

CORRUPT CREATIONS

Chapter 195 - A Fairy Only He Knows *

Rina's body temperature rose to unprecedented heights, making her face get entirely flushed. But this time, it was not from embarrassment but because her body was getting ready.

Seth approached the bed, lowering his body towards her. Rina's hands unconsciously grabbed the hem of his underwear and almost as if it was automatic, she started to pull it down.

With each centimeter it moved, her heart seemed to beat a bit faster than before. She didn't know what laid behind that piece of fabric, since she didn't have any friends to discuss things like this with; however, whatever it was, she felt that after witnessing it, it was a point of no return.

She suddenly looked directly into Seth's eyes, while holding on his underpants, creating a scene of naivety in the midst of their shameless act.

Seth smiled at her and said: "Go ahead."

Rina was suddenly able to build up the resolve to do it, pulling his underwear all the way down in a single go.

A long and thick lance jumped towards her, trying to attack her unprotected face, shocking Rina with its ferocity.

"Ah!"

She wasn't able to believe how Seth was able to even walk with something so stiff and long like that between his legs. She was sure he must be a magician to do that all day long and not getting a discomfort. She lacked sexual education, not knowing that his member wouldn't always be in the aggressive stance it was now, just when it was ready to strike.

Seth didn't say anything, he just kept standing there, letting Rina get accustomed with it.

After the initial shock, that lasted for almost an entire minute, she was finally able to push her fears aside and move her hands to touch it.

When her fingers entered in contact with his rod, she felt how hot and stiff it was, surprising her once again.

Seth suddenly grabbed her hand, making her hold his rod with her whole hand and finally getting to feel her smooth angel touch right on his shaft.

Rina was so mesmerized that she went past the time for embarrassment without even noticing it. Just as if it was the natural order for things to happen, she started to move her hand up and down, making Seth's skin move the same way.

While doing that, she wasn't able to take her eyes off of that, admiring how everything was happening. However, there was a problem. Rina had zero idea on what to do, and that's why Seth had to take the lead.

He wouldn't ask Rina to do something out of the ordinary, since it was her first time and he didn't want to scare her. So instead of keep pleasuring himself, he lightly pushed Rina towards the bed, until her back touched the mattress, making her release her smooth grip over his weapon.

Right at that moment, his hands acted in the speed of lightning, rapidly removing her underwear and revealing her perfect body for him.

Rina's body could only be described as delicate and perfect.

If Serene was like a goddess statue carved out of white jade, Rina's body was like a perfect piece of art made by nature.

Seth suddenly had an insight: 'Is that why people call her Fairy of Nature?'

However, he knew that it couldn't be, since no one other than him and Arwen had seen her like this. She was called Fairy of Nature, because of the way her powers worked.

"Rina, you're beautiful... So beautiful I can hardly contain myself any longer."

"Ahh!"

After saying that, Seth started to attack her lips once again and at the same time, his hands searched where were her sensitive spots, teasing whatever part that made her feel good. From her tummy, he went to her hips, descending through the sides and teasing her beautiful legs until he moved his hand very slowly towards her sacred region.

Rina thought she was already feeling in a heavenly paradise, but that's because she didn't know what true pleasure was like yet. Seth was just about to show her that.

As his hands approached her sacred grounds, he started to caress that area in a way Rina would slowly start to get more excited. At the right time, he moved his finger towards her slit, making her experience an electrifying sensation.

"Ahn!"

From then on, he continued to make a series of movements that were able to bring Rina's threshold of pleasure higher and higher, massaging every part that made her feel good, in a perfect rhythm.

"Ahhhnnn!"

Rina was about to say she was feeling something different, but Seth didn't give her space to even say a single word. His mouth was working splendidly, while his hand was doing an even better work.

Less than twenty seconds later, he was forced to stop kissing Rina, since her breathing was forcefully stimulated by the pleasure she was feeling. That intense pleasure was coming from her nether region, a pleasure she had never felt before. It kept growing while Seth's fingers massaged her there, making Rina lose the ability to even think, throwing her consciousness in a white world.

Boom!

When that pleasure reached the apex, it exploded, making her have her first orgasmic experience.

For a bit less than twenty seconds, her bosom kept heaving while she kept panting and gasping for fresh air. Rina never thought a sensation like that existed, nor she had ever thought that mating was able to produce such an incredible feeling.

Pant! Pant!

"What was that?" When she was finally able to say some words, she couldn't help but ask what had just happened.

"Did you like it?" Seth smiled while asking.

Rina nodded while still a bit red from all that excitement.

"Then let's feel it together next."

"A-Again?!"

"Heh? Of course. Do you think you can't handle?"

"Eh, ah, no. Please do it."

"Then, now that you are prepared, we can feel good together."

Seth suddenly moved, positioning himself at the perfect place, where his hips and hers were able to meet each other.

Rina watched at how he pointed his member towards her sacred region and she got lost in a mix of expectation, excitement and fear.

Seth moved his rod, making its head slide past the entrance of paradise, teasing Rina further more. While doing so, he was able to feel she was totally wet and ready for the main course. That's why he repositioned his weapon, making it find the right place and slowly pushing forward.

At first Rina didn't feel any pain, just the feeling of something really big and hot entering her body. However, a little bit later, she felt a pressure on what seemed to be a thin skin that existed inside of her. Right at that moment, Seth pushed forward, ripping it apart and making Rina feel some seconds of pain.

However, she didn't feel it was a pain sharp enough to make them stop, but even so, Seth still waited for some time before he started to move again.

Impressively, he didn't see any blood coming out, and even if there was a bit of it, he wasn't able to see it. Maybe it was because of how flexible and adaptive elves were. On top of that, Rina was an Evergreen Essence holder, and its healing properties may have helped her.

Seeing everything was alright, Seth started to move, increasing the pace with every second, slowly going forward and the backward.

From the initial discomfort Rian felt, less than ten percent of it remained. At some point in time, when her eyes crossed with Seth's eyes, she started to feel different. From the discomfort, her body started to feel good, and little by little that feeling increased in intensity.

Realizing that, Seth started to thrust rapidly and putting a bit more strength on his moves.

"Ahn... Uhm..."

As he was increasing the intensity, Rina started to feel better as well. She started to feel the same way she felt before getting that explosive pleasurable sensation.

This time, Seth was accompanying her on that. He knew he would soon explode inside of her, that's why he made sure to not lose that momentum.

Both of them felt their muscles contracting, getting ready for what was about to come.

"Argh." Seth gave one last thrust, letting everything out while enjoying her insides tightening around him.

Rina reached her second climax just at that moment too, making sounds of pleasure together with Seth.

Many hours later, on the other room, Meiyi's mother could only give up trying to sleep, wondering when they would finally feel tired and go rest. However, after a few hours hearing those sounds, she finally gave up the idea she would be able to peacefully sleep that night. She did have great times with her husband, but she didn't remember a single session they had, that lasted for more than two hours.

How great were Seth and Rina's stamina? Meihui could only wonder about that.

'These youngsters are so full of energy. To think my daughter chose such a monster as her partner.... I hope she will be okay in the future.'