

“You can freely arrange my men in D City to search for Vanessa, and kill that woman right away when you found her. Regardless of how many others know your identity, I’m sure she told quite a number, don’t let her live, I don’t think she will put up with you this time.”

Isabel had decided to kill anyone who knew about Alfred’s identity.

This was the best way to keep things under control.

After Alfred ended the call, he started to track Rachel and the people around her, he needed to check all her accounts.

Rachel must have had ordered someone to kidnap Vanessa, paid them through her accounts, she couldn’t do everything by herself.

Alfred then called Robert after he was done with commanding.

“What can I help you?”

Alfred was eager to find Vanessa, he had no intention to discuss about business.

“Vanessa is kidnapped, Georgia wants me to find her. I have some news here, what about you? Do you know about Vanessa?”

Alfred said directly, he wanted to collaborate with Robert now.

The Simpson was more powerful than the Chow family in D City so he told everything he knew.

“I guess it was Rachel that kidnapped her, I’m tracking her monetary transactions and networks now, what about you? Have you got anything?” Alfred asked Robert.

“I’ve managed to track the car that kidnapped Vanessa but it was found abandoned at a rubbish dump, they changed the car in a place without surveillance, we’ve completely lost track of them now. Why do you think Rachel kidnapped Vanessa? For money to escape or to torture her? Do you think she will call you?"

Even Robert had lost track of Vanessa, a shiver travelled down Alfred's spine.

His hand trembled thinking about how twisted Rachel's personality was.

"I planned to kill her before she went missing, I guess Rachel found out about it and kidnapped Vanessa out of hate. I suspect that she just wanted to torture Vanessa or me. But I didn't know how she wanted to torture me or Vanessa, Vanessa's life is at stake, Rachel will torture her in all different kinds of filthy ways."

Alfred covered his forehead with his hand, he felt helpless out of a sudden.

If they acted slowly, the next time he saw Vanessa could be her corpse or wounded all over.

Rachel didn't even call him this time, it seemed like she hated him to the bone.

If he knew this would happen, he wouldn't rush into killing Rachel Scott.

"I'll email you everything I know and please share your information too if you won't mind, we could track Vanessa together."

Robert knew how important Vanessa was to Georgia, Georgia would be in depression if something happened to Vanessa and Annie too would be sad.

Vanessa had been missing for one night and there was still no news of her whereabouts._

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 194 Eliana

Georgia had been unable to sleep all night, and Annie was so scared that she kept curling up in her arms. The atmosphere in the ward was gloomy.

If it wasn't for the fact that she hadn't healed yet, Georgia really wanted to rush out now to look for Vanessa.

As for Elsie, she would not wait quietly in the hospital. She knew a lot of people from all walks of life, so she went straight out of the hospital to look for people and ask them to help find Vanessa.

She printed Vanessa's picture, and with her resemblance to Vanessa, Elsie was asking people everywhere she went if they had seen anyone who looked exactly like her.

However, no trace of Vanessa could be found in all the surveillance.

Rachel didn't make a move. She neither called to threaten Alfred nor called to show off. It was as if she had taken Vanessa and vanished into thin air.

This feeling of no news made everyone especially panic. None of them knew exactly what was going on with Vanessa right now.

Everyone understood that Rachel couldn't be treating Vanessa well, and if they didn't find her soon, maybe Vanessa was going through all kinds of unparalleled torture every day. It was something that anyone could have guessed.

The next day, Robert had his scheduled surgery, and he didn't tell Georgia about it. He went into the operating room alone, had his assistant wait outside, and had his first neurosurgery done quietly.

According to the experts' various discussions, he would have to undergo two more surgeries in a year, after which he would be ready for rehabilitation.

After coming out of the operating room, Robert was sent to a ward to recover from his injuries.

He had his men continue to investigate Vanessa's traces. But by the next day, there was still no news of Vanessa, as if she had vanished into thin air.

In Georgia's ward, Travis spent most of his waking hours talking with Georgia.

Georgia was anxious and couldn't eat, yet with Annie around, she couldn't act too nervous, lest she makes Annie anxious too.

Travis got acquainted with Annie during the day. He was humorous and gentle, and Annie had already called him uncle intimately.

With Travis distracting Annie's attention, Georgia was relieved.

She just couldn't hold out any longer. For two whole days, there was no news of Vanessa.

This feeling was like hanging a man in mid-air, so that he could not go up and down, which made him powerless and desperate.

When it was time to go to bed at night, Annie lay on the hospital bed and hugged Georgia tightly.

"Mommy, Vanessa can't really be in trouble, can she? She said she would stay with me. Why hasn't she come back now? I miss her."

Annie hugged Georgia and cried.

Perhaps it was the night time that was particularly frustrating, and Georgia's voice was also a little sad as she patted Annie's back.

"Vanessa will be back. She's your godmother, and she's my friend. There's no way something could happen to her. She will not leave you. Annie, she will not leave you. She will definitely come back."

Georgia could only emphasize this over and over again, as if this could reassure herself.

Annie just hugged Georgia in fear. She was still young and did not understand many things.

But Vanessa, who had been by her side for so long, disappeared, and she could see the tension and fear in her mommy's eyes.

Even Annie couldn't control her suspicions. She occasionally watched those cartoons in which the main characters would have the plot of Mom and Dad leaving or passing away.

The main character said, leaving is never to see each other, and passed away is completely disappeared in life.

You couldn't hear his voice or laughter, you couldn't say another word to him, you couldn't smile at him or respond, and you couldn't hug him again. Annie knew this feeling.

She understood what it meant to leave. So, after two days of not hearing from Vanessa, even Annie couldn't stabilize herself.

She could only hug her mommy and shed tears.

"Mommy, why did uncle leave us in the past two days too? Didn't you tell me before that he is actually my real father and that the paternity test went wrong? Shouldn't he be by our side with me right now? Why is he not here? Isn't he supposed to be my dad?"

Annie asked in confusion. Her eyes were red and her tone was sad. But this question from Annie sent Georgia into a deeper level of grief.

"He has something to do now, something very important. He has sent his men to look for Vanessa. He has not left us alone. The housekeeper who brings us food every day, and the bodyguards who are out there every day to protect us, are his people. He is your father. It's okay if you're embarrassed to call him now ... Maybe tomorrow or the day after, he'll be back with us."

"Vanessa will probably show up in front of us tomorrow morning too. Annie, don't be sad, and get some sleep. Your surgery is on the weekend, and there are still three or four days to go. Don't let anything go wrong with your body, okay?"

Annie nodded. She closed her eyes and forced herself to order herself to sleep.

But this night, Annie had a particularly restless sleep.

She had one nightmare after another, as if Vanessa had really left her, and even Mommy had left her. She was the only one left in the whole world.

Later, she managed to find her father, but he pushed her away coldly, saying that she was not his daughter.

This nightmare lasted for a long, long time, and Annie even shed tears in her sleep.

Georgia never fell asleep. She could see Annie's fears and tears while she was dreaming, which made Georgia very sad.

Robert was not by her side, and Vanessa was missing. The two people she relied on and trusted the most in the world were not by her side, and she now had to be strong to protect Annie.

Georgia felt that if she didn't hear from Vanessa again, she really wouldn't be able to hold on.

She woke up in the morning and it was already the third day that Vanessa was missing.

Georgia finally couldn't resist and call Robert once again.

Robert did not pick up. Georgia called several more times in a row, but Robert did not answer the phone.

She tried calling Jasper and Jason to ask if they knew about Robert, but neither Jasper nor Jason knew. They were also helping to find Vanessa, but there was still no news.

By noon, Elsie arrived at the ward with red eyes. She sat in front of Georgia's bed and kept crying.

"I wandered around the malls and neighborhoods every day and put up posters. But D City is so big, and there are 20 million people here. I couldn't find Vanessa. I just met her and asked her to be my sister, is she going to leave me?"

Elsie asked Georgia as she cried out. She had clearly fallen into despair and collapse.

Georgia was so infected by her emotion that tears instantly flowed down her face.

"No. At least for now there is no news, and it's not the worst-case scenario, isn't it? She will come back. How could she leave you and me? Annie is her daughter and you are her sister. How can she leave us? She is still so young ..."

Georgia cried and comforted Elsie. In fact, she was also about to despair, but she could not say the demoralizing words.

Elsie roared even more angrily.

"Don't you say such self-defeating words! Something must have happened to Vanessa! I just went to Alfred's office and slapped him. He just let me hit him. But the more I did that, the more painful and angry I became. It's all his fault. If it wasn't for him, Vanessa would not have disappeared. I hated myself for making those videos for money. If Alfred hadn't misunderstood her, how could Vanessa have suffered so much? I am the evilest person in the world. How can God keep people like me alive and let good things happen to good people? This world is so unfair ..."

Elsie just cried and cursed angrily.

Georgia was also angry with Alfred now. If he hadn't provoked Rachel, Vanessa wouldn't even be in the situation she was today.

Elsie spent the whole afternoon crying in Georgia's bed. Finally, she cried so hard that her eyes were red and swollen and she fell asleep on the couch next to her.

Annie was taken back to the villa to sleep by the housekeeper. Georgia didn't want Annie to stay in the hospital every day, because the air was bad here. Fortunately, Annie didn't see how Elsie cried and broke down today.

Otherwise, Annie would have had emotional problems as well.

She was already very sad last night. At the end of the night, Georgia tried to call Robert again, but there was still no answer.

Travis came to Vanessa's hospital room at night to talk to her. He watched Georgia put down her phone in disappointment and asked her.

"Are you calling Robert? What's wrong? He didn't pick up?"

Georgia gave a bitter smile.

"I've called her several times since the morning and into the evening, but he hasn't answered. I don't know what he's doing."

Georgia even wondered if Robert was still angry with her for hiding the pregnancy.

Although it was normal for Robert to be angry about it, Georgia was only concerned about Vanessa's disappearance now.

Georgia didn't know why, but suddenly felt bitterly disappointed as Robert was ignoring her like now.

Even she herself began to doubt that if she and Robert could continue to be together if their relationship had gone awry just because she hadn't told him about the miscarriage?

Georgia had doubts about her future with Robert.

"Maybe Robert is in trouble with something very important right now. Georgia, don't you remember how I disappeared back then? You must have thought I had abandoned you. In fact, I was in an accident. Of course, I don't think Robert is deliberately not contacting you or answering your calls right now. Maybe he has a more important matter at hand. He should be safe right now. Do you have the contact information of someone close to him? Maybe he's just not available to call you right now."

Travis's words made Georgia a little scared. If something happened to Robert even at this moment, she really didn't have the courage to live happily.

Georgia began to worry about Robert's safety. She looked at her phone contacts to see if she had saved the phone number of Robert's assistant.

At that moment, her cell phone rang. This time, it was Robert who called.

Georgia was surprised and picked up the phone.

"Robert, are you okay? Where are you now? I've been calling you all day and you haven't answered. Are you all right?"

"I'm fine. You don't have to worry about me."

"Robert, does this dress look good ..."

A woman's voice suddenly came from the other end of the phone.

Georgia heard it clearly. _____

Chapter 195 Finding Vanessa

She was about to ask something when Robert spoke up.

"I'm busy now. I'll talk to you later."

After saying that, Robert hung up the phone. Georgia's hand trembled as she put the phone down.

She suddenly felt ridiculous. It was obvious that she should trust Robert at this time.

However, because of that one woman's voice, Georgia's heart was filled with countless speculations.

He didn't answer her calls all day. When he called and only said two sentences, a woman's voice came from the other end of the phone, and it sounded even a little ambiguous.

Could it be that only she had been indulging in her feelings for Robert? Georgia suddenly laughed at herself.

"What's going on? Why are you laughing so sadly?"

Travis asked next to her, and Georgia just shook her head and laughed bitterly.

"Nothing is going on. I'm fine. I have to take care of Annie and I have to get Vanessa back. It's okay. I can hold up alone ..."

Georgia said this to comfort herself. But after she said that, her eyes got red.

Travis pushed the wheelchair and went over to hold Georgia's hand.

"Don't make it hard on yourself. Why do you have to be strong in front of me? If you feel bad, just cry out, and don't hold on. Georgia, you deserve the best love in the world."

Georgia cried out as she held Travis's hand. She didn't even know why she was crying. Maybe it was because of Vanessa's disappearance, maybe it was because of Robert's indifference these days, and the woman's voice on the other end of the phone just now. Maybe it was because she was having doubts about her love.

More than that, even Georgia couldn't figure it out, and she just felt sad in her heart. The worry and panic in her heart about Vanessa had not abated, and the man she trusted most seemed to be on the verge of leaving her. She seemed to be left with nothing.

Throughout the night, even Georgia did not know how she cried and fell asleep.

When Georgia woke up the next day, she found that Travis had been sitting next to her hospital bed. And the moment she opened her eyes, Travis woke up too.

"You're awake. Are you hungry? I'll have someone go get you a bowl of porridge."

Travis's voice was gentle, and Georgia felt a little guilty.

"Why did you sleep here last night? Your wounds haven't healed yet either. How were you able to stay here with me?"

Travis had several gunshot wounds, and he was injured to protect her. How could Georgia not care? She felt so guilty.

"What are you thinking? It's just a few gunshot wounds. It's not like I didn't sleep. I was afraid you would wake up in the middle of the night and cry again. You'll sleep better with someone by your side. You used to be like this. When you were sad, if you slept alone, you often slept uneasily."

Georgia laughed in embarrassment.

However, today was the fourth day and there was still no news from Vanessa.

Georgia's face became heavy all of a sudden.

"Still no news from Vanessa today. If it goes on like this, Annie won't be able to take it anymore. Vanessa has never been separated from Annie for so long. Last night, I forced the housekeeper to take Annie back to bed and let her rest at home. But today, Annie will definitely come over. I don't even know how I'm going to comfort her later."

Besides Annie's matter, Georgia was now more worried about Vanessa's safety.

She didn't dare to say the worst-case scenario, and she didn't want to say it.

She could only keep telling herself that Vanessa would definitely return to Annie's side. She would definitely come back safely, and they would definitely find Vanessa.

"Maybe we'll hear from Vanessa in a little while. You have to put your mind at ease. No news now is probably for the best. At least you can still have hope ... If the woman who started the rumor really hated Vanessa to the bone and didn't want Vanessa to live, we must have found Vanessa's body long ago. But there is no news until now. Maybe this woman just wants to torture Vanessa. We will definitely have a chance to find Vanessa."

Of course, Georgia could guess this situation. But the more this was the case, the more Georgia became worried.

Six years ago, when Vanessa was bullied and eventually even got pregnant, Georgia had long speculated that Rachel had done it.

Now that Rachel had taken Vanessa away again. Georgia didn't dare to think about what Rachel would do this time.

If she did anything worse and more vicious than she did six years ago, what worried Georgia most was whether Vanessa's mental state could sustain her to pull through.

While Georgia was thinking this, she found Robert making a phone call to her.

She suddenly had a feeling that Vanessa had been found, and Georgia excitedly picked up the phone.

"Robert, is there any news about Vanessa? Where is she now?"

"I've already found her. She's in a bad condition and is in the hospital. Alfred is also on his way here now. I will take Vanessa to your hospital. Don't panic. You'll see her later."

Robert's words filled Georgia's heart with surprise. She asked curiously.

"What the hell is going on? When did you find Vanessa and what happened to her?"

Georgia asked in a panic, while Robert was somewhat silent.

"Later, I will transfer Vanessa to the hospital where you are, and we will talk about it then. You just wait inside the hospital and don't worry. In about two hours, I will bring her to the hospital you are in."

After saying that, Robert hung up the phone. Travis asked next to her.

"Is Robert saying that he found Vanessa? What the hell is going on?"

Georgia shook her head with a bitter smile.

"He didn't make it clear over the phone, but he did say that Vanessa wasn't doing well and was mentally unstable. Rachel must have done a lot to torture Vanessa. But Robert said he would take Vanessa and transfer her to the hospital we are in. I will be able to see Vanessa then. He told me to calm down now and stay inside the hospital and wait."

Georgia breathed a sigh of relief when she confirmed Vanessa's safety.

However, when she thought of what Robert said about Vanessa's unstable mental condition, Georgia couldn't put her mind at ease.

She hoped that there wouldn't be too much trouble. Vanessa had already encountered so many hardships, and she hoped Vanessa would not be defeated this time.

Robert was true to his word. After an hour or so, Robert made another phone call.

"Vanessa has been transferred to this hospital. She is in a coma and is in the third room on your floor. You can come and see her now."

Hearing Robert's words, Georgia spoke up excitedly to Travis.

"Vanessa is in the third ward on my floor! Come on, let's go there now."

Travis had been recovering from his injuries for four days and was still in a wheelchair. Georgia could barely stand. She pushed Travis's wheelchair to Vanessa's ward.

Vanessa's eyes were closed and her face was white as she lay on the hospital bed, looking particularly haggard.

Robert was sitting on the couch, and next to him was a tall, beautiful woman.

The woman was wearing a long red dress and looked like a strong woman. Georgia had not seen this woman before. She didn't know how to speak, and Robert had already introduced her to Georgia.

"Georgia, Mr. Armstrong, this is a friend of mine. Her name is Eliana Warner. She is my alumna when I was in college."

Georgia nodded to the woman called Eliana. The woman's intuition told her that these two people might be more than simple alumni.

"Hello, Ms. Warner, I am Georgia."

After Eliana opened her mouth to introduce herself, she took the initiative to walk up to Georgia and Travis. Then she extended her hand and shook Georgia's.

"Miss Lane, hi, my name is Eliana. Robert and I went to the same school. I heard that you and Robert are getting married. Congratulations."

Eliana spoke in a dignified and polite manner, and did not seem to have the slightest malice toward her.

However, she didn't know if it was her illusion, but Georgia was sure that Eliana's voice was the same one she had heard on the phone yesterday.

She was unable to feel any affinity for the woman in front of her, and could only respond politely.

After the pleasantries of introduction were done, Georgia asked Robert.

"What the hell is going on? How did you find Vanessa? Did she encounter something serious?"

Georgia asked anxiously. Thinking about it, she couldn't help but ask another question.

"Also, what about Rachel? Has this woman been caught?"

Robert was about to answer when the ward door was thrown open again. Alfred rushed in like a madman.

"She's already sedated. Don't you shout and wake her up."

Eliana spoke to the man who rushed in. She could see that the man who came in was a bit agitated, and it was necessary for her to remind him.

Alfred didn't know Eliana. He looked at Vanessa, who was lying on the hospital bed with a pale face, and went to Robert's face and asked the same question as Georgia.

"Where's Rachel? Did you catch her? And, how did you find Vanessa? Is she in a serious condition now?"

Alfred and Georgia both dared not ask in detail what had happened to Vanessa.

"Although Vanessa has been sedated, let's talk in another room to avoid waking her up."

Robert spoke up, and his tone increasingly flustered Georgia.

However, she had no choice but to follow Robert to one of the hospital's parlors.

After everyone was seated, Robert spoke up.

"I didn't catch Rachel, and she just escaped. As for how I found the news about Vanessa, it's Eliana who told me. Eliana, you tell them what you know."

Georgia and Alfred both looked at the woman named Eliana in confusion. Eliana smiled politely at the crowd.

"I received an anonymous email that named the place where Vanessa was being held. He reminded me that I could tell Robert about it. Since I knew Robert, so I called him to confirm this thing. Then Robert got someone to go to that place and get Vanessa out ... but, after Robert's people went there, only Vanessa was left bruised and battered, and no one else was there. In fact, we couldn't guess what had happened to Vanessa there."

"It's just that Vanessa has been in a state of collapse and confusion since our people found her. There seems to be a slight problem with her mental condition, but I've contacted some international psychologists. When she wakes up, they will give her a psychological examination, and only then can we see if her situation is serious."

Eliana's explanation left Georgia and Alfred incomprehensible. Alfred asked impulsively already.

"Ms. Warner, I'm sorry, but I've never heard of you, and you and Vanessa don't know each other. Why did you receive this anonymous email, and by the time you went there, it just so happened that everyone else had disappeared?"

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 196 Sorrow

Alfred Chow spoke with clear suspicion in his words. Eliana's appearance was just too sudden.

She said that she received an anonymous email and that she was notified where Vanessa Cooke was. Then, she brought Robert Simpson's people to bring Vanessa back. However, Rachel Scott's people disappeared. There was obviously a problem there.

Georgia Lane also had that kind of speculation. She just couldn't understand how an unknown woman could be involved in Vanessa's matter.

Vanessa and Eliana didn't know each other at all.

"My guess is that the anonymous email was probably sent to me by Rachel. I already asked Robert about the dispute among Rachel, Miss Cooke, and you. She probably grew her hatred out of her love for you. That's why she wanted to torment the woman you love. You can check Vanessa's physical examination report to see what injuries she has. The doctor will send the report to my phone after a while. As to why Rachel sent the message anonymously to me, she probably misunderstood something. She must have thought I have a special relationship with Robert. I think she also still hates Miss Lane. Since Miss Lane is Miss Cooke's best friend, she wanted to drive a wedge between Miss Lane and Robert's relationship by letting me get between you guys."

"What special relationship between you two did she misunderstand?"

Georgia took the initiative and asked.

"Miss Lane, please don't get me wrong. Rachel thought Robert and I are each other's exes. But the truth is there was no such thing. I hope you don't misunderstand. I really sincerely wish your relationship with Robert to be well."

It turned out that her hunch was right. She had always thought that she wasn't an ordinary person.

However, she spoke so calmly. Though she was a bit jealous and had different speculations and doubts in mind, Georgia could only put these down and politely respond to the person in front of her.

"I understand. Thank you for informing Robert right away and saving Vanessa. You mentioned Vanessa's physical examination report a while ago. How long will it take before they give it to us?"

Alfred also anxiously watched Robert and Eliana from the side.

Vanessa looked really bad, so Georgia and Alfred were extremely scared.

But, what injuries did Vanessa have? Both of them really wanted to know right now.

“The examination report was done in another hospital. It would probably be sent to my phone after a while. I’ll send it to you. Please patiently wait for a while.”

Eliana spoke again. She even took the initiative to add their contact numbers so that she could easily send the report to them.

Alfred and Georgia both exchanged numbers with Eliana.

After they talked it out, they all went back to Vanessa’s ward and waited for the examination report.

However, before the examination report came out, Georgia saw that Elsie Clarke gave her a phone call.

“I already saw the message you sent me. You said that Vanessa was found and is in the hospital right now. Where is she? I’m coming back to the hospital right now.”

“She’s here at the three rooms in front of my ward. Come here.

We're all here right now."

After Georgia finished speaking, the other side immediately hung up.

Elsie quickly rushed over. Once she saw Vanessa was sleeping and unconsciously lying on the bed, Elsie rushed over and cried as she held Vanessa's hand.

Fortunately, Vanessa was still alive. Her sister was still alive.

If the sister whom she just met would leave her so soon, Elsie would feel that she brought bad luck to her.

Fortunately, Vanessa was still alive. Elsie felt like she was alive again.

She had always loathed herself and lived a muddled life.

However, Elsie only had the courage to change her life after she met her sister.

She felt that she could change her way of life.

“You’ve said before that you don’t know who the older sister and younger sister are among us. From now on, you are my older sister. Sister, you need to wake up. I will never let anyone hurt you again in the future.”

Georgia could feel her heart aching as she listened to what Elsie was saying.

“The report is out. Come look at it.”

Eliana suddenly spoke. Georgia anxiously opened the electronic report.

There were only identifications of the bruises on her body on the electronic report.

Her lower body was all torn with a few stitches, and her knees and wrists all had cartilaginous bruises...Big and small bruises were all over her body. There were burn marks and also cuts from sharp tools...The ligaments on her hands and legs are also all broken...

She already had a surgery done now, while the wounds and bruises were all bandaged.

Georgia no longer had the courage to stand up straight. She lay limped and speechless on the floor.

She had already guessed that Vanessa would be tortured ruthlessly, but Georgia only knew how great the impact was after reading the electronic report.

Vanessa, who was so gentle and afraid of pain, was already humiliated six years ago. Georgia couldn't guarantee that Vanessa would still remain calm after waking up. Even she was feeling hopeless already.

How could God be so cruel? Although Vanessa was not an angel, she had never offended nor hurt anyone.

She was a kind young lady, but how could God be so cruel to Vanessa?

Vanessa already lost the love of her life. She had even lost her child six years ago. Up until this point, was she going to destroy Vanessa's will to live?

Georgia knew very well that Vanessa wasn't a strong person.

Vanessa almost didn't make it when her baby died after being born six years ago.

However, Vanessa only regained her will to live after Georgia asked her to take care of her child not long after.

Because of the pain from losing her own child, Vanessa treated Annie like her own child. This helped her slowly walk out of her pain and grief.

However, how should she help Vanessa get through this pain now?

With a “bang”, Georgia saw Alfred kneeling in front of Vanessa’s bed.

When she realized that what happened to Vanessa was all because of Rachel and that Rachel did this because of Alfred, Georgia angrily walked to Alfred’s side.

She raised both of her hands high and slapped hard on Alfred’s face.

“It’s all because of you! You are the one who made Vanessa suffer! If she didn’t meet you back then, that wouldn’t have happened to Vanessa six years ago... If she hadn’t met you, she wouldn't be humiliated by you this year. She wouldn't be humiliated by everyone in the wedding. If she didn't meet you, she wouldn't be kidnapped again by Rachel and suffer from this ruthless torture... How do you still have the nerve to stay here?! Get out! Get out of here!"

Georgia was about to collapse already. She angrily pulled Alfred's clothes from behind. She wanted to drag him out.

Her heart ached every time she looked at Alfred.

The man in front of her was no longer the man Vanessa loved. He was the devil that made Vanessa miserable.

"Miss Lane, please calm down!"

"Gigi, you're weak right now. Don't be too emotional."

Eliana and Robert spoke from the side. Robert even wanted to push the wheelchair here to comfort Georgia.

However, Georgia angrily stared at both of them in front of her. She coldly criticized them.

“Calm down? How can I calm down? Both of you shut up. If you keep talking, you should also get out of here! Didn’t you see this report? Vanessa is a weak lady. How can she withstand all of these? Can’t I even curse and scold the culprit?”

Elsie immediately snatched Georgia’s phone from her hand.

She didn’t have much schooling, but she still understood a few basic words.

After briefly reading the report, Elsie suddenly kicked Alfred’s abdomen harshly.

Her eyes were fierce and filled with anger.

“Get out of here right now! You don’t deserve to stay inside my sister’s ward. You don’t deserve to live here. Get out of here! Believe it or not, I’ll stab you to death if you still don’t go away!”

Elsie sounded extremely vicious and cruel.

However, Alfred knelt motionlessly in front of the bed. No matter how mean or how much Elsie kicked and punched him, he still silently knelt in front of the bed.

“Robert, I only want to ask you to do one thing. Let the security guards drag him out. I think I’ll go crazy if he continues to stay here! I’ll never forgive you if you don’t help me.”

Georgia spoke to Robert like that. Her eyes and tone both looked and sounded extremely resolute.

Robert sighed. He took out his phone and made a phone call.

They didn’t know what he said. After a while, four men in black suits entered and forcibly took Alfred away.

At this moment.

Georgia still felt the unbearable pain in her heart. Elsie immediately hugged Georgia and cried together.

Georgia didn't want to talk to Robert. She felt that only Elsie understood her pain right now. Anyone else couldn't understand her.

Afterwards, Eliana and Robert left the ward. It was also time for Travis Armstrong to change his medicine, so he also left the ward.

Georgia and Elsie were left alone silently sitting inside Vanessa's ward. They held hands and silently cried.

"Gigi, is the culprit still not caught? I want to kill Alfred... I know that my sister don't want me to walk the same path I walked before. She wants me to happily walk the right path. But how about Rachel? She's so evil and cruel. Was she punished for it already?"

"They said they didn't catch the culprit. I also want her to be severely punished.”

Georgia cried as she spoke to Elsie. They gazed at each other with eyes full of pain.

“My sister is a gentle person. Will she be able to bear it?”

Elsie worriedly asked again. Georgia shook her head.

“Sometimes, I think Vanessa’s strong. But sometimes, I also think that she’s weak. However, whether or not Vanessa’s a strong or weak person, she shouldn’t have experienced all of these. She deserves the best love and care in the world.”

“This world is really unfair. If my sister really becomes crazy, I’ll never abandon her. I’ll take care of her for the rest of my life.”

