shi, is this lady drunk?"

"Yes." John picked up a strand of Nina's hair and played with it in his palm.

"Since this lady is drunk, I will stay here to take care of her tonight. Mr. Shi, you are tired and should have a good rest today." Regardless of whether her words were appropriate or not and Mr. Shi would get angry or not, Amy blurted it out directly.

"No," John refused.

Amy was a little anxious. She thought for a while and made up a new reason. "Mr. Shi, you just came back. If there is a gossip at this time, I'm afraid that someone will maliciously discredit you and the group."

All the people in the car knew that Amy wanted to stop them from staying in the same room alone.

Don't Let Uncle John Have An Affair With Other

Holding back her laughter, Nina unconsciously grabbed the clothes on his waist and wrinkled them into a ball.

John looked down at the woman in his arms and thought that she was really heartless.

"If you can't handle these things well, do you think why I need you?" John said seriously.

Amy really wanted to take the risk of offending John to prevent him from having an affair with other women, but she was stopped by Richard. As his subordinates, they couldn't interfere in anything about their boss.

Therefore, Amy was depressed all the way and did not give John a respectful look.

John entered the hotel with Nina in his arms.

As soon as the door was opened, before the light was turned on, John pressed her against the wall and kissed her.

He wanted to do so when he saw Nina suddenly appear in front of him. He had endured it to the extreme.

It was so dark that they couldn't see anything clearly, so the sound of clothes rubbing was unusually clear.

A moment later, John reached out his hand and turned on the light. Nina's face was as red as a red apple so that he couldn't help pinching it.

"Why do you come here all of a sudden? I'll visit you and our children in two days." John put her on the soft sofa, tucked her hair behind her ear and smiled complacently.

Chester was speechless.

'Who could tell me, at such a young age, why my Uncle John and Aunt Nina showed their affection in front of me?

I shouldn't have suffered this.'

"To celebrate that you haven't become the second John when you grow up, you can sleep with your Uncle John tonight." Nina patted Chester on the shoulder.

Chester immediately refused, "No, thanks. I don't want to sleep with Uncle John."

John who was suddenly being disliked was speechless. "I'm going to the kitchen."

Halfway through, John turned around and warned him, "Don't tell anyone about what happened tonight."

"Yes, uncle." Chester smiled again.

Nina sighed, "You are so charming to smile. I guess my sons will be like this in the future. Chester, tell me about your college life."

When the two sat on the sofa, Chester said, "It's boring, just boring."

"Maybe it's just that you feel bored, and I think it's very interesting. Tell me." Nina looked expectant.

Chester didn't have the heart to refuse, so he picked up something interesting to say.

'In fact, my mother had asked the same question and I answered the same. Later, my mother didn't ask more.

It turned out that I really wanted someone to listen to me about my life.'

Business Is Business

The smell of fried eggs wafted from the kitchen, and the mind reader in Nina's stomach had been hooked up. Even the belly of Chester was symbolically called out.

At this time, Chester must have had dinner.

"Chester, you flatter him." Nina glanced at Chester's belly.

Chester was speechless.

"Chester, I find you stick to your Uncle John." Nina said mysteriously.

Suddenly, Chester had a bad feeling. Then his Aunt Nina asked him, "Do you want to take her away from me?"

Chester was speechless.

Nina tried her best to persuade him, "Chester, you can't be apostate, and you can't compete with me."

Astonishment was written all over Chester's face.

'Who was apostate?

What is the brain structure of my Uncle John and Aunt Nina?

At that time, Uncle John had warned me not to covet Aunt Nina. But now Aunt Nina said that I wanted to compete with Aunt Nina.

Devil?'

All of a sudden, Nina burst into laughter. "All right, all right. I was just kidding. But you have to remember that you can't take him away from me, and your cousins are no exception. Your cousins would smile as soon as they saw your Uncle John, and your Uncle John would keep them i tic fantasies. You want to find a pure woman. Let me tell you, no pure woman is willing to follow you."

Those who seemed to know the blood and stink in their hands and have a little conscience all wanted to find a pure woman to help themselves.

Hearing that, Tim stopped smoking, with a hint of danger in his eyes. "From tomorrow on, everyone will know that you are no longer my woman. Business is business. Since you saved me, I won't deal with you."

'If it weren't for the fact that I was Tim's woman, things wouldn't have been so smooth.'

Vivian was stunned, "What do you mean, Tim?"

Tim stood up, put his hands on her shoulders and leaned his head against her neck. "I still like the smell of you when we first met. It's a light milk fragrance, clean and pleasant."

Vivian's body trembled. 'It is not me.'

"Don't think about it anymore. Even if you take a shower with milk fragrance every day, you won't be able to seduce me as you used to be." Tim dragged her aside and left without looking back.

Staring blankly at Tim's disappearing figure, Vivian didn't realize that her face was itchy until she touched the cold tears.

I cried.'

Drag Vivian Into An Alley To Beat Her Up

The next day, when Nina woke up, she didn't see John. She reached out and touched the place beside her body, only to find that it was cold.

Nina sat up and looked at the time. It was eight o'clock in the morning.

She had a good sleep.

"I think he should go to work. And he doesn't want me to be a beauty longer who is the roots of troubles. Beauty is a disaster." Nina murmured with her sleepy eyes.

"Beauty, my disaster. Are you awake?" At this moment, John quietly appeared at the door of the bedroom. He was wearing household clothes and leaning against the wall, leisurely and relaxed.

Nina was surprised and sober. "Didn't you go to work?"

John walked towards her. "It's weekend."

"Yes, Saturday." Standing on the bed, Nina stretched herself and said with a smile, "Good morning."

