Chapter 191, Coolest Girl in Town

“Send me the coordinates and I’ll come over immediately.” After hanging up the phone, Molly asked, “Miss Sinclair, is it your boyfriend?” “It’s my fiancé,” Elise explained with a smile. The answer had left Molly completely dumbfounded because Elise looked less than 20 years old, but she already had a fiancé. “Miss Sinclair, can I take the liberty to ask how old you are?” With a raised eyebrow, Elise answered, “I will be exactly 18 years old in a month’s time.” A surprised Molly clarified, “Then, you should still be in school, right?” Elise nodded. “I’m in my senior year of high school now.”

Molly thought that Elise was remarkable at such a young age. Not only did she have an insanely good talent in design, she also had a romantic relationship. Thus, it made the 25-year-old and still single Molly extremely envious of Elise. “Miss Sinclair, you are really a role model for the women of our generation. Come, let me toast this glass of wine to you.” Molly held the glass of wine and clinked it with Elise’s before they drained it in one go.

Next, Elise complimented from the bottom of her heart, “You are also great! I can see that you have some talent in design, so you can try to create your own designs. Who knows, maybe you’ll reveal a new world.” Since it was Elise who said this, Molly was speechless with excitement. She hurriedly opened her bag and took out a stack of A4 paper from it. “Actually, I usually draw on my own when I have nothing to do, but I have never shown my designs to anyone. Miss Sinclair, why don’t you take a look for me and give me some pointers as well?” Once again, Elise nodded and replied, “I’m not sure if I can give any pointers, but I can help you to look at it, though.”

Then, she turned the stack of A4 paper, which was filled with Molly’s designs of clothes. It was exceptionally conservative and not bold enough, which made it look inexperienced although her works were interesting. After seriously reviewing the drawings, Elise commented, “Your designs are not bad, but not bold enough. If you use bolder elements, the effect will be very distinct.” She removed one of the designs and added, “Consider this one and look at the design of your dress. The hemline can be increased by a tad bit, so as to achieve a slimming effect, and it will also look more three-dimensional.

Moreover, you can add a little trim at the hemline to avoid it from being too boring.” Molly’s eyes brightened as she listened to Elise’s words. She no longer cared about the barbeque and quickly took out a pen from her pocket instead. Then, she began to modify the design and changed all the areas that Elise had pointed out. With that, her eyes lit up in pleasure. “Miss Sinclair, you’re really great.” Then, an excited Molly kissed her work several times. She had previously lacked confidence in her own work and couldn’t get to the root of the problem.

However, now that Elise had brought up the issues in her work, Molly was suddenly enlightened and inspiration gushed into her mind like a spring. “Miss Sinclair, I suddenly thought of a brilliant idea. No, I have to record it first.” So, she took the pen and began to seriously draw. Elise was aware that it was arduous for a designer to be inspired, so she didn't bother Molly and merely sat aside to eat her barbeque silently. Soon, Alexander came over and approached Elise. "Are you done?" She put down the barbeque in her hand, then looked at Molly next to her.

"It's no longer early. You should head home." Molly raised her eyes and only then noticed him next to her. For a moment, her eyes widened in shock. "A-Aren't you Alexander Griffith?" There was excitement in her tone as everyone in Athesea knew who Alexander was. He was the dream of thousands of girls, yet he turned out to be Elise's boyfriend. "Miss Sinclair, I'm not dreaming, right? He's your fiance?" Elise nodded. "Yes." Molly wasn't only admiring Elise; she was also envious of the woman. "Miss Sinclair, in that case, I'll take my leave first.

Thank you," she responded. Then, she waved at them both before fleeing the scene in a flash. After withdrawing her gaze, Elise suggested, "Let's go back too." However, Alexander didn't move, but merely looked at her, after which he took a tissue to wipe the corner of her mouth. "It's freezing and you're still out; remember to return home earlier in the future," he said. He removed his scarf and wrapped it around her neck before he held her hand. After that, they walked together toward the location of the car. As they walked side by side, they looked harmonious from behind.

"I have modified the outfit," Elise said. "Come with me to try it tomorrow." Alexander replied, "Sure." The next day, Brendan arrived at the design studio earlier; however, once he entered the office, he unexpectedly found someone even earlier than him. "Molly, why are you here ahead of time?" Molly raised her head and saw him before quickly greeted, "Good morning, Boss! I didn't have anything to do, so I decided to come over earlier."

