

THE CONQUERORS PATH

Chapter 7: Information(2)

Chapter 7: Information(2)

So yeah there something I have to tell you guys

I have changed the names of the realms

I changed human realm to Silviya realm and Demon realm To Silvie realm

That's all!!

Anyway enough about dragon's, the next species is the beastmens

They are divided into different tribes and spread across a single empire, among them the four main clans are:

The Lion Tribe

The Tiger Tribe

The Wolf Tribe

The Cat Tribe

each tribe has other clans below them and is ruled by the main clan like a council, there is no single king, surprisingly such a system really works well for them unlike the elves the beastmens are more inclined towards close combat than magic, though they use magic in combat each clan has its own specialty, such as the cat tribe being great assassins, the tiger tribe being great treasure hunters.

All the clans had come together to create an exotic world of their own which is a great tourist spot in this world.

After that we have the dwarves, they actually don't have their own country but a city, known to be impenetrable to all.

Due to their low birth rate the dwarves have a lesser population, so they came together to create the dwarven city.

built with high metal walls and technology, the city is literally impenetrable. Another thing about the dwarves is that they own about 56% of the world's weapon production.

A scary number to say the truth as they only live for smithing and drinking, it is said that the dwarves have more money than they can spend.

After them comes the humans unlike the other races the humans are not well knit nor do they have any speciality.

That was what the other races had thought but the humans took their weakness as strength and expanded their ways.

we started producing magical weapons and as a group of extraordinary thinking we started learning the specialty of others and started to excel in them.

humans also have their own share of extraordinary experts and powers currently there are 2 human empires and other human countries surrounding it, both the empires are equal in strength.

The empire I am currently in is the Ezraeil Empire currently ruled by Claus Ezraeil the 8th, he took control of the empire 15 years ago.

The other is the twilight empire, ruled by Maxwell twilight the 8th.

surrounding them are other countries whose strength cannot be scoffed at, they themselves have specialities and strengths.

like the country of Angria which completely focuses on magic, it is said that even the commoners there know basic magic

The country of Avalon focuses on knights and they are basically close combat oriented so these are the basics in the human "realm", why realm you ask?,

This is because the Silvie realm and the Silviya realm are not exactly on the same plane

The realm containing humans, elves, beastmen and dwarves was made by the goddess Silviya and the demon realm by the goddess Silvie to travel between each realm one needs to use a transport gate and as for the demon realm??

they have countless different types of demons, where there exist only 2 empires ruling them all, The Efeth and The Olane empire.

The Efeth empire is ruled by the Efeth demons and the Olane empire is ruled by the Olane demons

Other than this there is another race created by both the goddesses, the aquatic species that live within the sea.

A great aquatic empire ruled by both the mermaid and whale tribes.

unlike what people would expect there is no large scale war or dislike between the races, in fact they live in harmony, where different races live with each other well that is after what took place thousands of years ago, for some reason there was a war between the goddess Sylvia and Sylvie

The war escalated to such degree that millions died and blood had made the world red, but no one actually knew why there was a war between the goddesses well.....except for me who had played the game, there was a hidden quest to be completed and i had found the reason its nothing great, it was a small disagreement between the goddess, the goddess Silvie wanted to live and interact with her creations forming a harmony but Goddess silviya just wanted let her creations as they are, with no interactions so.....yup a great war occured beacuse of that, you can imagine my surprise when i found about it.

opening my eyes and rubbing my sore body i decided to take a walk

“oh yeah before that, hey system show me all the application you can provide me”

[yes, host]

looking at the given choices a few doubts arose in my mind.

“hey system what’s information?”

[Its as the name implies, you can check into the information and buy certain information at a certain price]

[And before you ask the “price” is referred to counterattack points which you earn while conquering each capture targets or doing something detrimental to the main protagonist]

while listening to the systems explanation my expression becomes weirder and weirder, so basically i have to trouble the main protagonist.

‘Damn that God is quite vengful’ ,throwing my thoughts away i click status, suddenly a blue screen appears in front of me
