

dear lawyer 31

Chapter 31 Sensitive Roe

Vivian's steps were a little untidy as she ran toward a shabby old house. She almost tripped over her feet several times, stumbled without stopping, and finally reached the place.

"Grandma, how's Roe?"

When Vivian's grandma, Carry came out of the room, she saw Vivian, whose hair was a little messy and whose breath was.

unsteady. She felt distressed and said, "Vivi, Roe is sleeping now, but he still has a high fever.

"I know, grandmother, you are so tired, I will take care of Roe."

Looking at her old grandmother, whose hair was all white, Vivian still felt a pang of grief. At her age, she was not only unable to enjoy happiness, but also had to work hard to raise her children. It was really unfilial of her.

"I am fine, as long as you two can be healthy, grandma is satisfied, Roe is still in the house." Carry said kindly.

Vivian nodded and opened the door. It was an old, simple room with only a few simple furnishings. The pale bedspread showed the simplicity of the room.

He is only three years old, but he has to bear the pain, which is because of her carelessness.

If there had been a regular pregnancy test, she would have known about her baby's condition in advance. Of course, she would not have been able to give up the baby, but would have been more careful and would not have let him be given birth so early.

Vivian did not think much. She took a small quilt from the bed and held the little person in her arms. The weight in her hands was so light that her heart ached.

In order to hide traces during these three years, but also quietly to prevent the William, she sneaked back to the countryside, accompanied a few days, and to hurry back to the city.

When she left, Ruirui's eyes made her feel guilty and heartache, but she also had no way.

Vivian looked at her grandmother and said, "Please don't send us. I will take Roe to the hospital. At night, you can't see the way."

"All right, Vivi, watch your step." Carry also wants to follow, but she was so old that she cannot walk actively. She cannot help if she went with them, there may be a drag on her, so she gave up.

"Well, I see, grandma." Vivian walked a long way and could feel her gentle and loving eyes watching her leave.

At that moment, Vivian was less likely to cry again.

When the driver saw Vivian holding a child, he quickly got off the car and opened the door for them. He asked, "Miss, the child is sick. Why are you alone?"

Vivian looked at him with a small, natural look and said gratefully, "Thank you. He is my son Roe. He has a fever, so I came back to take him to the hospital."

The driver looked at Vivian's calm expression, knew he had asked the wrong question and didn't say anything, closed the door, got back in the cab and started the car.

A little girl who came back to the countryside to pick up the child without father to go to the hospital alone, the driver sighed and it was clear that there was a deep emotional vortex of the silly girl.

Vivian knew what the driver was sighing for, but she had no desire to explain. She was committed to raising her child, no matter what anyone else thought.

Maybe there are some bad on the way. Roe, who has fallen asleep, opened his eyes in a daze and saw Vivian, who was holding her. "Mom, you have come back to pick up Roe."

"Well, Roe, how are you feeling?" Vivian raised her hand and touched Roe's forehead. It was hot! Roe's body temperature is still only high.

Roe shook his head and whispered, "Mom, I don't feel bad, just a little hot."

"Roe is lovely, mom will take you to the hospital, you will be all right soon. "The child's understanding made Vivian feel even more sad.

In spite of her lack of energy, Roe still felt dizzy in her mind. He stared at Vivian's face with her big, pure eyes. He seemed afraid that her mother would disappear in a blink of an eye.

He has not seen his mother for a long time, is he in a dream? His classmate had a fever and she was also in a dazed dream, and she said to see the gods.

If this was a dream, he did not want to wake up, but he was really tired and wanted to sleep, but reluctant to give up his mother.

Without Roe's response, Vivian saw her son's bright eyes looking at her without blink. As his mother, Vivian read his mind instantly.

Vivian's voice was more tender. "If tired, you can sleep for a while. When you get to the hospital, will mom call you?"

Roe still felt it's not true, a small hand tightly grasping Viavvian's clothes, stubbornly said, "Mom, I must be in a dream, I don't want to sleep, or mom will disappear.

Listening to Roe's careful words, Vivian's eyes got wet and she answered in a soft voice, "Don't worry, Roe, mom is always here.

When you wake up, I will be right next to you."

Roe looked at Vivian's gentle eyes, thought for a while and nodded and said, "Mom, you must not lie to Roe, because lying children will grow noses."

"Well, I promised, just go to sleep." Vivian gently stroked Roe's soft hair.

"Well." Roe was assured that the small face relaxed in a smile, and she thought, mom's hands are cool and comfortable.

Soon a feeling of drowsiness gradually came, and Roe fell asleep under the touch of her touch.

Hearing the sound of breathing mixed with hot air, Vivian's heart became soft. Roe is not similar to her, his stubborn revealed between the eyebrows occasionally are like that man, William.

Have to say, William's genes are really good, Roe inherited all his characteristics, sometimes Vivian will feel trance in the face of a miniature version of William.

Whether it's his personality, his looks, or the way he talks.

Such that Vivian couldn't let William see the child, and anyone who knew him would know Roe was his son.

With her priceless treasure in her arms, Vivian was still worried. She had not dropped him for three years. She was afraid of being found by William, fortunately, everything will be over.

"Mom, don't leave..."

Vivian's hands stiffened as she stroked the back of Roe, and she was in tears. The child's unconscious words in his sleep were the last straw that broke her heart.

When Roe was very young, he would ask where his father had gone. When he older, she seemed to understand. Even without his father, he always smiled brightly.

Chapter 32 Very busy

Only when seeing others playing with their parents, Roe felt envy. But he is good at covering his envy up.

After all, he was still a child. Vivian could see it even if he pretended to be fine, but she couldn't tell him the truth. When he was older, she would tell him everything.

When the car stopped at the gate of the provincial hospital, Vivian put away her vulnerability and became strong again. She took $500 out of her bag and gave it to the driver. "Sir, thank you." she said.

"You don't have to pay that much. $200 for gas is fine. You have a kid and have to spend more money." The driver didn't charge so much, so he took $200 dollars as a token.

"Sir, it's okay. You deserve it." Vivian is even more sorry for his trouble.

"I charge you $200, it is also enough to earn, the child is still sick, to go to a hospital in a hurry."

The driver is nearly 50 years old, and he has a child at home who is about at the same age as Vivian. Considering that she is independent enough to support her family while his daughter at home can only act in pettish and ask for money.

Vivian saw the driver insisted not to accept, also did not continue reluctantly. After thanking for the driver, she declined to driver's kindness, holding Roe off into the hospital.

In the evening, only the emergency department was available. Vivian was carrying a baby and a bag, and she had to pay the money, registered and went to the doctor.

After finishing all the things, she also gave a layer of sweat. Even if tired and her heel was pain, she did not show at all.

Vivian waited for the doctor to take the stethoscope off Roe and nervously asked, "Doctor, how's the baby?"