"Good morning. Go wash yourself, have breakfast, and I'll take you to play after breakfast." John walked over and held her up.

"Okay." Nina kissed him and asked, "Where are we going?"

"I have arranged everything. But you have to put on your hat and mask again. Didn't you say that you couldn't let others know that you were back?" John put her on the washing table in the bathroom, squeezed the toothpaste on d that she would laugh and die.

"All right, all right. I won't laugh anymore." Nina waved her hand, took a deep breath and said, "Even if you find the evidence of her illegal imprisonment, she will be sentenced to three years at most."

John's black eyes darkened. "It takes time. Vivian is a greedy woman. She has gone this way, but she doesn't have the self-control of Tim. Sooner or later, something will happen to her."

"If so, is it difficult to get the evidence? Although you said that Tim would never protect her, she has a cooperative relationship with Tim. Tim will never push himself into the tomb." said Nina.

John patted her on the waist and said, "There's no need for you to think about it. We're going to the C Island."

"Okay." Nina stood up and said, "I'll tell Vicente to pick me up."

Vicente, who was far away from the C Island, had just been called back by Queen Anne. He had been dealing with the whole process, so tired that he leaned against the sofa and didn't want to move.

After reading the news from Nina, Vicente threw his car key to Cali and said, "Princess Nina has come back from her trip. You go to the airport to pick her up."

Cali picked up the key and said, "Okay."

When Cali was driving on the way to the airport, Lynda called her. As soon as Cali pressed the answer key, a burst of frustration came from the other side.

"Cali, I don't think I can hold on any longer."

"What's wrong? Haven't you already stayed?" Cali shook the screen worriedly and continued to look straight ahead.

"It was a senior who let me to stay under great pressure. He said he would give me another chance. If I don't make any progress this month, I have to leave. As you know, I don't want to write unrealistic news to guide public opinion, but now I..."

Lynda hesitated for a while but said nothing.

"What's wrong now?"

"Nothing. I just want to talk to you." Lynda suddenly regained her energy, "Why did you answer the phone so quickly today?"

Cali answered, "I'm on my way to the airport, not in Nangong castle. Princess Nina has come back from her trip. Count Nangong asked me to pick her up."

Lynda said, "Well, be careful on the way."

Cali smiled, "I'm driving slowly. Don't worry. Lynda, if you think this job is not suitable for you, you can change to another one. It's easy to offend people in ente

Nina glanced at Cali through the mirror for several times. Seeing that Cali didn't look well, she called Vicente.

"Nina, did Cali pick you up?" Vicente answered the phone.

"Yes. But Cali has a diarrhea. It's serious. Call the family doctor to the castle to check on Cali later."

"She was fine when she went out. She must have eaten on the way. Sometimes Cali would be greedy for food. Now she is doomed." Be careful on the way. I'll call the doctor." Vicente said helplessly.

"Okay, I'm hanging up." said Nina.

Two teardrops suddenly fell from the corners of Cali's eyes. Cali tilted her head slightly and tears fell into her ears.

After getting off the car, Nina found that there were tears in Cali's eyes and became more worried. "Is it so painful?"

"No, nothing." Cali smiled and stared blankly at the face of Nina. With a mixed feeling in her heart, she suddenly said, "Princess Nina, you are so kind to me. I suddenly don't know what to do."

Tears streamed down her cheeks as soon as Cali finished her words.

Nina was stunned by Cali's words.

'What did she mean by saying that she didn't know what to do?'

Chapter: 570

Cali Saw Everything

When Nina was about to ask, the doctor came.

Seeing the little girl crying in pain, he asked, "Where do you feel hurt? Which part of your belly hurts? "

"I don't know." Cali raised her hand and wiped her tears.

Both the doctor and Nina thought she was delirious with pain, so the doctor had to reach out to touch her belly. First, the middle and upper abdomen, then around the navel, and then her right lower abdomen. Every time he pressed her belly, he would ask her if it was painful there.

Cali's answer was blur. She said everywhere was slightly painful.

Looking at the place where the doctor pressed, Nina hesitated and asked, "Acute appendicitis?"

When the doctor was about to speak, Cali interrupted him, "No, of course not. I just ate something bad on the way and have a running stomach."

Cali suddenly bent down and covered her belly with her hands. "I can't stand it. I have to go to the bathroom first. Please get me some medicine to stop my running stomach."

She ran away before she could finish her words.

"It seems that she has a running stomach." The doctor said, "I'll give her some antidiarrheal. If she doesn't recover, come to the hospital."

Afte

Ivy deceived. "Ivy said indignantly.

"Don't talk nonsense." Cali scolded, with mixed feelings in her heart. "Ivy, I want to ask you a question. What do you think of the relationship between Mr. Sean and Princess Nina?"

"Not bad." Ivy pouted, "But Mr. Sean doesn't look like a bodyguard at all. I think he is more like a friend of Princess Nina and Count Nangong, but I also think that..."

Cali turned and saw her hesitating. She asked, "What do you think?"

"Don't say it out, or I'm afraid I'll get into trouble." Ivy whispered, "I think Mr. Sean is very good to Princess Nina, not the normal kind. He is very gentle to her. Although he still seems to be expressionless in front of her, he is gentler to her than to us."

Cali's heart skipped a beat. Did Ivy feel the same way?

She thought she was too sensitive.

Not only that, she also heard real tenderness.

On the day when Princess Nina met Mr. Jett in the teahouse, she called Mr. Sean with Princess Nina's phone and heard him call her gently, "Little girl."

It was impossible for Mr. Sean not to know that it was the number of Princess Nina, so...

Are they having an affair under the watch of Count Nangong?