However, he noticed that she was in the middle of drawing something and asked, "Are you drawing?" She rubbed her head in embarrassment and replied, "I'm just drawing casually; it doesn't matter." Upon hearing this, he didn't say anything else, but asked again, "How is Elise's outfit alteration coming along?" "Miss Sinclair has already modified it," she quickly answered. "It's now hanging in the room."

The moment Brendan heard Molly's answer, he was amazed that Elise could modify the outfit in just one day. Aside from being surprised, he was also curious as to how she was able to alter it in the end. Then, he asked Molly, "What do you think of her revised outfit?" She truthfully opined, "Boss, I think Miss Sinclair is exceptionally talented in design and I kind of admire her work." He thought that she was afraid to be honest because of Elise's status, so he didn't take her words seriously. "Okay then, let me know when they come over later." "Yes, boss." Elise and Alexander both arrived a short while later. Although Brendan was drawing at that moment, he was obviously a little distracted.

"Boss, Miss Sinclair and President Griffith are here." Brendan casually dropped the pen in his hand before he rose to his full height and walked out. "Alex, Elise." Alexander gave a slight nod. "I came to see the outfit." However, Brendan looked at Elise. "Elise has already modified it; why don't we let Elise head off to change into it?" Thus, she stood up and headed for the dressing room while Molly quickly took the initiative to help. "Miss Sinclair, let me help you." Elise returned the smile and thanked her, after which the two entered the dressing room together.

“Alex, you’re pampering her.” Brendan couldn’t help but whisper; he was finding that Alexander was a little too indulgent with Elise. Alexander immediately responded, “I only have her as my wife, so who else should I spoil if not her? You?” When Brendan heard the reply, he was instantly silenced. “She is your sister-in-law, so try to help her more if she needs anything in the future,” Alexander added before he shot Brendan a glance. “Don’t bully her just because I’m not here.”

Chapter 192, Coolest Girl in Town

Brendan hastily elaborated, “Alex, what are you saying? No matter what, I wouldn’t dare to bully Elise.” However, he already understood that Elise’s position in his elder brother’s heart had far surpassed that of his brothers. The two people were talking when the door of the dressing room was opened. Soon, Elise gracefully appeared in front of them in a white dress and they stared at her in awe at once. Alexander’s gaze was full of appreciation; when he saw the dress before its alteration, he had already appreciated Brendan’s skills in design. Now that he saw the improved piece today, he only felt that Elise was more capable than Brendan. “Not bad,” he complimented. “It’s gorgeous.” As for Brendan, he was filled with incredulity. He was aware of his own design skills and that he was definitely one of the best designers in the country, but when he saw this dress in front of him, he had to admit that he had been too conceited. Elise’s design was very bold as she incorporated traditional craftsmanship into her work, which enhanced the entire gown’s artistic sense. Moreover, with her alluring figure, the gown looked absolutely flawless.

If his gown could be called a good design, then Elise’s modification had only transformed into a work of art. “Elise, I finally understand the meaning of your words. Your choice of material is not only light, but also beautiful while lending a floaty, airy sense to the dress,” he spoke with conviction. Then, he went up and carefully looked at the dress before noticing that all the stitches were done by hand, yet there wasn’t a slightest problem with it. So, it was clear that her skills were definitely not lower than his. “How did you manage to finish such gorgeous work in one day, Elise?”

When she saw that everyone was satisfied with her work, Elise replied, “Actually, I only made certain modifications from your design. It has already achieved the effect I wanted, so what do you think of it?” “I didn’t expect you to have such talent in design.” Alexander nodded in approval. “However, this embroidery style of yours seems a bit familiar.” He felt that he had seen it somewhere before whereas Elise reacted in time. She knew that her own works would always bear remnants of her unique style, but as Alexander and Brendan might not have seen any of her works before, she replied, “I just thought it looks perfect, therefore I embroidered it.”

Alexander didn’t think much about it and replied, “This dress suits you well, so wear it.” Brendan also added, “Alex, since this dress was modified by Elise, we’ll exempt the design fee, but Elise, I want to discuss with you about something.