“Nothing serious, he just caught a cold, the baby is weak so the high fever does not retreat, and he needs to take an injection of antipyretic.”

The doctor paused and said pityingly, “You must have known that the child has a heart problem. You should bring him early. It would be a problem if it developed into pneumonia.” “I know. I’ve failed in my duty. I’ll take care of him later.” Vivian listened to the doctor and felt a little scared. If Roe’s fever turned into pneumonia, she would certainly delay the later operation. In that case, she might not have the money to wait for a chance.

The doctor saw that Vivian was so late, alone with her child, sweating profuse and unable to take a rest, so he asked the nurse to help.

Vivian thanked him and went with the nurse to the ward.

Thanks the doctor over and over again, Roe got a needle. During the whole process, Roe did not cry. When the needle was inserted into the back of his hand, he just frowned in order not to let Vivian worry about it.

At night, there were only two patients the ward with them.

Vivian called her grandmother and told her something about Roe. Finally, she had a rest. When she stood and walked, she didn’t feel anything.

Vivian saw Roe looking at her with bright eyes and without unnecessary changes in his face.

“Is it hurt here, Roe?” Vivian fingered her chest.

“No.” Roe shook his head.

He always knew that his health was not good, and he could not do vigorous exercise like other children. It had become a routine for him to take injections and take medicine, but he did not want his mother to worry, so he behaved bravely all the time.

“Well, are you still sleepy? If you want water or food, please tell me.” Vivian was relieved. As long as it wasn’t a heart attack, there might not be anything wrong.

Roe said cleverly in a childish voice, “Mom, I am neighter sleepy, nor thirsty.”

Vivian saw desire and a sense of embarrassment from Roe’s pure eyes. She thought for a moment and immediately understood what he was thinking. Pretending to ask, “Roe, can mother hug you to rest?”

He was clearly very excited, but just nodded shyly, “Hmm.”

Vivian smiled, took off her shoes, threw off the quilt and leaned over. The small bed of about two meters is crowded for Vivian and Roe, so they leaned close together.

Roe was very happy and smiled secretly, smelt the taste of his mother, and settled down.

Vivian carefully avoided Roe’s pricked arm, leaned half of the body against the bed, tucked his tiny body into her arms, and tucked him in carefully. Because he had a fever, he couldn’t be exposed to the wind.

Roe’s face turned to Vivian and he whispered, “Mom, the doctor said I’ll have to stay here for days...” Then maybe he can stay with his mother for a few more days.

“Well, you stay with mom for a few days and then go back when you are better.” Vivian was thinking about that, too. Fortunately, she had moved back from her apartment, and she had just had quarrel with William.

What’s more, William and Angie must be in “hot love” period at present, He probably doesn’t want to see her. She thought.

Just to be more careful ,then this thing won’t be discover.

Roe was happy to hear that and said “Yes” in the heart, “Well, mom can accompany me for several days. Sometimes being sick is very good, at least mom will accompany me in the side. Although I want to be sick all the time, but my mother must be worried bad, well, just a few days.”

“Well, mom, I’ll be good.” He said.

Roe’s slight voice, like a small cat afraid of being abandoned, Vivian was moved again, deliberately lifted a light smile on her face and said, “When Roe finishes the treatment tomorrow, shall we go to the zoo together?”

“Wow, I can go to the zoo with mom.” Roe said excitedly.

“Well, now Roe can have a good sleep and have the energy to go out with me tomorrow.” Vivian answered with a smile.

“Well, mom, I’m going to bed, and you’re going to bed early, too.” Hearing that he could go to the zoo with his mother tomorrow, Roe’s voice was much more cheerful.

Vivian nodded and fell asleep with her arms around his body.

In the morning, Vivian woke up to find the baby in her arms still sleeping. And she felt happy and smiled.

She went out to buy breakfast alone, by the way, she asked for day off with an excuse. When she returned to the ward, she saw Roe sitting on the bed unhappily, surrounded by a few nurses who are still standing to persuade him.

“Little boy, your mother will soon come back.” “Lovely, we hang on drug first, ok?” “I will be careful not to hurt you.”

Roe kept silent stubbornly, it seemed that if Vivian does not appear, he is determined not to take the treatment. The nurses had nothing to do with the little boy.

He is so lovelit that they don’t have other ideas for him.

Chapter 33 Beauty is the most important

If it were other children, they would not be so patient, but the little Roe was too cute. Being seen by his black pure big eyes, they felt very distressed, even if he now put forward difficult request.

They had only one thought, that is to give him what he wants. When they occasionally saw his slightly pressed mouth, as if he was very sad, their hearts were seized.

Beauty is the most important in this world, those who have a pretty face will also be treated better than others.

Vivian walked over in the ward, pretending not to understand what was happening. "What's wrong with Roe?"

"Mom." Hearing Vivian's voice, Roe's dark eyes sparkled with light again. He thought it was really his dream yesterday. When he woke up in the morning alone.

Vivian gave him a pet look and thanked the nurses who were caring for Roe. "I'm really sorry to bother you. Will it matter if he put on a drip after breakfast?"

"No, no, that's what we're supposed to do."

When the nurses saw the baby's mother arrived, they left with regret. With such good genes, they were also curious about Roe's father, but it seemed that the father did not come.

A man patient next to the bed thought about when he put on a drip, blood from the blood vessels was flowing back into the tube, then he shouted several times and there's no response. If he did not ring the bell, even the medicine bottle is full of his blood, it can be estimated that no one knew what had happened.

For these duplicitous women, he hates good-looking men!

Maybe the man's complaint was pso ressing, Vivian felt it across the bed. She thought it was because there were so many people around here, which affected other people's rest.

And then she said apologetically, "I'm really sorry to bother you, I bought some more breakfast, do you have some?"

Vivian handed over her breakfast.

The man was a little embarrassed by Vivian's sincere. He was just complaining and wouldn't really argue with a child. And he could see that Vivian didn't buy more breakfast at all.

"That's all right. I've already eaten." In the face of a beautiful and gentle woman, the man said in a soft voice.

Although he did not want to admit, but beauty is really the most important in this world, he cannot avoid it, either. Even Vivian has given birth to a child, she is a beautiful young woman, unlike his old and ugly wife at home....

Vivian didn't know that in that short time, the man in the next bed had thought about so much. She didn't ask any because he didn't want to. Instead, she fed Roe with breakfast.

Although Roe was eating his breakfast, he was unhappy and seemed to be still thinking about that thing.

"Roe, are you still angry with your mother? I'm sorry that I went out without telling you. "Vivian knew that he was still thinking about what she had just done. She raised her hand and spoke earnestly.

Roe watched Vivian keep winking and making eyes at himself, his little face also began to smile, but he was still very serious and said, "Mom, you can't do this anymore. I will be worried if strange uncles turn you away."

For example, like the strange uncle next to the bed, who always stared at his mother, although his mother is very beautiful, is only his mother.