Elsie spoke from the side and made up her mind with red eyes.

She was bullied and humiliated before. When she was sold to the red light district, she had seen too many innocent and childish girls deceived to that place and went insane after being harassed by a bunch of men. They became more and more pitiful.

At that time, Elsie kept telling herself not to care about those men. She was just selling her body anyway, so she didn't want to become a pathetic lunatic. She wanted to continue living.

Elsie was able to persist and escape by relying on that kind of spirit.

However, she didn't dare to have any faith in her sister.

She had seen too many young ladies die because of that kind of trauma. However, she already considered Vanessa as her sister. No matter what her sister's mental condition would be once she woke up, she would stay by her side and protect her.

Even if she really went crazy, she would be by her sister's side.

“We will be by her side. Don’t be afraid. We need to be strong because she needs us. At least, we shouldn’t be crying like right now especially when Vanessa wakes up. Vanessa will only become sadder if she has a strong will, but we don’t.”

Georgia comforted her.

“You’re right. We need to be stronger. You were wronged and became a murderer in a car accident. Because of that, you went to jail for six years. You’re extremely strong! As for me, I’ve escaped from humiliation and death multiple times already since I was young. I’m not afraid of anything. Nothing can defeat us with the two of us by her side.”

They just silently talked like that, but Vanessa never woke up.

Instead, Annie came back to the hospital again in the afternoon.

Mrs. Bender sent her into Vanessa’s ward and then Georgia took Annie inside.

“Mommy, I heard that we’ve found Vanessa already, but why is she still laying on the hospital bed now? Why wouldn’t she wake up? Why does she look so pale and weak? Is she sick?”

Annie childishly asked.

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 197 I'll Try to Understand You

“Vanessa is hurt now, she's sick, don't worry Annie, Vanessa will be healthy again as long as she stays in the hospital for some time, don't worry, okay?”

Georgia could only console Annie like that, she couldn't explain what happened to Vanessa now.

Annie was such a small child, Georgia just hoped that Annie wouldn't be worried.

Annie didn't understand what happened to Vanessa, Annie obviously thought that she was asleep because she ate the medicine and she'd probably be able to wake up on the next day.

She happily nodded.

“Mommy, I get it, I'll wait for her to wake up patiently... I hope that she can get well soon and get discharged.”

“Then you can sit by her side and talk to her, she'll be very happy to hear your voice.”

Georgia said that to Annie, but Annie was quite confused.

“Isn't Mommy sleeping now? If I keep talking on the side of the bed, won't it affect her rest?”

“No, you're her beloved daughter, she has left for several days, now she definitely wants to hear your voice, then she'll wake up earlier to see you, isn't that good?”

Annie believed Georgia's words, she sat on the sofa beside Vanessa, then she started talking some intimate things to Vanessa.

Georgia forced out a gratified smile.

Vanessa had lost her child back then, she was very sad, she really raised Annie as her own child.

Vanessa had been putting countless efforts throughout the past few years, Annie could be considered as the most important person for Vanessa.

There were so many things that happened to Vanessa, Georgia was really afraid that Vanessa would give up on her consciousness and not willing to wake up.

She told Annie to talk beside Vanessa's bed, hoping that she could awaken Vanessa's memory so Vanessa could wake up and face it bravely.

It's just that, Annie had talked continuously for an hour beside Vanessa's sickbed, Vanessa still didn't wake up.

In the evening, Mrs. Bender already came to the ward.

“Madam, should I send her home? Mr. Simpson is also outside, he wants to ask when will you have dinner?”

Georgia knew that she couldn't let Annie stay in the hospital, Annie should rest well for several days for her surgery in the weekend.

She walked to Annie's side.

“Annie, just go home with Mr. Housekeeper first, only at home can you sleep and rest well, eat more, you’re going to have surgery in a few days, you can’t act recklessly.”

“Then what about Mommy? Will anyone accompany Mommy tonight? I'm afraid that Mommy will be very disappointed if I'm not here when she's awake.”

“It's fine, I'll accompany you in the ward, I'll tell her that you came to visit today if Vanessa wakes up in the middle of the night, she just hopes that you rest well until you have a good physical condition to undergo the surgery.”

This time, Annie nodded obediently.

“I understand, I'll go home with Mr. Housekeeper and I'll eat well, Mommy, when Vanessa wakes up, just forget it if it's at midnight, but if it's at daytime, don't forget to video call me, I really want to talk with Vanessa.”

Georgia smiled as she nodded, only then the housekeeper brought Annie away from the ward.

Soon after, Georgia spoke to Elsie.

“No matter how, we shouldn't fall down, since it's dinner time, let's go and eat first, we don't know how Vanessa's condition will be when she wakes up, we must take care of ourselves, and we can't act strong now.”

Elsie didn't refute Georgia's words, even if she was reluctant to leave, she understood her.

She couldn't fall down first without knowing how Vanessa's condition would be when she woke up.

“Okay then, let's go out and have some dinner.”

Right after Elsie said that, she noticed how Georgia looked in her medical attire.

“Otherwise, let's just order takeaway from a restaurant, you can only eat light foods now, just order a porridge.”

Seeing how Elsie could already be concerned for others, Georgia smiled.

“Robert is probably waiting for our answer outside, let's go out first, perhaps he'll take us out for a meal, he has a car, what are you worried about?”

“I somehow feel that she's still here, she appears inexplicably, I don't really want to see her.”

Georgia knew that the woman Elsie mentioned was Eliana, she had told Elsie about Eliana.

At that time, Elsie's attitude towards Eliana wasn't that good. On one hand, Elsie felt that she was interested in Robert, on the other hand she also felt that she knew the news of her sister, if she was going to tell the truth, it'd always made people feel full of conspiracy.

“Don't mind her, it's important to eat first.”

Georgia advised Elsie, grabbed Elsie's hand, and they walked out hand in hand.

As expected, Robert was sitting in the wheelchair outside of the ward, waiting for them.

As for Eliana, she just stood by Robert's wheelchair, seeing the two of them coming out, Eliana smiled towards Georgia and Elsie.

“Robert said to wait for you and have dinner together, I have booked a top class restaurant's VIP room, it's the right time to go now, the chef there is a world class top chef, it's very hard to book him.”

If it was at ordinary times, Elsie would definitely be tempted by the world's top chef and top restaurant.

But at that time, she really had no interest at all.

“I just want to order and eat some porridge, I have no appetite, Eliana, I might have to pass.”

Elsie just said that politely, she understood that even if she didn't like that woman, she could still pull up an act.

Georgia also nodded beside her.

“It's preferable for me to eat light food now, Elsie and I already planned on buying porridge and eat it here, if you have an appointment with Robert to eat at that restaurant and the chef is very hard to book, just go and eat now, don't mind us.”

Georgia spoke very calmly, she really didn't want to care whether there's a problem between Eliana and Robert at that time.

She only thought of Vanessa's consciousness and how Vanessa would go through that hardship in the future.

Regarding Robert and her, Georgia didn't want to think about it any further.

The two of them had refused like that so Robert just said.

“Since you don't want to go out and have a meal, I'll tell my assistant to order a bowl of porridge for me too, the three of us can just eat porridge at the hospital... By the way, Travis probably can't eat anything with sharp flavor too, I'll order another portion of porridge.”

After saying that, Robert looked at Eliana.

“Senior, it's very hard to book that chef but I have no interest in having a meal with you today, plus you have been busy all day today too, you can go home now and rest well, thank you for today.”

Eliana's expression was quite awkward, those people consecutively rejected her dinner invitation, she had to force a smile out.

“I understand, it is indeed unsuitable to go out and eat now, Robert, Ms. Lane, Ms. Clarke, next time I'll treat you to a meal.”

She smiled politely, Eliana soon said goodbye, turned around, and left.

After seeing that she disappeared at the corridor, Georgia spoke to Robert.

“Actually you don't need to force yourself and stay with us, we both want to eat porridge, you can eat whatever you want, as for Travis, we can just go over and ask him... Aren't you very busy with company matters these days? You can just go back and take care of your own matter, Vanessa has been found anyway, you don't need to stay in the hospital any longer, I can take good care of myself.”

Georgia spoke sensibly and gently, Robert sighed.

“Are you angry? I was not by your side these few days, it's my fault, I apologize to you.”

Georgia just shook her head.

“I don't want to talk about these things now, I only care about Vanessa regaining her consciousness, Robert, what you said before was right, we should calm ourselves down and think about our problem.”

After Georgia said that, she was going to pull Elsie's hand and leave, Robert immediately grabbed Georgia's wrist.

“I don't know what made you angry, if it's because I was not by your side last few days... That's because you hid things from me, about your pregnancy, I'm angry at heart but I don't want to be angry at you, I just suppress all these feelings and digest it on my own, no matter how, I don't want to be fierce in front of you, I'm not a perfect guy that can be gentle and tolerant all the time to the woman he likes, I'm just afraid that when I expose another side, I'll make you even sadder.”

“But what I fear the most is that you'll leave me after I can't control my emotions and make you sad, Georgia, you can be angry about many things but don't doubt my intentions, I didn't even ask for an explanation from you, I want to understand and be considerate for you under any circumstances ... Shouldn't you give me a chance? If you tell me, what did I do badly, what made you angry? I'll correct myself... Or what did you misunderstand? I'll explain it clearly... I won't demand you to explain what happened to you if you're not willing to, but if there's anything that makes you discontented or misunderstand me, as long as you say it out, I'm willing to explain it clearly.”

“Just talk to him first, I'll go to Travis' ward and order some porridge, what do you want? You can just come and eat it later.”

Elsie spoke to Georgia, she felt like an interference if she kept staying here.

It'd be better to let them talk it out.

“Just plain porridge, I just want to eat such simple meal.”

Georgia answered Elsie's question, soon, Elsie turned around and walked towards Travis' ward.

After some time, there were only Robert and Georgia left around that place.

“Let's find a place to talk clearly about what happened these few days.”

Robert said that, in the end, the two of them walked to a VIP lounge.

After shutting the door, Georgia spoke out about the sulks in her heart.

She thought that what Robert said was true, she's the first one who hid her pregnancy and miscarriage, it was normal for Robert to get angry.

But he had chosen to understand her thoroughly, he didn't try to get to the heart of the matter either, so she shouldn't overdo it either.____

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 198 She Wants to Commit Suicide

“I have never had another man. This child is yours.”

Gigi was silent for a moment before she said this.

Robert felt that he was no more depressed and he was delighted as they spoke frankly with each other.

“I have never suspected that this miscarried baby was someone else's. I wouldn't think in that way. Didn't you believe me before?”

Gigi shook her head with a rueful smile.

“I have no confidence. I’m such an insecure person and I can’t trust anyone completely. Am I ridiculous?”

She said resignedly to Robert. He shook his head and held her hands when she was sitting in front of him.

“It’s not your fault. Maybe I wasn’t good enough, so you can’t trust me completely. Even though I’m probably a long way from being perfect, you will trust me completely one day.”

Both of them spoke their minds. Gigi felt more comfortable too.

“Actually there are many reasons. I knew early that I was pregnant, but our relationship wasn’t confirmed yet at the beginning. At that time, you hated my guts and I was scared that you would straight away force me to have an abortion after I told you about it.”

“I had treated you badly in the past. No wonder you couldn’t fully trust me until now.”

“After that, I knew how protective and caring you were of me. At that time, the evidence of the perpetrator of the road accident had not been fully exposed. I had been worried about your mother and I thought that she wouldn’t allow me to have this child... Moreover, I wasn’t sure if you were interested of me on a whim and always able to stay by my side. I thought you’re the one who will never abandon your mother and may make a choice between me and her, thus I concealed it until you lose interest in me.”

Robert felt frustrated after listening to her explanation.

All kinds of matters accumulated, causing them to lose their child.

“Then what happened afterwards? Why did you still not tell me about our child after confirming our relationship in the airport?”

“It was because I did a checkup and the doctor told me that this child may not be able to survive as the child may have some problems. How dare I tell you since I was extremely sad as you may also be upset if you know it. I don’t want to make you upset.”

He quickly hugged Gigi when she said this.

“You’re such a fool! We’ll get married and we’ll not only enjoy those great times together, but support and share the pains together. How could you endure all the stress alone? How could you be so stupid?”

“I just didn’t dare to tell you at that time, but in fact I had mustered my courage and tried to tell you several times. However, it was interrupted by several accidents until the day before miscarriage. I suffered from stomachache after working and went to hospital for a checkup again. The doctor told me the baby was stillborn and asked me to have surgery as soon as possible. I was about to freak out and I had no ideas on telling you this, so I just went back home and lay down in despair.

However, Sherlyn suddenly knocked my door, then I was kidnapped, causing me to miscarry...”

“The fates had conspired against us. I’m sad that I didn’t protect our child well.”

She explained the ins and outs of the matter clearly. All the doubts and fears in his mind disappeared.

Thing that he was most afraid of before was that Gigi didn’t love him and perhaps she was just touched for a moment.

Only now he gained some confidence.

“After confirming that you had miscarriage, I knew you had made an appointment for an abortion. In those days, I always wondered if I made a fool of myself. In fact you didn’t love me at all, that’s why you didn’t trust me and conceal everything from me. I was really angry... I even decided to leave you. Actually I didn’t go abroad for work and I just lived in another place, trying to digest those emotions. I’m sorry for making you upset.”

Since they had cleared up the misunderstandings, Gigi felt much more comfortable as the secret which made her depressed had finally been made clear.

“Of course, it’s normal that you was angry with me as I hid the truth. I’m sorry and I apologized to you, Robert. At that day, I had called you for the whole day, but you didn’t answer it until night. I heard there was a woman asking you whether the clothes was beautiful. My heart was broken at that moment and I had always wondering what were you doing recently. Until now, I still wondered about it.”

He smirked when Gigi said this.

“You were jealous.”

When Robert said this tenderly, her face turned red all of a sudden.

“The day before you called me, I underwent my first neurosurgery, but I had a fever at night. The next day, I was in a coma, so I couldn't answer your call. When I woke up at night, my senior came as I had asked for her help to find the news about Vanessa. I had almost asked all my friends to investigate Vanessa, so after senior received that anonymous email, she took the initiative to see me."

"Senior is a bit weird as she likes to wear several suits every day and asks others whether her clothes are beautiful. This's her pet phrase and she cares a lot about her image. You really misunderstood it."

Robert said frankly while Gigi started to ask worriedly.

"Was your situation so bad after surgery? How are you doing now? Wasn't your surgery successful this time? What to do next?"

“It was just simply a fever, not that the surgery was unsuccessful. Don’t worry.”

Gigi just felt relieved after Robert assured her.

“What about after that?”

“The doctor said before that I’ll need to undergo several more neurosurgeries before I can have rehabilitation. So far there’re two more surgeries to go, one surgery after a month and for the third, it depends on my recovery.”

She was relieved.

Although she just helped to push the wheelchairs once in a while, she knew how troublesome it was for Robert to sit in it.

She was distressed even though he didn’t say anything. She eagerly hoped that he could finish his surgeries soon and do rehabilitation.

She wanted to see him get back on his feet.

“You little fool are jealous of senior!”

He touched the tip of her nose. He looked gentle and seemed to be happy when Gigi was jealous.

He wasn't confident, but he became more convinced that he wasn't making a fool of himself after confirming that Gigi was jealous because of him.

“Why there's still someone misunderstanding that both of you are ex-couple and the person who misunderstood is Rachel Scott? Is she still trying to make mischief between all of us? Why does she have such confidence? When will this woman be caught? I really hope that she will suffer something which is a thousand times more painful than Vanessa. She likes Alfred Chow, but she tortured Vanessa deliberately. I really hate this kind of woman the most!”

“When we were in university, she studied at a higher grade, but we both had similar hobbies, so we had participated in various research competitions. Basically, I won the first place while she took the second place, so everyone gave us a nickname, Simpson couple... they were just kidding. We would also meet each other usually as there were a lot of club meetings. I wanted to clarify the truth but there was a pervert courting her and even did several serious things, thus she asked me not to clarify the truth so the pervert would give up. At that time, I didn't refuse it because I was single."

"I had been pretended as her boyfriend until she graduated. This thing had happened many years ago and the people just followed the crowd to talk about it. Perhaps Rachel have investigated my past and misunderstood my relationship with senior. She likes Alfred but she tortured the woman whom Alfred likes and even implicated us. Don't worry, I have asked people to look for Rachel. As long as we find her, you can do whatever you want to revenge for Vanessa. I'll help you to deal with the aftermath."

This made Gigi happy. She wasn't a reasonable person.

Before he said clearly how was his relationship with Eliana, she would have different speculations and would also be jealous as she was ordinary.

She could be sure that Robert had no other special feeling towards Eliana.

However, Gigi suspected that Eliana might still like him after Robert telling their past.

This stupid man didn't seem to think that at all. Gigi didn't know if she had guessed it correct or wrong.

If it was true, she felt a bit sorry for Eliana.

She kept implying herself that it was better not to imagine anymore. Probably they were just schoolmates.

She didn't bother about the matter as the most important thing right now was to help Vanessa to get through this difficulty.

"Of course we can't let Rachel go. As for Alfred, I really hope that he had nothing to do with Vanessa anymore... hope that she will forget about those pains when she wakes up.”

Then, Gigi brought Robert to Travis Armstrong’s ward.

Elsie Clarke had already ordered four bowls of porridge. Four of them settled their dinner inside the ward.

At night, Elsie went to sleep in Vanessa’s ward. Since Gigi would have an infusion, she could only return to her ward.

Robert didn’t leave and he followed Gigi to her ward, intending to accompany her.

However, this was a restless night.

Elsie’s panicked voice woke up everyone who were sleeping in the surrounding rooms at midnight.

When Gigi and Robert rushed to Vanessa’s ward, they saw Elsie embracing Vanessa tightly.

Both of them standing near to the window. If Elsie loosened her grip and let her go, Vanessa would straight away jump down. _____

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 199 Vanessa Was Crushed

Georgia madly rushed to Vanessa and tightly held her as Elsie.

Vanessa kept struggling to get away from them, and she wanted to jump off the window.

Elsie could not pull Vanessa back from the window herself. But after Georgia came to help her, the two of them had made much ado, and they finally pulled Vanessa back from the window.

The three women were flat on the floor.

“You're my elder sister. We've just acquainted with each other. Why do you want to leave me?”

Elsie collapsed and cried on the floor while Vanessa was silent and sat soullessly there.

Georgia felt heartbroken and sad to see Vanessa like this.

“Vanessa, say something to us. We've been gone through so much, and those pains will all blow over. Your life can start over now, so don't leave us. Annie has been waiting for you to wake up.”

Vanessa sat dully on the ground and paid no heed to anyone.

She knew that she could not jump off the window at this time. She did not struggle and freak out. She sat on the floor in silence.

“It's better to help her to the bed.”

Robert said by the side. He wanted to go over and help them, but his legs were injured. He could only watch Georgia rushed over to Vanessa and pulled her back from the window.

It made Robert's heartache to see the three women collapsed on the floor.

Not many people would have been able to bear what Vanessa had suffered.

An innocent and weak woman suffered such great pain. Robert could understand that Vanessa was in an emotional breakdown.

Georgia and Elsie got Vanessa up from the ground and then helped her to the bed to rest.

Vanessa was at the mercy of them, and she did not resist. She looked like a soulless puppet.

Vanessa's heart was probably like dead ashes. Georgia did not know what to say.

She was afraid that the more she said, the more desperate Vanessa would be.

Elsie cried out next to Vanessa.

“Vanessa, I've said that you're my elder sister from that time onwards. How can you not say anything? I haven't learned any skills yet. I haven't even started my life over yet. What should I do if you are like this in the future? I want us to live happily together as a family. Vanessa, don't leave me, okay?”

Elsie cried loudly, and her voice was full of sadness. But Vanessa did not even move her eyes.

She seemed to have lost the ability to communicate with others. When Georgia saw Vanessa refused to talk with others, she wondered that Vanessa would seek death again after they left. Did Vanessa have no expectations for the world?

“Vanessa, it's midnight. I will ask Annie to come over to keep you company tomorrow. She is worried about you. Can you smile at her tomorrow?”

Vanessa remained silent.

“Let's have a psychologist come over to check her situation tomorrow. It's too late now. You guys have a good rest. I'll find someone to guard this place. No. I'll find a few more people to guard here in case there is any more accident.”

Robert said by the side, and he thought that it was dangerous if nobody guard in Vanessa's ward when he saw Vanessa like this.

However, Georgia and Elsie needed to rest, and Robert would find someone to guard the ward. It would be better for Vanessa to move to a safer room.

Georgia accepted Robert's decision. Vanessa did not react at all, at the mercy of them to place two bodyguards on guard inside her ward. Both of the bodyguards took turns on duty.

Georgia handed out a glass of water to Vanessa. Vanessa took a sip of water, then lay on the bed and closed her eyes.

Georgia did not know whether to be gratified or sad when she saw Vanessa like this. Vanessa at least was healthy and alive, and she was not crazily looking for death.

But it did not seem to be anything to be happy.

In the first half of the night, Elsie continued to stay next to Vanessa's bed, and the bodyguards sent by Robert guarded the ward.

In the latter half of the night, Georgia and Robert returned to the ward where they were staying.

“Robert, there is no much help for Vanessa even the psychologist comes tomorrow. Habit cures habit. I don't know whether Vanessa is suffered from too much pain and could not face the days in her future, or she has no courage to live. I don't know what to do in this situation.”

“That depends on what is the most painful thing she suffered from and what she wants to do the most. Take your time. If Vanessa has a mental problem, I believe that you will always be by her side, even it takes a year or a few years to recover, as long as she is alive. I will also help you.”

“Robert, thank you. There are so many things happening around me, and I always have to trouble you.”

Robert smiled.

“It's just a small matter. Who else can you depend on if I can't make it? Then how am I qualified to be your boyfriend, even to be your husband in the future?”

Georgia felt warm on the inside. She had not recovered yet, and she fell asleep in the latter half of the night after she had a long day.

Georgia intended to go directly to Vanessa's ward the next morning.

She woke up and saw Robert was looking at the documents next to her. They made a smile eyes to eyes.

There was a sudden knock on the ward door before she spoke.

Soon Ivan came into the ward who was a person that Georgia did not expect.

Ivan walked in with Annie in his arms, and the housekeeper followed behind.

Annie flew to Georgia's side as soon as she came in.

“Mommy, I got up early today and came over to meet you. Where's Vanessa? Has she woken up yet? I want to meet her so much.”

“Vanessa has woken up, but she's in a bad mood now. We'll go over to her later. How did you come over with Ivan?”

Georgia curiously asked, and Ivan answered directly by the side.

“Georgia, I want to meet you guys. I had not visited you since you had hospitalized. I went abroad and had an operation job a few days ago. I won't go elsewhere these days and prepare with ease for Annie's operation after few days. I went directly to the villa this morning and realized that Robert was not at home. He is in hospital with you. I accompanied Annie to come over to the hospital since she was also coming.”

So that was what it was. Georgia and Ivan had a state of being friends. She thanked.

“You have to prepare for Annie's operation within these few days. I'm sorry to trouble you.”

Ivan showed more respect to Georgia. He thought that Georgia was a polite and dignified woman after much contact with her. She was not an evil-minded woman that he suspected before, and she was not playing Robert's feeling.

He blessed Robert and Georgia, and his dislikes for Georgia dissipated.

Ivan always felt that Georgia looked like Emilia at that time. He did not have this feeling anymore after much contact with her. His detestation for Georgia had disappeared as well.

Ivan seemed to want to talk with Robert. At the same time, Georgia decided to visit Vanessa. She got out of the bed, and she held Annie and said.

“It seems like you guys have to talk about something. I'll take Annie to Vanessa's ward now. We'll meet again if something comes up.”

Robert nodded after Georgia spoke.

“Go ahead and remember to look for me if there's anything.”

After Georgia and Annie left, Ivan sat next to Robert.

“I heard that you had a high fever after your first surgery. How did that happen? I didn't ask earlier. Did it affect your body?”

“It's not a big deal. It's just my body will recover more slowly. I didn't think earlier that it was anything serious with being in a wheelchair for a year. But it seems that there is a lot of inconveniences now.”

Ivan asked amusingly next to him.

“Is it felt inconvenient because you can't hold your woman in your arms? A gorgeous and pretty woman is right beside you, and she had told you her true feeling. Is it frustrating that you can only watch her but can't touch her?"

Ivan teased while Robert smiled helplessly.

"How can you think so much? Sometimes I wish that I can stand up and rush to her side to hug or stand to her side and hold her hand. But I can't make it and lament about this. It's not like what you think. Am I that superficial?"

Ivan laughed at him by the side. Both of them talked for a while then Ivan started to ask again.

"Have you caught the person behind the kidnapping of Georgia?"

Ivan knew that Georgia had miscarried. He felt pity for Georgia and Robert. If there was a baby, they should have immediately get married. However, they could only delay the wedding.

"It's still under investigation. The person behind disappears without a trace. We're looking for the person for many days, but we have no idea where the person goes. I always think that Rachel had released Vanessa herself, but I don't understand her intention. Alfred is still investigating this, and he may hold some important information.”

“Georgia has been cleared her name from the plagiarism injustice, and everyone knew that the Lane family concealed the truth about the car accident. You said earlier that you would deal with the Lane family after these. Is it dragging because of the sudden kidnapping of Georgia in these two days? I heard that the Lane family has gone bankrupt, and the investors have all withdrawn their capital. They are like rats scampering in the street who everybody wants to beat up. Do you know this? Is it you who did it?”

Robert shook his head.

“I've intervened part of it, but I'm not the only one who did it. My dad did it as well. He feels guilty for Wendy and me, and he wants to avenge Wendy. Although I don't like him to intervene, I'll cooperate and work with him for the avenge of Wendy. His power is slightly stronger than mine, and his means are ruthless and fast. The Lane family is losing their properties by degrees.

They are seeing everyone abandon them, and nobody will help them. It is the most tormenting way.”

Ivan and Wendy had deep affection too. He would also deal with the Lane family if Robert did not do so.

However, Ivan had a different opinion from Robert.

“You have dealt with Eden, and he will not have the chance to turnaround. It may take a year or more for him to disappear from the world soon. But you dealt with the Lane family with this slow means. I'm afraid some accidents will happen.”

“If they can turnaround, or have someone to secretly dormant, or they take a gamble to plot against you or Georgia, or even against Annie. What should you do at that time? Don't drag it and just let the Lane family pay the price.”

Chapter 200 His Apology

After Ivan made this suggestion, Robert abruptly thought of Gigi's current kidnapping incident.

He was the one who didn't protect Gigi in the first place. He suddenly felt that he was too slow when responding to the plot against the Lane family.

"You are right, I was actually stumped at that moment, I will give our father a call to change the strategy." After some deliberation between the two brothers, Robert gave his father a call on his direct line. He told his father Aidan about the discussion he had with his brother Ivan.

"Our original plan was to torment them slowly, so they didn't have a choice but to end their lives, however Emma and Owen Lane are not the type of people who we could've killed slowly. If they remember this and take revenge on me or Gigi, that's not the sort of retaliation we can lose to. Let's change the plan."

"What do you mean?" Aidan asked as he panicked on the other line.

“Even if it’s life or death, we need them to be within our grasp, if we can’t achieve this, there is no point of keeping them alive. It’ll be a headache to harm them in the same country, if you can achieve this, go ahead. If not, I will handle this.”

“I understand what you want, I will make it happen, I don’t want them alive in this world either, these people are accomplices to murder, I will take revenge for Wendy.” Aidan agreed on the phone. Even though they are not kindhearted people it didn’t mean that he is allowed to be a delinquent.

Predators will always prey on the weakest in this world, if you let your enemy live, one day your enemy will definitely fight back. There is no such thing as pure equality and justice in this world.

After he talked to Aidan and before he could tell Ivan about his phone conversation with his father, Robert heard his mobile phone ring. To his surprise it was a call from Anaya.

He thought about the time when he took advantage of Anaya and hurt Georgina Lane and felt bad. They have only met once, Robert thought it was strange that Anaya is calling. What does she want?

“Robert, can I ask you something?” Anaya asked directly after he picked up the phone.

“What’s the matter?” Robert was interested in what she had to say, she is indeed his own cousin. If she needed a little help, he does not mind helping her at all.