Once your engagement party is over, will you leave this dress in my store as a showcase of our designs?" Elise didn't have any opinion because engagement dresses like this were only worn once in a lifetime, so it was fine to display it in his store. "Sure, I will do that." He was overjoyed when he obtained her consent.

Then, Alexander mentioned, "Go and change out of the dress; I'm going to take you somewhere." After she nodded, she went to the dressing room, after which she entered the car from the design studio. Then, the car started before they drove out. "Where are we going?" Alexander wore a mysterious look. "You'll know in a moment." As she felt that he had always been mysterious, she casually asked, "Did you prepare a surprise for me?" He nodded without any hesitation. "Yes." Upon hearing that, Elise did not hold back a snort of laughter. "I was pulling your leg.

Why did you say yes?" However, Alexander clarified, "I'm not joking with you! I've truly prepared a surprise for you." This time, it was her turn to be dumbfounded. There is really a surprise? Thus, she also began to wonder what the surprise was. The car slowly drove to the most high-end shopping mall in Athesea. Before alighting from the vehicle, Alexander deliberately removed the ID card in his wallet and placed it in his pocket. Then, both he and Elise got out of the car. When they arrived at the mall, she had roughly guessed why they came—it was probably that Alexander wanted to buy her something.

She thought of many possibilities such as clothes, bags, and lipstick... The only thing she did not expect was that he actually brought her to pick out diamonds. Alexander took her to a high-end diamond ring customization center of Dring's and as soon as the sales lady entered, she spoke enthusiastically, "President Griffith, you're here." "Are all the things I asked you to prepare ready?" She answered, "It's ready. It's over here, so come this way please."

With that, the sales lady took Alexander and Elise to the VIP room and took out a delicate small box to hand it to him the moment they arrived. "President Griffith, this is the one." The moment Alexander opened it, a pink diamond glittered in front of everyone's eyes. It was a large and dazzling pink diamond, to which Elise fancied a lot. Suddenly, she saw him kneeling on one knee and presenting the ring to her as he asked, "Miss Elise Sinclair, are you willing to marry me?"

Elise had imagined the scene of being proposed to countless times, but she never thought that this day would come so quickly and suddenly. Hence, she was completely caught off guard. "You... What are you doing? Get up!" She was a little anxious; although it was only the two of them, she still felt a little embarrassed. However, he simply said, "This diamond is 5.2 carats large and is the one that I've painstakingly chosen for you as the most suitable engagement gift.

I am willing to give you a lifetime commitment because a man can only customize one diamond ring from Dring in his lifetime using his ID card. Therefore, I am willing to bind this diamond ring to my ID number, meaning that you are my only true love in this lifetime." When she saw him being serious, disbelief danced in her eyes. In fact, his eyes had also clearly reflected her shock and at this moment, her heart was touched by what he said. "Miss Elise Sinclair, are you willing to marry me?" he asked again. Elise looked at him and broke into a smile as their gazes met.

Then, she nodded solemnly. "I am!" Upon hearing this, Alexander slowly inserted the diamond ring on the ring finger of her left hand before Elise pulled him to his feet. This was followed by Alexander handing his ID card and bank card to the sales lady. "I'll take this diamond. Go ahead and swipe the card." The sales lady had a delighted expression as she hastily took both items. "Of course, President Griffith."

After she left, Elise pulled the corner of Alexander's coat and asked in a small voice, "This diamond should be very expensive, right?" Alexander rubbed her head and responded with a slightly doting tone, "Diamonds have a price, but you are priceless. Compared to you, it is just insignificant."

Chapter 193, Coolest Girl in Town

It was just a simple sentence, but Elise had the feeling of being valued. She smiled and looked at Alexander before she slowly said, "Thank you for your love. I will not disappoint you." His throat moved, and surprisingly, he did not hold back from leaning down to kiss her lips. However, it was just a light kiss before he broke away and seductively mentioned, "What should I do? I feel like I want to hide you away." Her face flushed and she stammered for a long time without forming a complete sentence. "Y-You... Let's go home first." After saying that, she pushed him away and the two kept a certain distance. Immediately after that, she took a step to walk out. As he gazed at her back, his lips curled upward before he closely followed her. The atmosphere between them had obviously now changed. Elise lowered her gaze to look at the diamond on her finger and inexplicably felt that her limb now weighed a thousand times heavier. Although the glittering ring was extraordinarily dazzling under the sunlight, it was hard to believe that she would soon be a married woman. Nevertheless, her heart was full of happiness. "Get in the car, I'll take you back," he spoke.

