

CORRUPT CREATIONS

Chapter 319 - From A Dream To Another

Seth suddenly opened his eyes and realized he just had a very strange dream. Mere five seconds later, he wasn't able to remember of anything he saw inside that dreamland anymore. His eyes and consciousness turned towards reality as he noticed that he was lying comfortably in a very clean and smooth bed.

As his muddy vision was finally cleared up, allowing him to perfectly see where he was, Seth noticed he was inside a bedroom he didn't recognize. Actually, there were some particular elements in that bedroom, like the style of the wood carvings and the type of furniture, that brought him some memories back. But since he had just woken up, he wasn't able to properly understand where he was yet.

Suddenly, he turned his attention towards his own chest area, trying to feel and see how was the current state of that terrible injury he suffered. It was one of the most serious wounds he had received while fighting against Velgor and he knew it would certainly take a while for it to close and completely heal.

But when Seth looked down, he didn't see that big hole that had been opened up there by Velgor's attack. His skin and muscles had already regenerated to the point not even a scar had remained.

Seth wasn't able to understand what was the real reason for that, but there were only a few possibilities for such a quick recover. One of them being the time. But since Seth didn't feel like he had been unconscious for a very long time, he was left with a doubt of what had really happened.

"So, you finally decided to wake up."

Suddenly, Seth heard a voice coming from inside his own head.

"Lexi... How long have I been sleeping?"

"I don't know."

"You... don't... know?"

"Yep. Lately, I was doing this really good and interesting activity, that I didn't even feel time passing by."

"Hm...? Good activity? I bet you must've been eating."

Lexi was about to trash him, when suddenly, the entrance door to the room opened, revealing the figure of a goddess. She was so enchantingly beautiful, that Seth even forgot to do anything else than admiring her.

Lexi realized that lethargic state he had entered into and decided to move back to her sweet things. Later, when she eventually finishes it, she would then tell him what she was really doing.

Seth was about to stand up, but before he could even move, Serene suddenly sprinted to his direction.

"Seth!" Serene's expression had changed to happiness and she swiftly made her way towards him. She would have jumped into his embrace if it wasn't for the fact that Seth's body was still injured and she had to be cautious. Her initial excitement got a bit lighter as that fact dawned upon her.

"Serene..." Seth smiled and extended his arms to hug her as she lightly sat on the bed.

"Seth, it's so good to see that you're fine. Thank God!" She was visibly shaking and happy that he had awakened.

"Serene, I missed you so much. It's been so long since we had the chance to spend time together..."

Seth paused for a bit and then he continued: "You're free now... We are free from that man's influences. He won't ever bother us again."

Serene felt many different emotions restlessly moving inside of her, but ultimately, she wasn't able to forgive herself for being the central cause of everything.

"Why did you stay behind? You could have died there... If something wrong had happened to you, I don't know what I would have..."

"Don't be like that... Nothing happened with me. See..." Seth suddenly pulled her closer to comfort her. Serene's head entered in contact with his chest, where that grave injury was located before and she was able to feel his warmth, reassuring her, that he was alive and perfectly fine.

"Are you really alright?"

"Yeah... Actually, something had happened with me..."

"What is it? Wait, I will..." Serene got preoccupied and even started to stand up in order to go outside and call for the person that had been treating Seth, but she suddenly felt a strong pulling force, attracting her to completely lay down on Seth's chest.

"I am suffering from a deadly high concentration of passion and you're the only one able to cure it." Seth suddenly started to lightly kiss her exposed neck, making Serene slowly get into the mood.

But she suddenly tried to lightly push him away while saying: "No... You are hurt. What if this ends up opening your wounds?"

"Don't worry. My body is pretty strong. Nothing is going to happen." Seth swiftly captured her once again and pulled her towards the bed. This time she completely fell on top of it, with no chance of escaping the predator that was already climbing right on top of her.

Seth quickly started to mark his territory, kissing every single part of her body that he wanted to conquer with love.

Serene's body temperature started to rise at an inconceivable speed. Her hands were wildly running around Seth's hair and back, trying to find a bit of support.

As Seth continued to caress and kiss her, his eyes were getting more and more bewitched by her beauty. Serene's silver hair and demonic enchanting eyes were out of the world. Every time he looked at her, his heartbeat accelerated and he felt like he was desecrating a real goddess.

Her beauty was unmatched in the whole demonic territory. It wasn't a surprise that she was so widely known around the whole continent, even before she had even started to cultivate.

It has to be known, that cultivators would not only get more powerful, but they would get more beautiful or handsome as their strength increased, and that's why you would find a lot of good-looking people at the areas where the energy and aura was higher.

But Serene's beauty, was something that put even the strongest cultivators to shame. Her beauty was not only natural, but it attracted everyone's attention towards her. And that's one of the reasons she never left her bedroom back at the Demonic Shadow Royal Castle. The other reason being the Demon Emperor.

However, even though he was lost admiring her, Seth's hands were automatically moving around her perfect body, caressing, pinching and squeezing the right areas at the right time.

Suddenly, his ears were able to pick a mild and pleasant noise.

"Uhm..."

Just as Serene parted her lips to moan lightly, Seth's predator's lips attacked hers. It was time to go on the offensive, the activity that he enjoyed the most.

Serene was very unexperienced on these things, since she only done it with him once. But that time had left such a lasting good memory on her mind, that she didn't think even once, on resisting his advances.

She wasn't the kind of girl to so clearly express herself, since she had some family issues that made her develop a more reserved personality, but she missed Seth's presence, touches and love as much as he missed her.

That's why when he started kissing her lips, she enjoyed it more than she would normally. Being apart from each other for so long, really increased the intensity of their desire for each other.

Everything else could be said later and Seth only wanted to properly have an enjoyable time with her now, since it was clearly something he rarely had the opportunity to, when living at the Demonic Shadow Royal Castle.

Seth used his hands to create a pleasant sensation around Serene's back, what made her open her mouth a little bit more, giving Seth the opportunity to take a step further.

With his actions, he was able to make Serene drop all her reservations, allowing herself to enjoy how their tongues danced together, in a very enchanting rhythm.

During the time he was unconscious, Serene was one of the people who took care of Seth. For his own comfort, she had removed his torn and tattered clothes, only leaving him with his pants on.

Because of that fact, she was easily able to roam her pristine white hands all over his muscular bare chest, going as far as using the tip of her nails to lightly scratch his skin as they were making out.

Serene didn't do it on purpose, but her actions were unintentionally waking up a sleeping dragon. Even the intensity with which Seth kissed and caressed her, had gone up.

"Ahn..."

At some point in time, Serene was already feeling pleasure, even though he had avoided touching any of her highly sensitive spots, only sticking with occupying her lips and squeezing her beautiful curves.

Seth felt like she was ready and he began to slowly remove her pieces of clothes. Impressively she was wearing a greenish robe and some simple adornments that were very commonly seen around the bodies of those elven ladies.. However, Seth didn't even try to ask why she was wearing that robe, since anything she wore would actually fit her perfectly.