

1 Month To Doomsday But I Awakened Before That

Chapter 2: Blizzard That Happened Once Every 70 Years

Translator: EndlessFantasy Translation Editor: EndlessFantasy Translation

“My house is on the third floor. Can someone tell me where the first floor had gone? The one across is the second floor!”

The next morning, Douyin’s video flooded the entire internet. He was a blogger.

In the video, he was shooting the scene outside his window.

The thick snow had completely covered the first floor.

Only a faint light was shining through the gaps.

The blizzard had been going on for three days and two nights. In fact, there was no sign of it stopping!

It was also accompanied by strong winds. The temperature had dropped from zero to negative fifty Fahrenheit!

In just three days, numerous people and livestock were frozen to death. The number of deceased continued to rise at a shocking rate!

Other areas were affected even more severely!

Cars and landed houses were all buried!

Animal and vegetable sheds were all crushed by the snow, including the livestock. The aquaculture industry also suffered a huge blow.

As a result, the price of meat, eggs, and vegetables shot up overnight.

Moreover, the traffic was at a complete standstill!

All means of ground transportation were suddenly rendered useless!

People were unable to go anywhere!

The transportation industry had suffered a fatal blow!

...

Since people were stuck, more industries became stagnant!

...

“I’ve only lived for 30 years, but I’ve got to see the once-in-a-century heavy rain, the once-in-a-thousand-year flood, and the once-in-a-century heavy snow! Wow!”

“I’m in the same boat as you. Our generation really gets to witness a lot!”

“There are two boxes of water and three boxes of instant noodles in my car. In order to get them, I have to dig the snow like a fr*cking rat. I’m digging with all my might and have found three cars, but none of them are mine! Tsk!”

“Did the Gods forsaken us?”

“I had a bellyache and could not hold it in any longer. Everything came out all of a sudden. Haha.”

“Too much information. I do not need an image of that scene in my mind!”

“Heavy rain in the summer and heavy snow in the winter. The extreme weather had been too frequent. What’s going on with our planet?”

...

Although it was a heavy blizzard, people on the internet seemed to be relatively relaxed.

Netizens were still behaving nonchalantly.

Little did they know, the end of the world was fast approaching.

“Our city is experiencing the strongest blizzard ever recorded. Please take precautions and refrain from going out!”

“Professor Lin, please analyze the cause of this blizzard scientifically and inform the public of your findings.”

The host of the news was interviewing a famous meteorologist.

However, the meteorologist looked troubled.

“Uh, the main reason for this blizzard is global warming.”

Su Chen sneered silently and turned off the television.

“If it can’t be explained, then it’s global warming.”

“Global warming has become a panacea to explain all supernatural phenomenons!”

...

“Ding dong! You have successfully checked in today. Do you want to receive your reward?”

This noise startled Su Chen. He was still not used to the system.

“Confirm sign in!”

“Ding dong! Congratulations, you have received a bottle of blue energy water. This energy water can increase the muscles of the consumer. Its explosive strength is comparable to that of a chimpanzee. The consumer can lift objects that weigh tons!”

“How do I use this energy water?”

“Just drink it directly.”

Su Chen thought about it and a small glass test tube appeared in his hand.

The test tube was filled with a bluish-purple liquid.

Su Chen opened the test tube and without thinking any further, he poured the contents into his mouth.

He tried to describe the taste of this liquid.

It did not taste good, but it was not bad either.

In simpler terms, it was cold and slightly bitter.

After about twenty minutes, Su Chen felt a piercing pain all over his body.

It was as if millions of ants were gnawing on his body.

Su Chen endured the pain and clenched his teeth.

The blue veins on his neck popped out.

Every muscle in his body was tightening and he was emitting a faint blue light.

His clothes were completely soaked in sweat.

There was also a lingering smell.

The pain was indescribable. It was excruciating.

Fortunately, the pain only lasted for a few seconds.

If it persisted, Su Chen thought that he was really going to die.

It would be ironic because he would not be killed by the apocalypse, but by his own system.

As the pain subsided, Su Chen fell to his knees.

He panted heavily. It really felt like he had just survived a fatal encounter.

However, in less than two seconds, he felt that his entire body was full of strength.

The fatigue from before completely disappeared.

Su Chen felt like he could destroy anything.

After recovering from the initial shock, he quickly walked into the bathroom.

He took off his wet clothes, which were somewhat smelly, and took a shower.

Once he was done, he wrapped himself in a towel and headed to the bedroom.

Su Chen looked into the mirror and quietly observed himself. He felt more masculine than before. His skin had become tanned and was crystal clear.

It was extremely smooth and his muscles were well-defined.

His eight-pack abs were also apparent. He had obtained a perfect figure.

Su Chen casually picked up a can on the table. With just a slight squeeze using his fingers, the can was instantly crushed.

...

[ Emergency, emergency! 3,000 pigs and several people are trapped in the snow. According to the villagers, there are more than ten wild boars nearby. They are attacking the surrounding villages brazenly, threatening the people's lives. Rescue workers are urgently needed! ]

One of Su Chen's friends had forwarded a message asking for help.

“Wild boars? They should be hibernating during this time.. Why are they up and attacking people?”