She agreed and entered the car. Afterward, she stole a glance at Alexander, still feeling that everything wasn't real as if it was a dream. Obviously, a few months ago, they did not even have the slightest interaction with each other. If it weren't for Jonah— As she thought about this, her eyes suddenly dimmed. Was he good to her also because of Jonah? ... The 10th day of the 1st month was the most auspicious day and the day that Alexander and Elise were engaged. She walked out while holding Laura's hand to accept everyone's blessings and the white gown that she wore had accentuated her beauty. Soon, Laura led her to Alexander before she solemnly handed Elise to him.

"Alex, Ellie is a treasure that you must cherish. In the future, you must treat her well and not let her suffer. You two should lead a harmonious life, love each other, and grow old together." At this moment, Elise's eyes inexplicably reddened as she reached out to hug Laura while saying, "Grandma, I can't bear to let you go." Laura laughed and patted Elise's back. "Silly girl, what nonsense! Today is a good day for your engagement, so be happy." Elise released Laura from her embrace before nodding. It was only then that Laura took a brocade box from her pocket. "This is my engagement gift to you. I hope you can be forever filled with happiness, Ellie." After taking it, Elise solemnly answered, "Thank you!" Laura waved a hand.

"Go ahead, my dear." Alexander, who was on the side, also said to her, "Grandma, don't worry. I will treat her well." "Good, good; as long as you two are happy, we as the elders will also be happy." As Elise could feel Laura's smile was forced, she spoke, "Grandma, don't worry. We will definitely be happy." Later, she held his arm and told herself at this moment that she needed to be happy with him in the future. Several brothers of the Griffith Family also sent their blessings to them while Danny approached them and presented them with a gift of an outfit.

"Boss, Alex, this is my gift to you both. I hope you have a happy engagement." "Thank you!" Elise responded before she accepted his gift. Suddenly, he approached her again and whispered, "Boss, today is such a good day. Do you want to play games together?" She saw his expectant face and could not refuse him, so she agreed. "I'll play two games with you later." Upon hearing this, he was delighted. "Yay, thanks, boss!"

When Elise saw him being happy, she shook her head a little helplessly whereas Jack, who was at the side, couldn't help but ask, "Danny, what is making you so happy?" Danny looked arrogant and replied, "Nothing, I'm just playing games with the boss a little later." Jack felt that Danny was behaving a little bit strange. It was just Danny and Elise playing a game together, so Jack couldn't understand his excitement. "You're just playing a game, so why are you so excited?" When Danny realized that Jack was still unaware of Elise's identity, he was mysterious as he answered, "If it is a game with ordinary people, that is nothing. It's a different story when that person is my boss."

It was only at that moment when Jack realized that Danny kept addressing Elise as his 'boss'. When did their relationship improve tremendously? Apart from that, Danny was such an arrogant young master that it was unbelievable that he would actually be so subservient to Elise, which puzzled Jack. When Danny saw a confused Jack, he added, "You don't know the influence of my boss, so you're confused. If you know the identity of my boss, I guarantee that you will have the same reaction as me." The corners of Jack's mouth twitched.

"You're being weirder by the minute. She's a girl and playing a game for boys. It's already amazing that she can play a game or two well, so how can she be a master at it?" In the past, Danny certainly wouldn't believe it if someone had said that Elise was a gamemaster, but he had personally witnessed her playing the game as Ellimane. Thus, his admiration for Elise deepened over time. "Why don't you come along and join the fun tonight?" he asked. Although Jack was initially not interested, his curiosity was aroused when he saw how excited Danny was.

"Sure, I'll play with you guys tonight," he said casually without thinking much about it. Soon, after the engagement party, Elise changed into another attire and handed her gown to Molly, who notified, "Miss Sinclair, I'll send this dress for dry cleaning first and leave it in the design studio to hang up later, according to the boss' wishes. You can come directly to the design studio to pick it up if you need it later." Elise agreed.