Vivian is slightly embarrassed that someone as old as her won't be abducted, but in order to appease Roe, she answered solemnly, "Well, I know, mom will pay attention to that in the future."

“Yeah.” Roe nodded and smiled.

Vivian looked at her “precocious” son happily.

After breakfast, Vivian asked the nurse to come and put on a drip for Roe. She just went out to buy some fruits for him.” Roe, I just want to buy something, you wait here obediently, ok?”

After a pause, she added, “Mom is going to the supermarket. If you need anything, mom can bring it back for you. Remember that when the medicine bottle is empty, ring the bell to call the nurse.”

She took the bell off the bed and put it near his hand.

“I see.” Roe whispered, “Mom, I want a book of Water Margin.”

“Well, I can help you to see if there are any picture version.” Vivian remembered there were a lot of Water Margin in the supermarket.

Roe shook his head and said, “Mom, I want the book in simplified characters.” The picture books are what a kid reads. He doesn’t read them.

As a matter of fact, he is a real kid now.

“You want Water Margin in the version of simplified characters?” Vivian almost choked on her own saliva. A three-year-old boy can read a written version of the Water Margin? Is not too exaggerated, even if he has been in kindergarden, she would not recognize a few words.

Vivian straightened her thoughts and tried to persuade him. “Roe, the Water margin in simplified Chinese is still too difficult for you.”

“Mom, in addition to rare character, I can understand vernacular Chinese.” Putting on a drip was very boring, Roe wanted to read some books to kill time. Mother did not know when he was bored, he let his grandmother teach him to know the word, and when he did not understand the words, he would look them up in the dictionary.

By looking up words, he has accumulated a lot of words unconsciously.

Vivian looked at Roe's earnest expression and was surprised. She did not know when did he know so much? Vivian didn't know what to say about herself as a mother. She nodded. "I see."

At the same time, she also found that the gene is really an amazing thing. Since she fell in love with William when she was in the university, she had begun to understand his past unconsciously.

And found that he was really excellent. He skipped three grades from primary school to junior high school, and he did well in math, composition, and sports. He developed morally, intellectually, physically and aesthetically so that he grew up with many awards.

He is simply a dazzling sun, and she didn't realized Roe is so smart that she felt a little sad. Because in the process of his growth, she did not accompany him to grow up, time flied, and he has been three years old.

Vivian went to the supermarket with a heavy sense of guilt. She not only bought the simplified version of the Water Margin, but also bought a water bottle, some snacks and fruits, which are suitable for his age.

By the way, she also bought a small cake as a reward. Speaking of cake, Vivian was in a trance. Roe's birthday was actually the same day as Williarn's.

She spent the last three years with William, who didn't care about birthday, just usually ate a bowl of noodles with two eggs perfunctorily.

And Roe can only receive the cake and snacks she bought, she owed Roe too much, she must accompany Roe to congratulate this birthday.

Because she knew, Angie was sure to help William withn his birthday. Thinking of this, Vivian still felt a momentary pain in her heart.

Chapter 34 A man likes eating sweet f...

“Vivi, what are you doing here?” Vivian was pulled back to reality by a familiar voice. When she looked back, a pair of good-looking men and women came to her.

One was her bestie, Angie, and the other, of course, was William.

She didn’t expect to meet the two of them here, nor did she expect William to accompany Angie to the supermarket. Ironically, she had asked William to go with her before.

He was silent for a moment, quietly refusing.

After that, she never called him to come with her to the supermarket.

True love is great.

In spite of this, Vivian winced uncontrollably. When she faced them, she smiled and said, “Yes, I come here to buy some things.” Angie thought Vivian was in a daze. When she answered, she remembered, “Vivi, today is weekday, why aren’t you at work?”

She came back to find that Vivi is a workaholic, who can work hard for money, although she did not know why Vivi is so short of money.

William was thoughtful, standing there without talking, but gave a kind of invisible pressure. In addition to the outstanding appearance, he has attracted the eyes of many people.

Vivian collected herself and said in her usual tone, “Well, I’m a little sick today, so I asked for day off.”

Hearing her friend’s discomfort, Angie immediately expressed concern, “Vivi, are you okay?”

“You don’t need to support your family, and I don’t know why you work so hard. Why didn’t John come with you?” Angie complained.

“It’s just a small problem.” Vivian unconsciously grasped the handrail of the cart and saw the man didn’t have any response at all.

Although she was relieved, she felt even more upset.

Why should she be upset? Isn’t this a very normal behavior?

“You are still too nice.” Angie shook her head disapprovingly. When Vivian refused, she turned to the man beside her and said, “William, please tell Vivi about the importance of the health.”

William looked at the women who were afraid of him, coldly said, “The health belongs to their own, they are not willing to cherish, then others have nothing to do.”

“But Vivi is nobody else. She’s my best friend.” Said Angie, pretending not to agree with him.

Seeing her best friend is going to argue with William because of her, Vivian interrupted and said, “Angie, I’m done shopping.

“Hey, Vivi, why are you in such a hurry?” Angie wasn’t arguing with William for Vivian, but for her own. She wanted to prove she was important to William.

This is a common problem for many women who want to prove their status in their boyfriend’s heart.

Of course, she thinks it’s also a little strange and always feels Vivi is very nervous today, as if afraid of being found out something.

William, with his keen senses, has also noticed the details that no one else had noticed, depending on his profession.

A lawyer has a better grasp of detail than an ordinary person.

He noticed that Vivian’s shopping trolley contained a water bottle that looked like being for a child’s, and she bought a cake. He remembered that Vivian didn’t like sweet foods.

He also saw a book under the fruits, if he was right, it should be the Water Margin.

He was sure that Vivian doesn't like this kind of tedious and boring novel. Her telephone call yesterday and the abnormality today must prove that she had secret.

And she seemed to be particularly afraid that he would know.

There was a flash of reflection in William's eyes.

"Maybe she's in a hurry." "William answered faintly, moving on.

Angie also did not think much. she spent a lot of effort to let William accompany her to go out to the supermarket. Vivian might not mind she accompany William, instead of her.

Now Vivian also has a boyfriend, so she should be able to understand her mood.

Vivian could be said to be defeated and fled, because William's vision was too direct and terrible. She felt that if she stayed more time, her secret would be seen through, so she fled shamefully.

After several rounds of shelving, Vivian stopped, calmed down, and suddenly seemed to remember something. She nervously checked the contents of the trolley and found the cupcakes in the most prominent place. She felt anxious at the moment.

Fortunately, the Water Margin was at the bottom.

Then, as if to console herself, Vivian tells herself it's just a piece of cake and that William won't remember she hardly eats sweet foods, so he won't discover the thing.

Vivian was not in the mood to buy things. She rushed to the counter to check out and went out of the supermarket.

Confirmed that there's no one, she fled to the hospital by taxi.