However, after he answered her, Anaya started criticizing him. “What is going on with you and Georgia, cousin? When you told me that you’re with her, I thought it was strange. She clearly faked a paternity test and deceived you and you hated her at that time. But why do you want to be with her? Do you know what she did recently? She went to the professor directly and bad mouthed me, the professor has banned me from the laboratory. How can you be with someone like that?”

Georgia had already spoken to Robert privately about Anaya and clarified the situation – Anaya stole some experiment results. Obviously, Robert wasn’t just going to side with Anaya. He asked Anaya, “You got kicked out from the laboratory because you stole experiment data, Anaya, I’m your cousin, so I'm not going to blame you for doing things to hurt Gigi. I'm not going to punish you, but I will not tolerate your behavior again, do you understand me?"

Robert warned her bluntly. He originally wanted to ignore her with Georgia, but Anaya surprised him by calling him to hurl insults towards Georgia. This made him angry.

"Robert..." Anaya started to cry over the phone. "How can you really like this sort of woman? Don't you know about her past? You know that she sells her body in the club, don't you? She keeps trying to flirt with a senior in my school named Aston Powell, she's no angel, Aunt Maisie will not give this marriage her blessing."

"This is not anything you need to worry about, how my mother feels about my future with Gigi is none of your business. I'm going to ask you again why did you call me today? If you've called to demand that I break up with Georgia I think you should hang up immediately, it's not happening." Robert thought of Anaya.

This led him to think about the relationship between Rachel Scott and Anaya. Would it be possible that there is something wrong with their gene pool? Why are there two abnormal women?

“Robert, apart from this I have been wanting to tell you something, I have called my aunt several times, but she has not been answering my calls, what is going on? I have phoned the housekeeper at home, I was informed that she is on vacation and is not home either, why is she avoiding my calls??” Said Anaya.

Ever since Anaya left the MU Research Institute, she had been plotting to take revenge on Georgia, but Georgia had successfully made a name for herself, Professor Lee had accepted her, colleagues appreciated her company, even his cousin fell in love with her. This was something Anaya cannot accept.

All she could do was call her Aunt Maisie and let her stop Robert from marrying Georgia.

However, no one answered even after a few attempts to call her aunt, this made Anaya depressed. She could not change her point of view and condemned Georgia.

“Did the phone connect when you called my mother?” Robert asked curiously. His mother has been very kind to Anaya ever since Wendy’s death, it didn’t seem likely that his mother will avoid her calls.

Anaya felt misunderstood and started to cry over the phone, initially she thought she was determined to call her Aunt Maisie to spill out Georgia’s secrets and even get her Aunt Maisie to force Robert to dump Georgia.

But now she can’t even talk on the phone. This made her feel agitated. Georgia had people supporting her and now she was a nobody. “It’s been four or five days and I cannot seem to get through to her, what is going on? Do you think something happened to my Aunt Maisie?” Asked Anaya.

Even though Robert does not talk to his mother everyday, he talked to her every two to three days. They only talked on the phone for a short time, but he turned down Anaya’s assumption. “I talked to my mother the day before yesterday, did you say something out of line to make her angry and avoid you?”

“I will never be guilty of doing so!” Yelled Anaya over the phone. “I have a good relationship with Aunt Maisie, she used to pick up my calls, but it’s been almost a month and she has not picked up any of my calls. Don’t you think it sounds fishy?”

To be honest, Robert was suspicious about Anaya’s intentions for calling his mother.

Didn’t sound like her intentions were pure, it even sounded like she was sneering at Gigi. It would make it harder for him to be together with Gigi afterwards.

At this moment Robert had a selfish thought. “The fact that you can’t reach her momentarily proves that she doesn’t want to talk to you, wait for her to get home and come over to talk to her.” Robert said and hung up.

“What’s the matter? Why did Anaya call you?” Ivan asked. Of course, Ivan knows of Anaya, she often visited when they were younger. But they've grown apart since everyone is grown up and working hard on their careers and only met up once in a blue moon.

Robert told him a simplified version of the talk he had with Aidan and Anaya.

“Anaya has always been a cautious person since we were young, now that she is older, her personality has intensified. I believe that my great aunt’s temporary lack of contact with her is actually a good thing. If my great aunt’s point of view of Georgia worsens, you can see that Anaya’s intentions are cruel.”

“You are right, I don’t need to worry about Anaya, she can reflect upon her own mistakes.” The two brothers finished their conversation when Georgia and Annie walked in Vanessa’s ward.

Elsie sat on the side of Vanessa Cooke's bed as usual, her eyes were red. A security guard stood by the window watching. After walking in with Georgia, Annie ran towards the bed, "Mommy... mommy... Annie is here to visit you!"

Annie was very excited, but Vanessa laid still diagonally on her bed. She stared blankly towards the television show airing on tv, only blinking occasionally.

But Georgia felt that Vanessa has already expressed her thoughts, her eyes were staring at the television, but her brain was not absorbing any content. She had no idea what she was thinking about.

"Mommy... mommy... Why aren't you saying anything to me? Is this tv show any good? I haven't watched it before, do you want to tell me about the plot? I really like to know..." Annie asked excitedly while she held on to Vanessa's hand.

But Vanessa didn't even look at her.

She had already become a soulless shell, Annie shook her arm several times, Vanessa did not move. It's as if she had gone deaf and blind.

"Mommy... Are you angry at me? Why aren't you talking to me?" Annie felt undesirable, her eyes started turning red. Georgia quickly consoled her, "Don't be upset Annie, Vanessa needs time to recover from her conditions, she's not ignoring you, she just can't hear you right now."

"Mommy, why has my mother become like this? Her eyes are watching the television, why won't she look at me?" Annie asked curiously.

Annie was only five years old, so it was natural for her to ask questions, Georgia didn't know how to explain this, but Elsie was standing beside her, and she smiled. "Annie, your Vanessa isn't feeling like herself right now, even though her eyes are open, but she can't see anything, she can't hear anything either; her five senses have temporarily shut down, it's nothing serious but she will need some time to recover... Vanessa cares about you, but she's not feeling well, do you think you can forgive her?"

"Is that so?" Annie asked cautiously.

"It's just what you see in story books, can't see or hear right?", Elsie said. Annie nodded.

"That's exactly the case, Vanessa will get better, will Annie give her some time?" This did not only make Annie feel better, but she also even felt sorry for her mother. "I just wish that Mommy will get better soon, I will not get mad at her, Mommy, Annie is here, you can't hear or see me right now, but I will be always beside you."

After Annie finished that sentence, Georgia saw Elsie pretend to turn around in order to wipe off her tears, she felt sad.

Georgia took Annie's hand, "Annie you're doing great, Vanessa needs some time to recover, but if we see talk to her everyday, she will recover faster."

“I understand, even if Mommy doesn’t talk to me, I will still read story books to her, in the past she has read story books to me, now it’s my turn to read to Mommy, I remember these stories.”, Annie said as she obediently sat beside her, narrating a story intermittently.

Annie has a disciplined personality, Georgia felt gratified, but a little sad.

She really wished Vanessa woke up sooner, but after such a big incident, who could cheer up immediately?

As long as Vanessa was still healthy, she can wait patiently.

Annie stayed in the room to talk to Vanessa, Georgia and Elsie went outside for a talk.

“Does she look around blankly after she wakes up and not utter a word?”, Georgia asked Elsie.

“Yes, after my sister opens her eyes, I fetch her water to drink, food to eat, she doesn't cry or scream, she does whatever I want her to do, I don't know what she is thinking now, did she already close herself off?" asked Elsie.

"Has the psychiatrist seen her yet?" asked Georgia.

"He has already visited her today morning, he asked my sister a lot of questions, but she didn't even move her eyes, or say a word, I guess he doesn't have a detailed report on her but right now I just want to know what is on her mind, that is how we can help her." Said Elsie.

Georgia shook her head; she didn't know what crushed Vanessa's soul and how she could help.

If those humiliating memories of being tortured made Vanessa fall apart, she would not have woken up and wanted to commit suicide, an indication that she is conscious.

But after the hospital staff prevented her from committing suicide, she just let everyone put her in bed, she just did what everyone wanted her to eat and drink, like a puppet. This stopped Georgia from making a conclusion.

“Even though there is not much on the psychiatrist’s report, the staff have been professional, let’s wait for a while, I can’t take my eyes off Vanessa, I’m scared that she will try to jump off a building, or do other dangerous things.”

“Don’t stress out too much, didn’t your family send two bodyguards? If it’s just going to be the two of us there is not going to be enough manpower, we will make sure your sister is safe.” Georgia said and nodded.

The “Idiot” Travis rolled his wheelchair towards the ladies while they were talking, “Good morning, how is Vanessa today?” he asked. He did not know about what happened last night since the injuries on his body required an IV and he was in deep sleep.

After he woke up on that day, Georgia and Elsie were already outside talking, he got curious.

“Seems like Vanessa can’t hear or see anyone, she just does whatever we want her to do, be it laying down on the bed, eating, drinking, watching the television. But I think she has lost hope, I don't know how to console her.”

Travis wanted to say something, but Georgia's eyes were glaring furiously at his shadow. _____

“Why are you still sticking around here? Can you just piss off?”

Georgia roared in anger.

Travis turned his wheelchair around and saw Alfred walking to them.

“Don't step forward, or I will beat you.”

Elsie roared aside. The two women shared the hatred for Alfred.

They got angry when they saw him.

“You can punish me whatever you like later. I just heard Vanessa woke up last night. I heard that she is not feeling well now and doesn’t want to say anything. I just want to take a look at her and talk with her.”

Alfred pleaded for the first time. He knew he didn’t get to say that because it was him who put Vanessa into trouble.

But he couldn’t ignore Vanessa’s situation now.

Last night, he was taken away by Robert’s men. In fact, he was not willing to go at all.

But he knew he shouldn’t stay there and made Vanessa’s friend angry.

But when he knew Vanessa woke up at midnight, he couldn’t help but think about her, especially when he knew Vanessa was in poor mental health. He resisted his urge to go to see Vanessa for the whole night, just to beg Georgia and Elsie to give him a chance to see Vanessa this morning.

“If you want us to let you in, you should catch the culprit at least. Rachel is still at large. If you want to see Vanessa, you have to bring Rachel to Vanessa.”

Georgia taunted Alfred.

Alfred could never be forgiven with just an apology because he could never make it up for Vanessa’s pains. Hatred was the only feeling that Georgia had for Alfred now.

“Georgia is right. You have to catch Rachel at least. You don’t get to come in and see Vanessa if you couldn’t punish Rachel,” Elsie said.

Alfred kneeled in front of Georgia and Elsie. His arrogance was gone. He said humbly.

“I really want to see Vanessa. Please.”

Georgia just wanted to ask him to leave. And Elsie even wanted to beat him.

To their surprise, the door of the sickroom was opened. It was actually Vanessa who was walking out. Her eyes flashed for the first time.

“Let him come in.”

Annie looked confused and didn't know what's going on.

Vanessa's simple words surprised Georgia and Elsie a bit.

This was Vanessa's decision, so they could only let Alfred come into the room.

Vanessa sat on the bed silently like a ghost.

Alfred walked to her in worry. He thought she had lost her mind and couldn't recognize anyone and say anything. But now it seemed that she could recognize him. Alfred wondered what Vanessa would talk to him and walked into the room, feeling uneasy.

He felt his fast heartbeat and had a sinking feeling.

"I'm going to talk with him alone."

Vanessa said. She was asking all the people to leave, including Georgia, Elsie, and the two bodyguards. She just wanted to talk with Alfred privately.

Georgia could do nothing but nod.

"We'll be waiting outside. If you need anything, just call us. Don't be afraid, Vanessa. Elsie, and I will always be here. Don't lose hope. Annie is here, too. You will be fine."

Vanessa didn't pay attention to Georgia's words at all. Georgia could do nothing but leave with Annie, Elsie and the bodyguards. She walked out of the room and closed the door.

Georgia stayed outside the room. She was worried that something might happen.

In the room, Vanessa looked at Alfred silently. Suddenly, she giggled.

Her tears rolled down while she was giggling.

"Do you know why I let you in?"

Vanessa asked Alfred. He could see a suggestion of smile in her eyes. But at the same time, he felt irony and sadness, even craziness and desperation blended in it.

His heart ached as if it was held tight by someone. The pains made him suffered.

“Vanessa, I misunderstood you. I was bad to you. If you want to hit me or scold me, just do it. I just want you to calm down and feel better.”

Hearing Alfred’s words, Vanessa laughed loudly. Her laughter was tinged with bitterness, sorrow, and despair.

“Why I want to hit you and scold you? If I do so, it will only make you feel less guilty. Why should I make you feel better? Do you know what I want to do now? I want to cut your heart out and then crush it.”

Alfred felt hurt at hearing Vanessa’s words. He took Vanessa’s hand suddenly.

“Vanessa, please. You are not being yourself ... I know you are hurt and angry with me. Just take it out on me. Hit me, scold me, or anything.”

Vanessa sneered. She looked at the ceiling in sorrow. Looking at the white wall, she suddenly thought her life was pathetic and hilarious.

She took a deep breath and smiled at Alfred.

“Do you know what happened to me six years ago? Do you know how I got through all of these?”

Of course, Alfred knew what happened. He had found out the culprit. It was Rachel.

But now Vanessa brought up her encounter six years ago. He had no idea what she still felt sad for.

“I’m sorry. It’s my fault ... I should have trusted you and been good to you. I am the most terrible bastard in the world.”

There was a slap.

Alfred could only apologize by slapping himself twice.

Vanessa only felt he was silly to do so.

“No. Your biggest mistake is not your distrust for me but knowing Rachel. I can’t believe you could know such kind of person. If I knew how she is. I wouldn’t meet you. And I wouldn’t be with you. Rachel ruined my life just because she loves you. Why should I be in love with you?”

Vanessa asked hysterically.

“You know what. Six years ago, I got pregnant and even didn’t know who’s my child’s father. I was not sure whether it was you or those men who bullied me who made me pregnant. I didn’t dare to ask for your decision. And the doctor advised me to do no abortion ... I could do nothing but break up with you. But why? Why couldn’t Rachel let go of me? My child died soon after he was born. I thought it was because I didn’t protect him well. But do you know why he died?”

Alfred looked at Vanessa in shock. He suddenly felt scared. His teeth began to chatter, and he didn't dare to say anything at this moment.

Vanessa suddenly laughed. Sorrow and hatred were filled with her laughter.

“Do you know what Rachel told me? She said that my child was born healthy. It was a lovely boy. But she took my child directly and froze him to death in the snow. She added that he was our son.”

“How ridiculous ... I was humiliated just because I loved you. I could not even take a look at my child but accept his death. Why should I know you? Why did you come to haunt me six years later? Why did you allow Rachel to humiliate me and get me back? She made me suffer from the same thing again. Why did you come to my life? You ruined me and my child. From now on, don't show up in front of me. I hate you!”

Hearing Vanessa's words, Alfred trembled. His eyes were red, and his lips were trembling. Suddenly, he rushed to hold her tight.

"I'm sorry ... I'm sorry, Vanessa. It's my fault. I'm an asshole. I shouldn't have made you suffer that much. I'm sorry ... I'm sorry..."

Alfred spluttered his apology. But Vanessa just kept giggling.

"What's the use of this? My child passed away. And then you came to me and let me go through the same pain once again. Every time I look at you, I think of the death of my innocent child, the humiliation that Rachel and her man brought to me over and over ... You give me nothing but pains. Don't pretend to apologize to me. Piss off!"

Alfred felt he had lost his mind. He didn't want to leave here. He knelt to apologize.

"I said piss off! I don't want to see you again."

Alfred knew that if he went out of the room, their relationship would break down completely.

“I know you are suffering. Just get that stuff out on me. Hit me, scold me, or anything.”

Vanessa felt it was too painful to see Alfred. She hated to see his face for the first time.

There was a fruit knife beside her. She took the knife and stab Alfred.

Chapter 202 Vanessa’s Nervous Breakdown

“Oh no. Something is wrong inside.”

The bodyguard beside Georgia suddenly said. He opened the door immediately.

Georgia covered Annie's eyes unconsciously. She even didn't dare to see what happened inside the room. She told the other bodyguard.

"Take care of Annie and stay here to protect her. I'll go to see what happened."

"Mom Georgia, why can't I go with you? Did something happen to mom?"

"I don't know. She is being emotional. I'm afraid you will be scared by her. When you are in bad mood, you always cry, don't you? Sometimes people could lose their emotional control and Vanessa is losing it right now. Just stay here quietly with the bodyguard for a while, OK?"

Annie was a bit unwilling to do so. But now that Georgia asked her to stay, she could only say yes and stay there with the bodyguard.

Georgia went to the sickroom directly.

What happened in front of her made her shiver.

Alfred's belly was stabbed by a long thin knife. His blood was running down to the ground.

Vanessa watched him calmly. Alfred didn't faint. He just kneeled on the ground with a painful look.

Elsie was shocked and couldn't say anything. The bodyguard rushed in and stopped. All people seemed to be too shocked to move.

Georgia didn't dare to speak.

"Piss off. I don't want to see you!"

Vanessa said calmly. She went back to the bed, lay on it, and closed her eyes.

"Elsie, take care of Vanessa. I will take Alfred away."

Georgia made a quick decision. She asked the bodyguard and Elsie to stay in the room, and she walked to Alfred.

“Let’s go now.”

Georgia took the poor Alfred’s hand and helped him up, then pulled him to the door.

Before they passed through the door, Georgia went out of the room.

“Take Annie to my room and have her stayed with her dad and uncle. I’ve got something else on.”

Annie was confused.

“Mom Georgia, why don’t you let me see mom?”

“She fell asleep. I’ve got things to take care of and I can’t be with you for now. Could you go to your dad?”

Too many things happened. Children were easily afraid. Annie couldn’t help crying.

“Mom Georgia, I want to see mom. Something must happen to her. Let me in!”

Annie almost rushed into the room. Georgia signaled the bodyguard to stop her. The bodyguard held Annie in his arm.

Although Annie was struggling to free herself, Georgia could only say.

“Take her to my room no matter how hard she cries. Leave her to her dad, OK?”

The bodyguard nodded. He held the struggling girl and took her to Georgia’s room.

Annie kept struggling and crying. But she couldn't free herself from an adult's arms.

Seeing Annie had been taken away, Georgia pulled Alfred out.

"We are going to the emergency room. You need an operation right now. Your wound is not so deep. I don't want Vanessa to be interrogated by police. You don't want Vanessa to be put in prison, do you?"

Alfred watched ahead with a glazed look and let Georgia pull him to the emergency room for an operation.

The bodyguard took the crying Annie to Georgia's room.

Robert and Ivan were shocked.

"What happened? Annie, where is Georgia? Did she go to Vanessa's room? What's going on?"

Robert was confused and asked. The bodyguard didn't follow Georgia in, so he didn't know what happened, either.

"Miss Lane just asked me to take Annie here. Mr. Chow went into Miss Cooke's room. He and Miss Cooke seem to have a conflict."

Annie kept crying and struggling. The bodyguard put her down.

She wanted to rush out to Vanessa's room. But the bodyguard stopped her at the door. She could do nothing but beat him.

"Get out of the way. Let me go! I want to see my mom ... You are a bad person ... You are bad..."

Annie cried hard. She had a feeling that something serious must happen. She felt bad not be able to see her mom, as if her mom would leave her.

Robert walked to Annie.

“Annie, Mom Georgia told you to stay here for a while. So let’s wait a little bit and then I will take you to your mom, OK?”

Annie kept beating the bodyguard. She ignored Robert’s words. She was not good with Robert. She just called him Uncle Robert as the butler told.

Annie took Robert as a friendly uncle. Although her mom told her he was her dad, she was not attached to him.

She didn’t want to see all people in this room. In the end, Annie just squatted on the ground and didn’t listen to anyone, as if she was venting her anger.

Robert pushed his wheelchair to Annie's side.

"There must be some reasons that Mom Georgia asked you to come here. Sometimes children shouldn't be involved in adult problems. I don't know how to explain it to you now. But Mom Georgia is too tired. Could you follow me to the bed? What if you catch a cold if you keep sitting on the ground?"

Robert persuaded Annie very patiently and gently. Annie raised her head and looked at Robert with her big eyes.

"Why adults always hide something from kids? I am afraid. Because I don't know that happened to mom. And just because of not knowing anything, I feel scared, and I want to see mom. But you don't allow me to see her. What if mom leaves me?"

Annie cried out. Her eyes were red. Robert reached out.

"Dad promises you that mom won't leave you alone. Everyone would be sad, and your mom is sad now. She can't take care of you and might even hurt you. Mom Georgia just doesn't want you and your mom to get hurt."

“Mom won’t hurt me!”

Annie roared in anger and ignored Robert’s hand. She felt Robert was maligning Vanessa again.

Robert could only smile.

“Alright, it’s my fault. Your mom and Mom Georgia won’t hurt you. But your mom needs some time to stay alone. Could you give your mom some time? She can’t always talk to you, sing with you and share your happiness. She just wants to stay in her room quietly and see no one. Could you understand?”

Annie also knew she was being unreasonable today and that was not right. Mom Georgia was good to her. But she just felt angry.

If Georgia were here, Annie might listen to her. But there were only two men and one of them was her dad. She didn’t want to talk to them at all.

Robert never found that kids could be stubborn like that. He could only continue.

“If you keep sitting on the ground and catch a cold, your mom will cry sadly, and so does Mom Georgia. It’s OK if you are angry, but could you sit on the carpet or bed rather than the ground?”

After saying this, Robert took a look at Ivan.

“Hold Annie up. Don’t let her sit on the cold ground. It’s bad for her health.”

Ivan nodded. He squatted down and held Annie up.

This time, Annie didn’t struggle or cry. She just didn’t want to take the initiative to move. She felt awkward.

Annie was put on the bed. She didn’t want to do as they wished. But she also knew that if she got sick, her mom would be worried about her.

Robert pushed his wheelchair to the bed.

“Tell you if you feel thirsty or hungry. You're going to have surgery in a couple of days. Be a good girl, OK?”

Annie nodded. Her eyes were still red. But she calmed down a bit after so long.

Robert turned around and looked at Ivan. He asked Ivan to see what happened.

About half an hour later, Alfred was taken out of the operating room.

His wound was not deep. Although he bled a lot, he was not badly hurt.

When Georgia waited outside Vanessa's room, she didn't hear clearly what they talked about. Somehow, she felt it was a big deal.

She pushed Alfred's bed with the nurse to a room. Alfred was still sober. Georgia asked him.

“Answer my question if you are willing to. If you don't want to, just shut up. Tell me, what did you say in the room? Vanessa seemed to have broken down. It's definitely something bad, something that could crush her down.”

Alfred looked at Georgia with a bitter smile.

“Do you know about Vanessa's pregnancy six years ago?”

Georgia nodded.

“She said she gave birth to the child. But the child was not born dead. He was taken away by Rachel and killed by her. Rachel told her that he was our child.”

After Alfred said that, Georgia could not help but slap on his face.

“Sorry. I just can’t help it!”

“No wonder Vanessa would break down. Do you know why she takes Annie as her child? Because she lost her own child. She gives Annie all her love. When she broke down six years ago, Annie was her emotional support. She was heartbroken and desperate when she knew the truth. Of course, this was all because of you. She shouldn’t have met you. Alfred, don’t come to see Vanessa anymore. I feel pain to see you and I hate you. If Vanessa sees you again, she will live in the nightmares forever. Remember, go away if you meet us. Turn around if you see Vanessa. You don’t get to see her!”

After saying this, Georgia turned around and left in anger.

In fact, she had listed many reasons why Vanessa broke down, but she never thought it turned out to be like this.

Vanessa’s child was killed alive. And the killer was the one who was always hurting her. All Georgia wanted to do now was to ask Robert to catch Rachel.

If she could not bring Rachel back, she could not vent her anger and sorrow.

Georgia went back to Vanessa's room with a bad look. She walked into the room carefully. Vanessa lay on the bed with her eyes closed.

Elsie was sitting aside with tears falling down. The bodyguard stood at the window. She was sad to see this. She walked to Vanessa's bed. _____

Chapter 203 The Lane Family's Fleeing

"Vanessa, we should revenge for that child. We must catch Rachel Scott, don't you want to tear her down? You must screw up the courage to stay alive, even just for the purpose of revenging!"

Georgia Lane felt that, for sure Vanessa hadn't fallen asleep, Vanessa could actually hear what she had said.

"If you still want to revenge on Alfred Chow, I will support you too. No matter what, don't give up your life."

Vanessa Cooke kept closing her eyes, but Georgia could see the tears falling from Vanessa's eyes.

She knew, Vanessa was not sleeping.

Elsie Clarke didn't know what Georgia was talking about, but she started to talk too.

"Vanessa, do you know how my life was when I was young? My clothes were always the leftover clothes from the old boys and girls in the family, and I had not enough to eat every day. They always beat us, but I still had to help them to wash their clothes... Sometimes when they gave us a meal or even a fruit, I even fought with other children until bleeding. Even during that time, I didn't have the thought of dying to end my life. I kept thinking that as long as I could win them, then I would have things to eat, so I could stay alive!”

“When I was 10 years old, the director tempted me to his office by telling me that he was finding a good adoptive person for me, so I went to meet him. During the first time, the director brought me to a beautiful room, with many tasty foods inside. I was so excited and thought that finally I could get rid of that kind of life, so I sat there, enjoying the foods while waiting for the parents who wanted to adopt me to come. I wished that they would bring me home, but the person who came was a middle-aged man. He showed me a disgusting smile, then he teared off my clothes. I didn’t know anything during that time, I just felt that it was painful. Even until the man had left, I still didn’t understand what had happened to me, I just felt that I was deeply wronged and suffered. I didn’t want to experience that just for the purpose of eating, but how should I continue to stay alive if I didn’t want to eat those things?”

“I thought this would stop there, but the director noticed my manner, he smiled and coaxed me that he would give me foods every time I came here. Even he himself also teared off my clothes and he always asked me to go to his office. Since I was 10 years old, I always saw many different men who came to find me. During that time, I began to have a lot of things to eat. There were many people who envied me, they even wanted to grab those chances from me, but I was the prettiest girl among that age range. Slowly, I grew up and finally understood what it meant, but I still didn't think of leaving this world. I thought of dying together with them by setting there on fire. I thought of many different possibilities, but I realized that I couldn't do that. If I really set the place on fire, maybe those dying would be the pity little boys and girls. I was not able to do that, so I tried to find a way to run away from there, but I was exposed."

"I was sold after that, I experienced a lot, but I still didn't think of leaving this world. I always consoled myself that at least I survived. Vanessa, I didn't tell you these things last time because I didn't want you to be sad. Actually, I don't care of these things anymore because I have survived, and my life onwards will be wonderful. With you here to protect me, perhaps I can even earn money above board. But now if you are leaving me, I feel that this world is really discarding me. If you wish to revenge, I will help you. Please, open your eyes, don't keep your mouth shut, okay?"

After Elsie said out these words, Georgia suddenly covered her eyes and cried.

She already guessed that Elsie had suffered a lot in the past, but she didn't dare to think deep into these.

Just like she didn't dare to see what had happened to the prostitutes in old times, she didn't dare to watch those tragic documentaries and movies.

This time, Vanessa finally opened her eyes and got up from the bed, then she hugged Elsie tightly.

“Elsie, I'm sorry, I just feel that I'm so depressed until I don't feel like saying anything and I just wish to ignore everyone, but I'm not against you. I had lost the courage to continue to be alive that moment actually, but once you stopped me, I didn't have the courage to die anymore. You're right, staying alive, only staying alive will allow me to revenge, I still want to revenge for my child...”

Vanessa hugged Elsie and cried, she was throwing all the wronged and pain feelings out from her heart. Vanessa was even thinking that Elsie had suffered so much in her life, and she herself were also suffered a lot after she grew up, why their life was so suffering? Why had they faced so many problems?

The most important was, their enemies were still there, why they need to continue to be suffered?

“Elsie, I want to revenge for my child. Those who had hurt you, we want to revenge too. Didn’t you meet the director and the one who bullied you last time? We will revenge together, if not, what is the meaning of staying alive?”

“Vanessa, just do whatever you want, we will revenge together if you want to revenge. If you just want to stay in a peaceful place, without caring anything, I won’t have any objection. I just wish that we can stay together, I don’t ever have a loved one, I don’t want you to leave me.”