"Sure, thank you." Then, Molly solemnly said, "Miss Sinclair, I should be the one to thank you; if it weren't for your guidance, I think I wouldn't dare to show my work to everyone even until now. You not only corrected my problematic areas, but also gave me direction, so I should be the one to thank you." "Your design has a lot of potential, so do your best," Elise encouraged. Her words made Molly more confident.

"I understand, Miss Sinclair. I will continue to work hard." After Molly left, Elise sighed with relief. The engagement party was finally over wherein she and Alexander were officially engaged. Thus, she raised her eyes and looked at her usual plain face in the mirror. Should I find an opportunity to tell Alexander the truth?

Chapter 194 Something Wrong With His Login, Coolest Girl in Town

Well, my quinceañera is just about a month away, so maybe I could tell Alexander the truth then, Elise thought. Later that night, the Griffith Residence was filled with lively vibes and conversation, making it feel like everyone had not mingled with each other for ages. In the meantime, Danny glanced at his watch and turned his attention to the door shortly before he heard someone approaching from afar. Soon, he exclaimed in surprise, "You're back, Boss!" A confused Elise asked, "What's the matter?" He felt slightly helpless with her forgetfulness and reminded her with a soft voice, "Boss, you said you'll play with us tonight." As soon as he finished his words, their conversation was interrupted by Alexander's comment. "I didn't take you for a gamer, Elise." Before Elise could respond, Danny beat her to it and replied, "You know what? My boss is the best gamer out there. In fact, she's been occupying the top spot on the rank all the while. Do you have any idea how hard that is? Well, my boss has accomplished that!" Upon hearing that, a stunned Alexander looked at her while she faked a cough to mask her awkwardness. "Well, that was a long time ago. Moreover, since I haven't played a game in a while, my skills are rusty."

However, no one expected him to ask the million dollar question. "So, you're Ellimane?" When Elise nodded in response, surprise and disbelief danced in his eyes. Meanwhile, as Danny was impatient and couldn't wait any longer, he had invited KK and Jack together with the rest. Then, he seized her hand and scurried off. "Let's go, Boss. I can't wait to start the game with the others." Once Danny had taken her upstairs, they spotted Jack, who had already played a few rounds while being glued to his phone. Upon noticing their presence, Jack didn't seem to be startled as he noted, "Hurry up and get started!"

"We've been waiting for you two like forever." Then, Danny passed a mobile phone to her, whereupon she sat down and logged into their game. Unknown to them, Alexander soon arrived and made his presence felt. "Are you here to witness our battle, Alexander?" Danny asked in a humorous manner, but Alexander only had his eyes on Elise while radiating an enigmatic and unfathomable aura. Although she had no idea what it meant, she didn't bother to dwell too much on it. "I'm here to check out what's going on," he answered as he sat down beside her.

On the other hand, Jack couldn't help but feel annoyed with the newly-engaged couple. Thus, he commented, "Alexander, are you trying to make me feel jealous? You do know that I'm single, don't you?" Alexander replied with a cold grunt and retorted, "Well, what about you? Do you have trouble looking for a girlfriend?" Jack was rendered tongue-tied as he thought that he should take back what he had said since he was a bachelor in hot demand. "Hurry up and join in, Boss," Danny urged while Elise logged into her own account. However, as she made it to the login page, the mobile app suddenly became unresponsive.

"What's going on?" She tapped the screen a few times to make it respond, but to no avail. In the meantime, Alexander, who was watching aside, saw her username and confirmed that she was indeed Ellimane. Soon, he quickly realized that her phone had too many unread messages that slowed down her phone's processor, so he answered, "Well, you have too many messages, so all you have to do is just delete some of it." A confused Elise left the app and started to clean her internal storage. Then, when she logged into the account once again, the app seemed to be much smoother even though there were more than 999 messages in her inbox.

Upon noticing it, she found out that those messages were from other players asking about her return to the game. As she was surprised by how well known she was in the world of the mobile game, Elise eventually decided to invite the other players to join the match. Thus, she posted a status on her news feed that read, 'Join me to have fun playing games tonight, would you?' The moment that her post was published and seen by the whole world, it quickly amassed a huge number of likes and comments, many of which were invitations for her to join a game.

