

Cute Baby22

chapter 22

Gabriel followed her in.

Nina slowly raised her eyes and stared at him in a daze.

“Why... Why are you here?”

Nina didn't expect that Gabriel would come, so she was overjoyed and nervous.

“Who is this?”

Caroline looked at Gabriel and asked in confusion.

“This is our CEO.”

Gabriel slowly answered.

“You, you are Gabriel, the CEO of the Empire group?”

The two couples, Harrison and Caroline, were stunned and looked at him up and down.

It was said that Gabriel, the CEO of the Empire group, was weak, sick, arrogant and ugly, who had never shown up in the media. It was this handsome man in front of her.

He seemed to exude a majestic aura of king, which was almost suffocating.

How is that possible? How could Gabriel be the man in front of her?

The two couples suddenly had mixed feelings.

How could she let Nina marry Susan? It was so lucky for her. If she had known it earlier, she wouldn't have let Nina marry Susan.

The two of them were extremely regretful.

“Hello, Mr. Gu.”

Seeing that the situation was not right, Harrison immediately changed his expression and reached out his hand.

“Let's go.”

Before the anger disappeared, Nina held Gabriel's hand, turned around and walked away.

Gabriel looked at Nina with his deep black eyes. There was something wrong with his expression.

Susan was the favorite princess at home, wasn't she? How could she be so cold to her parents.

Gabriel frowned in confusion.

“Susan, you can leave after dinner.”

Caroline said with a smile.

Nina fell into silence.

“Susan is in a bad temper. She just said something she didn’t want to listen to, but she insisted on leaving. She has no choice but to be angry!”

Harrison and Caroline echoed each other.

Gabriel lowered his head and asked, “what’s wrong?”

“Let’s go back.”

Nina looked up at Gabriel and answered softly.

Looking at the unhappy expression on Nina’s face, Gabriel frowned slightly.

“We won’t stay any longer. My mother is waiting for Susan and me to go back, so we are leaving now.”

Said Gabriel.

Then he took Nina’s hand and left.

After leaving Ning’s house, Gabriel looked at Nina with deep eyes.

Was it because he didn’t accompany her back to her mother’s house? Her family asked her why she didn’t go with her. They got angry because they were impatient.

Gabriel didn’t think too much. The two got in the car and sped away.

In the hall of the Ning clan.

“What happened? It’s not what you think!”

Caroline complained.

“Stop talking. Call Susan back now!”

The plan was messed up.

Caroline quickly picked up her phone and dialed Susan’s number.

“Sorry, the number you dialed is not answered for the time being...”

It was true that no one answered the phone.

He called again, but no one answered.

With a frown, she stood up and walked back and forth.

“Why didn’t Susan answer the phone at this critical moment?”

Caroline stamped her feet anxiously and complained.

“The phone is connected. Ask her to come back immediately!”

In the car.

Nina fell into silence.

Gabriel, who was driving, suddenly felt that the atmosphere was a little strange.

She was used to her talking. She was really not used to the sudden silence.

“Ahem...”

Gabriel pretended to cough and looked ahead with his deep eyes.

Nina still sat in her seat, preoccupied.

“What’s wrong with you today?”

Gabriel couldn’t help asking.

Nina regained his composure and continued.

“I’m angry!”

Nina pouted, pretending to be angry with him.

“Because I didn’t come with you?”

Gabriel seemed to be looking forward to Nina’s answer. And it was the answer he thought.

“Yes. Do you think I will be in a good mood if I go back to my parents’ house alone?”

Of course, Nina couldn’t tell him that she was angry because Harrison and Caroline had broken their words.

Somehow she got the courage to talk to Gabriel like this.

Instead of getting angry, he felt a little happy when he heard what Nina said.

“So I came here in a hurry.”

Gabriel replied softly.

Nina withdrew her unhappy expression. These negative emotions would not affect herself, nor others.

“As the eldest daughter of the Ning family, how can I not be angry if my husband doesn’t accompany me when I go back?”

Nina returned to his usual self and left unhappily.

Gabriel turned his head to look at Nina, with deep light in his cold eyes.

“What are you doing? Look at me like that.”

Nina touched his face and thought there was something.

“You look so beautiful.”

Gabriel turned around and looked ahead.

An unnoticeable smile appeared on her face.

Nina glanced at her and said, “you are so hypocritical. Last time, you said I looked like this. Now you say I’m beautiful.”

He said lightly.

“What did you say?”

Gabriel faintly heard Nina speaking ill of him.

“No, No. you are so handsome. I can’t be bad, right?”

Nina said with a smile.

The car suddenly stopped.

Gabriel unfastened his seat belt and leaned towards Nina.

“What are you doing?”

Nina was frightened by Gabriel’s action.

She asked in a trembling voice.

“Why are you blushing?”

Gabriel wanted to laugh, but he didn’t show it.

“Why... Why did you stop the car all of a sudden?”

Nina raised his voice to hide his guilt.

“We’re home. Get off the car.”

Gabriel put the documents beside Nina on the back seat and got off the car.

At this time, Nina found that he had arrived home.

She patted her head. What was she thinking about? Why is he interested in you.

Gabriel walked to the passenger seat and knocked on the window.

Nina reacted and strode into the hall, covering half of his face.

Gabriel followed her closely and looked at her back. She raised her eyebrows and found it more and more interesting.

The two walked into the hall together, and Caroline happened to be there.

Nina smiled at her and was about to go upstairs.

“Why do you come back so early?”

Caroline looked at the two in shock.

She was supposed to come back after dinner. She had just left for a while and then she came back.

Nina hemmed and hawed, trying to find an excuse, but failed.

Thinking of Gabriel, Nina had an idea.

She tugged at his sleeve and looked at him pleadingly.

Looking at Nina’s embarrassed and flattering expression, Gabriel couldn’t help feeling happy.
