

Dragon Husband 1852

Chapter 1852 Integration

The nine medical sages were very upset to see a living ghost just now.

This guy is obviously not on the same front as everyone.

He has to object to what everyone says, which is really unpleasant.

Especially now, he doesn't even give the face of Xinglin Bodhisattva, and points out the shortcomings of Master Master in public.

Hoho, if you don't give everyone face, why should everyone give you face?

Therefore, the nine medical sages decided to fall into the prestige of a living ghost!

And Wiliam is just a good entry point for the nine medical sages.

Don't you want to maintain Wiliam?

Then I slapped him hard in the face.

After hearing the words of the nine medical saints, the face of the living ghost became even more strange.

You are going to die, and I will never stop you.

Even if you are going to die, I will help you!

So the one-handed ghost walked towards Wiliam with this kind of cheerful hatred.

As he walked, he said loudly, "Okay! Then I'll read it for you! What exactly did Wiliam write!"

You guys, just wait and kneel down and listen!

Nine Medical Sages were stunned at the scene.

He doesn't know what the one-handed ghost is doing?

Broken jars?

A living ghost stood in front of Wiliam, and Wiliam slowly opened his eyes.

All four look at each other.

There was a cruel indifference in Wiliam's eyes.

And the eyes of the living ghost are full of supreme respect.

He first asked in a low voice, "Can I do it?"

Wiliam nodded lightly.

Only then did the one-handed ghost carefully organize the pile of papers on the ground before looking at the people around him.

After clearing his throat, he said aloud, "The first pavilion!"

As soon as the four words came out, the people on the scene were somewhat disdainful.

It is indeed the first pavilion.

The first pavilion can be regarded as the least difficult level, and this kid seems to be soft on persimmons.

"15 grams of Yinhua, 9 grams of Forsythia, 15 grams of Gongying, 15 grams of Diding, 12 grams of Cork, 12 grams of Campanulaceae, 15 grams of Astragalus, 9 grams of Astragalus, 9 grams of no medicine, and 3 grams of Fangfeng." Read a series of drug names.

The people at the scene had some mockery on their faces.

Then, the mocking expression gradually froze as he continued to read the ghost with one hand.

"One hour after taking the medicine, take a few silver needles, twist the needles with the big finger and index finger of the right hand, like a flying elephant, twist and release..."

"First pierce the needle straight to the deep layer of the acupoint, then withdraw the needle to the superficial layer. After obtaining qi, let the needle body shake, then insert the needle to the middle layer, and then slightly lift and twist. With the forefinger pointing back, the two fingers are bent, and the base of the needle is rubbed with the belly of the thumb and the radial side of the first segment of the index finger from bottom to top along the needle handle. Move too much."

Wiliam wrote in great detail, detailing how to operate and what techniques to use.

After finishing the recitation, the people on the scene were completely stunned.

This is.....

Someone suddenly shouted loudly, which shocked the people present!

"Phoenix spread its wings! This is the Phoenix spread method!"

Everyone is excited!

That's right, the method of using needles recorded by Wiliam later turned out to be the Phoenix Spreading Method!

As we all know, the Phoenix Wing Spread is a relatively basic acupuncture technique, and many people present did not even bother to use this acupuncture technique.

After all, using it will only make people feel like a beginner.

However, Wiliam actually wrote the Phoenix Spreading Method.

Everyone couldn't help but have a thought in their hearts, this kid is really a beginner.

However, the other three referees present were stunned.

Originally, they thought the same as the people at the scene, and thought it was just a superficial technique of acupuncture and moxibustion.

But after thinking about it carefully, they suddenly felt goosebumps all over their bodies.

Road to simplicity!

Of the three referees, which one is not the Taishan Beidou of medical ethics!

However, the enjoyment of these years, or the fame of these years, made them gradually forget their original intentions.

What they study is beyond human ability!

What others can't do, they can do it, only in this way can they demonstrate the strength of Taishan Beidou!

So, they all entered a dead end, or shackles.

All of them are researching in the advanced direction.

But forget that some things can also be achieved in simple ways!

Just like the patient in the first pavilion, there is marrow poison in his body.

The first impression of the three judges was that the strange poison must be treated by the strange medicine thaumaturgy.

Through thaumaturgy and magic medicine, the three referees did find the corresponding method.

On the other hand, William's method, 100% of the people present can do it.

However, no one wants to get it!

This is the scary part!

William's method is incredibly simple!

But it was also practical to the point of even surpassing the pre-set treatment method of the three judges.

Dao to simplicity, Wiliam was able to completely integrate medical techniques and principles!

rather than rhetoric!

This can only be done if one understands medical theory to a very high level!

The eyes of the three referees looking at Wiliam completely changed!

How did this kid do it!

"Hmph, I think it's just his poor medical skills. He can only do it through this simple method. His limit, but that's all." Jiu Zong Medical Sage said with an unnatural smile on his face. Even if you don't believe it yourself.

However, how could he be submissive? The scene still has to be said.

Comparing heart to heart, Wiliam's treatment method has surpassed that of the master of the first pavilion.

Because whether it is the treatment effect or the cost-effectiveness of the treatment, Wiliam is completely better than the Master Master.

At this moment, the master of the master has completely lost the calmness and calmness on his face.

Naturally, according to Wiliam's method, he realized that he was being compared.

Unexpectedly, this kid actually has some skills.

However, how could Young Master Master be willing to be compared in public.

He stood up straight away, with a grinning expression, and said forcibly calmly, "Hohoho, this is a good way. However, I still insist on the doubts I had before."

As he said that, he looked at Wiliam and added, "I don't know this method. Did you come up with it, or was there another expert instructing it?"

The people at the scene were stunned for a moment, and then the questioning words of the master master sounded.

Before, Master Master had suspected that Wiliam and Su Emei were in complicity and got the question ahead of time.

Master Miaoshou asked Wiliam directly: "Or, let me put it more bluntly, I suspect that you already know the question and even the answer, so you can write such a method!"

"Boy, if you dare to do it, don't you dare to recognize it?"

"It's a man, just stand up and say it clearly!"