The two women were talking, Georgia stood up and left the ward.

She felt that if she continued to stay there at this moment, she would be disturbing their conversation.

It was the entanglement that couldn't break off between the loved ones, and it was the pain that she couldn't feel the same.

Even if she cared about Vanessa a lot, but as compared to what she had experienced, the things that happened on Vanessa was way more suffering.

At least her daughter, Annie was still alive, and she already had a trustable boyfriend. All the grievances in her had been washed away.

Her life was, indeed, very lucky.

Georgia stood silently in the corridor for a very long time, then she finally walked towards her ward.

Annie was brought involuntarily to them just now, she didn't know how the current situation was.

After knocking the door, Georgia walked into her ward. Annie asked agitatedly after seeing that her mommy was back.

“Mommy, I have waited you for so long, how are Vanessa? Can I go and meet her now?”

“Vanessa had fallen asleep after crying.”

Georgia lied.

“Annie, sometimes when you have an injection and you feel pain, will you cry it out? Sometimes when mommy doesn’t care about your mood, will you feel wronged?”

Annie nodded with puzzled look.

“Annie, you know that when someone cry, he or she would feel very upset, so does Vanessa. She had faced some problems which made her wanna cry, and she still couldn’t stop this feeling even until now. So, Annie can’t visit Vanessa for now, all right?”

Annie was a bit not willing to, but she understood what mommy said.

In fact, she had slowly known a little bit, that her Vanessa was extremely depressed now, until she had even ignored her.

“When can I visit Vanessa? Will it be very long?”

Annie had compromised and asked.

“It will not be very long, maybe a few days, or perhaps a week, but Annie will give Vanessa some time, isn’t it? Mummy will stay by your side, so does Robert, so Annie won’t feel lonely, isn't it?"

Annie just kept her head low. In fact, Vanessa was the one that she most relied on, since she was the one who had always by her side since young.

However, she couldn't be disobedient at this point when Vanessa was upset.

"I got it. When I can visit Vanessa, mommy must bring me there as soon as possible, I have a lot of words to talk to Vanessa."

"It won't be too long, don't worry."

Georgia tried to comfort Annie.

From the beginning to the end of the conversation, Robert Simpson was watching beside while Ivan had left in the middle.

After a while, Georgia read some fairy tales and played toys with Annie. Finally about an hour later, Annie fell asleep.

Georgia then told Robert about what had happened just now, Robert was extremely shocked.

“Is there really no harm from Alfred? Will he continue to tangle with Vanessa, or even entrap her?”

Robert didn't know well about Alfred, he was worried that Alfred would make Vanessa's impulsive behaviour today as a weapon in his hand.

“He won't. Even though I hate him so much now, but he didn't dare to entrap. He must be suffering now, although less suffering than Vanessa, but it's enough for him, yet what is the point of this? The child was already lost for six years. If it wasn't because of Rachel Scott that always stayed by his side, how come Vanessa will suffer so much? I just hope that they won't tangle each other anymore.”

Robert understood it and nodded, the entanglement in this relationship, initially he still thought that there was still a chance between them.

However, there was a huge suffer that split them apart. Robert felt that, no matter Alfred or Vanessa, they would feel the pain when they saw each other.

“Don’t worry, I will find the way to find out Rachel Scott. Vanessa was fine with her mental condition now, she has decided to brace up for the revenge, so we must help her to find out Rachel Scott. After revenging Rachel, perhaps the suffer in her could be relieved by a little bit.”

Georgia nodded with thankfulness.

“Sorry to bother you, Robert. The only current motive for Vanessa is revenge, if we don’t find out Rachel Scott, I really have no idea what’s the motive for Vanessa to stay alive...”

They talked about these, Robert sighed.

Initially he thought that Georgia and him had already suffered a lot, but now it seemed that as compared to the things that had happened on Alfred and Vanessa, what he had experienced was not considered as suffer and pain at all.

He shouldn't be greedy anymore, he should appreciate what he owned for now.

That night, Robert brought Annie back to the bungalow. Georgia was not willing to let Annie to stay in the ward everyday and Robert had his own jobs to do also.

So, she let Robert to bring Annie back to home. As long as she was staying inside the ward which was guarded by the bodyguards, there should be no problem.

Robert was still worried about the call from Rachel during the day, he called his mom again.

The call was answered very soon, Robert asked his mom curiously.

“Mom, Rachel called me today, she said you didn’t answer her call, what had she done? Did she make you angry?”

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 204 Pull It Together and Take Revenge

Kayden sat beside Maisie. She didn’t care about the phone calls from Maisie’s relatives and friends at all. Upon hearing Robert Simpson’s question right now, she wrote something on the cardboard.

“That girl has always wanted to take advantage of me, but I don’t want to get angry at her. So I might as well just refuse answering the phone.”

Upon hearing his mother say that, Robert was a bit surprised. He could also see that Anaya Mitchell wanted to use his mother to continue suppressing Gigi, but his mother also hated Gigi. Could it be that she actually changed her mind now?

As Robert thought about what Aidan Simpson had agreed on, he asked his mother.

“Mom, he already agreed on organizing my wedding. He also promised to let me inherit his properties... I originally wanted to call you to tell you about it these days, but something happened. One more thing, he didn’t have any other children besides me and Wendy. He married another woman later on, but he told me that he didn’t have any children with her.”

Maisie was a bit pleased. She wanted to say something, but with a gun pointed at her head, she could only follow and said what Kayden wrote.

“Since he already promised to give you his properties, then I won’t break my promise. Tell me again once the wedding date is set. I’ll surely come back and attend the wedding. Like what I promised before, I’ll give you my blessing.”

Robert was extremely delighted upon hearing his mother saying that.

He had always known that his mother was the hardest to get through.

“I got it, mom. Thank you. You should come home soon. You’ve been travelling for too long this time around. You’ve never left home for so long before. I haven’t seen you for a long time already. Even Ivan said that he missed you today.”

“I’ll be back once you set the wedding date.”

Maisie said it again. Then, Robert said a few words of concern and hung up.

Kayden smiled in satisfaction. Then, she grabbed something and injected it into Maisie’s arm.

This was a new type of drug that could slowly destroy someone mentally and control one’s brain.

However, it was still an experimental product that was being tested on humans. They still didn’t know how effective it was.

After Kayden finished doing everything, she went beside Laurence Knight and told him what the mother and son roughly talked about.

Laurence nodded in satisfaction.

“Since they have already started preparing the wedding, then we should also begin with our plan. After all, it’s also prepared by Aidan. We’ve been hiding for so long already. It’s time for us to finish this up. Oh right, were the father and daughter of the Chow family picked up already? They must not be able to withstand the Simpson family’s revenge now. Are there any problems in the process?”

Kayden smiled and nodded.

“I have already sent my people to pick them up. I already let them settle in a safe place. That little boy also followed them there. They’re a bit close now. It wouldn’t be long before your plan become completely successful.”

Laurence smiled in satisfaction. If he had to kill someone with a gun, then there would be no point in this revenge.

He would definitely let that person become extremely sad and live a life like hell, so that person could feel his pain of losing both legs.

On the other side, Robert realized his father called him on the phone after he hung up.

After he answered the phone, Aidan immediately asked.

“We are about to take actions today, my men have been watching the father and daughter of the Lane family, but they suddenly disappeared. Did your people take them away? Why didn’t you tell me?”

Just after Aidan said it, Robert immediately denied.

“I didn’t intervene in this matter. You’re always the one initiating. Are you sure they went missing?”

When Robert said that, he sounded scared. If the father and daughter of the Lane family really escaped, then that was going to be a serious problem.

Who knew whether or not Owen Lane and Emma Lane would revenge back on them? No one could ever protect themselves against their enemies forever.

If they didn't get rid of the father and daughter, they would have to continue to live in fear.

"My people weren't able to catch them. They're already missing. Ask your people who are tracking them."

Robert immediately took out another phone to call his subordinates and ask for the situation.

Indeed, his people also lost hold of the Lane family. After they told him the situation, both the father and son kept quiet.

“We made a mistake. They actually escaped. What do you think of they escaped? Or is someone secretly helping them?”

Robert immediately sneered after Aidan said that.

“Do you think an ordinary person could break through your power and my power? Someone is definitely helping them in secret. What we’re not sure is whether they conspired now or before. Do you think it’s your enemy or my enemy? The Lane family doesn’t have anything for other people to be interested in based on their power. If someone really wanted to help them, it could only be our enemy. Who do you think is it?”

“My business is so big, and I’m always occupying other people’s business territory. How would I know who did it this time? The only thing you need to do now is to strengthen the protection of the people around you. Don’t let other people take advantage of your loopholes.”

Aidan quickly instructed him through the phone. The two of them talked about the security issues for a while, then Robert spoke to his father.

“Aside from this, you can start preparing the wedding. Just choose an early and meaningful date. I want to quickly marry her. Can you make this wedding extremely grand?”

Robert wanted to give Georgia a grand wedding. Upon hearing this, Aidan was a little happy.

He had always felt he owed his children. The matter regarding Wendy Simpson completely hit him. He put almost all of his guilt on Robert. That’s why he wanted to use his power to make up for his son.

However, his son had already grown up. He didn’t lack money, power, or talent. He couldn’t even find a way to make up for his son.

Except for this wedding.

“Don’t you worry. You are my only son and she is my daughter-in-law. Of course, I will hold a grand wedding for you... How about your mother? When will she come back? Does your mother have anything to say regarding this wedding? Is she really giving me full authority in this?”

Robert nodded in affirmation.

“My mom already said that she’ll surely give you the full authority in holding this wedding. After that, she’ll come back to bless us.”

Aidan helplessly and bitterly smiled. He and Maisie fought their whole life. After he left, they lost contact.

He had never thought that this woman’s last request would be for Robert to inherit all of his properties and let him hold the wedding until now.

However, this wasn't anything hard for him to do. Aidan laughed.

"If that's the case, I understand. I know what she's thinking. She just doesn't want my wife to show up in the wedding, but my wife wouldn't mind it. Don't worry. I also wouldn't let her show up and disrupt in the wedding."

Robert had mixed feelings for a while. He had always known that the woman with his father now was his father's true love.

After Robert heard his father's confirmation that they didn't have any children after so many years, he was almost certain that his father truly loved this woman.

"I got it. Thanks for this one. Can you also help me check where Rachel Scott went? Also, the father and daughter of the Lane family must have some terrible ideas in mind. We need to quickly step up with our manpower and find them."

Of course, that was also what Aidan thought. After both sides hung up, Aidan's wife sat beside him and smiled at Aidan.

"You didn't even ask me if I wanted to attend your son's wedding. You just immediately said that I won't attend. Are you not afraid that I'll get angry?"

Aidan smiled.

"You wouldn't mind it, Lindsey. I know very well what kind of person you are. We've been together for so many years already. Thank you for being willing to stay by my side back then. Like I said before, I wouldn't let you regret for staying by my side."

The woman in front of him smiled warmly.

The next morning, Georgia came into Vanessa's ward after she rested.

Vanessa Cooke looked like she was slowly returning to normal today. She was talking to Elsie while eating breakfast. When she saw Georgia coming in, Vanessa even smiled at her.

“Gigi, I made you worry these days. Don’t you worry. I’ll slowly pull myself together. How are you recovering? When will you be discharged from the hospital?”

Georgia was glad to see Vanessa’s gentle smile like before.

“Probably this weekend. Annie would have an operation right this weekend. After the surgery, I need to monitor Annie’s condition. I might as well continue to stay in the hospital during that time. I’ll probably have to stay in the hospital for a long while this time. Look at us. We’re all hospitalized. Can we not be so fated with hospitals?”

After Georgia said it, Elsie laughed.

“You’re right. Look at you guys. You’re all hospitalized. How can you be so fated with hospitals? We need to get rid of this destiny in the future...”

The three of them smiled. As Vanessa thought of Annie, she asked with concern.

“I was afraid that once I speak, I might scare Annie with awful or depressing words, so I never spoke in front of Annie these days. How’s Annie? How is she right now? Was she scared by me or did she become sad because of me?”

“She’s alright. She was very happy seeing you yesterday. It’s just that I don’t want her to see what happened to you and Alfred after that, so I let the guards take her away. Afterwards, Annie fought and got mad at Robert’s place. She and Robert aren’t close now, but they might get close in the future after a few fights like this. Annie’s very well-behaved. She just really wants to see you and talk to you. Vanessa, do you think you can talk to Annie in this condition?”

Vanessa felt a little guilty.

“I’m fine. If Annie comes to the hospital today, let her see me later. I already composed myself and my emotions. Aside from that one person I don’t want to see and the person I want to get my revenge on, no one else will affect my emotions.”

Georgia nodded in assurance. They just needed to get through the most painful point in time, and everything would be fine even if there would still be hardships in the future.

After she chatted with Vanessa and Elsie for a long while, Georgia saw Travis pushing his wheelchair into Vanessa's ward.

Travis only knew what happened yesterday afterwards. He originally wanted to come and check yesterday, but he knew that everyone was in a bad mood. So Travis had silently stayed inside his ward for a whole day.

Now that he came and saw that everyone calmed down already. Travis felt relieved and spoke to Georgia.

“Will Robert come to the hospital today?”

“He'll come later. Why? Do you want to see him?”

Georgia curiously asked.

“I need to tell him something. Remember to tell him to find me in the ward when he comes. I have something to tell him privately.”

Georgia nodded. After around half an hour, Robert came to Travis’ ward.

“Gigi said you’re looking for me to tell me something. What’s the matter? Does it actually have anything to do with the Ellis family ?”

Robert thought that this could only be the reason why Travis was this careful. _____

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 205 The Enemy of The Enemy

“It's related to the Ellis family, but I'm not sure if it's true. I may need your help to check it out for me.”

Travis answered Robert.

“What the hell is going on? You make it clear, and I'll find someone to investigate it.”

Robert's face was grave.

He had a hostile relationship with Jayson after the kidnapping and injury of Georgia this time.

Brenton lingered on in a coma while Amelie did not care about the company. Jayson was practically the person in authority of the Ellis family at this time, and he could use a lot of powers to against the Simpsons family.

Jayson certainly thought that Georgia and Robert knew the truth about James's death. Robert had to guard against Jayson.

“You know that the nurse comes into my ward to change the fresh dressing for my wounds every day and occasionally give me injections. I found a letter under my pillow during bedtime. The letter wrote that the woman wants to meet me and talk about things about James. She has revealed her name, called Sarah. I have not heard of this person. I need your help to investigate the relationship between Sarah and James.”

“Of course. Sarah also wrote that she would send a person to come to the hospital to pick me up and talk to her alone if I agree with her to do so. I don't know if I should trust this letter. I searched the name of Sarah on the internet and didn't find any specific information and any photos. I don't know what to do next.”

Robert was not familiar with the name Sarah.

“Since she is coming for James's matter, then I'll investigate Sarah from James's point of view. She has revealed her name. I only have to find her photo, and we will naturally know the truth at that time.”

Both of them talked about many things. Robert directly called to his father, Aidan, after he left the ward.

Robert thought that Sarah should be a person out of the country, and at least he had not heard of the name. Perhaps Aidan would know the name.

“I need your help to investigate a person called Sarah. I have the feeling that Sarah might have a relationship with James.”

After Robert finished speaking, Aidan replied with some surprise at the other end of the phone.

“She is the youngest daughter of the Duran family. She was an illegitimate daughter and was recognized by the Duran family two years ago, called Sarah. I've met her only once. How can she relate with James?”

If the Duran family had always connected with the Ellis family, or Sarah and James had another relationship, they must have known each other earlier.

However, Sarah only returned to the Duran family two years ago. How could Sarah and James have the opportunity to know each other? Aidan could not figure it out.

Could it be that they had known each other in the past?

“Why would James involved in this? Make it clear!”

Aidan asked Robert.

“Travis received an anonymous letter, and she took the initiative to tell Travis in the letter that she wanted to meet him. She revealed her identity as well and said she was Sarah. But I've not heard of the name, and Travis also has not heard of it. So I can only ask you. Since she is the daughter of the Duran family, you send me a photo of her. I can't stand out of the matter between Travis and the Ellis family. I have to intervene in this.”

of Sarah.

He had not left the hospital yet and directly went to Travis's ward, then he briefly introduced Sarah to Travis.

After that, he handed Sarah's photo to Travis.

“Have you ever seen her?”

Travis shook his head.

“I've never seen her, but I have an intuition that she is not my enemy, and she wants to cooperate with me. Sarah should care a lot about James.”

“Nothing ventured, nothing gained. Since Sarah has arranged the meetup tomorrow, I decided to meet her.”

Robert also had the same idea as Travis. However, safety came first.

“It's okay that you go to meet her. I've to send you a few bodyguards. You can only take revenge if you are alive. You should understand the reason.”

Travis definitely would not refuse the plan arranged by Robert. Travis had no power or influence and even had to grant asylum from his first girlfriend's boyfriend.

It was a humiliation for him.

However, compared to the past ten years that Travis had living in exile as a beggar, he had now come to his senses and even has a goal of revenge.

He could not drag through his life.

Both of them agreed on some security details. After that, Robert went to Georgia's side.

Georgia was playing with Annie inside Vanessa's ward at this time. Georgia brought Annie to Vanessa's ward after Robert brought Annie over to the hospital in the morning. They had been chatting there.

Annie was afraid of the incident that happened yesterday. So, Georgia could only let Annie went to meet Vanessa immediately.

Annie felt relieved after she found out that Vanessa had been smiling while chatting with her.

Georgia was right next to Vanessa, along with Elsie. They were chatting from time to time.

Georgia saw Robert walked in after hearing a knock on the door.

“It's lunchtime now. What do you guys want to eat? I'll ask my assistant to bring the foods.”

Elsie was slightly happy because Vanessa was gradually refreshing. She excitedly ordered several foods while Georgia and Vanessa ordered one or two. Robert directly instructed his men to go outside and bring the ordered foods. Then he spoke to the few people in front of him.

“I want to do an important thing in your witnesses.”

Robert suddenly became solemn, and he even asked his bodyguard next to him to help him up.

“You can't even stand. What are you doing?”

Georgia nervously asked by the side. She had guessed what Robert wanted to do.

How can he try to be brave in such matters? However, Robert insisted on stand up lamely with the help of the bodyguard.

Then, the bodyguard helped Robert to go to the front of Georgia.

Robert knelt on one knee with the help of the bodyguard.

Although his posture was tilt and was about to fall, Robert opened the ring box in his palm, which had a diamond ring inside it.

“I'll give you the ritual even though I'm sick now. I should propose on one knee like others. Will you marry me?”

“With the witnesses of Annie, Vanessa, Elsie, and your family and friends, I promise you and them that I will take care of you for the rest of my life.”

Elsie was coaxing by the side.

“Marry him, marry him. You guys are a longtime couple. Why are you guys still so mushy?”

Vanessa showed a gratified smile by the side.

“Georgia, don't be hesitate since you both loved each other.”

“You see, you have fawned on them, and they all persuaded me to say yes to you. But I only want to help you to sit in the wheelchair now. I don't want you to hurt yourself.”

Georgia smiled helplessly.

“I'll go back to the wheelchair if you promise to put the ring on.”

Georgia nodded happily. She actively extended her hand, then let the man in front of her put the ring on her finger.

Then, she instantly crouched down and held Robert to get up.

“I've put on the ring. You can't continue to be brave. Go back and sit in the wheelchair. I don't mind you sitting in the wheelchair since you were injured to save me.”

Both of them had discussed the future to be together long ago. Georgia did not have too much excitement and delight about the wedding because she had known that they would get married long ago.

He took the ring out of the box then she put it on as if it naturally happened.

She knew that they would be together.

Annie curiously asked by the side.

“Is there going to be a wedding in the future? Can I be the flower girl?”

“Of course, as long as Annie wants to be.”

Robert was full of doting towards Annie.

“I want to wear the pink dress of those beautiful dresses I tried on last time. Is it okay?”

Robert smiled.

“I've asked Liszt to make few beautiful dresses for you, which are more beautiful than the ones you tried on last time. Annie, choose one of the dresses designed by Liszt by then, okay?”

“Is it the man that I saw in the wedding dress store last time?”

Annie curiously asked, and Robert nodded.

“It's him. He designed the beautiful wedding dress that Georgia wore last time. He has designed few dresses for you now, but it's still in progress. He will airlift the dresses by then. Annie choose one of them at that time, okay?”

Little girls liked gorgeous dresses. Annie felt that the wedding dress that Georgia wore last time was beautiful. She was excited when she heard Robert said this.

“I like those dresses so much. The wedding dress designed by the him is beautiful. I like the ones that Georgia tried on.”

They were chatting, and after a while, the assistant brought the foods they had ordered to the ward.

It was a luxury ward with a separate dining room. They sat at the table and started to eat.

Robert called Travis over to eat as well. They happily ate together, and the atmosphere was harmonious.

After Robert left the hospital, he prepared things for Travis to meet Sarah tomorrow.

He thought that they must take the security details rigorously even in his territory.

Robert saw Jason when he arrived at the villa. He curiously asked Jason.

“What brings you here?”

Jason sighed at Robert.

“There is an important matter, and I want to discuss it with you since I can't make a decision alone.”

“Let's face it, and I'll figure it out with you.”

Both of them were like brothers. Jason frankly told his intention of coming. _____

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 206 Sarah Duran

“Do you remember that you dealt with Eden last time? Do you remember the matter about Jasper and Selena that I told you last time?”

How could Robert not remember the matter? Robert asked.

“What happened? Did something happen to Selena abroad?”

“It's not about Selena, but something happened to Jasper. I told you last time that I didn't know what possessed Jennifer to pretend that she had sex with Jasper, and she insisted on Jasper taking responsibility for it. Jasper didn't care about it, and he treated it as he married a decor. I have to help Selena conceal this, but it's not easy to tell Jasper about this. I think the farce between Jasper and Jennifer will start from the engagement, and they will divorce if they can't get married or after marriage. But an accident happens, and I'm not sure what to do now.”

“What kind of accident? It seems like not a simple matter when I see your face now. Is it serious?”

Jason nodded heavily.

“Both families of Jasper and Jennifer arranged two of them to be engaged in early spring next year. I think that Jennifer will not force Jasper to marry her if the engagement drags. She did it to disgust us at that time, but there is something happened now. Jennifer is pregnant and insisted that the baby is Jasper's. Jasper told me that their engagement has moved up to the end of this month, and then they will get married next month. I know that Jasper does not care about the marriage. But I have more in mind when it comes to the baby.”

“Do you suspect that the baby is not Jasper's since it was Selena inside the room that night, and Jennifer went in later? So you have suspicions about her baby? We can't tell the truth to Jasper, even though we know it. So you feel depressed now, don't you?”

Jason nodded.

“It's true indeed. Jasper does not care about his marriage. I don't care about the farce made between Jasper and Jennifer at first, but it involves a baby now. If the baby is Jasper's, the marriage between them will be complicated. Jasper will make a fool of himself if the baby is not his. Who am I to say that the person that night was not Jennifer, and the baby is not his. I can't provide any evidence.”

“Moreover, there is a possibility that the baby may be Jasper's. Jennifer may also do this kind of thing since she is crazy now. I want to discuss with you that what to do next. Now it's in my head. I feel sorry for Jasper if I don't tell him the truth. What should Selena do if I tell him the truth? What should the Holland family do? I'm so confused now.”

Robert also struggled with Jason's words.

“Do you still have contact with Selena now? How is she now?”

“Selena seldom contact with me. She has always felt that she has troubled us, and she won't call me if she doesn't have any difficulties. I occasionally called her to ask about her physical condition, and she only said that everything was all right and didn't worry about her. I don't dare to tell her that Jennifer is pregnant now. I'm afraid that she will worry about Jasper.”

“A pregnant woman can do the paternity test for the baby as well. However, the relationship between the Holland family and the Johnson family is over if we let Jennifer do the test. The Johnson family will not agree on dragging the wedding of Jasper and Jennifer until the baby is born and done the test. I know that you don't want Jasper to hold the bag. Then we lie to him that you saw another woman in the room that night, but you don't confirm whether Jennifer went in and had sex with him. You don't tell him that the woman you saw was Selena. What do you think?"

"It takes one hundred lies to cover up one lie. I think it is dangerous, but it seems to be the only way to solve the problem. Should we call Jasper over and talk with him?"

Jason tentatively asked Robert. Jason had the same thought as Robert that he could not look on miserably and watch Jasper be a cuckold and raise a child for another man.

Jasper was cynical, but he should not be humiliated by this matter.

“You make a phone call for Jasper to come over.”

Jasper received a call from them, and they said that there was an important thing to be discussed in Robert's villa. He felt a little strange about it.

However, he had no problem with it since they wanted to meet.

Jasper immediately drove to Robert's villa. Three people were sitting in the living room. Jasper smiled and asked when he saw Robert and Jason looked distressed.

“Why you guys look wretched? You can speak freely. Is it because of Jennifer? I'll take responsibility for her since she is pregnant. I'm only marrying a wife. I'll be a responsible father in the future. I can also be a responsible husband, but it depends on whether Jennifer can honestly be my wife. I will respect my wife, and I will be good to her and treat her with respect as long as she doesn't make trouble out of anything. Why you guys look worried about me?”

Jasper thought that Jason and Robert were worried because of Jennifer possibly marrying him. Robert took a glance at Jason while Jason said heavily.

“There is one thing that I've not known how to tell you. Jasper, please don't beat me after I say it.”

Jasper had never seen Jason looked solemn like this. He asked discreetly.

“Don't keep me guessing. We've been brothers for so many years, say it frankly.”

“Didn't you drink wine and felt like taking pills on the night of our family dinner? You asked me to arrange a woman for you at that time. I've sent a woman to you indeed, but the woman left once she received the money in the first half of the night. In the latter half of the night, I didn't know when Jennifer went into your room and how she was in your bed. I couldn't explain to you since I didn't know what happened in your room at that time. I felt not good to say it. However, Jennifer is pregnant now. I'm worrying that the baby she is carrying may not be yours.”

After Jason speaking, Jasper's face clouded over.

“Why are you telling me now? Where is the woman who took the money? I won't feel anything even if you tell me at that time.”

“Many things have happened on that day. Robert was missing in my place. I had to put my whole soul to look for the murderer and Robert that night. Jennifer meddled in at that time. I've always thought that you must take responsibility for Jennifer if she had sex with you in the latter half of the night, even if you had sex with another woman in the first half of the night. It was pointless to say it at that time, but Jennifer is pregnant now. We all know that Jennifer is a dishonest woman. I'm worrying that she is conceiving another man's baby. I always feel that she wants to disgust us.”

Robert also said by the side.

“Jasper, we've been brothers for so many years. You know that I'll not just intervene in this. We have known Jennifer for more than ten years, and we all know what kind of character she is since she was a child. Jennifer kept pestering me in the past, and she never stopped even though I have refused. Then, she turned her attention to you and forced you to marry her.

Jennifer is even pregnant now. We are worrying that she has an ulterior motive. We thought that we could only call you over and tell you the truth.”

“I won't blame you guys. I'm a little angry that you didn't tell me the truth at that time, but it is not a big deal. You're worrying that the baby Jennifer is carrying is not mine, right?”

Robert and Jason nodded at the same time.

“You can't marry a woman who is conceiving another man's baby, even though you don't care about the marriage. It is such a grievance.”

Jasper nodded.

“You guys are right. I treat the marriage as a joke at first, but who knows, Jennifer is pregnant.

I'm a little overwhelmed about it since I can't force Jennifer to do a paternity test now. The Johnson family will kill me if I do so. It is dangerous for a pregnant woman to do a paternity test. Do you have other better ways?”

Robert and Jason shook their heads.

“The reason we called you over is that we can't think of other ways and have to remind you of this matter. You have to figure it out yourself if you can trick Jennifer to do the test.”

“She usually only talks to my mother and pretends to show a smile when facing me. She looks lovable, but who knows what's on her mind. Forget it as if I have an unfortunate fate. I'll do the paternity test after marrying her and after her baby is born. The baby may be mine. Who knows what Jennifer will do when she is desperate?”

Jasper said and heaved a deep sigh as if he had given up on this.

He would treat the marriage as a joke if there was no baby. However, Jasper was not an irresponsible person. He must treat Jennifer well if there was a baby.

