Chapter 571

He was showing weakness. It also made Ian lower his guard against him for the first time.

In the end, Justin was only a man who had just fallen in love. He shouldn't be that dangerous, right? Ian said, "Okay, sure. Then listen to the arrangements."

"No problem."

Justin hung up the phone.

Lawrence shouted from the side, "Boss, how can you not let Miss Smith know that you're the one actually saving her?"

Sean also looked at Justin.

Justin touched his nose.

The mole under his eye flickered, and a sly look appeared in his eyes.

"If I'd done something Ian couldn't, do you think he'd still be at ease handing Nora to me?"

Justin had suddenly understood Ian's thoughts.

Thinking about it, if he were to find a husband for Cherry in the future, he definitely would not want her husband to be too powerful.

He only hoped that Cherry would be happy and healthy and could find a reliable person to take care of her for the rest of her life.

The more capable a man was, the grander his ambitions.

Such a man would be all the more difficult to control.

If Cherry's husband was stronger than him, how could he help Cherry take revenge if he bullied her in the future? Therefore, the best way was to prevent Cherry's boyfriend from having the ability to overpower him! Therefore, not only could he not follow Lawrence's instructions and show off his abilities, but he also had to keep a low profile and make Ian put down his guard against him.

Justin stood up and walked out.

Lawrence asked, "Boss, where are you going?"

Justin turned around.

"The hospital, of course. Didn't I promise Ian that I would guard Nora?"

Lawrence was confused.

Austin did not dare to come! However, before he could finish speaking, Justin had already strode out the door.

Austin was coming.

This news made Captain Johnson excited and he was constantly paying attention to the movements outside.

The next morning, there was still no news from the hospital.

Justin: He lowered his head and carried her up. He saw Nora glaring at him and walking forward.

Cherry stayed obediently in Justin's arms until Nora was far away.

Then, she leaned into Justin's ear and asked softly, "How long has Mommy been awake?"

"72 hours." Justin replied.

"Tsk..." Cherry gasped.

"It's over. According to my understanding of Mommy, she's at the nuclear stage!"

Justin: "??"

Cherry struggled to get down.

Justin put her down.

Perhaps it was their actions that made Nora turn her head around again.

Cherry immediately said seriously, "Mommy, I suddenly remembered I haven't finished my homework. I'll go back with Uncle Sean now."

Nora's face was expressionless. Her almond-shaped eyes looked at her.

After a full three seconds, she finally nodded.

Cherry immediately felt like she had been pardoned. She said to Justin, "Daddy, good luck."

Then, she ran over to Sean happily.

Justin: This little smartass saw Nora's cranky mood and quickly slipped away! Justin shook his head and followed beside Nora.

Then, he reached out and hugged her waist.

When his hand touched her, he could clearly feel her body stiffen.

A violent aura lingered around her as if a storm was about to descend.

Nora was really going crazy.

Johnson nodded.

"Exactly! Captain Ford has been refusing to put Karl on trial. I really don't know what he's thinking. Poor Mark, though, he's still locked up right now."

Janson became furious and indignant.

"Captain Ford has really become muddleheaded! He has never done this before. He is really disappointing me this time!"

After making use of the opportunity to paint a bad picture of Morris, Johnson said, "It'd be for the best if Terry can wake up.

Otherwise, we won't be able to cement Karl's charges.

Captain Ford will probably use the excuse of insufficient evidence to release him!"

Janson clenched his fists tightly.

At this time, the sound of footsteps traveled over from a distance away. The two looked over to see Morris and Nora walking over.

Nora was accompanied by a big and tall man.

Although he fell behind by a few steps, it was impossible for anyone to ignore him.

It was none other than Justin.

Morris asked, "Janson, how is your father doing?"

Janson sneered, "Do you even care how my father is doing, Captain Ford? Shouldn't you be more concerned about Karl's safety instead? Why aren't you staying by his side in the special department anymore?"

Upon hearing what he said, Morris kept quiet.

Nora, however, narrowed her eyes. Her gaze swept across Johnson and Janson impatiently and she asked, "So, do you want to treat your father's illness now?"

Janson nodded at once.

"Yes!"

Although he didn't like Nora either—after all, Nora and Karl were on very close terms—she was the only one who could treat his father now.

Janson was close to tearing up.

"No, I can't..." He turned to Morris.

"Captain Ford, what should I do? What should I do now?"

The medicine that could save his father was clearly within sight, so why couldn't they use it? Just as he was in tears and Morris was also at a loss, he suddenly heard an impatient and disgusted voice.

"Why are you crying? Can you even call yourself a man?" Janson choked on his sobs.

His head whipped towards the back abruptly to see Nora still calmly standing where she was.

Her arm was outstretched, and she had already inserted the needle into the bottle of gene serum. Then, she drew the remaining half of the bottle's contents into the syringe.

Seeing what she was doing, Johnson panicked at once.

He shouted, "Nora Smith, what are you doing?"

Nora stared at the syringe in her hand. She pushed the syringe plunger with her fair fingers and cleanly expelled all the air inside.

Then, her cat-like eyes turned to Janson and Morris frostily and she said only three words: "Hold them back."

Then, she strode towards the bed.

Janson and Morris were dumbfounded.

It was only when the people from the inspection unit reacted, yelled for Nora to stop what she was doing, and were about to rush over to snatch the syringe from her that Janson and Morris finally recovered from their daze.