At the hospital, Vivian calmed down and returned to the ward with a big bag of things.

Vivian takes the cute, naughty cat cake out of the bag and puts it in front of Roe.

“Cake.” When he saw her favorite cake, Roe couldn’t help crying.

“Well, mom will open it for you.” Vivian knew that William had a sweet tooth, and only she knew the secret of his sweet tooth.

Who would have thought that a serious man like him would have a sweet tooth?

She also accidentally found that on the clerk’s birthday. They went out to play in the evening, bought the cake but no one ate.

They were drunk and went away. Only she did not drink, so she took back the unopened cake by the way.

When she took it back, she found that William looked at the cake for a while, so she knew he had a different reaction to sweets.

Sure enough, she cut the cake and put it on a plate and brought it to him. He did not refuse.

Vivian sat aside and watched Roe gently eating the cake, and his eyes occasionally showed joy. She knew that Roe also likes sweet food.

But that man would not express his preference for sweet foods even though he likes them much, and he would not touch them in front of other people.

Chapter35 Let’s go to the zoo

Vivian deliberately ran back to change her clothes and took a backpack in passing so that she could pack things conveniently.

After Roe’s infusion bottle was up, he and Vivian were ready to leave, and Vivian had put the worries behind.

Vivian was going to have a good time with Roe today.

She fondly touched Roe's little cute nose, and joked, "My little Roe, are you ready to go?"

"Yes, Mom." In order to show that he had already to go, Roe squared his shoulders with pride and adjusted his kettle strap by the way, so that the kettle can be hung on his waist.

Originally, Vivian refused to let Roe carry the kettle, but Roe insisted, and she didn't stop him. She reached out and took Roe's hand gently, shouting vigorously, "Let's go!"

"Okay." Roe answered with the same serious voice.

Today is a beautiful day — bright and breezy, so it is very suitable for traveling.

To let him experience the joy of traveling, Vivian took a bus with Roe instead of taking a taxi.

Roe, who had stayed with his grandmother in the countryside for a long time, sat quietly and was well-behaved next to Vivian. He curiously looked out the window with his dark eyes, and experienced the prosperity and liveliness of the city, which is extremely different from the countryside.

Vivian saw excitement and novelty from Roe's eyes, and he was like an ordinary child who explored this unknown world.

The bus stopped one station by one station, and the people went off the bus group by group too. Later, more parents took their children to travel outside.

Roe's outstanding appearance undoubtedly attracted many children's attention.

A girl who was not far from them asked curiously and boldly, "Can...Can I make friends with you, little brother?"

Roe looked up at the chubby girl, he smiled and then answered calmly and clearly, "No."

“Oh...” The little girl couldn’t believe that Roe refused so directly, she cried all at once and asked her parents for comfort.

The little girl’s parents comforted the girl constantly and stared at Vivian with condemnation.

Vivian didn’t care about it, she just felt a little bit curious about Roe. Although Roe is a quiet boy, he will not be rude to others, “What’s wrong, Roe?”

“Mom, I saw her pinch a boy next to her just now, I don’t like such a rude girl.” Roe answered seriously.

“Well, mom supports your choice of making friends.” Vivian was surprised by Roe’s keenness. Actually, Vivian had seen the girl pinch that boy too, but she preferred not to comment. She had never thought that Roe saw it too.

“Be reassured, mom, I will surely be a good person with integrity.” Roe’s clear words were heard by the girl’s parents.

The girl’s parents may also know about the condition of their daughter, they spoke haltingly and were ashamed of it.

Roe’s smiling eyes winked at Vivian, which seemed to be saying, “Mom, I’m smart, right?”

Vivian reached out and touched his soft hair with smile, which counted as a response.

The episode did not affect their mood of traveling. Vivian bought a ticket with Roe and then went into the zoo.

May be the reason for weekend, there were many parents who took their children to the zoo. The children’s excited laughter lingered in their ears, and Roe kept smiling all the time.

Vivian thought her choice was right, they went to see the giraffes, peacocks, gorillas, sloths, and swans.

They also bought some food for the monkeys running outside and the raccoons acting cute.

They also went to see the fierce tigers, lions, and crocodiles.

Roe was still very excited after playing for a long time, but his breathing became a bit heavy. Vivian immediately found a place for Roe to rest, and asked in anxiety, "Roe, do you feel uncomfortable in the chest?"

Roe saw Vivian's nervous look, he was afraid that she would take himself back, and said with a baby's voice, "No, no, mom, I can go on."

"Awesome! But mom is tired. Can we take a break?" Vivian felt distressed about Roe's keenness, she knew Roe was tired and flaunted his superiority. So, he deliberately said that he was tired and needed rest.

"Well, mother, you should sit down and rest." Roe relieved and he smiled briskly. It turned out that Vivian was tired and needed rest.

Vivian said nothing and sat down according to Roe's words. She took out a facial tissue from the bag, and carefully wiped the sweat on his forehead.

Vivian took out the washed fruit and let Roe choose.

Roe held an apple but his eyes was focus on Vivian, a suspicious blush appeared on his round face. Mom is so beautiful and soft, he thought.

Later, Roe was angry with his father who he had never met before. He really has a bad taste, how can he part with my mom... I will definitely teach him a lesson when I grow up, Roe thought.

Vivian was unaware that her simple movement can let Roe be lost in various fancies and conjectures. Roe had put on thirty ethical TV plays in his heart, which was called — Cutee Roe's Plan for Punishing His Own Relations in the Cause Of Justice.

“Hey! Vivian! Are you Vivi?” A woman who spoke loudly was coming here.

Vivian became dazed for a moment, seeing the woman, she couldn't think of who she was.

“You are really Vivian! You were our campus belle at that time. I have never thought that you have been still so young and beautiful over these years after graduation. Do you remember me? I'm Mary.” Mary said enviously.

“Well, you are the same as before, Mary.” Vivian thought of Mary after her reminder. Mary liked to gossip everywhere...

Mary was tittering behind her hand, she glanced at Roe, who is quietly sitting on a chair. And then she exaggerated, “Haven't seen you for a long time, your child has sprung up now. How cute he is! Your husband must be very handsome.”

Vivian didn't know how to explain and became nervous. At this time, Roe said before Vivian, “I am tired and want to go back, aunt.”

Hearing Roe's appellation to Vivian, Mary suddenly replied, “Vivian, you are Roe's aunt.”

“Yeah... Yeah...” Vivian forced a smile. However, she was worried about Roe's thoughtfulness. Roe was here, so she couldn't find an excuse at will, she was afraid of hurting Roe's heart.

Vivian didn't want to continue the talk, and Mary felt it. She said sensibly, “Vivi, I go first. See you next time.” “Ok.” Vivian nodded.

Watching Mary leave, Vivian frowned, squatting beside Roe. She wanted to explain it but failed. She had found countless excuses to put off but she didn't want to tell a lie and make it plausible with more lies.