Jasper wished that Jennifer would not embarrass him or conspired behind his back. If Jennifer did so, he would not be silent and would revenge ruthlessly.

The three people discussed for a long time but failed to conclude in the end. They could not kidnap Jennifer to the hospital for the paternity test since she was the young lady of the Johnson family. She could only do the paternity test after the baby was born. He had to resign himself if the baby was his. If the baby was not his, he could confidently divorce Jennifer.

Anyway, they had told Jasper the truth in advance so that Jasper could always guard against Jennifer.

Robert sent five of his bodyguards to Travis's side the next morning.

At nine in the morning, a man in a black suit walked into Travis's ward.

“Hi, Mr. Armstrong. I'm assistant of Ms.Duran. Ms.Duran said that she has an appointment to meet with you.”

The assistant showed a video call on his phone after speaking. Sarah showed her face in the video which, was the same as the photo Travis saw yesterday.

Sarah spoke on the other end of the phone.

“If you trust me, you can follow my man to a safe place to talk. I heard that you always have bodyguards around to protect you. You can bring them along as well.”

“I will come over, Ms.Duran.”

Travis responded to her.

After a few minutes, Travis sat in the car with the bodyguards assigned by Robert and the people sent by Sarah in the car parking lot.

The car was puttering gently along the road then stopped at a suburban villa about an hour later.

The place was underpopulated. The assistant opened the car door, then Travis out of the car with the help of the bodyguard.

Travis was not recovered yet and needed to be in a wheelchair. The bodyguard wheeled him into the villa.

After about five minutes, the bodyguard wheeled Travis to the living room of the villa. A young woman was sitting on the sofa.

She wore her hair in a ponytail. She was in a white shirt and black trousers. She looked solemn which, was the same as the photo and video showed. She was with a cold and glamorous temperament.

Sarah smiled weakly at Travis when she saw Travis entered the living room.

“Mr. Armstrong, thank you for coming over. I'm Sarah.” _____

After finished saying this, Sarah stood up and personally made a cup of tea.

She seemed to be skilled in the tea ceremony. There was a tea set in front of her. After a few of her smooth movements, she handed a cup of tea to Travis Armstrong.

“I was delayed for a long time due to heavy road traffic. Mr. Armstrong, have a cup of tea to quench your thirst.”

She seemed to be very polite as she smiled at him when he drank the tea.

“I think you have probably guessed that I’m looking for you because of something, but I should still introduce myself. My name is Sarah and my father is operating his business in the United States. I was just recognized by him two years ago as I’m her illegitimate daughter... As for Mr. Armstrong, I’ve also investigated your past. The reason why I would pay attention to you was because I’ve been investigating Jayson Mathis and I found a hint which he has been looking for someone to deal with you. Since you’re his enemy, I think that it’s necessary for me to meet you.”

Travis had a sip of scented tea and felt that it was nice indeed. He looked at her and asked her tentatively, “What do you want to ask me? I’ll tell you the truth and I can listen to it if you want me to do something.”

“I want to know why Jayson is trying to put you to death by every possible means? What exactly have you done as he don’t want you to continue living in this world?”

Once she finished asking this, he started to laugh.

“Didn’t you guess it? You had written in the letter that you wanted to talk with me about James Ellis. Thus, Jayson is definitely dealing with me because of James.”

When Travis said this, her hands clenched up and her expression looked upset. She spoke in an urgent tone.

“Mr. Armstrong, please tell me how much do you know about James.”

“Ms.Duran, I’ve a hunch that you probably hate Jayson. I don’t mind telling you the truth as he is also my enemy... He wants to put me to death because I had witnessed him killing James...”

Then, Travis told his story which happened ten years ago.

After he finished telling his story, her tears fell down. She suddenly lowered her head and she looked emotional.

“Mr. Armstrong, I’m in a bad mood now. I’m sorry as I need some time to myself.”

She suddenly stood up and left the living room after she said this.

Travis just stayed in the living room. In fact, he had understood that the person she cared about was James.

He didn’t know the exact relationship between her and James, but it was nothing more than adoration, liking and lovesickness between a man and a woman.

As for the extent of their relationship, he didn’t know about it.

He waited quietly for her to calm her emotions. After about ten minutes, she just returned to the living room and sat down.

Perhaps she had just washed her face as her eyes were red, but there were no more tears on her face.

“Mr. Armstrong, I’m sorry as I lost control of myself just now. Actually I’ve guessed earlier that James’s death might have something to do with Jayson. I’ve been investigating Jayson in these years, trying to see when he will give the game away, but I didn’t find any clues about his death. Instead, I investigated that he is dealing with a person in China. It took me a lot of efforts to find out this clue. After I received this news, my intuition told me that I should meet you as you may tell me the truth that I’ve always wanted to know.”

He laughed resignedly.

“Yes, your intuition is right. I had become a beggar in these ten years, wandering around and didn’t know anything. I was like a fool demented for ten years of life. When everything was getting back to normal, he tried to ask someone to kill me again. My grandmother passed away and I also lost my girlfriend. Ms.Duran, I can see that you want to take revenge for James and I also want to revenge on Jayson. You can just ask for my help if you need help when you're taking revenge. I've nothing to care anymore and I don't care even if it costs me my life as long as I can revenge on him."

She felt a little excited as she didn't expect that he would straight away bring up the idea of cooperation before she even mentioned it.

"Mr. Armstrong, I really have the intention to cooperate with you and I want to revenge for James as I don't want him to just die in vain, let a person who is rapacious to inherit the properties of the Ellis family. However, Mr. Ellis is already lying on the bed while Amelie Ellis doesn't trust me, I don't know where to start to deal with him since he is in a position of power now."

Travis made a suggestion for her.

"I wonder if Ms. Duran had investigated how many people he had provoked with the things he had done these few times. He had almost dealt with my friend, Georgia Lane and her boyfriend, Robert Simpson. You might know the Simpson family, so you can find a way to ally with them Simpson family and I'll also help in this. If we do it together, it won't be a problem to defeat him. I'm the eyewitness, but Amelie may not believe... However, there will definitely have some flaws in the Ellis family which is certainly something that Jayson cannot control alone and we can also try to get Brenton Ellis to wake up, then tell him the truth so that he'll call the shots."

"Did you mean Robert?" I do have a plan to discuss with him, but I think that it needs your help to start on it. After going back, you tell Mr. Simpson this contact number and I want to talk to him personally if he is willing to work with me."

Travis nodded and took the slip of paper handed over by her which the contact number was written on it.

Afterwards, she started to ask him curiously.

"Mr. Armstrong, I've something to ask you about Gigi and Robert."

He looked at her and nodded. Then, she continued to speak again.

“I found out that you and Gigi were couple ten years ago, but you had disappeared and became a beggar for ten years, then two of you broke off contact and she also stay together with Robert now. If a few of us work together, will there be any hidden risks in your relationship with both of them? I know this question is a bit presumptuous, but I really worried that something will go wrong here if we cooperate as emotional issues are the most heartbreaking.”

He looked at her and he smiled.

“In this world, it's not necessary to be with her even I like her... What she had suffered these years isn't much better than me. Now she has found her happiness and I'm not capable of giving her happiness, so I just hope that they can live happily and joyously together. Even though I'm still jealous and want to snatch her away from him, but I'm no longer qualified as I've no power and authority. I have nothing now. How do I protect her?"

After he said this, Sarah showed a despondent smile.

"Mr. Armstrong, you're really a good person. If you could have seen James earlier, I wonder if he would have died unjustly back then."

Travis felt sorry for him.

"At that time I arrived, there were several people over there. Even if I acted bravely, I still couldn't save him actually. Ms. Duran, although I don't know your relationship with James, he would be very happy if he knows that you have been revenging for him until now."

She smiled sorrowfully, then stood up and pushed his wheelchairs out of the door.

It was noon and his car returned to the hospital.

Robert had been waiting for him to return and he started to talk with him once Travis returned to the ward.

Travis told him all the things that he had talked with Sarah just now.

“I think if she and James were not couple, at least she seemed to fond of him and wanted to revenge for him. Hence, she wants to ask you if you’re willing to work with her. This is the contact information she gave me.”

Travis handed the slip of paper to him and he nodded.

“I get it. I’ll contact her. Travis, I’m going to get married with Gigi. Will you attend our wedding?”

Travis was shocked, then he smiled bitterly and gave his blessing.

“I sincerely blessed two of you. When is your wedding scheduled for?”

“The twenty-fifth of next month is an auspicious day. Although it seems to a bit rushed, I’ve set this date as this wedding has to be held by my father for some reasons. I’ve also discussed it with Gigi and I hope that you will come to attend.”

“Yes, I’ll. Before that, Annie will have done her surgery as well, so your wedding will be just perfect.”

Robert left after finished speaking, but Travis was caught in a bad mood.

He knew clearly that they would get married, but it still made him upset when he heard it with his own ears.

He had lived a muddled life for ten years and now it was just like he awoke from his sleep. He still loved that maiden, but she had been separated from him for ten years.

It was ten years...

There was no chance between them at all.

In the next few days, since Gigi had promised his proposal, she had to choose the style of wedding dress she preferred even though everything could be prepared by Robert's father.

She had chosen her wedding dress. After trying it on that day, she chose a dress with sloping shoulders, which looked playful and lovely.

However, apart from wedding dress, there were still other things such as choosing toast clothing and wedding flowers, organizing an outdoor wedding or church wedding, deciding the style of invitation cards and which friends to be invited.

Robert's father let her to make all the final decisions when it came to the matters involving the bride.

Finally, she settled on the style she preferred after she had been busy for two or three days.

It was Saturday and Annie would have to undergo surgery tomorrow. Annie was already staying inside the hospital the night before. Gigi accompanied her and told stories to her until she fell asleep.

The next morning, almost everyone came to Annie's room and cheered for her.

She was nervous and so was Gigi. Vanessa Cooke and Elsie Clarke were staying beside her. Elsie who seemed to be a little childish would tell some jokes sometimes and it made Annie laugh every time.

However, the worry in her mind couldn't be dispelled even though there was a tremendous amount of joy.

After about an hour, Annie was sent into the operating theatre. Gigi didn't do anything and she could only wait anxiously outside.

However, before Annie's surgery was over, she found that her phone rang. Surprisingly, the one who called her was Miranda.

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 208 Ms. Layla Went Missing

Georgia learnt from Robert that Miranda was the one who found her when she went missing.

She wanted to treat Miranda a meal to thank her from saving her.

But she had been too occupied with Vanessa's affair and everything that had happened in between.

Speaking of which, she had never met Miranda before. They only spoke to each other a few times over the phone.

Miranda was also the one who helped her when she got kidnapped. She picked up the phone and asked Miranda politely.

“Ms. Bradley, is there anything I can do for you?”

“Ms. Lane, sorry for bothering you, but I have no idea what else I can do now. Did you get in touch with my mum lately?”

Georgia shook her head. After she left the clubhouse, she had lost contact with Ms. Layla.

“My mum went missing. She is not working at the clubhouse anymore, and I can’t get through her phone. My dad and I sent a lot of people trying to look for her, but it seemed like she has vanished from the surface of this world. I am left with no choice, so I thought I try my luck and call you to see if you have gotten in touch with her recently. Sorry for disturbing you.”

How could Ms. Layla go missing? Georgia felt strange and worried as well after hearing Miranda’s sorrowful voice.

Miranda had helped her a lot; she could not ignore Ms. Layla’s disappearance.

“Ms. Bradley, if I have any news regarding Ms. Layla or if she happens to contact me, I will inform you right away.”

“Thank you for your help, Ms. Lane.”

As soon as the call was ended, Robert who was sitting nearby, asked her.

“Did Miranda call you? Why did she look for you?”

Robert had already taken care of Jordan’s matter in private. He could not guess the reason why Miranda was looking for Georgia.

“Ms. Layla went missing. She is Miranda’s mother. Their mother and daughter relationship has been rather complicating...”

Georgia briefly explained about the causality.

“I see. I had no idea about this. I did not know you two met each other like that. Do you need my help to find out where Ms. Layla went? Her actually name is Layla, right?”

Georgia nodded her head.

Yes, Ms. Layla's real name is Layla. I cannot figure out why she went missing. By right, she should not have any enemy since she had already taken her revenge. Ms. Layla actually cares about her daughter Miranda. If you can help to investigate on this, or have anyone who can help with this, please do so. After all, they did help me before and I do not know how to return the favor."

Robert nodded at the side.

"Don't worry, I will help you with this."

They two of them talked while holding their hands and waited for the surgery to be over.

After waiting for another hour, the light inside the operating room finally went out. The doctors and nurses walked out with Ivan in front of them. When he saw Georgia and Robert, he smiled at them.

“The operation is successful. Annie will probably wake up either tonight or tomorrow morning. Make sure she takes something light these few days. We will continue monitoring her for a while. It is estimated that she will be discharged from the hospital after two weeks.”

Deep down, Georgia was very grateful.

Annie’s heart disease was something that Georgia cared the most in her heart.

She felt that she owed her daughter a lot. She only hoped that Annie could quickly get over with the surgery so that she could jump around and be as active as other kids.

Now that the surgery was a success, she felt that her stress from the past six years had finally been released.

Vanessa and Elsie who were waiting at the side also thanked Ivan.

Annie was pushed to her ward to rest. Everyone went to Annie's ward, feeling happy and joyous.

The recovery days after the operation passed in a blink of an eye. Georgia stayed in the hospital everyday to accompany Annie. Although her wound was recovering well, Georgia did not leave the hospital at all and stayed beside Annie every day.

Vanessa was not discharged yet due to her body condition, so in the end they stayed in the hospital for a long time.

A week later, Ivan announced that Annie's operation was a complete success. As long as she took a good rest after the operation, she could be discharged after a week.

That were Georgia's happiest days. She felt very relaxed every day, without any stress and worries. Annie was getting better and better each day, and she finally recovered.

As for Travis and Vanessa, it was almost time for them to leave the hospital as well.

In fact, Georgia was totally healed. It was Jasper and Jennifer's engagement day on the 30th at the end of this month.

Jasper and Robert were good friends. Although Jennifer had done a lot of terrible things back then, it would be impossible for Robert to skip Jasper's engagement dinner. Thus, his only date to bring along would be Georgia.

"Annie, mummy is going to attend dinner with daddy tonight. So, you will be staying with Vanessa and Elsie. I might not be able to come back tonight and accompany you, is that okay?"

Georgia had already played with Annie for the whole morning.

After that, she spoke to Annie.

“I know, mummy. You told me that you need to attend Holland’s engagement dinner a few days ago. I don’t need you to keep me accompanied all the time. I feel very healthy right now, don’t worry about me...I have Vanessa and Elsie here with me too.”

Georgia smiled with relief. She had been spending all her time with Annie in the hospital lately.

Therefore, she was a bit reluctant to leave her all of a sudden.

However, since she had already promised Robert about attending Jasper’s engagement dinner with him, and now that she was quite close with Jasper herself, she would not want to break her promise.

“Vanessa, Elsie, I will leave first. Robert’s bodyguard will stay here. If there is anything important, remember to contact us at once.”

“Don’t worry, just get going. Elsie and I will take a good care of Annie.”

Vanessa stood next to her and smiled. Georgia then only felt being put at ease.

Under the escort of the bodyguards, she went to the carpark and got into her car, then drove back to Robert’s villa.

The styling artists had actually been waiting for her at the villa. They prepared a few dresses and a dozen pairs of shoes for Georgia to choose from.

“Why are you making this so grand?”

Georgia smiled helplessly at Robert.

“I just need something decent. We are going to other people’s engagement dinner, not getting engaged. All these clothes are too flashy. Just a simple dress will do.”

Georgia picked a simple black dress among the other dresses. It looked proper and elegant.

“I don’t know much about fashion, so I can only ask them to prepare more. I can use my remaining life to figure out what are you thinking, and what you like. But if it’s about styling and fashion, I could never ever figure it out my whole life. You can discuss what hairstyle you prefer with the hair stylist. I will wait at the side. The engagement dinner will start in the evening, so we still have plenty of time left. And even if you look prettier than Jennifer tonight, I don’t think Jasper will mind.”

Robert sat beside and smiled. He looked relaxed, as if he was not bothered about the event tonight, treating it like a normal engagement dinner.

Georgia on the other hand felt strange and asked.

Don't you think it will be weird for us to attend Jasper and Jennifer's engagement dinner?"

"Are you talking about Jennifer? If she tries to cause any scene on her own engagement dinner, she will ruin the relationship between the Holland family and the Johnson family. And if she wants to hurt you, I will keep you protected, so don't worry about it."

Sometimes, Georgia felt that men were rather simple-minded. The war between women would not be obvious at all times; it would usually happen behind the scenes.

But since Robert was going to stay by her side and keep her protected, Georgia felt that there was nothing for her to worry about. By that time, if anything really happened, they could just handle it on the spot.

If Jennifer got married to Jasper, and Georgia had agreed to marry Robert, they would be seeing each other very often.

At that time, she could only find a way and deal with it.

Georgia asked the hairstylist to coil her hair up.

After putting on the black dress, Georgia wore a diamond necklace. Then, the two of them got in the car and went to the Holland Family's engagement dinner.

The venue of the engagement dinner was set in a luxurious five-star hotel owned by the Holland family. When Georgia and Robert arrived, most of the celebrities and guests were already there.

The floor was covered with a red carpet, and the hotel staffs were waiting around. When Georgia and Robert got down from the car, they came forward and welcomed them.

One of the hotel staff led Georgia and Robert inside. However, when they reached the banquet hall, Georgia saw someone she did not want to see.

It was Alfred.

It had been a long time since she saw Alfred. Following the incident with Vanessa, and after Alfred's surgery, he stopped appearing in front of them. After that, Georgia and Vanessa chose to erase Alfred's existence from their lives, and they avoided mentioning Alfred since.

However, logically speaking, it was quite impossible to not meet him at all. For instance, she met Alfred now at this engagement dinner.

Georgia turned her face away, held Robert's hand, and tried to walk away.

However, Alfred walked forward and stopped in front of them.

"Alfred, do you remember what did you promise me last time? Go away now. Vanessa and I don't want to see you anymore. Can you please move aside?"

Georgia tried to sound as polite as possible. She could not possibly flip out here in this banquet hall and make a scene while everyone was watching.

Alfred showed a begging expression.

“I’m very sorry Georgia. I haven’t seen Vanessa since then, and I know I am impudent for asking about her. I just want to know if she has recovered. Is she feeling better? I just hope that she can stop agonizing herself, like last time.”

Georgia gave him a sarcastic smile.

“Ever since you left, she has been recovering. She eats and sleeps well without you. Her mental health is good too. If you wish her well, I hope you will never show yourself in front of her every again.

After hearing what Georgia said, Alfred let out a bitter and helpless smile.

“I understand. As long as she is living a good life, then what I have done is worthwhile. Other than that, I have some info about Rachel’s escape. Although I don’t know where she ran off to, if you follow this lead, you might be able to find her.”

Georgia, however, was interested in this information. Vanessa was determined to get her revenge. So, if they could catch Rachel, Vanessa would feel better. Georgia was quite pleased with Alfred right now.

“Let me know immediately if you found Rachel. The reason why Vanessa pulled herself back together was because she wanted to seek revenge for her kid. Don’t try and get rid of Rachel behind our backs. At least let Vanessa deal with her directly, okay?”

“I will agree to everything she wants. Initially, I wanted to catch Rachel myself and then tell Vanessa and let her deal with Rachel herself.”

Georgia set her mind at rest after hearing what Alfred said. Then, she pushed Robert’s wheelchair towards Jason.

“You two are finally here. I was so bored...Jasper is attending his guests, and no one wants to entertain me.”

Jason saw Georgia and Robert came over and started babbling.

“Where’s Ivan? He’s not here yet?”

Robert asked Jason.

Ivan would definitely attend Jasper’s engagement dinner. However, Robert did not know what time Ivan would be here since they were not staying together. Seeing that Jason came early, Robert asked him out of curiosity.

“I didn’t see him. The dinner just started, so maybe he will be here in a while. You look so miserable sitting in this wheelchair. And now, your third uncle, Alex is in charge of the Simpson family’s business. No one cares about you anymore.”

Jason said teasingly.

“Why? Are you laughing at me right now?”

Robert laughed and replied. Actually, he did not mind that Alex was managing the company.

He could have more time to himself, and he could recover faster and accompany those who he cared about.

The two of them babbled on while Georgia accompanied them. It was harmonious.

The guests were walking around in the banquet hall. Fortunately, no one came and disturbed them. Eventually, more and more guests arrived.

Suddenly, Georgia saw Ivan, and he looked like he was in a bad mood.

Jason greeted Ivan and signaled him to come over.

Ivan walked towards them with a solemn face, looking as if someone had owed him a lot of money.

“Why do you look so sulky? Did someone offend you?”

Robert asked Ivan. But instead, Ivan looked towards Georgia.

“Georgia, I need to ask you something. Can I confirm something with you? _____

Chapter 209 Jasper Holland’s Engagement Party

Georgia Lane couldn’t figure out what was happening, so she immediately asked.

“If you have any questions, just ask me...”

“That time at Jason Murphy’s family banquet, I saw Emilia Powell came over. A man who was your colleague stood beside her. At that time, Emilia said that he was her husband... But I accidentally saw them today. I heard Emilia call him brother, so I especially investigated for his identity. It turns out that they’re both Powell’s. How are they related?”

Georgia felt she was put in a difficult position for a while. She helped them lie before, but the person who was involved knew the truth now. He was even Robert Simpson’s younger brother. He just operated on Annie a while ago, so Georgia was too ashamed to continue lying.

“I’m sorry. They’re cousins. Aston Powell is my colleague, and Emilia is Aston’s younger cousin. I already knew about this before. It’s just that when you just met back then, Emilia wanted to intentionally mislead you. After you got angry and left, Emilia asked me not to tell you the truth. I’m really sorry that I lied to you about this.”

After Georgia said that, Ivan Simpson’s face turned pale.

He had already guessed that Emilia had been lying to him all along. At first, she pretended to be a poor woman. Then, she pretended that she already married someone. She seemed to be intentionally distancing her relationship with him. She seemed like she was dying to stay away from him forever.

Was he that disgusting? Ivan bitterly and angrily thought.

He was extremely popular and sought after by women outside. Women would all cling on him wherever he went. Emilia was the only one who kept on avoiding him. Was there any blood feud between them?

Even if he was sincere back then and even if he was a little angry and couldn't let go now, he didn't need to cling onto her.

“Georgia, I don't blame you on this matter. I just wanted to ask you if Emilia has a boyfriend or fiancé right now. Or is she married already?”

To be honest, Georgia didn't really know the answer to this question yet. She explained to Ivan.

“I only have a guess. I think Emilia don’t have a boyfriend right now. She’s probably also not yet married, but I only met her a few times. We haven’t talked about personal matters like this yet, so I’m not sure if my guess is right.”

After Georgia finished talking, Jason patted Ivan’s shoulder.

“There are plenty of other girls out there. It’s just one woman anyway. Why do you need to get so angry? You should learn from Jasper Holland. He even dared to be engaged to Jennifer Johnson... When it comes to things like love, you don’t need to care too much about what you can’t get. Be more carefree.”

Ivan glared at Jason.

“Who said that I care for her? I’m just angry at her. So many years had already passed, yet she’s still lying at me. Did she think that I’ll keep clinging onto her? Did she think that she’s a heartthrob? This is hilarious!”

Robert and Georgia looked at each other. They helplessly and bitterly smiled together.

Anyone could tell that you still cared a little for Emilia. However, they couldn't say that as it was. They could only stay silent on the side.

Several people were talking and discussing Jasper and Jennifer's engagement at the side.

At around eight in the evening, almost everyone had already arrived. Jasper's parents, Elliot and Bailey Holland spoke in front and thanked everyone for coming.

After that, Jasper and Jennifer each also said some words of formality and thanked everyone for coming to their engagement party in front of the stage.

Jennifer was actually a beautiful woman. Jasper was very handsome as well. In fact, they looked like the perfect pair of couple when they stood together.

If she didn't know what Jennifer had done in the past, Georgia would think that they were the perfect couple.

Engagement parties in the upper class society like this were mainly used to announce the union of two families. Then, the banquet was for everyone to have a chance to socialize and talk about business.

It was just an engagement only, so they wouldn't let the masters of the two families talk too much on stage. Afterward, the host occasionally livened up the atmosphere on the stage.

Most of the time, the people in the banquet hall just walked among the crowd and talked about business and reminisced with the interested people they found.

What Georgia didn't expect was that Jasper was already walking toward them with Jennifer before they went to congratulate him.

“You brat, you finally settled down today. Congratulations on your engagement.”

Jason congratulated first, then Robert and Georgia congratulated them together.

“Congratulations on your engagement.”

Regardless of what he thought of Jennifer, Ivan also subtly congratulated them since everyone was being polite to each other.

Jasper gently smiled, and Jennifer talked to everyone.

“Thank you everyone for attending my engagement party with Jasper. Our wedding day is next month, so we hope everyone can attend it by then.”

Jennifer looked extremely gentle and demure. Georgia was a little bit confused by the smile in her eyes.

Was Jennifer really the bratty and arrogant woman in her memory? Or did the soul of the woman in front of her already change?

“You keep on saying your wedding is next month. What day did you really set it on? You didn’t even send out the invitation cards yet.”

Jason curiously asked from the side. Jasper helpless laughed.

“The twentieth of next month. The invitations will be done soon. I’ll send them to you by then.”

After Jasper said that, Jennifer looked and smiled at Robert and Georgia.

“I heard that you’re also preparing the wedding. When will the wedding be?”

“The twenty-fifth of next month. I hope you’ll be able to attend too by then.”

Georgia spoke to Jennifer.

Jennifer gently smiled.

“Of course, I’ll attend. Don’t worry.”

Everything that happened seemed weird yet normal. This was extremely different from Jennifer’s past behavior.

Georgia subconsciously felt anxious because Jennifer’s personality wasn’t like this. Even if she really decided to marry Jasper, she would never be friendly to Georgia.

Her politeness and gentleness now seemed like the calm before the storm.

After Jasper and Jennifer greeted them, they walked toward other people and continued having small talks. Jason curiously asked about them.

“I was spooked when Jennifer smiled at me. When did she become so polite and gentle?”

Ivan agreed and nodded from the side.

“You’re right. Old habits die hard! I always felt that she wouldn’t marry Jasper so easily. I don’t believe that she fell in love with Jasper so soon.”

Georgia and Robert also had doubts, but they didn’t say much.

When the engagement party was about to end, Georgia already planned to go home with Robert in a car. However, all of the lights in the banquet hall suddenly went off.

The darkness caused the entire crowd to panic. Many people were scurrying around when the gunfire was blasted.

There were all kinds of screams and noises. Everything became extremely chaotic.

Georgia wanted to grab Robert's hand. She kept on screaming Robert's name, but many people were also screaming around them. So Georgia couldn't hear Robert's voice.

Robert was sitting on the wheelchair, and Georgia was extremely worried about Robert's condition.

However, before she was able to pass through the spaces for a few seconds in the dark, Georgia suddenly felt that someone grabbed her.

The next second, she felt that her mouth was covered. Then, Georgia fainted.

The entire process only lasted for a few minutes. When the lights in the banquet hall turned on again, everyone looked around. There weren't any terrorists. They couldn't see who fired the gun, and there weren't any casualties as well.

Everything seemed to happen and end so bizarrely.

It was as if the lights just went off a while ago, but the screams, panic, and gunfire never happened.

Jasper and his parents' faces darkened. They began instructing people to investigate what really happened a while ago.

However, Robert was extremely worried.

"Gigi and Jason are missing. Ivan, you're also beside them a while ago. Did you feel where they actually went?"

Ivan shook his head.

"It was completely dark back then. How could I see where Georgia and Jason went? What do we do now? Who the hell did this thing?"

"Let's not worry about who did it first. The most important thing right now is to find Gigi and Jason."

After Robert spoke, Jasper hurried over.

"What happened to you guys here? Why are Georgia and Jason missing?"

"The two of them disappeared a while ago right at the moment the lights went out. How about other people? Were there other missing people?"

"Nobody told me that somebody else is missing for now. Don't you worry. The Holland family is in charge of the security tonight. I'll immediately send everyone out to investigate."

Jasper's face darkened. He held his phone and instructed a lot of things through the phone call.

Then, he directly walked towards Jennifer.

