

Chapter 116

Melissa was stupefied by this idea, goosebumps forming on her arms.

This guy was incredible!

William proposed two billion yuan to lure Harper. Naturally, all his attention would be focused on the craziness of the bet and the excitement it brought.

Her grandfather only thought of winning or losing the bet.

However, once Harper's eyes were focused on the results of the bet, William had won.

This was because the two billion yuan offered by William was a cover-up.

In one year, William would use the two billion yuan to buy out all the talents and connections Lunanica Media had.

After all, the main driving force of an entertainment company were its artists and connections.

Previously, Melissa was still teasing William that had no money and connections.

And at this moment, William had solved it in an instant.

Within a year, he would get all Harper's connections which he took decades to build without paying a penny.

A year later, even if William lost the bet, so what?

Melissa had faith in William. In a year, with William's means and ability, he could make all the company resources his own.

William's goal was to use two billion to buy these resources. What a great deal!

Moreover, what appalled Melissa more was to know that William would never fight for a battle that was bound to end in failure.

Therefore, William would definitely win this bet anyway.

"D*mn! I have hit the nail on the head. This little b*stard is playing dirty!" Melissa thought.

What a scheming guy!

At this moment, in the Wang Manor.

Watching William leave, Harper revealed a wry smile.

The moment William proposed this bet, Harper had lost.

He could not expect William to lose. If William lost the bet, the Wang family would have lost their loyalty to him.

"Oh, my Lunanica Media!" Harper sighed.

His chest tightened up a little.

But after he finished smoking a cigar, he became energetic again.

Although he was old, he was still ambitious.

His age would never be an excuse for him to lose his dreams.

"Then, I'll root for William to fight until the end," Harper told himself.

However, managing this company was no easy task.

After returning to the Genuine Care Medical Center, Melissa ignored William after shooting him a glare.

At this moment, she received a call from Flavia.

After Flavia went back home, she thought about William's proposal over again, her heart beating vigorously in her chest.

After all, this would affect her future prospect.

Even if William was going to be her boss, she would still consider carefully before she made the decision.

At this moment, she needed William to give her the courage and a reason for her to give up what she had and start over again.

"A reason?" William smirked. "Listen carefully then."

"First, you won't have to suffer from homesickness in the future. Qena City is your home, and your grandfather is here as well. You are coming back to where you're from," William stated the first reason.

Flavia nodded. It was indeed one of the biggest temptations for her.

"Second, I can ensure your health. If you follow me, I can provide treatment to you at any time. It will take less than half a year for you to recover from your illness." William gave the second reason.

Flavia was impressed, but she was still hesitant. "Go on."

"Isn't it enough? Well, third, you can stay young forever. I can provide you a lifetime supply of Cherry Blossom, and even something better than that, to keep you pretty every day," William continued.

Flavia was stunned. "This guy understands women so well. But he is too upright."

"Anything else?" Flavia was unwilling to give up.

If she didn't force him, she would never know his limit.

"Okay, the last reason. Your beauty won't end up in vain. If you join my company, you won't have to pay for that contract in the future. Instead, you'll earn money," William said.

Hearing this, Flavia felt that her head was about to blow up.

For the first time in 20 years, Flavia, who had always been elegant and calm, wanted to curse.

"Don't tell me that you've been scheming about this ever since I signed that unfair contract you proposed?" Flavia was on the verge of breaking down.

William smirked. "That's why I told you not to ask so much. The more you know, the more helpless you will be. You can consult Melissa about this. Didn't you both become besties because of this?"

Melissa, who was eavesdropping, threw a pillow towards William.

"This guy is stepping over the line. I can't believe that he has been targeting Flavia since that time," Melissa murmured in her heart.

Flavia silently cursed while covering the phone. Then she replied depressingly, "Alright, I can agree to your terms. But there is one thing you have to solve. The company I joined before has the final say in renewing the contract every time after the contract expires. You have to deal with this with my boss yourself."

William nodded. "No problem. Where is he?"

"He happens to be in Qena City these two days. I'll send you the address later." After finishing her words, Flavia hung up the phone.

Without William's knowledge, Flavia and Melissa began to taunt him on WeChat.

William received Flavia's message after a while.

Then he got up and went to solve this matter.

Frank Chien was Flavia's boss, and he had been living in the presidential suite of Hilton Hotel these few days.

According to Flavia, he would come to Qena City at this time every year, as if he had matters to tend to.

William drove to the Hilton Hotel and went straight to the top floor.

When he arrived at the door, he rang the bell.

After a while, the door was opened.

However, the person who opened the door made William startled for a moment.

It turned out to be Elizabeth.

William had seen this woman when he met up with the other alumni before.

She seemed to be a trainee under Lunanica Media.

Why was she in Frank's room?

When Elizabeth saw William, her face turned pale on the spot.

She had spent a great deal of effort to find out Frank was here. She also poured in a lot of money to pull some strings to hookup with Frank.

If she managed to be on good terms with Frank, the boss of a well-known entertainment company, it would be beneficial to her future.

Just as they were about to have fun, William had shown up in front of her, which annoyed her instantly.

"You f*cking stalker!" Elizabeth immediately cursed with a long face.

As a social media influencer who owned a certain level of popularity in Qena City, she had encountered quite a number of stalkers.

And naturally, she thought that William was trying to hang up on her. She was convinced that William was so mesmerized by her beauty since the last time they met and that he followed her here.

If the paparazzi found out about this, it would be a fatal blow to her reputation.

She couldn't wait to strangle this wimp to death on the spot.

But William regained his composure promptly. His nose wrinkled suddenly as he frowned.

Elizabeth interpreted William's action as sniffing her. Almost immediately, her entire face turned red in rage.

"What the f*ck is wrong with you! Get out!" She swore.

William glimpsed at her with disgust and replied,

"I'm here to meet Director Chien. I have a business deal to discuss with him."

Elizabeth's expression changed again. "Are you trying to threaten us? You have a death wish, don't you?"

She thought that William would use the fact that she shared a room with Director Chien to blackmail her.

At this time, an irritated voice came from the room. "Eliza, who's that?"

A potbellied bald man trod out from a concern without a shirt.

Elizabeth immediately pretended to cry as she grumbled, "Director Chien, this is a fanboy of mine. He wanted to threaten us, and he even wanted to molest me just now."