She didn't want Roe to hate herself after he had grown up, either.

Chapter36 William's test

“Mom, you don’t have to explain, I understand.” Although Roe is young, he has understood many things, for example, he understood the reason why Vivian let his grandmother bring him up.

He understood why his mother did that, so he didn’t get angry.

Vivian was holding Roe’s white hands with her slender hands, she said sadly and resignedly, “I’m sorry, Roe. Mom will tell you all the things when you grow up a little.”

Children are always sensitive. Roe can feel a sense of sadness from his mother, he was anxious, “It’s enough to have you, mom, so don’t be sad.”

“Well, mom has a thoughtful baby. How would I be sad?” Vivian extremely thanked God for giving her such a sensible baby.

A common saying goes, “One’s daughter is a kind-hearted padded jacket.” Her Roe is a warm-hearted vest, who can always make her full of power.

After hearing that, Roe was a little bit shy but smiled happily, showing his two rows of little neat teeth, which looked innocent and cute.

Vivian was also infected by his smile, and corners of her mouth was also rising.

“Roe, let’s go to see the hippo.” “Well. Let’s go.” In fact, Roe didn’t want to go home so early.

Vivian packed the stuff back into her bag and took Roe to see his favorite hippos. They happened to go to the hippos’ shed. The keepers were preparing to feed the hippos on watermelons.

Roe stretched out his neck excitedly to watch the hippos. Vivian was about to get Roe’s hair away from his eyes when her phone rang.

Vivian had to take out her phone, seeing the caller ID, she hesitated for a few seconds and it was connected. But she didn’t say anything.

Angie had already said, “Vivi, where are you? I’m so bored, I want to come to you.”

Vivian was holding Roe's hand in case other people hit him by accident, and maintained her composure, "Angie, you are stay with William, aren't you?"

The resentment in Angie's heart came out, "It's ok if you don't talk about it, Vivi! William accompanied me to the market less than half an hour, and then left without giving me a reason."

And then she pretended to be pitiful, "Vivi, I'm so pitiful! Come and accompany me." At this time Roe was shocked and said, "Mom! Look! The hippo can eat a watermelon in one bite! Awesome!" Angie was unsure if there was a kid beside Vivian, she asked, "Vivi, is there a kid beside you?"

Vivian's heart was beating fast. Knowing that Angie didn't heard it clearly, she said calmly, "Oh, it's a child of my relative. I help him take care of the child for a while. I'm sorry, Angie. I can't go now."

"Well, you must come out tomorrow." From Angie's attitude to her daughter, it can be seen that she didn't like children very much, so Angie immediately dispelled the idea of bringing the kid with her.

Vivian agreed and they ended the call.

Roe said with an expression of doing something wrong, "Mom, did I say something wrong?" "No, you didn't. You are my good boy." Vivian touched him gently.

Roe was soon turned around and was startled by hippo's terrible biting force.

They were reluctant to leave the zoo until the sunset. Of course, Roe was more reluctant, he felt that time passed too fast today.

Seeing Roe's lost face, Vivian smiled and squatted in front of Roe, and said, "Roe, hurry up, mom will carry you back."

"No, you are tired too, mom." Roe looked at Vivian's back eagerly. Although he really wanted to let his mother carry him, he also knew that his mother was tired too.

So, he had to be restrained, yes, restrained.

“It’s OK. I’m not tired. If Roe really wants to help me, you can take the kettle with you.” Vivian put the kettle, which was without water, on her hand.

Roe said crisply, “Mom, if you are tired, put me down please.” Vivian chuckled and said lightly, “Well, mom knows my Roe is not heavy at all. Eat more and grow faster.” “Well, mom, I will.” He swore in his heart that he must grow up quickly to protect his mother.

In the afterglow of the setting sun, their shadows lengthened as if there was no end. From a distance, they looked like a warm picture, which was able to made the heart melt.

When Vivian carried Roe back home, he had fell asleep on her back, he must be very tired after playing in the zoon for half a day.

It had been 7:00 p.m. after Vivian put Roe on his bed.

The doctor came to inform her that Roe can be discharged from the hospital after the drip tomorrow, which made Vivian very happy. It proved that Roe’s body was not in great trouble and had no impact on the operation.

Just when she was going out to buy some food for Roe, she received an unexpected call.

“Vivian, where are you?”

“What’s the matter?” Vivian stopped, and then walked to the safe passage that without any people.

“What are you afraid of?”

William’s cool voice came into Vivian’s ears accurately, which aroused her deepest fear.

Did he find out? No, no way.

Vivian felt that her heart was beating fast. It seemed that her heart would jump out of her chest the next moment. She still replied with strong composure, "William, I don't know what you are talking about."

"You should ask yourself." William's voice was still calm and cold, it was too deep to be fathomable.

"I have nothing to fear." Even if Vivian was nervous, she would not show it. More the rather that, he might still not know, he just spied on her.

"I hope so. You'd better not let me find out anything, or you will know the consequences of cheating me." After saying the last word, the man over the phone also hung up.

Vivian seemed to have experienced a catastrophe. She managed to escape from it, she now sat on the ground. She was scared to death. She almost revealed the secret under William's strong pressure.

William must find out something, whatever, she should take some action.

Chapter37 John was lost in thought

After William's call, Vivian was obviously distracted. She bought some food that was easy for children to digest from the snack bar and went back.

On her way home there came another phone call, she was upset by the continuous calls today. This time she didn't look at the phone and asked loudly, "What the hell are you going to do?"

Hearing the gasping breath over the phone, John was in a daze for a few seconds, and said in a soft voice, "Vivi, it's me, John, what's wrong?"

Hearing John's voice, Vivian knew that she had misunderstood. She thought that the phone call was still from the man. She calmed down and said apologetically, "I'm sorry, John, I don't know it's you."

Then his eyes were deep, Vivi didn't know it was him, or she mistook him for someone else, who is that guy? Although John had many questions, he didn't ask.

He asked instead, "Vivi, did someone disturb you? I should have picked you up today, but the staffin your store said you asked for a leave."

"No. I just receive an insurance phone call, you know that they are difficult to deal with, so I thought they called me again."

Vivian was worried that he would make blind conjectures, so she explained immediately again, "I didn't go to work today because I'm not feeling well. I am sorry for your coming in vain."

Hearing that Vivian was feeling bad, he asked nervously without thinking anything else, "Vivi, are you OK? Have you seen the doctor? I'm coming to see you now."

"No!" Vivian found her tone was a little tough, and her voice softened, "It's not a big problem. I just took the medicine, but I'm still sleepy. Maybe it's the effect of the medicine."

Vivian obviously prevaricated, it was impossible that he didn't know about it.

"Well. Take a rest first, Vivi. I'll come to you if you still feel bad. If your best friend Angie knows that I'm so incompetent as your boyfriend, she would do something for you."

