Chapter: 851

Jealousy

Both Leon and Vicente had their back to the outside. On the contrary, Michelle was smiling sweetly with her face facing the outside.

Barbie recognized Michelle at the first sight. She had seen Michelle several times in the photo frame of Leon's desk and on Leon's phone screen. Michelle was a girl who would show her canine teeth when she smiled.

Michelle was a girl who could make Leon take his cell phone with him twenty-four hours a day and even keep the call at a fixed time every day would not hang up even if they did not speak.

Even if Barbie couldn't see his face, she knew that it was Leon who squatted down to put on shoes for Michelle.

She recognized Leon.

Lyndon felt that the back was a little familiar, so he asked uncertainly, "Is the person inside Leon?"

Barbie looked away and denied, "No."

"Okay." Lyndon was old and thin, with grey hair. He needed to walk on crutches or support, but his eyes were still sharp and majestic.

He just replied softly. She didn't know whether he believed it or not.

Holding her grandpa's arm, Barbie walked forward. Lyndon asked, "Do you know that Leon has a girlfriend? It's not the one from the Feng Family."

"I know." Barbie answered frankly.

Lyndon looked sideways at her and asked, "Which family is she from?"

"I don't know. She is well protected. I don't know her appearance, voice or family back call you Vicente?"

"Of course you can. If you like, you can treat me as your brother." Vicente smiled, thinking that it was okay. Anyway, they were so close friends.

However, Michelle shook her head and said, "No, I used to treat Leon as my brother before. Now he is the one I like. He said I can't treat anyone else as brother, so I'm sorry."

Vicente was speechless.

Vicente thought that they were showing off their affection inexplicably.

"Vicente, can you teach me dancing? Leon just danced a waltz. I haven't learned it yet. Can you teach me?" Michelle looked at him expectantly.

Vicente raised his eyebrows slightly. "Yes, I can, but I think it's better for you to find Leon to teach you."

Michelle's eyes lit up, "Please teach me! I want to dance with Leon after I have learnt it. Is that okay, Vicente?"

Her eyes were clean and sincere, looking at him expectantly, Vicente couldn't refuse her and agreed.

As soon as Leon got the message, he rushed to Wynn's house. As soon as he entered, he saw Vicente holding Michelle's hand with one hand and around Michelle's waist with other hand were dancing with Michelle.

Michelle smiled sweetly.

Leon was stunned. !!

He thought, 'Didn't Vicente tell me that Mimi saw me dance with Barbie and hadn't said a word or laughed till now because of jealousy?'

He should be the one who was jealous. !

It was rare for Wynn to see Leon's sullen face. He smiled gloatingly and said, "They have danced for a long time. They danced well. They look like a perfect match."

Leon cast a cold glance at him. Wynn immediately shut his mouth and said again in less than two seconds, "Since you're back, I'll leave now."

"Where are you going?" Leon just asked casually, and immediately thought of something, "Go to Avril's house?"

Tsk! Tsk! Wynn gave a sound and didn't retort. He patted Leon's chest, raised his eyebrows and gave him a meaningful look.

"I won't come back tonight. Wish you two have a good gathering. I have prepared a box of that things for you. That's enough."

'A box of that things....'

Leon glanced at him speechlessly and drove him away rudely. "If you want to go, hurry up."

"Okay." Wynn turned around and walked to the door. He thought, 'It is my home. Why should I leave as Leon wanted?'

He stopped and turned his head. When he met Leon's eyes, he turned around silently, opened the door and closed it considerately.

Leon was really a master he had to serve.

Leon turned off the music. The two stopped d

"I can't stop kissing you." Michelle shook her head, lifted the quilt and got out of bed. "I'm going to work, Leon. Is it convenient to take a taxi downstairs?"

"You don't need to take a taxi. I'll drive you there." Leon propped himself up with one hand, like a sleeping beauty. He watched Michelle brush her teeth, wash her face and come back to look for clothes.

At home, Michelle always closed the bedroom door, drew the curtain and began to change her clothes. When she habitually finished all this, she remembered that there was still a man on the bed, and immediately ran to the bathroom with her clothes.

She turned around again and again and stared at Leon, warning him not to peep at her.