“I’m suspecting that you’re the one who did what happened tonight. I don’t have any evidence right now, but this is your last warning from me. If I find any evidence that you’re the one who did it, don’t assume that I would forgive you. Don’t think that you’re safe just because you’re pregnant.”

Jennifer immediately showed an aggrieved expression.

“Why did you think that I’m the one who did it? What does this have to do with me? I was so scared when the lights went off during those few minutes. I’m pregnant. What am I going to do if someone bumped into me and caused me to have a miscarriage?”

Jennifer cried as she felt aggrieved.

Elliot advised from the side.

“Listen to what you’re saying. How can you talk such nonsense without any evidences? Jennifer, the situation is complicated right now. Go find a place to rest. We’ll deal with the other things. We need to give everyone an explanation for what happened tonight. You should go home with your parents and take a rest.”

Jennifer gently nodded from the side.

“Thank you for understanding me, Mrs. Holland. My tummy feels a little uncomfortable after standing for so long tonight. I want to take a rest now.”

Elliot nodded at Jennifer. Since it was her grandson who was in her tummy, she was naturally concerned and attentive.

However, before they could send Jennifer away, Ivan pushed Robert’s wheelchair in front of Jennifer.

Chapter 210 The Accident that Occurred to Jason Murphy

“Robert, I have to apologize for today. I will send someone to look for Jason and Georgia.”

Elliot apologized profusely. In the banquet hosted by the Holland family, now that Robert’s fiancée was missing, the Holland family had to bear some of the responsibility.

“Mother-in-law, I don’t blame you for it. This is just the doing of some malicious party.”

After saying that, Robert looked at Jennifer.

“Miss Johnson, we have been friends for more than a decade, and we know too well the temperament of everyone. Let me remind you, you better not have anything to do with Georgia being missing now, or else, I won’t tolerate you anymore, and that includes the whole Johnson family. Do you understand what I’m trying to say?”

Robert had secretly made a decision. If this was Jessica’s doing, he had no choice but to aim his wrath at the Johnson family.

After all, the way Jessica was behaving now was the product of the Johnson’s family spoiling her. It was a luxury gained by her thanks to the upbringing she went through in her family.

Jessica looked a little flustered as she started to deny.

“Robert, are you crazy? I won’t do something as meaningless as that. Don’t think too highly of your own opinion. I am already on the verge of marrying Jasper, but you still think I care about you. Don’t kid with me!”

Robert started to laugh coldly.

“It would be great if that’s the truth!”

After he finished his sentence, Elliot sent someone to usher Jessica and her parents to their car, and then he watched as they left.

Then, Jasper’s parents began seeing off the other guests as they combed through the crowd to make sure nobody was missing or hurt.

Luckily, everyone just had a scare. Other than Georgia and Jason who had disappeared, nobody else were gone, and nobody was hurt.

The only mystery left in this fiasco was Georgia and Jason’s disappearance.

At this moment, it had been half an hour since that incident, and Robert’s face was growing intense and grave.

He had called for his underlings to check all of the surveillance cameras in the hotel, but they found that part of the recording was edited and removed. This must mean that it was someone's purposeful plan for doing this, and that person was targeting none other than Georgia.

Where was Georgia now?

She slowly opened her eyes and realized that she was lying in bed, and more importantly, there was the faint scent of man next to her.

With the help of the dim lighting in the room, Georgia then discovered that the man who was nearby her was Jason.

“Jason, wake up, let me go, take a look at what you are doing now...”

However, it seemed that Jason had lost consciousness. His body lurched towards Georgia, and she had no other way other than biting hard at his chin.

A striking pain immediately assaulted him, which caused Jason to stir and open his eyes vaguely. The first thing he laid eyes upon was Georgia, which made him flustered.

“Why are you here? Where are we now?”

“We have fallen into someone’s trap. There was a blackout in the banquet hall just now, and I don’t know how much time has passed ever since. You better think of a way to get out of here, I am sure someone is lurking in the dark and setting us up!”

After Georgia said that, Jason’s breathing started to get ragged, and his face became blushed with an intense red. His features were contorted in a grotesque way.

“There’s something wrong with my body. No, wait, I feel like I’m going to explode!”

Jason howled in a low voice.

He struggled to break free from Georgia's side, but only then did he realize that he was confined to the bed with handcuffs restraining his hands. No matter how hard he writhed around, he could only remain in the bed.

This person next to her was Robert's woman. No matter how much of a playboy he was, Jason would never lay a finger on his brother's woman.

"I can't even move, you better leave now, I am afraid that I can't control my own actions anymore..."

Jason was shouting frantically now while Georgia could only smile bitterly.

"I don't have any strength left in me. I can't even move an inch. What should we do now?"

After Georgia replied, Jason was still sunken in a maniacal state.

He suddenly swooped in towards the woman beside him, as if that was the only way he could release the pent-up frustration he was accumulating in his body.

“Jason, get a grip of yourself!”

Georgia squealed with fear as she noticed the unnatural and bizarre expression on this man’s face. His eyes were bloodied as if he had turned into a wild beast.

There were beads of sweat trickling down his forehead, and Georgia could imagine Jason slowly losing himself in madness.

“I beg you, get a hold of yourself...”

Georgia was so anxious and afraid that her voice was cracking with tears. Jason was Robert’s good brother, and now that they had been set up by some unscrupulous party, if something undesirable had actually happened, how could they face each other again in the future? What would become of her relationship with Robert? Georgia was so nervous that she was biting her lips hard.

She was completely terrified as she tried to push this man away but to no avail. She couldn't gather any strength at all.

Besides talking, she couldn't do anything meaningful.

“Bite me hard now!”

Jason thrust one of his arm towards Georgia's mouth.

“I am at my limits now, I need some pain to make me clear up my head. Bite me fast!”

Jason continued to roar, and without giving Georgia anytime to think, she quickly sank her teeth into his arms.

She was chewing his arm so hard that it felt like his skin was going to come off, and a bloody scent was spreading in Georgia's mouth.

“That’s the way!”

Jason shouted in agony.

However, Georgia felt like she had exhausted all of her strength as her jaw came off feebly. Then, she asked Jason, “Are you more clear-headed now? What should we do now?”

“This is a hotel room, so there must be someone setting us up. I don’t know how long can I stay sane, and my hands are cuffed there!”

There was a hint of despair in Jason’s voice, and at that moment Georgia couldn’t hold back her tears anymore.

She would never imagine that something outrageous like this would happen while she was just harmlessly attending an engagement banquet by Jasper and Jennifer.

Was she destined to be so unfortunate in her whole life? Georgia couldn't help lamenting herself, and knowing that this was Jasper and Jennifer's engagement ceremony, why didn't she reject the invitation in the first place?

Robert wouldn't be mad with her if she decided not to go, so why did she have to come to this banquet tonight? She must be crazy, as Georgia thought and cursed at herself regretfully.

Jason was struggling to keep his sanity as he continuously sank into bouts of frenzy. Those anguished episodes would last for a few seconds, and this made him unable to do something unthinkable to Georgia yet.

On the other hand, outside the hotel, Robert was still busy with the investigation concerning Georgia and Jason's whereabouts with his men scurrying around.

It had been an hour.

“Are you still unable to find out where those two have disappeared to?”

“I still can’t locate them, Robert, I’m sorry...”

Elliot apologized in a dejected tone, and Ivan also had an anxious look on their side.

Time was ticking slowly but surely, and it would only serve to aggravate the matter at hand. The two of them had disappeared into thin air, and nobody could guess the motive behind this action.

“Then let’s use the worst possible way to resolve this. Although we can’t be sure that they haven’t leave the hotel, let’s break into every room. I will bear the damages.”

Robert announced with a dull expression.

At this point, Robert could no longer keep his composure.

His intuition told him that Georgia and Jason hadn't leave the hotel yet, so it was worth a try to investigate and comb every room. Although this might affect the reputation of the hotel, he was prepared to shoulder the consequences of the damages that might be incurred.

“We need the police to give us their cooperation. Tell them that we are investigating missing person. You don't need to worry, I will go right into the arrangements.”

Elliot immediately decided on this course of action, and only after a few minutes, the carpet-bombing type of sweeping commenced in the hotel.

At the same time, Georgia and Jason was still immersed in their pain in the room.

Jason was getting weaker and weaker at keeping his sanity, and every time he wanted to approach this woman next to her, the attraction and allure was only becoming greater to him, triggering a primal lust in his body.

Despite that, Georgia had bitten Jason's arm again and again, and Jason could only try to remind himself to stay sane with the pain pegging at him.

The two of them was on the brink of despair. Under the influences of drug, Jason was slowly losing himself, and just when he was going to lose all control of his body, the hotel room was banged open all of a sudden. When the light was switched on, Georgia thought that someone had come to her rescue.

However, she saw that the intruders comprised of a woman and a man. The woman was holding a microphone while the man was holding a camera.

“Miss Lane, Mr. Murphy, why are you two getting so intimate in a hotel room?”

The woman was thrusting the microphone in their faces, and Georgia appeared to lie in bed with Jason just next to her. This image was reeking of intimacy and ambiguity, and no matter how one looked at it, it looked like Georgia was cheating behind Robert's back.

“Mr. Murphy, I heard that you are good brothers with Robert. Does he know that you are secretly dating Miss Lane?”

The woman with the microphone continued to probe further. They showed no intention of dealing with Jason's handcuffs, and they didn't appear to want to help Georgia out of this. They were just focusing in their interview, obviously trying to create a big news out of this.

Jason suddenly roared, “Get the hell out of here!”

However, after managing to scream those words, he appeared to be losing control of his emotions again as his body inched towards Georgia.

The photographer was clicking away at them, which caused Georgia to cry frantically.

“Jason, keep a hold of yourself, there are people taking pictures of us. You need to wake up now...”

“Take away the camera! Now!”

Georgia could only scream in agony, but the woman and man with microphone and camera only revealed a lecherous and dark smile on their faces.

Georgia had no clue who had sent this pair of man and woman, but she had a feeling that she would reached the end of the line if these pictures of them reached the internet.

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 211 Cyber Attack

As Georgia was despairing, she noticed the sound of footsteps again.

A petite woman who was wearing high heels walked in. She was very cute looking but Georgia did not recognize who that woman was.

She only knew that the woman had glanced at Jason. After that, she looked at one man and one woman with a microphone and a camera next to her.

The petite woman spoke straight away, “Catch the two persons!”

After her words, a few strong men with black business suit tied the man and the woman up.

“I’m a reporter, what are you doing?”

The woman with a microphone revolted. The petite woman smiled indifferently.

“I don’t bother whether you are a reporter or a prostitute, I just want to catch you and hit you, you can’t stop me.”

After the words, the petite woman instructed her bodyguard, “Hit these two persons first. Besides, turn off the camera and let me see the content inside!”

Georgia did not know what the woman had done. She pressed on a few buttons on the camera.

After that, she walked towards Georgia and Jason.

“My name is Miranda. Georgia, we finally meet.”

After saying that, she instructed her bodyguard to unlock the shackles.

A few seconds later, Jason’s shackles were unlocked, but he was already in a state of psychosis. Miranda was right next to him, Jason targeted Miranda now.

However, Miranda straight punched Jason very hard on his face. Jason fainted this time round. He fell to the floor.

“I’ll ask someone to buy you clothes.”

Miranda said that to Georgia. Georgia was in a state of fear. She felt that she was trembling.

“Ms. Bradley, were they just recording or doing live broadcast using the camera?” Georgia asked nervously.

“What’s the point of being so polite? We’ve known each other for so long, just call me Miranda, I’ll call you Georgia, okay? They were doing a live broadcast just now but don’t worry, I’ll settle it for you. I had made a call to Robert, he shall be here soon.”

Georgia heard another sound right after the words.

Instantly, Robert was pushed inside in a wheelchair.

By considering that the house was in a mess, Georgia didn’t even dare to rush over and hug Robert, furthermore, she didn’t have any clothes on her body.”

Georgia was ashamed.

“Georgia, it’s okay, I’ll settle it, don’t worry.”

Robert rolled his wheelchair and came to Georgia. He held Georgia’s hands.

The man’s voice was soft but Georgia cried. She cried until she could not voice out a single word.

It was a live broadcast. The video was definitely being shared crazily across the Internet.

Before Miranda sent a message to Robert, he knew what had happened.

Looking at Jason who was on the floor due to being punched and Georgia who was naked, he knew Georgia and Jason had been tricked.

He had asked his henchmen to settle the cyber issue. Looking at Georgia, Robert advised patiently, “Don’t think that fame is very important. As long as I believe in you, all other people’s thought is bullshit, right?”

Georgia was crying non-stop.

After a while, Miranda’s bodyguard brought in a piece of clothes. Robert and the other bodyguards went out. Jason was taken out by Robert’s men too. The room was left with Miranda and Georgia only.

“I don’t have any energy anymore. I might not be able to put on the clothes on my own, so I’ll have to bother you.”

Georgia said that with embarrassment but Miranda smiled.

Miranda asked her men to buy Georgia a hoodie. After putting on the hoodie, Miranda helped her to sit up.

“Miranda, how do you know that I’m inside the room? What’s happened?”

Miranda smiled, “I’ve spoken to you a few times inside the phone and was somewhat familiar with your voice. When I passed by the hotel, I just happened to hear your voice or it might be the sound of screaming ... The door happened to be opened widely, I decided to come in and have a look. Then, I found out that it was you, I first gave Robert a call and then came in with my bodyguard.”

“If you do not hear anything, aren’t the two persons planning to put me and Jason into a live video...”

Georgia bit her lips as she asked, her heart was full of pain and resentment.

Georgia was wondering who had tricked her and Jason in such a malicious and cruel way. If the video of her and Jason's intimacy was exposed on the Internet, or live broadcast was shown until the end, if they both could not control themselves, then Robert would be ridiculed by ten thousand people.

Georgia felt aggrieved at the thought.

"Don't think too much. You see, we have spoken for so long time on the phone but it's the first we meet, right? I have handed over the two persons to Robert. If you want to give them a cruel lesson, that's not a big deal. As for things like fame, people will just follow the trend and they will forget you after a while."

Georgia felt hurt. She did not have much strength.

Finally, Robert sent her and Jason to the hospital.

In Jason's case, of course, he had to be put on a drip in the hospital. That drug was too aggressive and needed to be fixed by other drugs.

As for Georgia, her weak body had slowly regained strength after she was taken to the hospital, so no injections were needed. The doctor just gave her a detailed examination to avoid any other accidents.

After all these things were done, Georgia was able to move.

She hugged Robert in his chest and cried for about ten minutes. She did not dare to look at the news online and did not dare to ask about the live broadcast. She just wanted to cry hard.

Robert patted her back. His patting was soft and gentle.

“Don’t worry anymore. Although it’s a live broadcast, I had asked the people to delete all the videos and the issue has not exaggerated.”

“What about the reporter and the man with the camera? Do they say who sent them here?”

Georgia cried while she was asking. She just wanted to know who tricked her and Jason.

The only thing that encouraged Georgia to be brave was to take revenge for what had happened tonight.

Thinking of those videos and they were live broadcast, Georgia could feel the pain inside her heart.

She thought she had had a wonderful life and she would live a happy life ever after. However, it was just because of a gathering, she had encountered such an incident.

“I’m asking my men to interrogate them. Actually, I think I know who did it. Other than Jennifer, I can’t think of anyone else. When I have solid evidence, rest assured that I will not spare her.”

Georgia's heart was filled with hatred towards Jennifer. She had never provoked that woman. It might be just because Jennifer liked Robert, that was why she targets her like that over and over again?

Georgia cried and felt aggrieved. By the end of the day, she did not even know how she had fallen asleep while crying.

When she woke up the next morning, Georgia found that Annie and Vanessa were in front of her bed, while Elsie was on the other side of the bed.

"Mummy, you're finally awake, how do you feel? Do you want me to call a doctor?"

Annie asked with concern. Georgia's head was still a little bit painful but she shook her head.

"I'm fine, I don't feel sick, it's just that I feel my head's so hot and I feel so weak, can you help me sit up?"

“You had a fever yesterday midnight. It’s hot and the doctor had given you a drip,” Elsie said.

Vanessa quickly helped Georgia to sit up.

Georgia was shocked.

“Am I still having a fever now? I feel that my head is still hot and I am thirsty. I would like to have a glass of water.”

When Georgia finished speaking, Annie jumped vivaciously and went to the front to get a glass of water and then handed it to Georgia.

“Mummy, you drink this glass of water first. The doctor said you are still having a low fever. Press on the button behind and the doctor will come over.”

After saying that, Annie pressed on the button behind Georgia’s bed.

Georgia drank the water slowly. She felt that her head was very painful.

After a while, a doctor walked in together with a few nurses. They listened to her heartbeat and helped her to measure her temperature.

The doctor said, "Miss Lane, you are still having a fever. Your temperature is about 38 degree Celsius. I will ask the nurse to continue giving you intravenous drip. Remember to rest well, if there's anything, please don't hesitate to call us."

After the words, the doctor left with the nurses.

Vanessa persuaded by the side, "38 degree Celsius is considered quite good already. Do you know that yesterday you had a fever of 40 degree Celsius? Robert was worried about you. It was such a mess yesterday. Luckily after the medicine, your temperature dropped. An emergency drip was given to you at that time. In the late midnight, you had been having a fever over and over again, with cold sweats throughout, so 38 degree Celsius is pretty good, don't worry, you'll be fine after resting for a while. Do you want to eat anything now? Probably you don't have much appetite for any other things, right?"

After listening to Vanessa's concern, Georgia nodded.

"Yea, I don't have appetite. Give me some porridge will do. Where's Robert? Why he's not here?"

Georgia asked finally, she was sick now, how could Robert leave her?

"Didn't something like that happen last night? This morning, Robert received a phone call, he told us that he had found out who was the big boss behind the incident. He is going to take revenge for you and asked us to look after you. It's past ten o'clock now, I don't know how well he is carrying on, but don't worry, he will definitely be back later."

"So, did he say who actually tricked me?"

Georgia asked Vanessa.

“It’s Jennifer. No worries, he’ll take revenge for you. What you need to do is to rest well. You’re still having a high fever, don’t act to be strong.”

Georgia nodded in confusion. It was indeed Jennifer who had done that to her.

Thinking of that, she asked Vanessa, “How’s Jason? Does he awake? What’s the situation now?”

“He woke up during the late midnight. I don’t know what he had told Robert. In the morning, they both knew the truth and now probably he’s going to take revenge on Jennifer too.”

Georgia lowered her head and smiled bitterly. She was still holding the glass of water but her fingers were trembling.

Even Vanessa knew what had happened online, it was clear that the incident was broadcast widely.

Georgia knew that she was an Internet celebrity now and due to the incident that had happened yesterday, she could not imagine how people would comment on her.

Nothing could be deleted thoroughly on the Internet. There must be someone who had watched the live broadcast.

Georgia did not dare to ask. She was just laying on her bed and was unhappy.

On the other side, inside Jennifer's house, Robert, Jason and Jasper were sitting in the living room. Robert showed the evidence that he had found to them.

Jennifer was just trying to act smart. She thought she could get rid of being suspected by leaving behind all the responsibilities to her middlemen.

However, Robert could track that the money was from Jennifer's bank account. She was the one who tricked Jason and Georgia.

“Jennifer, what do you want to say some more?”

Robert asked Jennifer indifferently.

Chapter 212 Giving a Lesson to Jennifer

Jennifer’s parents were frightened. They never thought that their daughter could do such a thing even though she had decided to marry Jasper.

Georgia was Robert’s fiancée. Was their daughter crazy? Why did she dare to offend Robert and how could Robert not take revenge on her and just stop there?

“Jennifer, you did the thing for real?”

Jennifer’s father asked angrily.

Jennifer did not expect Robert to find out the evidence to show that she was the backstage manipulator. She thought she had done a perfect job.

Looking at the solid evidence, Jennifer did not know how to react as well.

“Robert, are you crazy? It’s your fiancée who had intimacy with your friend. It’s not my business. I don’t know why you said that I’m the one who tricked them. There must be someone who wants to put me in trouble!”

Jennifer straight away denied it. However, after the words, Jennifer’s mother showed her anxious expression.

It was impossible for her to not know her own daughter. Judging at Jennifer’s reaction, she knew that Jennifer must be the one who committed the crime.

“Bang!” Jennifer’s mother slapped her.

“What do you want to argue some more at this moment? I think you better speak out the truth and apologize to Robert. If you dare to conceal the truth, I’ll kick you out of the Johnson family!”

Since Jennifer’s mother had voiced out indifferently, Jennifer’s father understood that his daughter had done something wrong.

“Jennifer, apologize immediately, if you had made mistake, you shall admit it and hope that Robert and Miss Lane can forgive you, if you insist to deny your fault, I won’t recognize you as my daughter.”

Jennifer’s parents were determined, they were different from how they used to love Jennifer.

It was because that incident was so serious that it involved three families.

Other than Robert, Jennifer had offended the Murphy family and the Holland family.

The Holland family might break off the engagement by looking at her behaviour.

If the three families cooperated and put the Johnson family into difficulty, the Johnson family's business would be destroyed completely.

On a usual day, they could tolerate Jennifer's capricious behaviour and small mistakes, but if the Johnson family's business was destroyed, they would offend many people and they were not so silly.

They just wished to slap Jennifer until she could realize that it was her fault and apologize immediately. This could prevent the three families from destroying their business.

"Dad, Mom, what's wrong with you? I said I did not do the thing. It's Robert who treats me unjustly, he has hated me for long, don't you believe your daughter anymore?"

Jennifer was still denying it.

“Bang.” Jennifer’s father slapped her this time round.

“Unfilial daughter! Why don’t you admit it now? Don’t you think that I as a dad not knowing you well when you tell lie? Faster kneel and apologize to Robert and Jason. After this, you shall apologize to Georgia as well. If they don’t forgive you, you need to get out from the Johnson family. I won’t give you any rights of succession to shares.”

Jennifer felt aggrieved. Did not her parents love her very much? If she did something wrong, they would conceal her fault and then denied it.

If she admitted it, Robert would be getting angrier. Jennifer cried and felt aggrieved.

“You are evil. Why don’t you believe me? I said I did not commit the crime!”

Jennifer's aggrieved look made her parents more anxious. What they could do was to apologize to Robert, Jason and Jasper.

"Robert, Jasper, Jason, it's our faults to spoil her. We apologize to you, it's all our faults."

Jennifer's father knelt in front of the three young men. Jasper kept quiet all that while. He spoke after Jennifer's father knelt, "Mr. Johnson, you don't need to kneel because of her capricious behaviour. She had done the wrong thing. She shall pay off for her mistake, right?"

Jennifer's mother's face was as pale as a sheet. She knelt too.

"Jasper, Robert, Jason, you have known Jennifer since young, it's our faults to spoil her, we'll send her abroad so that she will never come back. Please forgive Jennifer, can?"

Jennifer's parents were so inferior. However, Jennifer still did not realize that she had made mistake. This made them angrier. At last, the Johnson family got into trouble and they could not protect their daughter.

It was the best way to send Jennifer abroad and let her drift outside and never come back to the home country.

Jennifer never thought that her parents could kneel in front of the three young men. She looked at them angrily.

“Why do you want to put my parents into trouble? Yea, I made the mistake. Why Georgia can get Robert’s love? Why she can be your fiancée? I know you for more than 10 years and go after you for so many years, you have never looked at me with your eyes. Georgia only knows how to smile and you fall in love with her? I just want to give her a lesson.”

Jennifer roared angrily finally. She had much hatred and felt aggrieved. It was all brought to her by Robert.

“Jennifer, shut up!”

Jennifer’s mother roared. She was regretting now that she spoilt her daughter to such extend.

If her daughter was not happy in the future, or even living an increasingly miserable life, it could only be blamed on her failure to teach her daughter well from a young age, spoiling her into such a capricious and presumptuous state.

“So, why you want to marry me? Who’s the father of your kid inside your belly?”

Jasper voiced out. He was disgusted with Jennifer’s behaviour.

At first, he planned to ignore the disgusting things that had been done by Jennifer, marry her and live a happy life with her.

However, Jennifer used his marriage to trick Robert’s fiancée and his friend. How could Jasper not angry?

He hated Jennifer very much now. He would definitely not marry that kind of woman.

After Jasper's words, Jennifer rolled her eyes and looked at Jason.

"Jason, I want to have a talk with you alone. You know the truth that day. If I tell the truth, who do you think will get crazy here?"

Jason who had kept quiet for long understood Jennifer's words and he showed an indifferent smile.

Jason stood up and went to Jennifer.

"You are right, we have something to settle."

After saying that, Jason spoke to other people, "You guys wait here first, I have something to talk with Ms. Johnson alone.”

Jason spoke that to all the people in the living room. Jennifer’s parents were anxious. But when it came to that time, the couple knew that they were wrong, and the worst thing that could happen was that the Johnson family would be bankrupted by these three families. They still hoped that they could gain a living.

Jennifer’s parents let Jason bring Jennifer to a room at the front.

The room belonged to a maid. There was no one inside the room. Jason shut the door and asked Jennifer, “What’s it? You want to threaten me using Jasper’s and Selena’s incident? What do you want to threaten me for? You think I’ll let you go?”

Jason smiled indifferently. He had only been tricked few times by people. The trick this time almost ruined his relationship with Robert. He was extremely angry.

All he wanted to do was to kill Jennifer.

Jennifer thought that she had successfully threatened Jason and sneered indifferently, “It seems you still remember the matter. I warn you, don’t make things difficult for my parents and me. If you want to drive me to death, then I will expose this matter to the world. Let’s see how your good friend will collapse, let’s see how the world will focus on the scandal in your friend’s family, what do you think?”

Jennifer spoke up with a clear mind, she felt that with this secret in hand, no one would dare to harm her, she could even use it to protect her parents.

Jason revealed a faint smile.

“Since you think that this matter can threaten me, what makes you think that I will give you the opportunity to tell this matter out now?”

Jason showed a ruthless face. He was shrouded in a fierce aura.

Jennifer was panicked suddenly. Subconsciously, she turned around and wanted to leave the room. However, Jason grabbed her, “I never punch a woman, but you’re too cheap!”

After the words, Jason slapped Jennifer until she fainted.

In order to conceal Jasper’s and Selena’s secret, Jason planned to send Jennifer abroad and clear her memory.

When it was the time to be cruel, Jason would not be a kind person.

He was the heir of the Murphy family after all. He put Jennifer on his shoulder and opened the door.

Everyone looked at them. Jennifer’s parents asked fearfully, “Jason, what have you done to Jennifer?”

“I make her fainted, she’s still alive, don’t worry.”

Jennifer’s parents were relieved. They apologized with reverence and awe.

“Robert, it’s Jennifer’s fault this time, we’ll send her abroad and never let her come back.”

Robert looked at Jason, he asked, “What’s your decision?”

Jason threw Jennifer on the floor. He sat in the sofa and revealed an ironic smile.

“Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, I respect you. If you want the Johnson family to gain a living in D City, if you don’t wish the Johnson family to bankrupt, I’ll point a way for you.”

Jennifer’s parents looked at each other. Both of them showed disappointed expression.

The Johnson family was not considered a powerful family. They had such recognition in D City due to the wealth they had accumulated over the last generation.

Jennifer did not have the ability to be the heir but they had planned earlier on to find an asset manager to help her manage the wealth in order to let her be a rich person with no annoyance. They did not expect Jennifer to bring glory to the family.

However, their only hope now was to keep Jennifer alive.

If the Johnson family's wealth could be kept, it was enough for Jennifer to gain a normal living.

Jennifer's father spoke, "As long as can keep Jennifer alive and give her a place to live, Jennifer is at your disposal."

Jason smiled with satisfaction.

"Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, I'll send Jennifer abroad. She knows too many things, in order to prevent her from coming back and taking revenge, I'll destroy her memory and let her be a normal person in a foreign country. This is the last kindness that I can give her. Do you have any opinion on this idea?"

Destroying Jennifer's memory? Then Jennifer would be an idiot, right?

Jennifer's mother tried to speak up to plead for mercy, but Jennifer's father grabbed his wife's hand and he spoke up wearily, as if he had aged ten years, "I agree with your idea. Let her forget everything, even though she'll become an idiot, it's better than her behaviour now. If she becomes an idiot, please give us a chance to visit her and give her a wealthy lifestyle. I beg you." Jennifer's father knelt and kowtowed.