"Thank you, John." Since she said that she was sleepy, Vivian also yawned, as if she was really sleepy. She silently said sorry to John in her heart.

After hanging up the phone, John didn't put down the phone immediately but he lost in thought. Is that really an insurance phone call? Vivi is definitely not a girl who loses her temper at will.

Vivian also felt embarrassed. She was worried that the food was getting cold, so she had to hang up the phone and go to the ward.

Roe was still sleeping. Although he was weak, his face was still round and pink. His facial features were cute, which made people had a desire to knead his face.

Vivian bent over and kissed his cheek, whispered, "Wake up, my sleeping beauty."

Seeing Roe's lashes, she found that the little boy didn't sleep at all, but deliberately confused her. It should be noted that, his curly lashes which are like a filmy fan really make many women become jealous.

The little boy who was lying on the bed didn't feel embarrassed at all, he continued acting and pretended that he just woke up.

He said vaguely, "Mom, you are back."

Mom seemed to kiss him Just now. So shy!

His little glowing cheeks had already betrayed his inner meaning, he extremely wanted to hide his shyness and Vivian didn't break it, "Yeah, I have bought some porridge. It's cold. You can eat it."

Roe took a look at the empty table in front of Vivian, and looked down at the fragrant porridge in front of him, and said, "Mom, I can't eat so much..."

"I've finished my meal already. This meal is yours. Eat as much as you can." Vivian knew that Roe was worried about whether she was full, so she was moved when he said he couldn't eat so much.

Her little vest was indeed a warm boy. The girl who married him later must be very happy.

Knowing that Vivian had already finished her meal, he took a spoon and nibbled it slowly.

Vivian sat quietly beside Roe and was watching him eat, he is really an eye candy.

When Roe finished eating, Vivian cleaned up the table, went to the boiling water room to get water to wash his face and hands.

After cleaning up, she took off her shoes and went to bed.

Today, when they came back, the man in the next bed was discharged from the hospital, so there were only two of them in the room.

Vivian touched his soft hair, she felt that it was not enough to touch it. Some words should be said tomorrow even if not now, she finally said, "Roe, I'll take you to your grandmother tomorrow, OK?"

Hearing that Vivian was going to send him back tomorrow, his little hands subconsciously grasped the sheet. He wanted to refuse it and stay with his mother, but he also knew that if he asked to stay, his mother would definitely agree.

But he would also put his mother in a difficult position, so after a few indecisions, he still replied, "OK."

Vivian felt the same depressed as Roe and held him in her arms, "Roe, you are going to have a birthday soon. What gift do you want?"

Roe's eyes brightened after hearing Vivian's words, "Mom, I want you to come back to accompany me for my birthday."

"No problem. I will spend with you for your every birthday from now on." Vivian promised in her heart.

"Great." Things to leave had been diluted by the good news, and Roe's mood became better.

Vivian patted his back gently, and her soft voice was like a lullaby, "Roe, go to sleep, and mom will sleep with Roe."

Roe answered gently, and sleep obediently beside Vivian. After playing for so long today, it was the limit of his body. Roe soon fell asleep with Vivian's soft voice.

Vivian was repeating one nightmare that night. She dreamed that she was in a busy street, surrounded by people, but no matter how hard she tried, she could not see the expression of people around her.

She kept running and running, and then she went back to school. Her friend Angie suddenly appeared, slapped her in the face and asked why she wanted to steal her boyfriend.

But Vivian shouted no loudly, it was not the truth! Angie left without looking back, she didn't want to listen her explanation at all.

And Vivian kept chasing her, but she couldn't. Suddenly, she met William again. He looked at her with cold and scornful eyes, as if he was laughing at her unrealistic thinking these years silently.

At this time Angie appeared suddenly, taunting her for her hypocrisy, holding William's arm, and then she left slowly.

No matter how she shouted, the two seemed to be unable to hear. Suddenly, the picture changed. William held Roe in his arms and never let her see Roe.

Chapter38 Come back to Grandma's home

Vivian cried out in fear and sat up suddenly from the bed. A layer of cold sweat came out all over her body. Roe was still sleeping beside her.

Out of the window, the sky was still gray, the sun had not risen, but Vivian couldn't sleep again. She had been looking at Roe's sleeping face, as if only in this way can she feel at ease.

It was almost ten o'clock after Roe finished taking the drip. Vivian sent him back and had a meal at Grandma's home.

Grandma saw Roe come back excitedly, she also put on a happy smile, "That's OK, if you have no trouble."

"Grandma, I went to the zoo with my mom yesterday. There are many kinds of animals there!" Roe followed her grandmother and talked about the animals he saw.

Grandma's head was covered with silver hair and wrinkles. She always looked at Roe kindly with a smile. She seemed to listen carefully to the news he told about.

Vivian cleaned up the old house silently, listened to Roe's childish words, and repeated the things she needed to do every time she came back, her heart was also calm down.

"Roe, talk with grandma, and I'll cook." As long as Vivian stayed at home, she would cook on her own initiative.

Grandma knew Vivian's character. She looks gentle and quiet, in fact, she is more stubborn than anyone.

"Well." Roe replied with a clear voice.

Vivian showed a smile on the corner of her mouth. There was no gas stove in the kitchen, but the local stove. She needed to burn firewood to cook. She wanted to change the stove long ago.

But Grandma said that she was not used to using the gas stove. She also worried that it would be troublesome if the gas leaked, because there were only Roe and herself in the house.

Fortunately, some people in the village were glad to send firewood in her house regularly, as long as she gave a little money.

Vivian was quite busy at the kitchen, soon she finished cooking the rice and put it on the table.

They sat together to eat, Roe appeared to be particularly lively and cheerful.

After dinner, Roe stayed in the room by himself. There were books, pictures and many other gadgets that she bought for him in the room.

Grandma helped Vivian clean up the kitchen, then they began to talk.

“Vivi, when can Roe have the operation?”

“Almost. I’ve got in touch with the doctor. I’ll take Roe out with me when I’m informed.” Vivian brushed the bowls with her head down.

Grandma sat beside the stove and sighed, which made her old voice heavier. “Vivi, I don’t want to blame you, you are smart and sensible, how can you make this low-level mistake?”

“You are still young. You can’t live alone with Roe all your life. Your parents must be angry if they know your situation.” Grandma sighed heavily.

“Are you going to hide the truth from Roe all your life?”

“Grandma, I am so sorry to let you worried about it. Roe is not a mistake. He is the most important treasure in my life.” Vivian knew that grandma would definitely mention this matter again, and she answered as usual.

“Vivi, I am getting old. I don’t know how long I can live. I used to worry about you most, now I worry about you and Roe. I leave nothing. Your grandpa only left an old house. What if I leave?”

Grandma certainly didn’t think Roe was a mistake, but she knew how hard it was for a woman to raise a child by herself.