Leon had been smiling all the time, more gentle than the sunshine outside the window. When Michelle came out neatly dressed, he said, "Michelle, let's go to get the marriage certificate."

He knew it was not the right time and place, and he didn't prepare anything. But on this ordinary morning, he suddenly wanted to tell her.

'Let's get our marriage certificate.

From now on, I can see you every morning when I wake up.'

If Leon was an ordinary person, Michelle would immediately agree, but Leon was not an ordinary person.

Leon was the center of attention. The prince of the C Island couldn't easily marry a person.

But she was very happy and moved by Leon's words. Her eyes were a little red, and she pursed her lips and smiled.

'Well, Leon, let's get the marriage certificate.'

She wanted to answer in this way, but she couldn't.

Michelle could only say, "Leon, wait a little longer and then do it."

Leon knew what she meant, but he asked knowingly, "Why should we wait? We are adults. Michelle, we can decide our marriage by ourselves."

Being adults didn't mean that everything could be decided by themselves, neither could being strong do that. There was always stronger people.

Such as his father and mother. Leon had always known that he couldn't decide many things in his life, including marriage.

In the past, he thought that within the scope of his parents' permission, there would definitely be a person who could make him fall in love with, so that everyone would be happy.

Maybe there would be such a person. But he met Michelle first and fell in love with her.

He had never said such words as "we are adults" and "our marriage can be decided by ourselves", because he thought they were impulsive and c

I harmonious with Leon in that thing?"

"Harmonious. I'm afraid I can't go shopping with you today. Leon is going to pick me up to get..." Michelle didn't understand what she meant at all.

She almost spilled the beans, but she quickly stopped and changed her tone, "Go and do a big thing."

Caroline was a little disappointed, "Okay, then another day. How about tomorrow? There's no shooting tomorrow. I want to collect shooting materials, not go shopping, but it's almost the same as shopping."

In Michelle's eyes, shopping and collecting shooting materials were completely different. If she didn't take anything with her, she would feel sore in her feet when shopping. But when collecting shooting materials, she wouldn't feel tired even if she walked for a whole day with her camera.

"Sure! I can do it tomorrow!" Michelle immediately agreed.

Leaning against the car door, Wynn took out his phone and called Michelle. Soon, the girl in a strawberry coat rushed over.

She suddenly stopped in front of Wynn.

"Wynn, where is Leon?"

Wynn looked at Michelle with a complicated look in his eyes. Wynn answered, "He's inside. Get in the car."

He opened the door, and Michelle bent over to get in. She fell into the arms of Leon and was taken to sit on his laps.

Then he kissed her affectionately.

Sitting in the driver's seat, Wynn heard the sound from the back seat became normal. He lowered the partition and asked hesitantly, "Are you really going to get the marriage certificate?"

"Are we not serious?" Leon asked.

Wynn shook his head. "No. but it's not your style of doing things. It's impulsive."

"Well, it's time to usher the period of rebelling for the first time in my life." Leon couldn't deny it.

Wynn was rendered speechless. Wynn sneered, "Your period of rebelling came late." After mocking him, Wynn looked serious. "You can think about it again about getting the marriage certificate."

"Shut up!" Leon's voice was always gentle, and his eyes were always dignified.

Wynn shut his mouth awkwardly and focused on driving. He stole a glance at Michelle from time to time, hoping that Michelle could stop Leon.

It wasn't that it was too early for two of them to get the certificate, but once Leon got the certificate, it would cause a great sensation, no matter who knew it.

Noticing Wynn's eyes, Michelle guessed what he wanted to say. She began to feel uneasy. She didn't know if she was doing the right thing or not. She just wanted to do it.

a little punishment and make her my legal wife in advance." With a gentle smile, Leon looked down at the marriage certificate in his hand.

The marriage certificate turned to a page with photos on it. They were all smiling with their shoulders on each other. They looked a little like each other.

Maybe this was how a couple looked like.

His smile irritated Wynn. "Did you hear me?"

"Yes, I did." Leon raised his head to look at him and said in a soft voice, "Don't talk too much. Just drive carefully, Wynn. Both of our two lives are in your hands."

