

CORRUPT CREATIONS

Chapter 237 - Not Fair

Rina was looking at the garden outside through one of the windows of her room, when she heard the door opening.

Seth realized the door of her room was unlocked and decided to enter directly. When his eyes met Rina's figure, he realized she was not wearing her mother's special cape anymore, but wearing casual clothes. Naturally her face was in full view and Seth silently gasped admiring her beauty again.

"Did I take too long?" Seth asked.

"No. I expected it to take at least two or three more hours for you to come back."

"That's good then. We can finally have some time for us now."

"You're right.." Rina agreed, but her mood seemed to be a bit down.

Seth noticed she had some worries and asked: "Is there anything wrong?"

"I was wondering how difficult it is, to live in this world. From the moment I left from below my mother's "wings" and left the Elven Territory with you, I was observing everything and every place we passed by. The situation at the Ereinrith City, the things that happened at the Hilkhell City, the Blazing Phoenix Country predicament and even the troubles you had to go through in order to reach this place... The world is really a hard place to live in, but it was only now, that I was finally able to notice it."

"Sigh... I didn't plan on showing you things like that, but I guess we would probably come across many unpleasant scenarios in our travel. It may not have been like that for you, but I always felt this world was cruel. If you do not have strength or status, you'd better abide by the rules imposed on you by the others, else you're nothing but an easy prey."

"Now, I can finally value the efforts mother has put into making a cage of protection around me. For eighteen years, I grew up thinking this continent was beautiful and there was only respect and love inside everyone's hearts."

Seth looked outside the window, remembering his time at the Elven Territory.

"Arwen was able to show you the beautiful side everything had to offer and that's why you have to thank her when you get the chance, even though thankful words may be unnecessary between you."

"You're right. However, I've decided to delay going back to the Elven Territory. I will be staying here to learn more about the water element. I have to master it faster, so I can help you in the future. I can't let you always brave danger alone every time."

Seth heard Rina's words, but there was something bothering him.

"Rina, I appreciate that the thing fueling your will, is helping me in the end... But don't try to overexert yourself, alright? You should focus on living freely and peacefully."

"That's not fair!" Rina didn't like that idea.

"Why not?" Seth asked bewildered.

"How do you expect me to live peacefully, while you are going to a dangerous place in order to get stronger? How do you expect me to live peacefully, but all this while, mother is carrying the whole burden of our land's destruction on her shoulders... That's not fair."

'Sigh.' Seth inwardly sighed. Not because he was bothered by her words, but because he didn't want her to enter any dangerous situation just for him or Arwen. They didn't deserve that from her.

"The things we do, are meant to provide you and the people we love, this kind of peace you're currently able to enjoy. If you do not enjoy it, then you're wasting all our efforts. If you ever put yourself in any danger, you're going to fail me and your mother."

"But why...?" Rina seemed to be conflicted.

"Because we want to always keep that peaceful environment around the people we love. I and Arwen need to go forward and face those difficulties if they are the hurdles in front of our paths. Just like the situation bothering me right now... I really didn't want to go, but that's not an option."

Rina looked at Seth and asked in a low voice: "Do you really need to go...?"

She was feeling sad they would separate.

"What would be of Meiyi, if I were to stay comfortably here? Sigh..."

Instead of saying any more words, Seth went forward and surprised her with a tight embrace.

"Rina, I love you. I promise I will return stronger than ever and I will be the one to write our own destiny. I'm fed of always having to dance according to our enemy's music and play the game they are good at. That's why you have to wait for me, alright?"

"Alright." Rina was finally able to calm down. She has been thinking about all these things lately, especially the last few days. She had matured quite fast during that time. This trip to the Human Territory was an eye opener for her. Something she desperately needed.

"How about we change topics, huh?" Seth asked.

"Hm? What do you want to talk about?"

"I want to talk about how much I love you and how much I missed staying near you."

Seth started to whisper sweet nothings in her ears, making Rina's mood improve a lot. With each word he said, she felt like kissing him more and more, until she gave in to that desire.

They started kissing lightly, enjoying each other for a long time. The way they did it, was more like they wanted to never separate. While concentrating on the warm feeling those actions brought to them, very quickly, they felt connected. Not only were their souls connected, but their hearts were connected.

At some point in time, they unconsciously moved towards the bed and Rina sat between Seth's legs.

As he embraced her from behind while sitting in the bed's border, Seth kept kissing her shoulders and collarbone, creating many small electrifying currents inside her body.

He was trying to express with his actions, how tenderly he loved her. His careful touches were perfectly transmitting it for her, but even without doing that, she would have felt it from their connection.

Unconsciously, Rina grabbed Seth's hands and brought them towards her chest area, trying to proceed to the next step faster. Her arousal was reaching very high heights, because he was stimulating her with a lovely and tender play that Rina liked a lot.

She was not like Jiang Yi, a woman able to enjoy hardcore treatments, but a person that really liked small and slow-paced actions. They brought her to the highest degrees of arousal quicker.

Seth suddenly felt his hands touching her chest and started to do what he wanted with them. He slowly kneaded her breasts, feeling how soft they were. The sensation his fingers were transmitting him, was like they had sank in cotton.

As Seth slowly increased the speed of his massage, Rina started to feel a pleasurable sensation. She almost moaned once, but out of reflex, she kissed Seth, suppressing her moaning sound with the connection of their mouths.

However, Seth's hands attacked her sensitive points, lightly rubbing her nipples once. That small touch was enough to send a tingling sensation that made Rina squeeze her legs together.

He kept doing that same action and very quickly, she wasn't able to hide her moans anymore, releasing the kiss to express her pleasure loudly.

"Ahn!"

Seth enjoyed bringing her pleasure, so he kept teasing her over and over, making Rina's nether region so itchy, that she was getting crazy while trying to resist the urge to jump on top of Seth at that moment.

Rina realized something really hard poking her back side and immediately, she knew she wasn't the only one super excited and anxious for what was to come.

Suddenly, Rina stood up and turned around to face Seth. She slowly sat up on his lap, getting face to face with the beast.

All this while, they were still totally dressed. they hadn't taken off anything yet. But after sitting on his lap, Rina's hands traced the border of his pants, trying to set his weapon free.

While adjusting his position, he helped her on doing that. She seemed to be in such a hurry, that she didn't even remove her skirt and panties, just moved them aside, creating a passage for them to connect together.

Seth helped her positioning it at the right place, slowly but steadily entering her until the very end.

"Ah!"

Both of them let out groans of pleasure, feeling they were finally connected in body as well. Right now, they had their bodies, heart and soul together, forming the perfect link.

They both started to slowly move, connecting their mouths again with another kiss.

While maintaining that initial speed, they were still able to keep their reason. But as things escalated, they had to separate again and express the pleasure they felt.

"Ah! That's good!"

Seth kept thrusting upwards while holding Rina's back, since she was arching it backwards and riding him with a great momentum. Her golden hair and jade white body were a perfect vision that Seth made sure to register in the depths of his soul.

Less than ten minutes later, with the intensity that they were moving, both of them seemed that they would reach the climax together. In the last moment, Seth made sure to pull Rina's body closer, so they could feel even more connected than they ever felt before.