Jasper spoke to Jennifer's parents, "Regarding the baby, I'll have an amniocentesis DNA test done, if the child belongs to me, I will be responsible for the child's future, and I will be responsible for the rest of his life. However, I will not honour the marriage contract. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, what she has done has hurt the Holland family, this is the last thing that I can do."

Jennifer's father signed wearily.

At least Jennifer had survived.

“I only have one daughter, thank you for keeping her alive.”

Robert did not even speak afterwards. Jasper and Jason had settled everything. The three of them left the Johnson family.

After Jason had taken Jennifer away and got in the car, Jasper spoke to Robert, “Why have you remained silent? Do you have any new ideas on this matter? If you want to drive the Johnson family to extinction, Jason and I have no problem with that.”

The reason why they keep the Johnson family alive was only because in those past years, Jennifer’s parents had not done anything unethical, and the relationship between the families was considered friendly, so they did not drive them to extinction.

However, when Robert kept quiet, Jasper did not know what he was really thinking.

After all, the one who had been hurt the most by this incident was Georgia.

Robert shook his head.

“Since Jennifer’s matter has been resolved, I have no opinion. It was just that my wedding with Georgia is scheduled on the 25th of this month. I’m afraid that Georgia will see the comments online ... There will definitely be someone who had watched the live broadcast on that day, I’m afraid that she’ll be sad.”

Chapter 213 Sarah's Proposal

Jason was slightly upset by Robert's words.

"Robert, I'm sorry I was drugged... I couldn't control myself."

Jason felt embarrassed about what happened last night, he was cuffed and couldn't do anything but watched the couple live-streamed everything.

"Why did you apologize? You are a victim yourself. You are my buddy and Georgia is my woman, I never doubted both of you. Jennifer's the one to be blamed for this, she drugged both of you just to upset all of us. If I blame you and Georgia for this, she will be happy since this is the end she wanted."

"Get rid of Jennifer now and don't let her escape! Did I tell you guys that Emma and her father escaped? I haven't been able to capture them, I didn't capture them before because I wanted to torture them slowly and now they are free. It's a lesson for us, catch Jennifer immediately, wipe away her memories and send her overseas. Keep an eye on your men, we can't afford any mistake."

Jason nodded with a heavy heart.

"Noted, I'll take care of everything."

And then they went their separate ways. Jasper went home and explained about Jennifer.

Elliot agreed that Jasper should call off the engagement but concerned about the baby in her womb.

"How confident are you that the baby is yours?" She asked.

"Who knows, I will take care of the baby if it's mine, but will never marry her."

"Alright, just do it this way, take this engagement as a joke."

Elliot sighed and asked Jasper again.

"Did Selena contact you? She'd been gone for long, wonder if she's doing fine with her pregnancy."

Jasper smiled helplessly hearing his mom.

"Perhaps our attitudes hurt her, it's not like we can't afford to raise a baby, since she insists on keeping the baby, I'll ask her to come home once I manage to contact her. It's much better to stay home than living alone out there. An additional member of our family means you will have a grandchild, I will be an uncle, it sounds good."

Elliot smiled, she was still a little upset with Selena who left without a word.

It was hard to be a single mother all alone.

But there was nothing else she could do now.

Robert arrived and parked at the car park in the hospital.

The guard pushed Robert to the elevator and he bumped into someone he didn't expect to see.

It was Sarah, they met once discussing the plan to attack Jayson.

"Ms Duran, what a coincidence, we meet again."

Robert greeted her while Sarah smiled.

"A coincidence indeed, I'm here to see Travis but bumped into Mr Simpson."

They greeted each other and Sarah asked as the elevator went up.

"I was told that Jayson plans to expand the Ellis business to mainland China, he will be visiting D City soon. I guess he would want to see you. Do you think he still intends to kill Travis?"

"I don't know him personally, perhaps I could figure out after we met."

Robert couldn't predict Jayson's next step, he had never seen him.

Sarah continued. "Jayson is unpredictable and he won't launch any attack without proper preparation. Brenton is still in a coma now, even if Travis revealed the truth to the public, Jayson could easily claim it as a lie. I think our only way is to locate Brenton, I heard that he is receiving treatment on a small island, if we could locate him, it would be useful on our attack against Jayson."

Robert too understood this, if Brenton could be located easily, he would be murdered by Jayson long ago.

The situation now was neither their men nor Jayson's men were able to go near Brenton.

Brenton had his group of devoted followers and power, he was receiving treatments now instead of being controlled by Jayson.

The conversation stopped as the elevator's door opened.

Sarah headed towards Travis's room while Robert was pushed to Georgia's room.

There were only Vanessa and Georgia in the room.

"Where are Annie and Elsie?" Robert asked.

"Annie fell asleep while Elsie is with her in her room," Vanessa answered. She then stood up and turned to Georgia.

"I'll go to Annie, you two have a chat."

Vanessa smiled at Robert and went out.

Georgia and Robert were left alone in the room. She sat on the bed in silence while looking out from the window full of sorrow.

Robert pushed his wheelchair forward to face Georgia.

"Vanessa told you that I went to take care of what happened last night? Jennifer was the one behind it and I've taken care of her."

Georgia looked at Robert sorrowfully, she felt depressed even to speak.

"What will you do to her?" She asked.

"Do you remember the drug they used on you? It's widely available on the market, Jason and I will wipe off her memories and send her overseas. She can only live her life in a nursing home regardless if she becomes dumb or lost all her memories, she can never be Jennifer again and can never come back."

Georgia didn't feel the joy of revenge, she felt sad and depressed.

"Even if Jennifer is sent overseas or her memories wiped off... the video of Jason and I are still available online, isn't it?"

Georgia asked Robert with her reddened eyes.

"Why do you still think about this? Georgia, it might not be proper for me to make such a comparison, but you've been framed for plagiarism, yet you remained strong. You've even been jailed and suffered a lot, you've been through everything and this is nothing. I will be by your side, don't be afraid."

"Online is a chaotic place, people attacking behind the screen, they've scolded you before. In addition, this incident is covered up and under control from the very beginning, almost all the videos uploaded are deleted. No one will scold you and not many know about this. Everyone has their own life, they are not free to keep tracking you or commenting negatively about you. No one apart from a small number of people recognizes you as Georgia Lane even if you walk out right now."

Georgia smiled forcefully hearing Robert. She was still depressed and sad.

She couldn't express her feeling with words, it was like she was locked in a super confined space, she was going insane.

While in Travis room, Sarah explained to him the advantages and disadvantages of their situations.

And then she said. "My father urges me to get married. I have no intention of getting married, I just want to avenge James. But some things are beyond my control if I want to be the master of the Duran family, I need to at least put on an act. Mr Armstrong, will you marry me? I will provide you with the chance to build your power and then we could destroy Jayson together." _____

Chapter 214 Wishful Thought

Travis was astonished by Sarah's words.

He wanted to collaborate with Sarah to avenge his grandma but he didn't want a fake marriage with her.

"I'm sorry, I don't want to do that, I will take vengeance for sure but I don't want to complicate the whole thing."

Travis told Sarah his thoughts.

"You still have a wishful thought that you can be with Georgia?"

Travis's face stiffened hearing her.

"Ms Duran, please choose your word carefully."

"Mr Armstrong, it's not embarrassing to have such a thought, getting married and divorced is no big deal in one's life. Who knows whether Georgia and Robert will be divorced in the future. As long as you help me with my revenge, I'll free you and you can go for Ms Lane."

"Ms Duran, this is my last warning, stop talking nonsense or please leave now."

Sarah smiled casually.

"Mr Armstrong, do consider about it, I'm going now. Do you wish to live under Robert's protection your entire life and watch them grow old? You should at least be independent of Robert's protection."

Sarah left and Travis threw a punch on the bed.

Everyone had wishful thoughts.

When he was lonely at night, he dreamed of being a wealthy and powerful man with his lover by his side.

But he knew what the reality was, Sarah, emphasized and enlarged the desire within him as a reminder.

She was not a good woman, Travis began to set up a fence towards her.

Time passed slowly. Georgia's fever had subsided after three days in the hospital, Annie was ready to discharge too.

Robert and Annie were always by her side this past two days, they tried to keep her happy, Georgia tried too.

She wanted to forget about what happened and ignored what was going on online, she knew she was running away from it.

No one required her to face what happened directly, she didn't know if it had gone viral on the internet, she chose to believe in Robert that it was covered up, not many people knew about that incident.

And within this week, Vanessa, Annie, Travis and Georgia all discharged from the hospital one after another.

Robert invited Travis, Elsie and Vanessa over to his villa on the day Annie was discharged, Jason and Jasper were there too.

They were all invited over for a meal. Georgia was still awkward seeing Jason, what happened that night resurfaced in her mind whenever she saw him, she could no longer face him the way she used to.

Jason seemed to avoid interaction with her too, but all of them enjoyed the meal together.

The next day, Robert and Georgia made an appointment with Miranda.

She told Robert where she was kidnapped and coincidentally saved her from the incident this time. So, Georgia thought she needed to treat her a meal as gratitude.

They made a lunch appointment at the finest private kitchen in D City.

The chef was well known for making delicious cuisines, the queue for a table was fully booked for a few months usually.

Robert made the reservation a month earlier thinking to bring Georgia over.

And they took the chance to bring Miranda along as a thank you gesture.

This was a private kitchen located in a villa outside of the city.

The interior design was unique, it looked like an ancient building and everyone dressed in fashion during the Han Dynasty.

There was a wide variety of alcoholic beverages available, guests could also enjoy drawing here, it was a fine place for leisure purposes.

Their appointment was at noon, Georgia and Robert came half an hour earlier and waited in the room they booked.

"Is there any news on Miranda's mom?" She was hospitalized recently and completely forgotten about Layla.

She recalled because of the appointment with Miranda.

"I don't know her whereabouts but I've got some information about her. Do you know the owner of the club that you used to work at?"

Georgia shook her head while Robert smiled helplessly.

"Laurence was the sole owner of that club, that was his territory. Layla has been working there for years, I believe she knows Laurence and not only acquaintances. And now the owner has changed, I have been tracking Laurence but bear no fruit so far."

Georgia's emotion turned complicated hearing Laurence's name.

He was the one who saved her when she needed help. And offended Robert because of this. Their conflict started because of her.

They were not enemies but turned to one because of her.

"Do you think Laurence will still attack you?" Georgia asked.

"If it wasn't for me, you wouldn't add another name to your list of enemies, Laurence wouldn't lose his legs, it's all my fault..."

Georgia sighed while Robert shook his head.

"You were nothing but a fuse. Laurence and I have been standing against each other even before I knew you. We've fought several times in the business arena. We are always not on good terms, don't blame yourself. I'm the one who attacked him first and he took revenge, so it all depends on our capabilities. The only thing I need to do is protect you and myself."

"Did you have a conflict with him before?"

Georgia asked curiously. There were over ten years of an age difference between them, Georgia didn't understand how could they possibly had offended each other.

"Technically, I don't hate him, but he has been attacking the Simpson's business even before we know you. He never missed a chance in sabotaging our business... He will also be the one that laughs or take advantage should the Simpson fall. I'm not sure where his hatred towards us comes from, so our conflicts have nothing to do with you. Perhaps he helped you because I was attacking you at that time, it could be our conflicts that have created you troubles..."

Robert's comforting words made Georgia guilty.

She didn't think that she was innocent, she believed she was the culprit of their conflicts.

"Let's forget about all those. Laurence lost his legs and hates me to the core. I wanted to attack his business and make him lost the power to take revenge on us, but he had sold all his businesses, I'm still unable to locate him up to today. I can't make him lose power while he hides in the bushes like a vicious snake. I'm afraid that he will launch a sudden attack, he has no mercy at all, so make sure you have guards around no matter where you go, okay?"

Robert reminded Georgia and she nodded.

After being kidnapped a few times and some life-threatening encounters, she understood she was surrounded by danger and wanted to avoid facing the same situation again.

As they chatted, it was noon and someone knocked on the door.

Miranda came in. She was not tall, about one-meter fifty-eight, but she was cute looking with a seductive face.

She made a bun today and wore a green colour mini skirt, with a silver sling bag.

"Have you been here long?"

Miranda asked the moment she entered the room while Georgia shook.

"No, we've just arrived, come sit down, I'll call the waiter and we shall make the order."

Miranda smiled in excitement.

"I tried making a reservation here before, but the queue is long, my reservation is made for two months from now. But thanks to you I can taste the food today or else I need to wait for another two months."

"Have you tried before?" Georgia asked.

"Once, half a year ago and been craving ever since. I wanted to make a reservation after that but went overseas. When I'm back and call to reserve I'm put on the waiting list for a few months. Thanks to you now my craving is served."

The conversation experience with Miranda made Georgia felt that she was a carefree girl with a cute personality.

Apart from the misunderstood during their first few conversations, she now felt like she had known her for a long time.

Georgia poured some tea into a cup and present it to Miranda.

"Ms Bradley, you've saved me twice, please accept this drink as my gratitude."

Miranda's eyes widened, her eyes formed crescents shape when she smiled.

"Didn't I say to call me Miranda? I won't accept this drink if you act too formal."

"Miranda, thank you."

Georgia said in slight awkwardness while Miranda accepted the drink and bottomed up.

"Georgia, there's no need to be too formal. It was coincident that I helped, perhaps it's our fate, the gods wanted me to help and us to be friends. We only spoke through the phones and had never met each other, but it seems like we are destined to be friends."

Miranda joked but Georgia felt slightly uneasy.

She had never met such a friendly person as Miranda. She didn't know how to respond and Robert helped.

"Should I arrange a ceremony for both of you to become sisters right now?"

Georgia squeezed his arm right after he finished.

"Mr Simpson, you are humorous," Miranda smiled.

And then she asked suddenly.

"The man that night was Jason Murphy, right? Why didn't he call or treat me to a meal to thank me? I saved him too didn't I?

Chapter 214 Wishful Thought

Travis was astonished by Sarah's words.

He wanted to collaborate with Sarah to avenge his grandma but he didn't want a fake marriage with her.

"I'm sorry, I don't want to do that, I will take vengeance for sure but I don't want to complicate the whole thing."

Travis told Sarah his thoughts.

"You still have a wishful thought that you can be with Georgia?"

Travis's face stiffened hearing her.

"Ms Duran, please choose your word carefully."

"Mr Armstrong, it's not embarrassing to have such a thought, getting married and divorced is no big deal in one's life. Who knows whether Georgia and Robert will be divorced in the future. As long as you help me with my revenge, I'll free you and you can go for Ms Lane."

"Ms Duran, this is my last warning, stop talking nonsense or please leave now."

Sarah smiled casually.

"Mr Armstrong, do consider about it, I'm going now. Do you wish to live under Robert's protection your entire life and watch them grow old? You should at least be independent of Robert's protection."

Sarah left and Travis threw a punch on the bed.

Everyone had wishful thoughts.

When he was lonely at night, he dreamed of being a wealthy and powerful man with his lover by his side.

But he knew what the reality was, Sarah, emphasized and enlarged the desire within him as a reminder.

She was not a good woman, Travis began to set up a fence towards her.

Time passed slowly. Georgia's fever had subsided after three days in the hospital, Annie was ready to discharge too.

Robert and Annie were always by her side this past two days, they tried to keep her happy, Georgia tried too.

She wanted to forget about what happened and ignored what was going on online, she knew she was running away from it.

No one required her to face what happened directly, she didn't know if it had gone viral on the internet, she chose to believe in Robert that it was covered up, not many people knew about that incident.

And within this week, Vanessa, Annie, Travis and Georgia all discharged from the hospital one after another.

Robert invited Travis, Elsie and Vanessa over to his villa on the day Annie was discharged, Jason and Jasper were there too.

They were all invited over for a meal. Georgia was still awkward seeing Jason, what happened that night resurfaced in her mind whenever she saw him, she could no longer face him the way she used to.

Jason seemed to avoid interaction with her too, but all of them enjoyed the meal together.

The next day, Robert and Georgia made an appointment with Miranda.

She told Robert where she was kidnapped and coincidentally saved her from the incident this time. So, Georgia thought she needed to treat her a meal as gratitude.

They made a lunch appointment at the finest private kitchen in D City.

The chef was well known for making delicious cuisines, the queue for a table was fully booked for a few months usually.

Robert made the reservation a month earlier thinking to bring Georgia over.

And they took the chance to bring Miranda along as a thank you gesture.

This was a private kitchen located in a villa outside of the city. The interior design was unique, it looked like an ancient building and everyone dressed in fashion during the Han Dynasty.

There was a wide variety of alcoholic beverages available, guests could also enjoy drawing here, it was a fine place for leisure purposes.

Their appointment was at noon, Georgia and Robert came half an hour earlier and waited in the room they booked.

"Is there any news on Miranda's mom?" She was hospitalized recently and completely forgotten about Layla.

She recalled because of the appointment with Miranda.

"I don't know her whereabouts but I've got some information about her. Do you know the owner of the club that you used to work at?"

Georgia shook her head while Robert smiled helplessly.

"Laurence was the sole owner of that club, that was his territory. Layla has been working there for years, I believe she knows Laurence and not only acquaintances. And now the owner has changed, I have been tracking Laurence but bear no fruit so far."

Georgia's emotion turned complicated hearing Laurence's name.

He was the one who saved her when she needed help. And offended Robert because of this. Their conflict started because of her.

They were not enemies but turned to one because of her.

"Do you think Laurence will still attack you?" Georgia asked.

"If it wasn't for me, you wouldn't add another name to your list of enemies, Laurence wouldn't lose his legs, it's all my fault..."

Georgia sighed while Robert shook his head.

"You were nothing but a fuse. Laurence and I have been standing against each other even before I knew you. We've fought several times in the business arena. We are always not on good terms, don't blame yourself. I'm the one who attacked him first and he took revenge, so it all depends on our capabilities. The only thing I need to do is protect you and myself."

"Did you have a conflict with him before?"

Georgia asked curiously. There were over ten years of an age difference between them, Georgia didn't understand how could they possibly had offended each other.

"Technically, I don't hate him, but he has been attacking the Simpson's business even before we know you. He never missed a chance in sabotaging our business... He will also be the one that laughs or take advantage should the Simpson fall. I'm not sure where his hatred towards us comes from, so our conflicts have nothing to do with you. Perhaps he helped you because I was attacking you at that time, it could be our conflicts that have created you troubles..."

Robert's comforting words made Georgia guilty.

She didn't think that she was innocent, she believed she was the culprit of their conflicts.

"Let's forget about all those. Laurence lost his legs and hates me to the core. I wanted to attack his business and make him lost the power to take revenge on us, but he had sold all his businesses, I'm still unable to locate him up to today. I can't make him lose power while he hides in the bushes like a vicious snake. I'm afraid that he will launch a sudden attack, he has no mercy at all, so make sure you have guards around no matter where you go, okay?"

Robert reminded Georgia and she nodded.

After being kidnapped a few times and some life-threatening encounters, she understood she was surrounded by danger and wanted to avoid facing the same situation again.

As they chatted, it was noon and someone knocked on the door.

Miranda came in. She was not tall, about one-meter fifty-eight, but she was cute looking with a seductive face.

She made a bun today and wore a green colour mini skirt, with a silver sling bag.

"Have you been here long?"

Miranda asked the moment she entered the room while Georgia shook.

"No, we've just arrived, come sit down, I'll call the waiter and we shall make the order."

Miranda smiled in excitement.

"I tried making a reservation here before, but the queue is long, my reservation is made for two months from now. But thanks to you I can taste the food today or else I need to wait for another two months."

"Have you tried before?" Georgia asked.

Miranda amusingly asked.

Georgia and Robert and Jason could invite Miranda to dine together.

However, Georgia evaded Jason, and Jason was embarrassed about it. Robert knew their minds, so he could only invite Miranda to dine with Georgia.

Robert did not tell Jason about this. He could only help Jason to explain briefly to Miranda after he heard she said so.

“He will invite you to dine soon. Since we've asked you out first, he will invite you out for dinner in these two days.”

Three people talked for a while, and the waiter walked into the room.

The waiter put the menu in front of them then they ordered a few dishes. After ordered the food, Robert took a document out of his side.

“I sent someone to investigate the matter about your mother was missing. However, I did not find her tracks, and I have found out some information about her past. I don't know if Ms. Bradley knows this. I think I have to show you the documents.”

Miranda, who had been smiling, suddenly turned to a melancholy look. She took the documents from Robert, and she read the information by flipping through the pages.

Miranda smiled weakly at Robert and Georgia after she read it.

“I know some of the information in the documents and some of them that I don't. It turns out that the person behind the clubhouse is Mr. Knight. Mr. Knight has disappeared from public for a long time. Could it be that my mother went looking for him?”

Miranda asked as if to herself. The atmosphere suddenly became serious.

Georgia did not know how to solve the problem between Miranda and her mother, and it was not her place to say.

They silenced for a while. The waiter began to serve the food, and a delicious aroma wafted through the room. Miranda smiled and talked to them.

“Forget it. It's time to eat. These foods are all cooked by the chef. Don't think about the annoying matters. Let's eat well together. Cheers for the wine and other delicacies today.”

They did not order white wine and beer but ordered red wine, and they drank a little red wine to lighten the atmosphere.

Three of them had lunch with laughter. Georgia took out a red velvet box after finished lunch.

“There is a white jade bracelet in the box. I don't know what to give you, so I chose the bracelet for you. I hope you will like it.”

Georgia should give Miranda a gift since Miranda had helped her so much. Miranda was surprised and smiled, and she politely took the box from Georgia.

“It's enough that you invited me to lunch, and you still gave me a gift. I earned a lot.”

They made conversation for a moment. Robert and Georgia sent Miranda to a car.

After that, both of them decided to go home by car. It was two in the afternoon. The weather was a little hot, and the sun was overhead. Georgia felt sultry.

Robert and Georgia sat in the car. Georgia found her phone rang when she could not help but ask the driver to turn on the air-conditioner.

It was Vanessa calling. Georgia picked up the phone call.

“What's wrong, Vanessa?”

Vanessa helplessly said after Georgia had finished asking.

“Elsie and I have done something silly. We may have to trouble you and Robert to help us.”

Then, Vanessa told Georgia about what they did through the phone call.

Georgia listened to the phone call, and she asked Robert to instruct the driver to drive to where Vanessa and Elsie were staying.

Vanessa and Elsie were going out for simple shopping. Vanessa thought that Elsie should learn more about drawing since Elsie liked to draw. So Vanessa decided to help Elsie to register for a drawing class to find some hobbies. They could not drag through their long lives.

Both of them were shopping at the mall. They chanced upon Millie when they were trying on clothes.

Millie was the tall girl who had bullied Elsie as a child. She was later married to the orphanage director, Chase Lawson.

Enemies saw red the moment they met.

Elsie had beaten Millie and Chase last time, and Robert later bailed her out.

The hatred had not yet crushed. Elsie and Millie unexpectedly met again in the mall.

Vanessa was next to her at this time. Elsie told her directly about the identity of Millie.

Elsie was an impulsive woman, but she would not raise her hands against Millie in public, even though she had a strong desire to do so.

However, Millie could not resist hitting her this time.

Millie rushed over to Vanessa and Elsie as soon as she saw them. She slapped Vanessa in the face before Vanessa and Elsie could realize. She probably thought that Vanessa looked skinny and easy to bully. The slap made Elsie into anger.

Elsie got into another fight at the mall. Not only that, even Vanessa joined the fight.

Elsie had told them more or less that Millie had bullied her in the past. It made people feel angry about the matters.

Millie slapped Vanessa in the face without reason at this time. The new and old hatred for Millie welled up and caused Vanessa, who was gentle and soft, also tried her best to pull Millie's hair and grabbed Millie with her body so that Elsie could use all her strength to hit Millie.

People looked at them as a strange sight in the mall. A video about the three shrews fought was spreading on the Internet.

The video scene was blurred, and the three people's faces were invisible in the video. People were guessing why two women hit a woman. Would there be any drama in the fight?

Was the first wife hit the mistress or the mistress hit the first wife? The netizens were eagerly discussing the video. Georgia sighed in front of Robert.

“Will it be troublesome to handle this matter? Millie is in the operating room now. Elsie is super angry this time. I listened to Vanessa's tone, and Millie may have wounds all over her body. The woman called Millie must have hurt badly.”

Robert and Georgia were heading to the hospital. At the same time, the police officer had recorded the confession of Vanessa and Elsie in the hospital. The thing was getting complicated.

“Didn't you say that the woman is not dead? It's not difficult to deal with this kind of matter. Don't worry. It's just a fight. Do you think that I can't handle such a matter? Let's go to the hospital and see what's going on.”

She could only listen to Robert. She did not know if Millie was seriously injured. If Millie was severely hurt, Georgia was worried that Elsie would imprison again, which Georgia did not want to see at all.

It took half an hour for Robert and Georgia to arrive at the hospital. Georgia made a phone call to Vanessa.

Then, she knew that Vanessa and Elsie were keeping in a lounge, and the police officer had questioned them, and Millie had come out of the operating room.

When Georgia and Robert arrived at the lounge, Elsie and Vanessa sat quietly in the lounge arranged by the hospital officials. They looked at the other police officers, who should have finished recording the confession.

The police officers went out of the lounge when they saw Robert came.

There were only Elsie, Vanessa, Robert, and Georgia in the lounge.

“Is that Millie's surgery successful? She should be fine, right?”

Elsie asked coolly, and Georgia knuckled on Elsie's forehead.

“I read her medical report just now. Do you know that Millie has a wound on her head? You almost hit her fatal, you fool. You can't cause her to death, even though you want to teach her a lesson. If she is dead, who is going to save you? Do you plan to spend the rest of your life in prison?”

Elsie smiled embarrassedly.

“How is it possible to have experience in fighting? Do you think I'm a trained killer or hitman? I was mad at that time. I hit wherever I could. How could I even notice where I hit and whether it was life-threatening?”

Georgia sighed, and she could even know Elsie's hatred for Millie from one or two of her words. Georgia also would not have any sympathy for Millie.

Georgia preached at Elsie because she was afraid that Elsie would get into trouble again.

If Millie was dead, it was not easy for them to settle, even they had wealth and influence.

“How's Millie now? Will Elsie imprison with this?”

Vanessa worriedly asked by the side.

“Millie has not woken up yet. I don't know with her personality, whether she wants to reconcile or wants to take legal action. But don't worry. We will find a way to make her unable to file a lawsuit and can only accept reconciliation, even if she wants to do so.”

Robert was investigating the affairs of Millie in those years. According to what Millie had done in the past few years, she had sticky fingers for sure. Georgia did not believe that Millie still dared to turn against Elsie if Robert had found some traces. They might not even have to pay compensation to Millie at that time.

Vanessa sighed with relief after Georgia finished speaking.

“I was impulsive today. I hit someone with Elsie in the mall. I'm crazy.”

Vanessa laughed at herself as she reflected upon what she had done. She felt she was getting crazier.

Elsie laughed by the side.

“Vanessa, you are too tolerant. Let me tell you. Humans sometimes need to let out their feelings. Venting can make people feel better and relax. Somemore, it is scandalous that we don't hit the bitch. I think what Georgia said was right. I have to learn how to beat people in a specialized way. If I meet Millie again next time, I will make her pain to the extent of wishing to die but will not threaten her life at all.”

Georgia could only glare at Elsie when she heard Elsie said in an impenitent tone. However, she could not persuade Elsie with any word.

Georgia did not want Elsie to yield a step when facing the bitch, Millie.

“Don't worry. I will settle the matter. I have greeted the hospital officials and the police officers. Do you guys want to go back to rest now?”

Robert said by the side.

He had sent someone to investigate the affairs of Millie and Chase earlier.

Chase was no longer the orphanage director. He was running a small company while Millie was the financial director of the company. Both of them were carrying on a company, and they had some money.

This kind of small company had a lot of economic and tax problems. Robert could send someone to investigate it and cause them a lot of trouble. He did not worry about settling Millie.

Robert was confident and let Vanessa and Elsie go home. He would settle the matter by himself.

“Mr. Simpson, you and Georgia will be an affectionate couple and happily together all your life.”

Elsie was flattering Robert by the side. She gave her compliments generously to Robert since he had helped her.

Georgia glared by the side.

“I'm afraid you won't be able to resist beating Millie again when she wakes up. So, hurry and get home with Vanessa now. Don't worry. I'll help you to piss her off.”