"My hand?" Wynn was so angry that he laughed. Then he became serious in the next minute, "Your life is in your parents' hands now!"

"It's not that serious. They won't kill me." Leon said indifferently. He put the marriage certificate into the pocket of his suit, pressed it against his heart and warned, "No matter what happens when I go back, don't let Michelle know it. If she hears any news, you will be punished too."

Wynn cursed in a low voice, "Damn it..." 'You are such a fucking bastard, Leon.'

He patted the steering wheel with one hand and the car beeped twice, as if it was helping Wynn to vent the anger.

Leon Was Punished

After Michelle returned to the home of Selena, she had been absent-minded all the time. She had no appetite while having dinner.

She and Leon had already got the marriage certificate, so she should be happy. But at this moment, she had been nervous. On one hand, they didn't receive the blessing of the parents of both sides, one the other hand, she was worried that Leon would be in trouble when he went home.

She felt a little regretful for her impulse, but couldn't help feeling excited at the same time.

She paced back and forth in the room with her phone in her hand. She wanted to call Leon several times, but she was afraid that it was not appropriate, so she could only wait patiently.

At ten o'clock in the evening, Leon finally responded and a message popped up on Michelle's phone.

Lu: Michelle, are you asleep?

Michelle's eyes lit up and quickly replied, "Brother, not yet. I'm waiting for you."

The next second, she received a voice call.

"I'm sorry, Michelle. I just finished my work." His voice on the phone was lower and hoarse than usual, as if he hadn't drunk water for a long time.

"Brother, what's wrong with your voice?" Mich

all. She got up early to freshen up herself, pulled the zipper of the coat to the top, took her camera and went out with Caroline.

It was a sunny day in C Island. The sun was warm, shining with golden light.

Caroline had made a strategy. She first took Michelle to an ancient alley to have an authentic breakfast. Sitting on an open-air dining table, as soon as they looked up, they saw the wide circular square.

There were all shops on the side, which looked a little old. There were few people in the morning, and it extraordinary quiet.

There was a dry fountain in the middle of the square. A stone statue stood there, and one of her hands was broken. Her body was covered with mottled cracks. The sun shone down, which made it full of nostalgia.

Caroline took the camera and took a picture. She looked down at the picture and muttered to herself, "Who is this statue? What a beautiful woman! "

"I don't know." Michelle shook her head, "I can't see it clearly."

"Look, she is really beautiful." Caroline handed the camera to Michelle. When Michelle zoomed in the picture, she felt that the eyebrows and eyes of the statue were a little familiar.

She said uncertainly, "Cara, I seem to have seen it somewhere."

"Have you seen this statue?" Caroline said, "I have checked it. There is no record of this statue on the Internet, and there are few records about this square. I've asked Selena about it, but she doesn't know."

Michelle stared at the face of the statue for a long time. The more she looked at it, the more familiar she felt. It seemed that she had really seen her somewhere, but the outline was very blurred, and she could not remember.

"I'm not talking about this statue. I'm talking about this person." She thought for a while and said, "Maybe it's just that the person I've seen looks like this statue. I don't remember who it is."

Michelle handed the camera to Caroline. Caroline answered, "Maybe it's a coincidence. According to the degree of damage of the statue, it should have a history of forty or fifty years. Let's ask the elders nearby to see if we can get something valuable."

Hearing the conversation between the two, the landlady who came over said enthusiastically, "Are you talking about the statue?"

Caroline raised her head and asked, "Yes, madam, do you know who the statue is?"

"I don't know. My mother-in-law just mentioned a few words about it. But unfortunately, my mother-in-law passed away. Otherwise, you can ask her.

turned around and was about to leave, another familiar face appeared into the views of the two. Caroline knew this man. She still could recognize him even though he wore a mask.

"That's... It's Count Nangong, right?"

"Yes." Michelle also recognized him, because Vicente was the shorter one among the men she had met in the C Island, about 1.72 meter height.

She thought for a while. Noah was a good friend of Nina, and Vicente was also a good friend of Nina. So it was not strange that they knew each other.

But both Michelle and Caroline still stopped. They watched Vicente approaching Noah step by step.

