

The girl had already resigned her life to fate, but when she suddenly felt a hand helping her out, she felt really thankful.

But then, her beautiful pupils and scarlet irises met another pair of eyes that were deeper than the abyss, enchanting and welcoming. After some seconds lost on those eyes, she then saw that they belonged to a boy. 'Why... is there a boy here?' She thought to herself.

Then she saw that he was touching the middle of her chest, realizing that she was practically naked right after that. Still her mind was too overloaded by pressure to bother with such "minor" details.

She observed the one that had saved her life, his eyes, his face, his body... his body!

Seth couldn't bother with what was happening with his clothes, that had already been fully burnt by the tyrannical flame. Without releasing his sealed Qi, he was having a hard time trying to control the raging energy wreaking havoc inside her. It was promising to leave and blow up everything around.

He was betting that the girl would regain her control after some time, but that was really naive from his part.

While Seth was concentrated on his task, his counterpart couldn't even muster a thought. She felt a divine attraction directing her gaze down until she saw his chest, his defined abdomen and then, what lay below.

Just the sight of that weapon destroyed all reason she had left, and she fainted from too much exertion and shock.

BOOM!

Her aura went out of control almost instantly.

Seth couldn't bother to hide his strength any longer and undid his seal taking his bracelet off. It all happened too quickly and he didn't have enough time to control the entire situation.

His aura rose drastically, shooting through the roof, but he was still one step behind. He sent more Qi to defend the girl body and didn't bother too much with his own since it was strengthened, but he couldn't control the power that has already left her body on that small window of time he took his actions.

Boom!

A wave of raging fire scorched the earth and burned every single plant and furniture on the backyard, even going as far as burning a part of her house. The formation shook and cracks started to form, but at the same time the fire had been extinguished.

After the initial shockwave, Seth took control of the situation, but he couldn't repair the damage that was done and the cracks that were expanding on the surface of the formation, finally, could hold it in place no longer.

Bang!

A sound of glass shattering resounded to every person in the vicinity. Those girls surrounding Meiyi like hounds abandoned her to check on what happened and gave her some time to breathe. She took the opportunity and left, afraid of being encircled again, she was more afraid of them than that loud noise that just happened.

While those disciples were approaching, Seth checked if there were any serious wounds left in her body and made sure to imprint what he saw deeply on his mind.

"Perfect woman, it would be a shame if I didn't look. Now we're even!"

After confirming she was alright, he activated shadow walk and escaped the scene like a specter.

Not much time after many disciples gathered at that place.

"What?! What happened here?"

"What caused such destruction?"

They were horrified by the scene they saw.

The back part of the house was destroyed and the backyard... There was no backyard anymore. The soil was completely charred black and there were no walls. The profound formation that isolated sound and sight had shattered and the smell of burnt vegetation was everywhere.

Somewhere in the middle, a girl was lying asleep. One could see pain, anger and some relief on her expression. But little by little, her dreams were being poisoned... She couldn't help but remember what shocked her the most on that night.

Those girls quickly helped her, laying her down on the safe part of the house and then, they reported what happened to the higher ups.

"Phew!" Chun Meiyi wiped the sweat off her forehead and entered what was now her new home.

"Hope Seth hasn't caused any problems with his crazy ideas." While mumbling she put her right hand on the door and with her left, she held a simple token that she received after passing the exam. Channeling her Qi on both of them, their internal formations connected and gave her access inside.

This was a really crude and simple formation, it would pose no threat for someone trying to breach the house, it just worked as a door lock.

"AAAAAAHHHHHHH!!!"

After the first step she took inside, she almost died of heart attack. First of all, no one would expect to encounter someone inside your own house just after entering it. What if that person's hair was a complete mess? As if a current had passed and every single hair had stood up. But the icing on the cake was that Seth was completely naked!

"Y-You! You shameless! Beast! Shameless Beast!!! What do you think you're showing to a pure girl?" Meiyi used her palms to obstruct her vision while relentlessly swearing. Occasionally she would peek through the gaps of her fingers. She wanted to run and hide, but then she remembered that she had nowhere to go other than her house.

"Meiyi, do you have any spare clothes?" While scratching his cheek Seth asked for some clothes at least.

She wasn't in her right mind to ask him what has happened. Quickly searching in her luggage, she took one of her spare robes and threw it on him. Right after she ignored him and went upstairs, choosing a random room and settling in.

Bang!

Meiyi slammed the door of her room and went to sleep earlier today.

Seth took the robe and got really upset. It was a female robe and he would have to do with that.

Rip! Rip!

He ripped the robe and tied it on his waist as if it was a towel. Laying down on a couch he went to rest as well.

While he was thinking about everything that has happened, Meiyi and another girl were having some problems on their sleep. They would occasionally roll on their beds and wake up feeling a bit hot.. Even their dreams were a bit wilder today.