Nevertheless, Danny, who knew how influential Ellimane could be, was stunned by what he saw and said, "Boss, you said you're only going to play with us tonight." Elise explained in embarrassment, "I know, but we can always play together whenever we're free, so why don't we get more people to join in and have fun tonight?" Meanwhile, Jack was still unaware of the situation until he logged into his own account that he never used for the longest time. When he saw Ellimane's name at the top of the rank, he sighed. "Alas! Ellimane still occupies the top spot even though she hasn't been playing for ages."

Upon hearing that, Danny sniggered and secretly laughed at Jack, who was unaware of Ellimane's actual identity. Poor Jack! I wish you will know that Ellimane and Elise are the same person sooner. Anyway, let's have some fun and see how it plays out. "Hey Jack, since you have such a high regard for Ellimane, what do you think if we could play a few rounds with her?" As he knew his own limits, Jack answered, "Is that even a question? We're going to be crushed like ants." "Let's find out then."

Danny chuckled. He found Danny's words strangely unbelievable; he never thought that an elite gamer like Ellimane would be interested to play a match with them. Thus, he secretly mocked Danny. This guy must still be dreaming. "Are you saying you've been playing with Ellimane?" As soon as Jack posed his question, the entire atmosphere was shrouded in silence. Soon, Elise looked up and shot him a gaze, but was interrupted by Danny, who probed, "What's wrong?"

You don't believe me?" "It's not that I don't believe you, but someone like Ellimane isn't going to waste time playing with nobodies like us," Jack replied, unable to shake off the weird feeling.

While she was rendered speechless, a stoic Danny asked, "What if I could make that happen?" Jack shrugged his shoulders. "Are you sure? Do you know Ellimane? If that's the case, I'll give you my character's skin." "It's a deal then," Danny replied. "Just make sure you don't go back on your word." Upon hearing that, Jack had a bad feeling as if he was walking right into Danny's trap. In the meantime, Elise sighed and asked, "Jack, can you also give me your character's skin?" As his confusion was written all over his face, he suddenly noticed a notification at the bottom left on the screen of his mobile phone.

'Ellimane has invited you to join the game.' After pausing for a few seconds, he announced, "Ellimane is inviting me to join the game." Three pairs of eyes turned to him the moment he finished his sentence. At the same time, she brandished the mobile phone in her hand and asked, "What're you waiting for? Join in. Since you promised Danny that you'll give him your skin, I figure it's time for me to share with you a tip or two as your boss."

Wait what? Ellimane is Elise?! Are they actually the same person?! Jack could only hear his head buzzing. "You're Ellimane?" He felt as if everything around him had changed because he found it hard to believe that a country bumpkin like Elise was actually Ellimane—the person who dominated the world of mobile games. No way. There must be something wrong with my login.

Chapter 195, Coolest Girl in Town

"What are you staring at? Come on in," Danny said before he reached out to press the confirm button for his guest. When Jack entered the lobby and saw Ellimane's ID on the first row of their team's list of players, he finally believed that Elise was indeed the legendary Ellimane. After he gulped, he spoke, "I've already sent you a new set of skin to your account. Please remember to accept them." Danny giggled. "That was quick! I'll have to thank you for that then!" Then, Jack turned toward Elise again. "Let me buy you a full set of skin since you're helping me to level up."

Before Elise could even say anything, Danny quickly stepped in on her behalf. "Are you seriously negotiating with her? My Boss has never even trained me in any of our games, so how can I let you take advantage of this?" "Fine, I'll help you guys to level up just for tonight," came her reply. Upon hearing her reply, both men immediately became eager. At this moment, even Alexander raised his eyebrows before he leaned over and whispered, "Are you planning to play till midnight with them?" Elise explained, "Since it's really rare and difficult for us to gather together, I guess we will be doing so." Then, he quickly reached out for his phone. "Why don't you coach me as well?"

His request rendered her speechless. Nevertheless, she went along with it when she noticed that Alexander meant business. "Sure, let me send you an invite."