Vivian’s eyes were sore, her tears almost fell down, she sniffed, and said in a hoarse voice, “Grandma, you’re sure to live to a ripe old age. I can support our family on my own.”

“Well, if your parents hadn’t been out for business, they wouldn’t have let you alone.” Vivian was sensible, but she couldn’t do anything about it. Life is always so realistic.

“Grandma, Roe will soon be cured. At that time, I will not only earn money to support you, but also save money to buy a big house and take you back. Everything will be OK. Don’t worry about me.”

In order not to let Grandma worry, Vivian pretended to be optimistic.

“No, no, how can you be so young and never marry? Roe is still young and needs a father. You don’t care about yourself, and don’t you care about Roe either?” Grandma shook her head disapprovingly.

Since Vivian was suddenly pregnant and came back, there had been rumors in the village. Vivian didn’t want to talk about it, so Grandma had not asked her for many years.

Vivian had washed the last bowl, cleaned up the stove, she took off her apron and jokingly said, “Grandma, don’t worry. If Roe wants a father, I will find someone to marry.”

She never thought about it, it was not the proper time. Roe’s operation is the most important thing.

“You are the same old. You should marry someone you like. How could you be so hasty?” Grandma said in a loving and doting voice.

Marry some she like? That cold and handsome face suddenly appeared in her mind, and soon she dismissed this ridiculous idea. She herself didn’t know how bitter her smile was.

That man, she tried hard to let him love her, but he didn’t, not even a bit, how could she marry him?

Vivian smilingly helped Grandma out and played with Roe in the room for a while. She took out a pile of money from her bag and gave it to Grandma to buy some delicious food.

Grandma didn’t want it, “I know you work hard. Don’t give me the money. I still have some money.”

“Take it, Grandma, I can earn money, this is just bonus, I have my salary.” Vivian pressed the money on Grandma.

Grandma sighed helplessly. It was OK if she didn’t care about her future, she can be at will, but she can’t implicate the child.

Roe also knew that Vivian was going to leave. He knew that he should not stop Vivian, but his body had given a response.

Vivian looked down and saw that he was holding her hand and his stubborn and restrained expression. She was so upset that she wanted to go with Roe, but she couldn't.

"Roe, are you reluctant to let me go?" Roe lowered his head and gritted his teeth without saying anything.

Vivian had to squat down and look at him. Looking at his red eyes, she was very painful. "I don't want to leave you, too. I promise that I will take you back."

"Really?" Roe almost burst out crying. He didn't want to part with her mom again.

"Yes, I promise." Vivian had thought about it. It's better to take Roe to the city than to leave him in the countryside. In case he was ill, she couldn't suffer the consequences. She was thinking of a considerate plan.

"Okay." Roe reached out and held little fingers with each other.

Grandma turned her head, and her eyes were moist.

Vivian left slowly in the reluctant eyes of Grandma and Roe.

Chapter39 Attend the dinner party

Vivian returned to the shopping mall and exchanged pleasantries with her workmates, and then she buried herself in the busy work again.

The high season in summer, people come and go, Vivian was like a spinning top that spun tirelessly.

It was almost the same time, Angie stepped into the shop with William, John came in on their heels.

"Vivi! We come to pick you up, and your escort." Angie winked and made signs to Vivian.

“How would you come together?” Vivian was in a daze after seeing William, but soon she chose to ignore him and showed a mild smile.

“It’s a coincidence.”

John, with a tall figure, slowly passed William and Angie and stood in front of Vivian. His warm fingertips naturally fell on her bright and clean forehead, and he said in a dotting voice, “Why you still go to work, huh? Well, if’s OK that you don’t have a fever.”

Although it was just in a few seconds, John had withdrawn his hand. Vivian nodded blankly, “I. ..I’m fine.”

“Well, yesterday I still wondered why you didn’t care about Vivi at all, it seemed that my worry was superfluous, right, William?” Angie beat around the bush beside William.

Despite they were boyfriend and girlfriend, but she didn’t feel any sweet of love, instead, she was swayed by consideration of gain and loss, and William didn’t do any intimacy to her at all.

He simply didn’t reject her identity as a girlfriend.

Hearing Angie’s words, Vivian looked at his cold figure subconsciously, accidentally bumped into his deep and cold eyes, and her heart quivered.

His cool voice without a trace of ups and downs, “She doesn’t need other people’s concern.”

“How can you say that, honey? Vivi is very hard.” Angie pretended to take up the cudgel for Vivian.

She doesn’t need other people’s concern? Yeah, it’s none of his business. Vivian gritted her teeth and covered her difference.

“Mr. William, Vivi is my girlfriend now, I’ll take care of her.” John walked in front of Vivian, blocked their sights, and looked straight at William.

He seemed to proclaim his sovereignty.

This cognition made William very unhappy. The coldness in his eyes became deeper. He said coldly, “Mr. John is really careful.”

John frowned. He noticed the irony in his words. If he took good care of Vivi, Vivi would not go to work in spite of illness, which was indeed his dereliction of duty.

But, Vivi had nothing to do with William, didn’t she? Why did he have an illusion? — William was jealous.

Vivian also felt the strange atmosphere. Seeing Angie’s grave and acute eyes, she was flurried. She stepped out from behind and pretended that she knew nothing, “Angie, you haven’t said what you want to see me about for so long.”

“Ah?” Actually, Angie was thinking about why William became angry, suddenly she was interrupted by Vivian. It seemed that she suddenly remembered her purpose and exclaimed, “I almost forgot! There’s a business party tonight. Come with John.”

“He is also a young talent too, right?”

Vivian thought that she just rejected Angie yesterday, it was not good to refuse her once again. She looked at John. If he didn’t want to go, she wouldn’t either.

“How can we miss Angie’s invitation?” John answered liberally. He looked down and said gently to Vivian, “Vivi, what do you think?”

“I think so.” Vivian answered softly with her eyes drooping.

“Well. Let’s meet at the Imperial Hotel at eight o’clock this evening.” Angie blinked playfully. When she turned her head to William, she was a obedient little woman again. “Honey, let’s go back and prepare for it.”

“OK.” William glanced at Vivian with his deep eyes. Angie held his hand and he left expressionlessly.

Although he didn’t like her intimacy, he just wanted to do it.

Out of the door, William let go of her hand. He drove the car first. Angie was still upset. She had been back for so long. Why he was still not used to her intimacy?

No, she must make greater efforts.

“Vivi, let’s go. I’ll take you home.” John gently called back Vivian, who was still in trance.

Vivian said apologetically, “John, I’m sorry that you were misunderstood.”

John looked at her deeply and said nothing.

Vivian waited for a moment, but she heard nothing. She looked up at him doubtfully, almost frightened by his straight eyes, “John, what’s the matter? Is there anything dirty on my face?”

She subconsciously wanted to raise her hand to wipe it.