Georgia smiled and spoke. Elsie smiled contentedly.

“I know you are the best. I can't help but want to beat Millie if I stay. Remember to take avenge for me when she wakes up later.”

Georgia smiled and nodded. Robert sent his bodyguards to escort Vanessa and Elsie to leave. Georgia and Robert stayed in the hospital and waited for Millie to wake up.

However, they saw Chase instead of Millie.

Chase was a tubby little man in his fifties and looked wretched.

Georgia and Robert were sitting inside Millie's ward. Millie was a young urban woman. However, she had a little high cheekbone and less fleshy on her cheek. She looked mean even though with her eyes tight shut.

Chase saw Georgia and Robert once he walked into the ward. He did not know Georgia and Robert.

“Who are you people? How come you're in the ward?”

Georgia said with a smile.

“Mr. Lawson, I've beaten your wife and caused her injuries. I've waited for you to come over.”

Georgia said it on purpose.

Chase looked fierce for sure after Georgia finished speaking.

He saw Georgia was a weak woman, and the man was in a wheelchair. Chase did not feel any threat from them at all.

“So it's you. You can please me well now if you want to settle this matter since you look pretty. Otherwise, you will bear all the consequences of this. You better kneel honestly and kowtow to me now. You're too conservative in the way you dress. I'll help you to take them off!”

Chase said lewdly. Georgia looked at Robert, who was in fierce anger. She clasped his hands tightly in her and motioned Robert not to act rashly.

“Mr. Lawson, I'm sorry that I've hurt your wife. Will you let me go to jail? Will you let me go if I please you well?”

Georgia pretended that she was fearful and said.

Chase became more complacent. He smirked when he looked at Georgia, who was trembling in front of him.

“I see you are tender and young. I won't pursue the matter and will accept reconciliation as long as you please me well.

“But, my husband is here. He said that he will protect me and will not let you bully me. Hubby, are you afraid of this person?”

Georgia spoke to Robert while smiling. With a cold face, Robert didn't want to talk.

He had never discovered Georgia's desire to act in the past. He could only act with Georgia silently.

Chase looked at Robert arrogantly.

“He is only a disabled man, do you think I cannot win a fight with him? Come here quickly, maybe your husband enjoys being cheated by you a lot. I guess that you have been living like a widow for a long time. Come to me and I can give you a heavenly experience.”

“It will be bad if my husband is watching, right?”

Suppressing her laughter, Georgia asked the question. Chase was feeling more and more pleased. The woman in front of him was so stunning, Chase was astonished when she first entered the room.

Seeing that the woman had actually placed herself in an inferior position, Chase was currently very pleased with the situation.

“I can just tie him up. Don’t you enjoy the thrill of someone peeking at as? The feeling will be extraordinary.”

“But, your wife is also currently sleeping, can we change the location?”

However, Chase was already fed up with the situation.

“Stop talking so much nonsense. If you want me to forgive you and not to be imprisoned, come and serve me sincerely. Continue with your nonsense and I will employ a lawyer to sue you straight away. I am sure that with my wife’s injury report, you will be convicted of intentional murder!”

Chase had started to threaten Georgia. Robert could not tolerate this anymore.

“Guys, come in! Take him out and beat him up!”

After Robert had finished his sentence, several bodyguards with black attire came in. With his mouth agape, Chase unbelievably looked at Robert who was talking and then looked at the bodyguards with black attire. Chase panicked.

“What...What are you doing? Who are you? Help! ...”

Chase began to scream and sensed that something was wrong. However, immediately after his voice ended, Robert’s bodyguards had already stuffed his mouth.

Immediately, Robert’s bodyguards directly tied Chase up with rope.

“Take him out and teach him a lesson!”

Robert did not really want to take one more glance at Chase. The bodyguards acknowledged his orders. Georgia looked at Chase who was brought out of the room.

Facing Robert, Georgia laughed.

“This should be the professional way of beating someone that Elsie mentioned. It will not injure him fatally but he will feel immense pain.”

Robert nodded.

“Why did you have the mood to joke with someone like him just now? I saw his dirty gaze on you and had a strong urge to make him disappear off the face of the earth.”

“Sometimes, when I see an idiot, I just want to tease him.”

Georgia smiled adorably. The incident that happened a while ago was just too depressing and when she suddenly saw an idiot, she felt superior in terms of intelligence and could not resist making fun of the man. It was as if she had let out her feelings of resentment.

“What should we do next? Do we really need to wait for the woman to wake up?”

Georgia asked Robert.

Millie was still unconscious at that moment. Although Georgia had the strong desire to infuriate the woman, she was unconscious. Even if she said as many sarcastic remarks as she could, Millie could not hear any of it.

“Do you think there is no way to wake her up? She will be awake if we call a doctor.”

Robert smiled confidently. After a while, Millie was given an injection in the arm. She opened her eyes instantly.

Looking at the unfamiliar faces of the couple, Millie asked defensively.

“Who are you both? Where am I?”

“Do you know Elsie Clarke?”

Georgia asked Millie. Millie recalled the incident where she had a fight with Elsie and another woman who she did not recognize that day. Her face instantly had a sullen expression.

“Does this have anything to do with you? What is your relationship with Elsie Clarke?”

“I am Elsie’s sister. She has now already returned home. Now, I would like to tell you, if the police comes to record your witness statement, it will be the best for you to take the initiative to settle the case. If you do not settle it, you might not stay in the hospital tomorrow.”

“What do you mean?”

Millie growled.

“What I mean is if you don’t agree for a settlement, you will not stay in the hospital tomorrow and instead, you will be in prison. Of course, if you are devising any evil plans, the next thing that will happen is that your house will be turned into a graveyard. Do you want to try?”

“Who are you? Why should I listen to you?”

Millie was already enraged.

“I have got hold of complete evidence proving that your company is involved in tax fraud and tax evasion. And you, being the chief financial officer, have personally embezzled 10 million cash. If I inform this matter to the shareholders of your company, are you willing to face the consequences?”

Robert who was at the side of the room spoke. Millie’s facial expression changed immediately.

This was her secret, even Chase was unaware of this. Both of them were supporting Elsie. What was their relationship with Elsie?

It was a known fact that Elsie was an orphan. How did Elsie find people who were willing to back her up? Millie was continuously wondering about this.

For almost 30 years, she was very capable of taking actions according to one’s status and playing tricks to avoid responsibility while claiming other people’s works as her own achievements.

Judging the situation, the status of the couple seemed to be out of the ordinary. Millie carefully examined the couple in front of her and decided not to speak carelessly.

“What do you two actually want me to do? I can agree to settle the case, but this is the second time Elsie has injured me without any reason. In the future, when I run into her and this incident occurs, do I need to be tolerant every time? Who is she? Why should I tolerate her behaviour?”

Assessing the current situation, Millie said to the couple.

Clearly, both of them were helping Elsie and it was a fact that they were aware of her secret. Millie had no options but to put herself in an inferior position.

“Even if you have been beaten by Elsie countless times, this is what you deserve. Do you need me to repeat what Elsie said about the things you had done to her when Elsie and you were in the same orphanage?”

With a cold face, Georgia who was at the side spoke.

Millie is a wicked person. When Georgia thought about the things Millie did and the hardships Elsie had undergone when she was sold off to the red-light district, she could totally imagine that besides Elsie, many girls had experienced the same kind of abuse.

Thinking that some girls might have been indirectly killed by Millie, she would never show any mercy to Millie.

“Who do you think you are? When one is desperate, he will do anything to save himself. This time, I will settle the case. I warn you two, the next time the same incident happens, I will perish alongside Elsie right away!”

Unwilling to concede defeat, Millie determined that enduring this situation for the whole time would not be a good thing. Robert started to speak sarcastically.

“You have kept asking who we were, haven’t you? I can introduce myself to you. My name is Robert Simpson. Elsie Clarke is regarded as my sister-in-law. Every time she sees you, she will beat you up. After this, I advise you to endure Elsie’s beating obediently and if you resist her, you might disappear off the face of the earth. Do you understand?”

Robert talked with an icy-cold tone. Millie shivered. Georgia left Millie’s room while pushing Robert’s wheelchair without any further delay.

With Georgia pushing Robert’s wheelchair, they went along the corridor. Georgia asked Robert while laughing.

“Just now, we were acting like bullies that ignored all the rules and regulations. Once Elsie has known about this, she will be very happy. If I wasn’t worried that she will hit someone in hospital, I would let her come and insult Millie to her heart’s content.”

Robert laughed. Actually, he could clearly feel that Gigi was unhappy lately and her life was quite depressed.

Taking advantage of the incident caused by Elsie, Gigi had the chance to vent out her emotions in front of Chase and Millie.

Although the matter involved other people, her depressed emotions had faded a lot due to it.

“Let’s go home. Annie said that we should eat dinner together this evening. We have already delayed it for too long because of Elsie’s incident.”

Georgia nodded. Maybe because she acted like a bully and vented out all her emotions, she was in a good mood.

When Georgia went home and saw Annie, she was overjoyed. After the family had eaten dinner, Georgia played all sorts of game with Annie in the playroom and she was so bored that she started to play hide-and-seek with Annie.

Both the mother and daughter were exhausted when they finished playing.

In the middle of the night, when Georgia was sleeping soundly, Robert suddenly received some news and immediately pushed her awake.

“I have received news that my men have confirmed Rachel’s whereabouts. My men are currently on the way to catch her. Do you want to tell this to Vanessa? She has been wanting to take revenge on Rachel.”

Because of what Robert said, Georgia immediately felt wide awake.

“Of course! We must tell Vanessa. We should get up now!”

It was 4 o’clock in the morning. Georgia took her clothes and got dressed at once.

After that, both of them went out to fetch Vanessa and Elsie.

Daddy, Mommy had been in Prison

Chapter 217 Rachel Scott was a Lunatic

Ever since they were discharged from the hospital, Vanessa Cooke and Elsie Clarke were both living in Vanessa’s apartment, while Georgia Lane and Robert Simpson lived together. Annie was also living here.

However, everyone still frequently met as usual.

After they got into the car, Georgia gave Vanessa a phone call. It was midnight and no one answered the call.

It was probably switched to the “do not disturb” mode, which was why they couldn’t hear the ringtone of the incoming call. Georgia decided to personally go and knock at Vanessa’s apartment. Then, she would pick Vanessa and Elsie up and leave since Rachel Scott wasn’t caught yet anyway.

The driver drove on the driver’s seat in front, while Georgia and Robert sat at the back. She asked Robert.

“You’ve said before that you’re investigating Rachel’s whereabouts together with Alfred Chow. Does Alfred also know that you found Rachel already?”

“She was originally found by both of our people anyway. He is also on his way to see Rachel right now. We'll be able to meet in a while."

"Then, Vanessa's about to meet Alfred."

Georgia lowered her head and muttered.

Georgia really couldn't imagine what it would look like later if she let the two of them meet with Rachel at this kind of moment.

She couldn't even determine whether or not Vanessa would be willing to show up if Alfred was there.

However, they could only talk about it after they met Vanessa later. After they drove for more than thirty minutes, the car arrived at Vanessa's neighborhood.

Georgia let Robert wait in the car. Then, she went to Vanessa's apartment with the bodyguards.

When she first knocked on the door, no one in the house responded. It was almost past five already. Since they were only sleeping, Georgia could only knock harder.

“Someone seems to be knocking at the door...”

Elsie touched Vanessa while half-asleep.

“Vanessa, what time is it right now? Why do I feel like someone is knocking the door?”

Vanessa woke up half-asleep. She heard some familiar voices outside.

“It seems like Gigi is calling for us. Could have anything happened?”

She took her phone and saw that there were actually missed calls from Georgia.

“Gigi definitely came to look for us. I saw that there were missed calls from her. Let’s get up...”

Elsie unwilling sat up, and then she took the clothes and wore them. Vanessa quickly put her clothes on. Then she wore her slippers and quickly hurried to the door.

When she opened the door, Vanessa saw Georgia and the bodyguards behind her standing outside as expected.

Georgia let the guards stay outside and spoke to Vanessa as she walked inside.

“I’m sorry for waking you up in the middle of the night. There’s really something I need to tell you immediately.”

“What’s so urgent that you need to look for me in a panic at midnight?”

Vanessa curiously asked. Georgia suddenly became a little bit serious.

“We found Rachel’s whereabouts. Robert told me that his people would probably be able to catch Rachel soon. So I thought that I needed to tell you about this. In fact, I need to tell you about it immediately. I originally planned on telling you this information through the phone, but you didn’t pick up the phone. So I just drove here.”

Vanessa was suddenly stunned on the spot.

Ever since she was discharged from the hospital, Vanessa would think about what she experienced back then every night when she was sleeping.

Every time she thought of Rachel, Vanessa’s teeth would chatter from hatred.

She didn’t even have the energy to do anything. Other than caring for Elsie’s future and accompanying Elsie in shopping and learning things, Vanessa no longer had the mood to live her own life.

Whether it was cooking, studying, or working, Vanessa didn't have any interest or mood to do it.

She only wanted to take revenge on Rachel, but Rachel disappeared without any trace.

Just when she thought she would never be able to find Rachel in her life, she was surprisingly found.

The hatred in Vanessa's heart burned. If she didn't avenge for her child this time, then she didn't deserve to be a mother!

"Where is she? I'm going to see her."

Just when Vanessa finished talking, Elsie was already dressed up as she walked out.

"What are you two talking about? Why do you look so serious?"

Georgia talked about Rachel for a bit. Then, the look on Elsie's face turned into a resentful look.

"We actually caught this bitch. I'll teach her a lesson. Don't get your hands dirty, Vanessa. I'm better at hitting people. I'll make sure to beat her up until she couldn't bear the pain anymore!"

"I'll avenge her myself."

Vanessa persistently said that. She looked cold and hard. Her eyes were full of resentment.

"Then let's go first."

After Georgia said that, she left with Vanessa and Elsie from the apartment.

She actually had complicated feelings. Vanessa was a gentle, soft, and weak person before.

However, because Rachel kept on hurting them along with what happened to her child, Vanessa clearly changed.

She became more decisive and tougher as compared to before.

Georgia didn't know if this was good or bad, but she understood what Vanessa felt.

If Annie also encountered this situation, she would also tear that woman into pieces. Thus, she wouldn't question Vanessa's decision right now.

After they walked out from the neighborhood, Georgia led Vanessa and Elsie into the car and sat down.

The car was a seven-seater, so everyone had a seat to sit down on.

As soon as they got into the car, Elsie immediately greeted Robert.

“Mr. Simpson, thank you so much for finally catching that bitch Rachel. I’ll definitely let her see how tough I am later. I’ll surely let her regret for living in this world!”

Elsie already looked extremely fierce.

Elsie’s hatred grew every time she thought of how her own sister suffered from Rachel. She wasn’t a kind person anyway. If it wasn’t because she would have to go to jail if she killed someone, Elsie didn’t really mind torturing Rachel to death as soon as she saw her.

As they talked, Georgia realized that she forgot something important. She spoke to the people inside the car.

“Vanessa, Elsie, I forgot to tell you something a while ago.”

“What is it?”

Elsie curiously asked.

“Since Robert and Alfred investigated Rachel’s matters together, Alfred is on the same route as we are right now. We might meet him later.”

Elsie sneered coldly right after she said it.

“He actually has the nerves to go. Does he want to be beat up? I’ll give this pair of shitheads a good beating later!”

Elsie directly cursed from the side, but Vanessa looked toward Georgia.

“I’m fine. I’m not even the one who did the wrong thing. It’s true that I don’t want to see him, but what’s there for me to be afraid of meeting him later? On the contrary, he would feel the most pain when he sees me!”

After she said that, Vanessa lowered her head and dropped silent.

Georgia was already prepared to be the worst when they would meet Rachel later.

That woman Rachel killed Vanessa’s child. She wouldn’t say any word of advice no matter how Vanessa and Elsie deal with this woman.

If she needed her help to beat her up together, she would never say no.

This was how her relationship with Vanessa was. If Vanessa went to kill people, she could pass the knife to her.

“She’s already caught. She’s locked in a secluded place right now. We’ll be able to arrive after around more than thirty minutes.”

Robert suddenly spoke from the side.

Vanessa sneered. Georgia could see the deeply rooted hatred in Vanessa’s eyes.

Georgia only saw that this was already practically an old and abandoned warehouse in the middle of nowhere after the car arrived at that secluded place.

As soon as the car stopped, a few bodyguards in suits walked over.

“Sir, she’s already inside. Mr. Chow hasn’t arrived yet.”

Robert nodded and they got out of the car. Georgia pushed Robert’s wheelchair as they walked inside, while Vanessa and Elsie walked in front of them.

After they entered the warehouse, Georgia saw that Rachel was tied on a chair.

Before Georgia could react, Elsie already immediately rushed over and slapped Rachel's face.

“Bitch, I'll beat up until you regret living in this world!”

Elsie directly punched Rachel's face again.

“Why? Are you the only one who's going to beat me up? Vanessa's like a scaredy-cat at the back. Is she afraid to come forward and hit me? I think she really made good use of you...”

Surprisingly, Rachel even managed to mockingly laugh.

That statement completely angered Elsie, so she slapped Rachel's face with a few slaps. The slaps sounded very loud. It was as if an echo rang inside the warehouse.

Vanessa immediately walked over coldly.

“Do you think that I’m afraid to beat you up?”

After Vanessa said that, she immediately slapped her.

The next second, she directly kicked the chair, and Rachel fell to the ground with the chair.

“Do you think that you’re avenging your child?”

Rachel, who was tumbled on the ground, didn’t look afraid at all. Instead, she coldly sneered.

“Let me tell you. If you kill me now, your child will really die!”

Rachel looked extremely pleased. At this moment, Alfred suddenly walked in and happened to hear what Rachel said.

Although he knew that this woman was full of lies, Alfred still rushed over and pulled Rachel up from the ground.

“What did you just say? Say it again!”

Rachel raised her head and looked at this vicious-looking man. Then, she ferociously laughed.

“I said, if you kill me, your child will immediately die!”

“She’s lying. This woman is extremely evil. Don’t believe in what she’s saying!”

Elsie immediately laughed mockingly from the side. She was already used to seeing this kind of people who liked to lie in order to delay time.

She didn’t believe anything Rachel said.

However, Alfred seemed like he was possessed by a demon. He was naturally not willing to believe that what Rachel said was true.

But what if, what if it was real? Then Vanessa might forgive him.

He grabbed Rachel's shoulder as he spoke aggressively.

"I'm giving you one last chance. Is what you just said real or not? Where the hell did you hide the child?"

Alfred frantically asked.

If the child was still alive, then this would be his last and only hope.

As Vanessa slowly walked toward Alfred and Rachel's side, even her palms were trembling.

Her judgement told her that Rachel's words weren't worth her believing it.

However, she was still waiting for that last shred of hope. The fruit knife hidden up in her sleeve finally appeared on Vanessa's hand.

She held the knife and gestured the slash on Rachel's face. She looked like a devil as she evilly grinned.

"You said that my child is still alive a while ago. Where is he?"

After she said that, Vanessa's knife had already slashed through Rachel's face. Blood immediately dripped out.

"I don't want to play any tricks with you. Let me tell you. Do you think that I'm still that weak Vanessa before? If you don't tell the truth, I'll slash through your face. Then, I'll cut through your neck and break the muscles in your hands and legs. Little by little, I'll return everything that you did to torture me before!"

As Vanessa spoke, she slashed another cut on Rachel's face.

She didn't have the thrill of revenge. She just wanted to force this person to tell the truth.

Rachel felt the pain on her cheeks. However, she didn't feel afraid. Instead, Rachel shouted and uncontrollably laughed out loud.

“Do you want to kill me? I'm telling you. I already know that you'll find me. The earth is only this big, and I won't even hide deep into the mountains and forests. I had already figured that this day would come based on your abilities. If you kill me now, your child will die right away. Do you know why?” _____

Rachel finished and laughed madly.

Vanessa, however, cut Rachel directly on the arm. She roared with all her strength.

"I'll ask you again, where is my child?"

Vanessa was going crazy.

Originally, she thought she could now enjoy tormenting and retaliating against this woman, but words related to her child suddenly came out of this woman's mouth. Her child might be alive.

And Rachel could enjoy being brazen in front of her because of this secret.

Vanessa loved her child. She didn't dare to believe that Rachel's words were true, yet she expected Rachel to be telling the truth.

"Your child is in my belly. I'm pregnant with your child. If you kill me now, you will murder your child with your own hands!"

Rachel finished this sentence and suddenly laughed wickedly.

"This can't be! What are you talking about?"

Elsie shouted directly. She only thought Rachel was insane.

Alfred's face, however, instantly changed.

"What did you do? Rachel, you crazy bitch, what did you do to me?"

Vanessa watched their reactions with a splitting headache as if a knife had been thrust into her heart.

"Alfred, what did she mean? What exactly did she do?"

"Why do you ask him? He must be confused. I've been by his side for so long. I even prepared for the worst, which was to have his child even if he would never touch me, so I stole his sperm. I've been looking for a chance to conceive his child. Even if I can't have him, I'm going to have his child!"

"But, who is Alfred? Even if I did carry his child, he would not be with me. Even if I gave birth to his child, he wouldn't want that child. This thing means nothing to him, so what do you think I kidnapped you for last time? Apart from humiliating you and torturing you, I wanted to get the embryos of both of you. During the time I disappeared, I was already pregnant with your child ... If you kill me now, you'll kill your child."

Rachel finished and laughed out loud, her face looking like the devil. Georgia had completely frozen in place.

If she had seen any crazy people in her life, Emma was not even close to being one, only Rachel was the craziest lunatic she had ever seen.

Vanessa and Alfred had frozen in place. Only Elsie slapped Rachel directly on the face twice.

"Bitch, what nonsense are you talking about? How could you possibly do such a thing? You are just deliberately making it up. Don't think I don't know your intentions. Believe it or not, I will beat you to death!"

Rachel, however, laughed out loud madly.

"Why should I lie? You can take me to the hospital for an amniocentesis to see if the DNA of this embryo is yours. Anyway, you guys already wanted to kill me, so I had to save my life and disgust you by the way. Now you can kill me if you dare! Even if I die here, I will die with no regrets. Taking your child to death, added to the one that died before, I have taken complete revenge on you guys in this life!"

Rachel finished and laughed out loud. Georgia was already shaking with disgust.

Vanessa suddenly grabbed the knife and stabbed it directly into Rachel's belly.

"I won't let you have my baby!"

However, before the knife could be thrust through, Alfred's hands grabbed the blade directly. The blade cut into Alfred's hands and blood instantly dripped onto Rachel's belly.

"Let go of me!"

Vanessa yelled at Alfred. Her face was frantic and her eyes turned red.

Alfred said to Vanessa in a somber voice.

"What if she's carrying our baby?"

Alfred's voice was filled with pain, but Vanessa was in a frenzy. Her face was distorted by madness, and inside her eyes was endless hatred.

"Even if she's carrying our baby, I won't want that baby. Get out of my way, I'm going to kill her. I have to kill her ..."

Vanessa had clearly been mentally disturbed by the shock. Alfred gripped the knife tightly, even though his hands had been deeply cut.

Rachel laughed out loud as she watched Vanessa and Alfred's frantic confrontation.

"See, you guys can't agree! As for whether to keep this child or not, you guys are free to do as you please. Even if I die now, you will never be able to be together ... Alfred, let me tell you, this is what you deserve. You have been using me and ignoring my efforts. Now, whether you can keep this child in my belly or not, Vanessa will never forgive you!"

Rachel finished with a happy smile. Georgia finally couldn't stand it. She walked to Rachel and slapped her across the face.

"You are insane! Vanessa, you should at least find out if what she said is true before you make a decision."

Georgia was worried that Vanessa would regret it later. To be honest, even she felt sickened by what was happening in front of her.

Vanessa's eyes were suddenly blurred with tears. She collapsed and let go of her hands, falling to the ground.

The next second, Vanessa burst into frenetic laughter.

Her voice was hoarse as tears flowed down her face.

"Rachel, you won. You really won ..."

After saying this, Vanessa turned around and ran out of the warehouse. Georgia rushed after her, and Elsie punched Rachel in the face again. Then, she also chased out.

The only people left inside the warehouse were the bodyguards, Rachel, Alfred and Robert.

"Why did you do this? Rachel, I did use you and even tried to kill you. So, you got back at me. Let's not talk about who's right and who's wrong, but six years ago, I didn't fail your feelings. I always kept my distance from you. Why did you hurt Vanessa, who was innocent all along?"

Alfred asked in a sorrowful voice. Rachel had a smug look on her face.

"I grew up with you. I liked you so much, but you fell in love with Vanessa. You pursued her like crazy and you became impatient with me and started rejecting me repeatedly. Because Vanessa was jealous, you got angry at me and treated me coldly. Why didn't I hate Vanessa? I hated her with all my heart!"

"We all pursue the one we love based on our abilities. I put so much effort into it and you still didn't like me, so it was my lack of skill, but why should I quit? I used my method to make you break up. I made you become the young master of the Chows. I have been by your side for six years, but you still didn't like me. You couldn't even treat me with love and respect. Alfred, you even tried to kill me, so why wouldn't I take revenge on you? Since I can't get what I want, I can only destroy you and destroy what you want!"

Rachel sneered, and her eyes were filled with scheming complacency.

"Tie her up and bring her to the hospital for examination first!"

Alfred said in a weary voice. The bodyguards immediately retied Rachel as Alfred had instructed, and also taped Rachel's mouth.

Robert let out a sigh. He asked his bodyguard to push him out directly.

Alfred stayed in the warehouse in a broken state. He crouched on the ground and suddenly felt that the world was filled with pain.

And outside, after Vanessa rushed out.

She collapsed to the ground. Then she started pounding the dirt on the ground.

There were stones all over the ground and Vanessa's hands were covered with bruises and cuts. She hit the ground in anger, lost in resentment and pain.

Georgia and Elsie came out and saw the way Vanessa broke down. Elsie cried out and asked Georgia.

"Vanessa must be devastated right now. Should we let her blow off some steam or stop her?"

"Let her vent! She's in too much pain. If she doesn't torture herself for a while, I'm worried that she'll have another mental breakdown and fall into the world of herself like last time."

Georgia said with red eyes. She understood exactly what it was like to break down and be in despair.

In that kind of desperate time, no one could help her.

Vanessa hit the ground for more than ten minutes to let off steam. Finally, she sat on the ground, then hugged her knees and cried out in pain.

Georgia and Elsie sat next to her at this time. The sun slowly rose in the distance, and Georgia and Elsie just kept Vanessa company in silence.

Some time later, Vanessa looked up.

"I really want to kill her. Why is there such a crazy and disgusting woman in this world? Why does she appear in my life? Why do I have to accept this pain! Why does God play me like this? What's the point of living like this ..."

Vanessa roared. And Elsie said directly.

"Vanessa, she's a lunatic. We'll never understand a lunatic. You should not have any moral burden. If you don't want that child, then we'll let her abort it! You will have your own child in the future. You don't have to be threatened by her. I will never persuade you to keep that child. But if you want to keep it, then we'll make her a surrogate. If you don't want to keep that child, then I'll go kick her in the belly. Don't worry, you don't have to do anything. I can do this for you."

Vanessa, however, suddenly turned around and hugged Elsie tightly.

"I can't do it ... I can't do it ... I'm not as ruthless as she is. I hate myself for being so weak. I can't believe that I even can't be ruthless. Maybe what she said isn't true, but I'm afraid to do anything right now ..."

Vanessa broke down and cried.

"Vanessa, it's not your fault. No one asks you to be a ruthless person, and no one says it's bad for you to be a weak person. I will support you no matter what decision you make. If you want that child, then we'll let her give birth and raise that child. If you don't want that child, then we'll pretend it doesn't exist ..."

Vanessa just hugged Elsie and kept crying. Georgia felt sad.

Faced with this dilemma, no one could make a perfect choice.

When she saw Robert come out, Georgia stood up and walked next to Robert.

"Where's Alfred? Where's he now? Is he still in there?"

"He looked a little devastated, too. He was alone on his knees. Maybe he didn't know how to face this situation either."

Georgia gave a sarcastic laugh.

"How could he! He caused all of this. If it wasn't for him, how could Vanessa have suffered so much? I really want him to die right now and disappear from this world forever!"

"How's Vanessa doing?"
