

CORRUPT CREATIONS

Chapter 321 - What's Done Is Done *

Seth was barely holding his primal urges, but the scent wafting around that room, kept increasing his lust. The air carried a sweet and delicate smell that was easily able to intoxicate him. With a lot of difficulty, he held most of his urges back and proceeded to slowly and calmly introduce his dick inside.

At least, since he had done it once with her, she didn't feel any pain while that happened. What contributed the most for that effect, was the fact that Serene was so wet, that it was practically as if her body knew what was coming and had thoroughly prepared itself.

Seth pushed his spear further, until it completely filled Serene's insides. He felt like he was being tightly gripped by the hands of a beautiful angel and that there was no other explanation to that feeling, than it being the blessings of the paradise.

"Argh!" Seth grunted in pleasure, as he kept immersed in that sensation.

On the other hand, Serene was trying not to release any noises this time. However, she was actually feeling full with that hot and hard rod pulsing right inside of her and was barely being able to maintain her sanity. Her mouth opened and closed consecutively, letting out her hot breath.

When Seth finally decided to move, it was just impossible for her to keep holding in those noises and her mouth unconsciously started to release another one of those very sexy moans that Seth loved to hear.

Seth was concentrated on moving very slow, so she could get accustomed with that, but when he heard that heavenly music, despite doing everything he could to not go wild, his body still accelerated, picking up a very good pace.

That increase on the speed of his actions, translated into an increase in the pleasure they were feeling and almost as if instantly, both of them let their voices out, completely unrestrained by anything.

As Seth moved forwards and backwards, he knew sooner or later he would explode right inside of her, but that's just what he wanted. Now that the source of danger that had always been threatening the both of them had died, if she were to get pregnant, it would be a blessing.

But he knew that cultivators very rarely were able to conceive a child with only doing it a few times, that's why each time they did it, would be like drawing a lottery ticket. There were cases reported, that not even doing it a thousand times, was enough for the couple to conceive a child.

Serene didn't know about such detailed things yet, she had just a bit more knowledge on those things than what a normal na?ve girl had and even if she knew the dangers of doing it the way they were doing it, she would still agree on keep going at it that way. Her main thought at that moment, was to pleasure the man she loved, the best way possible.

Actually, that was just what was happening.

Seth felt everything accumulating and getting ready to be discharged, even his grunts of pleasure had grown hoarser and more contained, like he was forcing himself to not explode yet. Just when he saw how wild Serene's body movements were becoming, that he decided to release everything.

"Serene, I'm about to come."

Seth thrust his spear slightly further, reaching a place that the demonic princess couldn't believe it could reach and he let everything out.

"Argh!"

"AAAHN!!!"

Serene was surprised by that last movement and her excitement reached its peak, together with her pleasure levels. She orgasmed right after he shot his load deep inside of her body.

The warm feeling of being filled, was something she found oddly enjoyable. It made a beautiful smile appear over her face, after she recovered from another trip to the peaks of pleasure.

However, right after that pleasurable sensation was over, her body suddenly felt tired. She was barely a Mana Perception Realm cultivator and her body wasn't totally prepared to handle Seth's total vigor yet.

Feeling proudful and happy, Seth was about to ask for a second time, but he picked Serene's eyes closing in tiredness. Just after he pulled his member back, still hard as a rock, Serene relaxed and was caught in the comfort of the bed she was lying in. Not even having the time to say anything, tiredness consumed her and she fell asleep.

'Holy Fuck!'

Seth was left hanging, holding his dragon for a second assault. But as he watched Serene's peaceful and satisfied expression, he had to brace himself and get content with what he had already got.

During all the time he stood in that abyss, he wasn't able to have a physical relationship like this and his desire to do it had skyrocketed. There were some times, he even cursed destiny to trap him there with an icy doll, instead of one of his girlfriends. Right after he came back, he got hopeful he would hit it up with Rina, but he was thrown once again in a fierce battle between top tier powerhouses.

Only now, he was finally able to taste a bit of that heavenly pleasure once again; however, as they say, what's good doesn't last long.

Seth looked at Serene and realized no more juice would come out of that situation, even if he squeezed harder. That's why he ultimately chilled down and his muscles relaxed, together with his weapon. Her satisfaction was more pleasing for him than he being satisfied.

But since she was now sleeping on his bed and he had just woken up from who knows how many hours of unconsciousness, Seth quickly decided he wanted to leave and see for himself where he actually was. There was something on the design of that room that brought him some memories back and he didn't feel like using his Soul Sense for something as basic as that.

Seth swiftly scanned his spatial ring for a new set of clothes, quickly finding a black robe he had stashed inside it, since the time he lived in the Demonic Shadow Royal Castle. It was a bit old, but it would do for the time being. When he wore that black robe, it gave others this bad-guy impression of him and he kind of liked it.

After wearing that robe and making sure everything was in their due place, he made his way to the door in order to leave from that room. Unfortunately, not using his Soul Sense would soon be proved to have been a great mistake.

Seth calmly reached out for the door knob, opening it and revealing the scenery outside, but before he was even able to recognize where he currently was, he got himself staring at these five different women.

When he looked at them, Seth instantly froze, not knowing what to do or what to say. He felt this thick death gaze being directed to his body and he could only brace himself and resist that insane pressure.

Outside his room, Arwen, Rina, Lilian Yuyin and Elyra were staring at him, while having these really complicated expressions over their faces.

Impressively, Rina and Arwen were the ones that were less bothered by that, since after knowing about Seth and Serene's relationship, it was kind of expected. However, Elyra didn't know what to do or how to react. It seemed like she just wanted to leave from there and go to a faraway place, since she was embarrassed that he had done something like that in the presence of the Elf Queen.

Elyra didn't know about Seth's relationship with Arwen, neither she felt like Seth and herself had developed their relationship far enough, for her to inquire about anything. So, her reaction was clearly one of a silent embarrassment. But impressively, she was more preoccupied by how the Elf Queen would react to it, than anything else.

As for Lilian, she was the one giving him the deadliest gaze. She always knew Seth was a dangerous man. Ever since she first met him, she knew he had this dangerous charming aura around him and at a certain point in time, even Lilian herself, had fallen to that "pitfall" called Seth. However, right now, she was a bit jealous about what had happened and even though she was not his girlfriend, she couldn't help but feel mad.

Yuyin though... The poor girl was covering her ears with her small pristine hands, trying to revert all those understandings that dawned upon her after hearing the sounds that came from inside that room. It was like all of a sudden, the universe had shown her its deepest secrets.

Clearly, all of them were able to hear what had happened inside there, but Seth could do nothing more about it. He thought he was in a private place, where no one would be able to bother or hear what he and Serene was doing, but fate was relentless in bringing him trouble.

'Well.... What's done is done.'