

In My Desperate Time - Chapter 2 I must find a man

I know Andrew Malan is a brutal monster, but I never expect him would be so frenzied and lunatic.

How could I give my first time to a cucumber!

He presses me on the bed, takes off my underpants and holds that cucumber to strike the hole.

I am so scared to cry, and my head becomes dizzy because of the medicine. But I know that I have to keep awake now. I pinch my thigh and wake up a little bit.

If Andrew Malan is a pervert, then don't blame me!

I lift up my feet and kick at Andrew Malan's dick so hard. He frowns and crouches down, looking at me with a twisted face.

Right then, I quickly pick up my purse beside the bed and rush out through the door.

Susan Felton is sitting on the couch, eating a plate of snacks while watching TV. She doesn't expect me to come out and there is embarrassment flashing through her face .

Of course, she should be embarrassed, I buy all those snacks! I am confused why my snacks always disappear. I ask Susan Felton many times but she never admits. Today I catch her right here right now.

All I want to do now is to escape from Andrew Malan's claws. I don't even want to argue with Susan Felton. I cross her to the door.

"Where are you going at late night? Want to seduce someone?"

I leave Susan Felton's sound behind and slam the door. I stop a taxi and drive away.

I don't dare to go back to that house and I don't want to!

The medicine starts to work. My body is getting hot. I twist my body restlessly in the car. The driver looks at me from the rear-view mirror from time to time with his eyes staring straight.

I look at myself through the rear-view mirror. My face flushes red and my eyes are leering and ogling. I must couldn't resist this temptation If I were a man.

"To where?"

In this case, I couldn't go to a hospital. I don't know how strong the medicine that Andrew Malan forced me to take is. I feel I am so hot and going to explode.

My father is a doctor and I know something about medical knowledge. I really could die if I couldn't find a man for help.

Andrew Malan does this to me. If I do nothing, I am really so letting down his good intentions!

If I must find a man, I have to find a handsome one!

"To NewFun."

NewFun is the biggest bar in Virginia and there are full of rich playboys. Of course, there are so many handsome men.

Arriving at the door of NewFun, I lock my eyes on a man.

He walked out from the bar and suddenly eclipses all others around him.

That man is in an advanced customized suit. His thin lips purses and the color of his eyes are as dark as the ink. I am attracted at the first glimpse of him.

He walks towards a black Maybach and is about to open the door. If I rush into the car right now, maybe I could have a chance.

Before I step out, the sudden sound from my back makes my blood almost coagulated.

'Bitch! You dare run! You come to this place to seduce men?' Andrew Malan! It's Andrew Malan!

I turn around and see Andrew Malan and Susan Felton in rage. The way they staring at me seems to eat me alive.

At that moment, I only have one thought in my mind. I can never ever be captured by them.

That man gets into the car but hasn't start the engine.

Also I have this illusion that the man is looking at me through the window.

Susan Felton and Andrew Malan are catching up. I can't think too much and run to that car.

I get on the front passenger seat, close the door, all moves in one go.

I look at the man beside. His brows seem frowned.

His face is gloomy. A deep voice says,

"Get off."