And so, Elise ended up mentoring all three of them for the entire night, which resulted in them levelling up by 12 levels. Even though it was already midnight, Danny's dedication to the game was evident as he was exuberant and showed no signs of fatigue. As it was really nice to be mentored in the game, Jack was completely focused as well. He used to be the worst player in the game and finally experienced how it was like to be a winner that night.

As they continued playing, the sky started to brighten up until traces of the previous dark night were completely gone. While Elise stretched, she suggested, "Why don't we head to bed? I'm so worn out after pulling an all-nighter on the game." Alexander kept his phone away as well. "It's rest time then! Let's play again when we're free." However, Danny didn't look exhausted as he quickly replied, "Boss, Alex, in that case, you guys should rest.

I think I'll stay on for a few more games." Jack chimed in as well. "I'm not tired as well. You guys should rest first." When she noticed that they were still energetic, she didn't say anything and headed upstairs with Alexander after bidding the young men goodnight. When she arrived at the corridor and wanted to head to her room, he suddenly pulled her into his embrace. "Aren't you coming with me?" Elise's face flushed when the man's seductive voice rang out. "W-What are you doing? Let me go." Yet, he tightened his grip on her. "Why don't you come with me?

Hmm?" "No," she rejected. Although she was his fiancée, she still wasn't mentally ready to accept the fact. At the same time, when Alexander saw her frightened look, he felt bad and ruffled her hair as he only initially wanted to tease her. "That's alright. I was just kidding. I won't force you if you don't want to." Elise sincerely apologized, "I'm sorry. I—" Nevertheless, he interrupted her before she could say anything else. "It's okay, don't apologize.

I'll wait for you. I'll continue to do so until you finally decide to open up to me." She immediately lowered her head before she quickly nodded. "Quickly return to your room and rest then!" Alexander said before leaning toward her to give her a peck, after which she waved at him and returned to her room. After spending the entire night awake, Elise was extremely exhausted and fell asleep the moment she got in bed. Meanwhile, Molly had brought the gown that Elise designed to the atelier. As she placed the bag that was used to carry the attire, she took a hanger to hang the gown while she gasped for air.

After that, she started to intently observe the apparel. The more she looked at it, the more she realized how detailed the design was, considering that the gown gave a different vibe with each glance. "Why are you here, Molly?" Suddenly, Brendan's voice rang out, causing Molly to snap out of her daze. She immediately replied, "Mr. Griffith, I came to drop off the gown that Miss Sinclair has designed." He glanced at the gown. "You can return to your work after leaving it here." After a quick nod, Molly made her way out. At this moment, Brendan was the only one left in the spacious room.

As he stared at the gown in front of him, he felt his interest toward Elise deepening since he never expected the attire to undergo such a huge transformation after she took over. It was something that she had really surprised him with this time. When he arrived in front of the gown, he started to smoothen the wrinkles on the attire. Suddenly, he noticed something before his face turned pale. Then, he grabbed the gown and stared intently at its needlework. This kind of needlework was extremely familiar to him as it was the same method used by Lily, the worldwide famous wedding gown designer.

At this moment, he couldn't help but feel curious. Lily's designs had already taken the fashion industry by storm for close to eight years now. However, she was always a mysterious person, which explained why she hadn't produced any new designs for many years. All of the wedding gowns that she had designed did not have a set market price currently; rumor had it that one of her gowns was even sold at the price of 300 million at an auction in France a year ago. Brendan, who was lucky enough to have personally witnessed Lily's designs, was extremely familiar with her needlework.

He was even adamant until today that her needlework couldn't be replicated as it was one of a kind. Still, how could it be possible that Elise had the same needlework as well? As he urgently needed an answer, he left the place and drove toward Griffith Residence. "Young Master Brendan, Miss Sinclair won't be able to see you as she's still resting." Brendan paused when he heard Stella's voice, to which he replied, "That's alright."

"Do you know when she will be up? I can wait for her in the living room." "I..." Not knowing how to reply to him, Stella could only explain, "Miss Sinclair was awake the entire night yesterday to play games with the others, so she will probably only wake up during the afternoon."

"Why don't you come back later if you need to talk to her?" Brendan pursed his lips. "Alright, I understand. I won't keep you away from your job then." Moments after she left, he paused in his steps and looked up. When he saw Laura and Leonard tidying up the lawn, he recalled something and walked over to them.