Compared with Noah's height of more than 1.8 meter, Vicente looked a little petite, losing a lot of imposing manner.

Especially when the two approached each other, Noah reached out to pull the mask of Vicente, as if he was going to bully Vicente.

"Do they have a grudge against each other?" Caroline asked.

"No, maybe..." Michelle glanced at Caroline with uncertainty. The next second, she saw that Caroline's pupils suddenly dilated and Caroline raised her hand to cover her mouth.

She seemed to be shocked.

"What's wrong?" Before Caroline reached out to stop Michelle, Michelle had turned around and looked over. Then Michelle was stunned. At that moment, Michelle even forgot to breathe.

Under the dim light of the underground parking lot, Noah leaned against the concrete pillar, held Vicente's waist with one hand, and pinched her chin with the other. Then he turned his head and kissed her.

Not only Michelle and Caroline widened their eyes, but also Vicente herself. Her beautiful eyes were wide open and her breath stopped.

Recently, Vicente had been hesitant to confess her love to Noah. Vicente had thought that she would be the one take initiative to do it, because she had thought of doing so countless times.

Even if Noah just treated her as his good friend, she still wanted to tell Noah, 'I like you. It's the first time I like someone in more than 20 years. I am obsessed with you. I don't think I will fall in love with anyone else except you.

Because I like you very much, I failed to control myself for the first time in my nearly thirty years' life. I couldn't control myself anymore and even had the idea of confessing my love to you.

What a crazy idea!

But every time she saw herself in the mirror, men's suit pants, leather shoes, short hair and flat chest, w you like me..."

Vicente held her breath and rolled her eyes nervously. She didn't know what Noah wanted to say.

"Because I like you too."

As soon as Noah finished his words, the previous ambiguous atmosphere fermented like wine, and gradually became strong and intoxicating. Before Noah could say anything, Vicente took the initiative to kiss him and reached out to take off his clothes.

Noah was stunned for a moment. He thought it was just a kiss, but...

They were still in the car.

After leaving the underground parking lot, Michelle and Caroline were still in a daze. Thanks to the cold night wind, they could wake up.

Caroline tentatively asked, "Mimi, will you dislike it when a man falls in love with a man?"

"Of course not." Michelle shook her head, "I know a gay couple."

"Okay." Caroline breathed a sigh of relief, "Why were you so shocked just now? Why did you cover your mouth? "

"I'm afraid of disturbing them." Michelle said seriously.

Caroline said in surprise, "You're so considerate."

"Well, thanks to Leon."

Hearing that, Caroline was speechless.

In the early morning, it was very quiet in C Island. The light was off in the hotel room. With a little light outside the window, they could barely see the figure of each other on the bed.

Nestling in Noah's arms, Vicente held his fingers and said in her original female voice, "Noah, say you like me."

"Yes, I like you." Noah pinched Vicente's hand and let go of it.

"Do you still like me if I were a man?" When Vicente asked this question, he was very calm. Even if Noah answered no, she wouldn't feel sad.

Because from the very beginning, she knew that it was impossible for her to be together with Noah. If she didn't expect too much, she wouldn't be too disappointed.

Besides, now Noah was lying on the bed with her and they had sex. She felt lucky.

She had never thought that she could get his love. Even if she could just own it for just a moment, it was still best memory that remained in her heart forever.

Noah held her hand tightly and kissed her hair.

"I don't come C Island on a whim today. I've decided to tell you everything after spending the Spring Festival in Lexingport City, but I happen you going back to Lexingport City? "

"Well," Noah cleared his throat, "I'm going back to Spring City. Vicente is not."

"Oh, then we are not on the same flight." As soon as Michelle finished her words, Caroline shouted at her from distance. Michelle immediately said goodbye to Noah and Vicente and went to check in.

Seeing that Michelle had gone far, Vicente breathed a sigh of relief. "Mimi almost scared me to death."

"She doesn't know it. Don't be afraid." Noah touched her head.

Vicente immediately shook off his hand. "Don't touch my head. It's not a little girl."

Noah smiled silently. He couldn't help but raise his hand to touch Vicente's head. When he was about to touch her hair, he suddenly stopped. When he was about to withdraw his hand, he suddenly heard Vicente said.

