

CORRUPT CREATIONS

Chapter 324 - Reunion

In reality, Seth visit on Elyra's bedroom was kind of a try, if they were to hit it up right there, he would certainly stay and enjoy the night by her side. But after talking with her for a few minutes, he noticed that she wasn't ready yet. Elyra was a very reserved person and she would require time, till she could familiarize with Seth enough, to completely trust him with her life and body.

But as for Seth, if there was someone that he could trust his life and body, expecting to receive the same, it was Arwen. Surely, the beginning of their relationship was strange and based a lot on their most primitive instincts, but after being linked in soul, Seth already loved her and he knew she loved him as well. But luckily, when they were close to each other, their desires would always guide them. And after a still-not-enough fun time with Serene, his desires were still screaming for him that more was required.

After all, he had gone eight months without doing any action; without seeing anything. Right now, he just wanted to break loose. But of course, he wouldn't force things upon Elyra, that's not how Seth liked to do things. When both of them felt they were ready; they could then proceed with their relationship.

As for Arwen, he pretty much knew that she would probably want to do it as much as he wanted to. Her personality didn't let her say it, but she craved for affection, since her powers denied her that for a long time.

Seth didn't ask anyone for directions, ultimately choosing to use his Soul Sense. Arwen had said that he would probably find the place they were living, relatively easy. Sure enough, after his senses extended to a ten-kilometer radius, he found when Arwen and Rina were.

Somewhere between the Allakiir Mansion and the central zone of the Ereirith City, there was this secluded house. It wasn't as big as the mansion he was in just now, but that house seemed to be relatively comfortable.

When his senses were traveling towards that house, Seth felt the presence of many different protective formations that could easily stop a Profound Mana Realm practitioner from approaching that place.

He questioned himself if there was really the need of such a heavy security, but it was better safe than sorry after all.

His body vanished as he quickly made his way towards there.

.
. .
.

"Mom, are you sure you don't want to call him over today? There are just so many things we need to ask him..."

"Rina, don't worry. I'm certain that when he finishes his business with those ladies, he will come here."

Rina and Arwen were standing on the balcony of their new house, talking and spending some time with each other. Ever since Rina had come back, that place was their new favorite area. It was also the place where Rina told her mother everything she saw and everything she did, including her time with Seth.

Impressively, this new house they were living, was where Allannia used to live when she was still alive. It turns out that the Elf Queen took over her house and belongings. Those defensive formations Seth had felt, were meant to protect the Chief Commander Allannia and not the Elf Queen. But since they were already there, Arwen just modified their structure, making all the formations recognize her and her daughter as their owner.

"Aren't you afraid they might steal him from us? They are so beautiful and enchanting." Rina asked while feeling annoyed. She was referring to Lilian and Yuyin, the new pair of fiery fairies that appeared out of nowhere.

Actually, she was not jealous of them, just mad that she couldn't pass a bit of time with him today.

After living with Seth and discovering so many different things by his side, she had grown addicted to his presence. Even the fact that he was this flirtatious and free spirit, wasn't able to bother her anymore. If she could stay by his side, it was already enough.

That's why being denied that privilege, made her feel a bit irritated. However, Rina knew her mother was wise and despite complaining, she entirely believed her.

"Ahaha, don't worry Rina. Now one is going to steal him from us."

"Why are you so confident?"

"Because of you, of course."

"Me? What do I have, that is so special?"

Arwen suddenly looked at her daughter as if she was looking at a fool. She shook her head and said: "Rina, you really don't know how heaven-defying your looks are. If you learn the arts of seduction, no woman will ever compare to you."

"Arts of seduction...?" Rina blushed, but she seemed interested.

"Sigh... I'll make sure to teach you some things later, but you cannot tell anyone about this. It's a secret between us."

At that moment a new presence appeared near them, already asking about what they were talking.

"Teach Rina some things? Did I get here in an inopportune timing?" Seth wanted to make a surprise entrance, but he felt interested when he heard the word "secret" and decided to ask.

"Seth!" Rina immediately got more cheerful and ran towards that newly arrived figure.

Seth opened his arms and received her lithe figure into his embrace.

"Rina, I missed you. Especially on those seven months we were apart."

"Me too. I missed you so much."

Arwen suddenly heard something really intriguing from Seth's phrase.

"Wait... You were not together all this while?" It seemed Rina didn't tell her the part they were not together.

Seth looked at her and replied: "Yeah... Unfortunately. This is a long story, but don't worry, I will tell you everything."

"Yeah, I want to know what happened with you as well. I kept waiting day and night for you, but it just took so long for you to come back. But once you returned, it didn't take even a day for you to leave once again."

Seth was able to feel Rina's feelings and since they were so close to each other, his Soul Link with her was easily able to transmit those emotions for him.

"Rina, I'm truly sorry... Let's go inside the house, so I can calmly tell you two everything that had happened."

Rina and Arwen agreed and the trio moved inside.