

You Can Run But You Can't Hide My Contractual Wife Chapter 231

"Don't touch me, you filthy jerk!" Arabella roared while she struggled.

She pushed Bill with all her strength until she broke free.

"Slap!!!" Then a thunderclap slap was heard.

Arabella had put all her force to hit Bill's face.

Enraged by his domineering traits, she pushed him again harshly to make a bigger gap between them.

Bill was stunned a bit.

He held his painful cheek while he looked at the very furious girl.

Her eyes were killers and her face was flushed due to her strong refusal.

The Arabella he knew was so different from the hateful girl who was in front of him right now.

He could not see the Arabella who he brought in his yacht.

The Arabella who swam with him with fish in the sea.

The Arabella who held his hand in the crowd.

The Arabella who taught him how to eat instant noodles.

The Arabella who brought him inside a convenience store.

The Arabella who found her comfort on his shoulder while sitting on a bench in the park.

The Arabella who taught him to loosen up in the rain.

The Arabella who thought him to forget work and enjoy simple and real happiness.

The Arabella who taught him to be gentle.

The Arabella who called him 'honey' and 'my husband'.

The Arabella who moaned his name lovingly whenever he thrust himself to her.

The Arabella who had innocent eyes.

The Arabella who's tough and shy at the same time.

The Arabella whose smile was very genuine that could touch his merciless soul.

Arabella was gone.

Her furious eyes were the windows of her soul.

She was completely gone.

Realizing his thought, Bill could feel intense dismay and sadness.

It was new to him and was not so familiar with the feeling.

His questioning eyes met her scorching eyes.

"Let me make this thing clear to you. We are over!" Arabella yelled.

Bill looked at her. His eyes were searching her soul.

"No!" He refuted with a possessive deep tone.

"Accept it because you can't do anything about it!" She answered with provocative eyes.

"You can't leave me!" Bill's tone had a strong degree of refusal.

He immediately held her arm again but Arabella gave him another blow.

At this time, he had felt no pain but his cheek turned blushed.

He was brutally beaten by a woman but he let it happen again and again.

"Does it hurt, Mr. Sky?" Arabella asked smiling.

She was clearly humiliating him.

She was like finding her happiness through the pain that she gave.

Seeing Bill Sky hurt was a beautiful sight for her.

Bill didn't answer.

His eyes were like seeking her soft side but he could only see roughness bursting inside them.

Bill spread his arms in the air.

“Come on honey, let’s stop this Visit <https://swnovels.com> to read the newest content, everyone! you and Adam.”

He spoke like he was running of patience but in a tone that could convince anyone’s soul.

“Ha!ha!ha!” Arabella answered Visit <https://swnovels.com> to read the newest content, everyone! insulting.

“You are the biggest joke of my life!” She remarked clapping her hands while she continued laughing.

She shook her head while chuckling like she heard the most ridiculous words in her life.

Bill was looking at her like he was absorbing her outburst.

He wanted to hug her but the woman was like a wild tiger who would do everything just to escape from him.

She would bite if she needed to.

“Bill Sky, you listen to me very carefully.” Arabella stopped Visit <https://swnovels.com> to read the newest content, everyone! moment.

Her hateful eyes were pierced onto him. “You can’t bully me now! If you don’t want me to sell my share to Eric Grant.” She added with a sarcastic grin on her face.

After hearing Arabella, Bill’s expression instantly changed.

“What???” His tone was no gentleness as his overbearing tone surpassed.

Seeing Bill’s reaction, Arabella smiled.

Her smile was meeting his anger.

The air suddenly filled with suspense and intense tension.

Who dares to threaten Bill Sky?

Arabella knew she successfully provoked his pride and it Visit <https://swnovels.com> to read the newest content, everyone! you hear it right.

Eric Grant... Sooner, he would be the owner of my share." She smiled again at the man who she could tell at moment was already pissed off.

Bill's sharp eyes were already digging deep into her.

He seemed in a state of disbelief that the woman he trusted the most was now threatening him using the share in his own company.

He could not believe he was betrayed by his judgment.

After a while, Bill smirked and nodded.

His eyes Visit <https://swnovels.com> to read the newest content, everyone! then stopped leaving only an inch gap.

His overbearing demeanor was screaming as he held her arm again.

"Stop it right now!" He commanded like a terror king. His grip was very tight.

Arabella felt the pain on her arm from his grasp.

She knew Bill was not with his calm anymore.

The name Eric Grant seemed to kill his patience instantly.

"What now Bill? Are you going to kill me now?" She provoked. "Come on! Go ahead! Here... Satisfy yourself!" Her outburst Visit <https://swnovels.com> to read the newest content, everyone!

To give him more access to kill her, she flaunted her neck to him.

Her action provoked his patience.

"What are you waiting for? Come on!!!" She yelled waiting for his hands to grip her neck but she didn't get any response.

After her words, she suddenly felt soft lips touching her bare neck.

She was instantly taken aback as her heart skipped a beat but she recovered quickly as she pushed him again harshly.

His lips left a tingling feeling that even if they were already detached from her neck, the tingling sensation had stuck on her neck.

She tried her best to get rid of the feeling and show Bill that she was not affected by it.

"You want to get a room?" Bill asked with a cute slight grin.