"Never mind. Just touch it if you want. I'll satisfy your unreasonable request."

A low laughter came out of Noah's throat. He reached out his hand and rubbed her head gently.

"C Island is close to Spring City, so I won't go back to Lexingport City."

He wanted to stay in Spring City, the closest place to Vicente.

In Lexingport City.

When Michelle arrived home, her family was having dinner. Her grandparents were also there. They would stay in the city to celebrate the Lantern Festival every year.

"Michelle? You are back from your business trip! " Elaine was holding a dish in her hand. When she heard the sound of dragging the suitcase, she turned around and looked at her in surprise.

The whole family looked at her with excitement.

Michelle crossed the threshold with her suitcase, "Dad, mom, grandpa and grandma, I'm back."

"Why didn't you tell me that you are going home today so that your father could pick you up at the airport?" Elaine wiped her hands with her apron and hurried to greet her.

Adams stood up and helped his daughter carry her luggage. Feeling that it was heavy, he asked, "What's in your suitcase?"

"Thank you, Dad." Michelle bent down to change her shoes and said with a smile, "Gifts for you. I drank too much last night. I forgot to tell you that I'm back today. "

"You're back just in time. Come and have dinner, Michelle." Her grandma waved at her, and Michelle walked over and sat down her.

rve him. There is no result between the two of them."

However, grandpa didn't think so, "How could it be? Emma and James are married, and they have a good relationship."

"Dad, Leon is not an ordinary man from a rich family." Elaine was still worried.

"When Emma was going to marry James, your sister and brother-in-law had the same attitude as you are now. They thought that they didn't match the Shi family, but you see that James still loves his wife so much. Everyone in the Shi family is good to Emma" Grandpa waved his hand and said, "It's okay as long as they like each other. How can you say that Michelle doesn't deserve Leon? I used to think that I, a farmer, didn't deserve your mother, a well-educated person."

"Well..." Elaine was speechless and looked at her husband.

Adams explained, "What we are afraid of is that Leon's family doesn't like our family. We are afraid that Michelle will be under pressure and someone will attack her with her family background online."

"Yes." Elaine kept frowning.

"Michelle deserves him." Michelle's parents, who had been silent all the time, said seriously, "She deserves him."

However, they did not know the real meaning of this sentence.

Before going to bed, Elaine was still preoccupied, pacing back and forth with a glass of water.

"My mother loves her granddaughter so much that she said such unrealistic words. It is not us to decide whether Michelle deserves Leon or not. Adams, how is Crystal? "

"She divorced." Adams shook his head and sighed, "They didn't even have a good time during the Spring Festival. Baylor thought it was better for her to divorce, so that Crystal wouldn't be disliked by husband's family."

"What did Crystal say?" Elaine took a sip of water, put down the cup and walked towards the bed.

"Crystal doesn't want to divorce. She has been crying since the divorce. She doesn't say anything or eat anything. Baylor is so worried about her. He even told me in the afternoon that he would take Crystal to see a psychologist tomorrow."

"Alas..." Elaine sighed heavily, "Crystal is a typical example. It's not easy to be a lady of a rich family. If she is not capable, she can't live happily in that family."

After a moment's silence, Adams said, "Michelle likes Leon very much."

"She l

secretly! "

In this case, it was obvious that Elaine was angry to call Michelle her full name.

Looking at her mother's distressed eyes, Michelle was in a panic. She didn't know what to do but lowered her head and apologized.

"Mom, I'm sorry. I'm so sorry."

She didn't know what to say except sorry. She held the Marriage Certificate tightly in her hands.

She knew from the moment she decided to marry Leon, she would be scolded by her parents, but she didn't expect it to be so soon.

It was so soon that she was not prepared at all. She didn't know how to comfort her mother and how to make her accept it.

In a panic, Michelle looked up at her mother pitifully, trying to get forgiveness in this way.

Marriage is the most important event of one's life, so Elaine was not moved at all. She still looked very sad. She wanted to scold her, but she was unable to do it. She felt so sad.

"How could my daughter be so stupid to get married so easily?"

"Michelle, you disappoint me so much." It was the first time that Elaine said something harsh to her daughter.