He grasped her delicate wrist steadily and said in a serious tone, “Vivi, I’m your boyfriend. Don’t be so self-condemned. Your sorry will only make me feel that I’m incompetent as your boyfriend.”

Vivian was shocked by his serious expression. She was about to say sorry to him when she suddenly remembered that he didn’t like her sorry. So, she just nodded, “OK, I know.” “Well, I hope that you can trust me.” He stretched his face, and he was still that gentleman.

John sent Vivian back to attend the party. He changed his clothes and came back to pick her up. Vivian nodded and agreed, then she went back to the apartment alone.

Her heart was extremely heavy, she did not tell it clearly to John now. There were less opportunities if she wanted to say it later.

Vivian thought about that man who cared about her, she couldn't bear to hurt him.

She must tell it clearly to John after the party.

Vivian returned to her room and opened the wardrobe, which was full of exquisite clothes.

She didn't have extra money to buy any other clothes these years because of Roe's illness. Basically, William bought her clothes.

It was ironic that although William had no feelings for her, he was generous with her.

In addition to a fixed amount of living expenses every month, he would buy her clothes from time to time, and even gave her an accessory card of a VIP card.

It seemed that she's a captive canary, that's all.

Vivian didn't want to look at these clothes more, she picked out a black dress casually.

She closed the wardrobe hurriedly, as if the clothes placed quietly were not clothes but terrible hands that pulled her into the abyss.

Half an hour later, she received a call from John, he informed Vivian that he had arrived and asked her to tell the floor of the apartment to pick her up.

Vivian didn't know why she want to refuse John to come up instinctively, "Thank you, John, don't bother."

John stopped for a moment and said, "OK."

Chapter40 She's a vicious queen

John sat in the car and looked at the apartment in front of him thoughtfully. Vivian still wouldn't let him enter her private space.

Vivian went downstairs with her skirt in her hand and saw John standing in front of the car. When he saw her, his eyes couldn't help flashing a light. He said with admiration, "Vivi, you are beautiful tonight."

"Thank you." Vivian replied with a reddish face. She didn't think she was very beautiful. She just put on a light make-up, so she thought John just said some polite words.

John knew that he was serious. The black dress was just like a custom-made one for her, which made her white skin more conspicuous.

Her tantalizing clavicle was fully displayed, and her graceful figure was also outlined.

Looked from the front, it was a common dress. From the back, we could see the designer's intention. Vivian's shapely back was showed more than a half. It made people even more imaginative.

"If I can, I really don't want to take you to the party. I prefer to enjoy it alone."

"John, I have never thought that you will say that." Vivian was embarrassed by the blazing eyes of John. She had never worn the dress before, and she didn't love the party much, so she didn't look at herself in the mirror.

She herself didn't know how beautiful she was when she smiled.

But they promised to go to the party, naturally, they couldn't break their words.

John got on the bus and started the car again. He went to the destination of the party, the Imperial Hotel.

People in the upper class like to go to places of entertainment like that. It seems that only when they come to such a luxury hotel, their status will be superior to others.

When they arrived, there were limousines, and social celebrities gathered, and a lot of super stars also appeared.

Reporters also waited outside early, looking for the next day's headlines.

Vivian held John's arm and entered the hotel. There came another scene in it. The exquisite glass shone on the whole venue.

The self-service party was crowded with people.

So harmonious.

Vivian didn't know John was famous in the city until she saw several people came to greet John.

Angie patted her shoulder behind Vivian and said, "Vivi, you are here. I almost can't recognize you just now." Vivian turned around and looked at Angie, she smiled and answered, "Angie, you are the most beautiful tonight."

Actually, there was no more beautiful dress than Angie's. The pink tube skirt, and simple lotus leaf skirt which adorned with starlight. It was particularly eye-catching under the refraction of glass.

In addition, her own outstanding appearance and sweet makeup were like a little princess who was not familiar with the world in the fairy tale.

And her prince, wearing a black suit, was standing beside her, which made him taller and loftier, colder and more indifferent.

It seemed that there was no one else in his eyes except Angie.

In the eyes of others, they were a pair of golden virgins, who can't be more perfect...

Vivian couldn't help looking down at herself. She was wearing a black skirt, which just like the vicious queen in the fairy tale world. It's quite ironic.

"Hah, good taste!"

Angie also thought that her dress up was very successful. Although Vivi looked very beautiful and sexy, as she knew, William seemed to prefer the “pure” women.

No one noticed his black eyes, which was elusive.

“Well.” Vivian responded with a faint smile.

If Angie was a budding rose, then Vivian was a beautiful wild lily waiting for people to pick.

Between a smile and a frown, showed their own style.

Many men were hypnotized by them.

His cold eyes made them all in a shiver, they were reluctant to look back.

He was so mean! They just had glimpses of them. But if their women were conspicuous like that, he may do that like them.

“Vivi, you can’t miss dancing later.” Angie asked a teacher to teach her for the dance tonight. She wanted to be the focus this evening.

Of course, she wanted to attract William’s attention more. It would be better if she can win his heart.

“I... can’t dance well.” Vivian said with embarrassment.

William raised his eyebrows, she was lying. He remembered that when he took her to the party before, she danced very well.

Her words surprised him a little.

Vivian felt William’s eyes without turning her head, she was afraid of being found out. Other people didn’t know but he knew her well. But she really didn’t want to dance tonight.

“I remember that you can dance a little when you were in college.” Angie said in a pity.

“Vivi, don’t worry. I can teach you.” John was confident with his dance skill.

“John...” Vivian wanted to find an excuse again.

William, who had been silent all the time, suddenly said, “Mr. John is so confident, it’s a pity to refuse, and there are so many people, they won’t notice your small mistakes.”

It seemed that when Vivian heard his “small mistake”, it was meaningful.

Illusion, it must be illusion.

He must say that on purpose, she absolutely couldn’t do that.

But she had to do that after seeing John’s expectant eyes. So, she nodded and smiled, “OK.”

Actually, she refused to do that in her heart, she even wanted to cry!

Not far away, there was an inquiring sight. Angie immediately responded with a smile, held William’s arm, and said to Vivian, “Vivi, see you later, my parents are calling us.”

She acted shyly when she said that.

Her shy represented everything, they got to the point of meeting their parents.

Vivian looked at William, who had no expression on his face. He looked a little more alienated. “Well, hurry up, don’t let uncle and aunt keep waiting.”

Hopefully, he could forget that humiliating memory, otherwise. ..

“Vivi, do you want to drink something?” John asked.

Vivian answered without refusing, “Give me that juice, please.”

“OK, wait a moment.” John left.

Vivian nodded but she was looking at Angie and William, and that “kind” parents. Angie was their only child.

Angie’s father, who had always been dignified and terrible, even stretched his grave eyebrows to his daughter and to Angie’s mother, who was born rich.

This is the reason why Angie was publicized. It was indeed a harmonious scene from a distance.