"You! You.... Disgusting man!" She roared in anger again.

For her, she had to refute quickly to cover her embarrassment.

Even though she tried to hide the effect of his lips on her neck, she was sure Bill had sense and see her blushing cheeks due to his action.

Bill smirked handsomely seeing her reaction.

"Do you really think, that I'm so into you?" She could not accept that Bill Sky had kissed her neck in times like this and she could not accept that his kiss was still something she could not resist. This day, she proved it and, on this day, she promised herself to try so hard to totally kill him in her system.

Her goal was not to be affected by him again whenever he's around, to his touches, his scent, and everything about him should have no more effect on her.

Her anger and revenge should always prevail over anything else.

She should use her brain as her enemy was the wisest of all human beings on the planet.

She hated him so much.

She hated his guts and his domineering character.

She hated how bossy he is towards other people.

He is an oppressor to those people who have less power like her.

She hated that people treat him like a king and he acted like a merciless king.

She hated everything about him.

"I'm sorry Bill Sky, but I have to confess this. I hate you so much in this lifetime and the next life. I will never love you!" She looked at Bill in the eyes.

Their eyes met and it seemed like they were the ones talking.

Hearing her, Bill's eyes turned gloomy but doubtful. "So you ask someone to kill me that night because you hated me so much?" His question awaited an explanation.

Arabella looked down for a while. She didn't know how to answer him as she could not reveal the truth and drop Damien's name.

She looked at Bill again meeting his sharp eyes.

"Yes! I killed you that night Bill. I want you dead so you will be out of my life and Adam's life forever. We don't want you in our lives. You get that?" She claimed to cover Damien. She would never let Bill do anything bad to Damien.

She had to cover up the accident that night.

On the other hand, it would boost his anger towards her and in that case, Bill would probably be the one to chase her away in his life.

"Now that you know that I am capable of killing you, hope the reality would slap you! Wake up! We don't need you in our life! We would be very glad if you can leave us alone. Let's not see each other again!" She wanted to finish the conversation. As for her, she already sent her threat to him and what she wanted to convey to him.

It was all clear and she hope Bill would act according to her conditions.

Her share in his company was a big help and she was sure that Bill would not do anything against her because of this.

When she dropped her final words, she turned around to leave but Bill had quickly caught her arm again.

She stopped.

"Leave her!" Suddenly, a deep voice of a man sounded approaching them.

They both looked in the owner's direction.

Bill was still gripping her and had no plan to let go especially seeing the man appear.

Eric Grant.

"Mr. Sky, don't touch my girlfriend!" Eric had a deep serious tone.

His eyes were also unhappy with the scene.

Bill smirked at him mockingly.

"Your girlfriend?" He asked arrogantly.

He smiled like he heard another joke of his life.

"This girl is my wife! How dare you claim her your girlfriend? Are you tired of living?" Bill quickly exclaimed.

His grip on her arm tightened while he pulled her on his side.

Arabella looked at Bill angrily as she tried to struggle from his grasp.

“Sweetheart. I think we are wasting too much time here. Please give him the divorce paper.” Eric calmly said as he kissed Arabella’s left hand deliberately showing Bill his action.

Bill’s fist clenched hard.

Arabella smiled at him.

Then with her other hand, she helped her other hand to escape from Bill’s grip.

“Don’t you know why I can’t love you?” Arabella uttered while meeting Bill’s eyes. “Now you will know.” She added never leaving his anxious eyes. “Because of Eric. Bill, I am in love with Eric.” Arabella started to explain her lies. “I met Eric before you. He was my savior back then and now that we had a chance to be with each other again, we will never let anyone come close between us!” She had a straight tone while her eyes never left Bill’s.

Bill’s expression was inexplicable but his eyes were meeting hers.

He seemed to find the truth between her lies but Arabella would not allow him to see her truths.

“Here!” Arabella quickly got a paper from his bag and slapped it to Bill’s chest.

Bill’s grip had loosened a bit.

The document fell to the ground.

Bill knew it was the divorce paper and he was clearly didn’t care about it.

Since she felt Bill had loosened his grip on her, she held Eric’s hand dearly and turned around to leave but Bill’s grip tightened again.

She stopped and turned to Bill again.

Bill’s eyes were digging in her.

He didn’t say a word.

“Mr. Sk....” Eric wanted to call Bill’s attention but he was cut.

“Arabella Jones, did you not ever love me?” Finally, Bill’s voice froze the air.

His eyes were striking as his expression was like a melting iceberg.

His heart seemed to have a big space for her if only she would just turn around and come back to him.

Hearing him, Arabella smirked mockingly.

She couldn't believe Bill Sky was asking her this kind of question.

The Bill Sky who was always on top now became very low in her sight.

She always believed that Bill would never put himself down to anyone.

Now, his eyes were desperately waiting for her answer.

Arabella looked at him with eyes talking to his soul. "Never! Ever since my heart belongs to Eric alone. The man who saved me from danger and never would I love the man who put danger in my life. That's you Bill Sky. Thank you for all the sufferings, you brought me to the man I love." Arabella answered showing gratefulness towards Bill.

After her words, Bill released her.

Arabella looked at his disappointed eyes once again then she turned around with Eric's hand.