The two hurriedly stopped in front of Nora and blocked her from them.

"I'm not letting you over!"

Chaos broke out in the ward at once.

The sound of people pushing one another, loud arguing, and angry yells rang out one after another as though they were about to blow the roof off.

Amidst the fierce dispute, Nora took step after step towards Terry and walked up to him.

Then, she lowered her head and plunged the needle into the blood vessel in Terry's arm.

"Can I close my eyes and rest for a while?" Nora suddenly spoke and interrupted the other party.

"...Yes, sure."

He assumed that she would just be napping for half an hour when she asked to "rest for a while", but unexpectedly...

When he exited the room, he immediately saw Justin standing outside. He closed the door obediently and instructed, "She hasn't slept for three days. You can ask her your questions after she wakes up."

Although he didn't know how Justin had entered the inspection unit's premises—after all, strangers were not allowed entry—the man in charge of interrogating Nora nevertheless replied, "...

Alright, I guess! They were all colleagues. He mustn't go too far! And then... He learned the meaning of the words "Queen of Sleep".

Five hours later, he came over and found that Justin had moved a chair over to the door.

The man, who was sitting outside the door, shushed him.

Surprised, the interrogator asked, "She's still asleep?"

"Yes." Justin sighed.

"After all, my Nora forgets to even eat and sleep once she starts working. She doesn't know what rest is at all. Sigh!"

The corners of his lips spasmed.

"Alright."

When he turned to leave, Justin suddenly said, "Um..."

When he turned back, Justin said, "Can you tell the people in the interrogation room next door to keep it down a little? The interrogation rooms here are not as soundproof as I'd thought!"

While Nora was dead to the world, the situation in the hospital was also changing.

With Morris temporarily taken away, Johnson became the provisional leader of the special department. He also stayed in the hospital and stood outside Terry's ward.

Chapter 576

When Johnson arrived at the hospital, he found Janson asleep outside Terry's ward. He looked around vigilantly.

As a professional with many years of experience in the industry, he had been suspecting all this time that all of this was just a trap that Morris and Nora were trying to lure him into.

Even though the two of them had been taken away by the inspection unit, Johnson did not let his guard down in the least. He had always been a perceptive, paranoid, and meticulous person.

Otherwise, he would not have become Morris' mentor back then.

His rash, irritable, and upright personality on the surface was all just a disguise to establish a sense of harmlessness to the leaders above, so that he would be promoted quickly.

As facts had proven, he had indeed succeeded.

That act of his had deceived a lot of people.

All of them had let their guard down around him.

In fact, the people involved in innumerable workplace traps back then had all underestimated him because of his disguised carelessness, allowing him to make comebacks and turn defeat into victory.

Thus, even at this moment, Johnson's first reaction was not to enter the ward in a hurry and kill Terry, but to observe the surroundings.

With his years of experience and surprisingly sharp intuition, he made sure that there wasn't anyone watching him in the surroundings and that he wasn't being plotted against by anyone.

At last, he lightly pushed open the door to the ward and went in.

In the ward, Terry was lying on the bed.

He had lost a lot of weight due to his coma over the past few days.

His head was wrapped in white gauze, and he was unconscious, his eyes closed.

The first thing Johnson did was inspect the ward.

Even after confirming that there weren't any surveillance cameras there, he did not immediately inject the toxic chemicals into Terry.

Instead, he observed his vitals.

His heart rate was maintained at a little past sixty and was very stable.

Although it was a little slower than normal, it was still considered healthy.

The other numbers were also indeed very good, which indicated that Terry was alive and recovering.

The gene serum was indeed impressive.

With that in mind, Terry avoided all the angles that might allow one to photograph him, took out the deadly chemicals from his pocket, and injected them right into Terry.

Chapter 577

The moment he entered, the entire conference room instantly became silent.

Everyone looked at him. As he had been detained for two days, a black beard had appeared on Morris's chin.

At this moment, he looked more like a mature man.

His gaze was like an eagle as it swept across everyone present, causing them to shut their mouths.

Morris and a few people from the Ministry of Supervision sat on the stage and looked down.

One of them then started speaking, "Alright, now the special department is divided into two factions regarding Morris's situation. One half thinks that Captain Ford has been negligent in his work. As long as he apologizes to Janson, this matter will be over. The other half thinks that Captain Ford has used illegal drugs from the special department recklessly and seriously violated the law. He should be dismissed from his post till further investigation! Now, we want to ask the public's opinion!"

As soon as he said this, the two sides started arguing again.

Their words were the same as earlier.

Looking at the heated discussion, Captain Johnson suddenly said, "Um, I'll say something. Everyone, please listen to me."

He sighed and said, "I was the one who brought Morris into this industry. Now that I'm going to judge him, I really can't bear it. But there's nothing I can do. He has done something wrong and made some bad judgments! If anyone gets hurt in the future and says that the gene serum can be used to save lives, will he break the law and take it out again? We have to firmly put an end to such things! Therefore, in this situation, I suggest reducing the punishment for Morris. A dismissal is too serious. We should let him work from the bottom again and punish him with three months of salary cut as a show of service. I wonder if anyone has any objections?"

This kind of neutralized opinion instantly shook the people below.

Those who originally thought that Morris should be punished but still had some feelings for him and could not bear to remove him from the Investigation Committee immediately nodded.

Those who were originally on Morris's side also felt that this plan was reasonable...

For a moment, this proposal from Captain Johnson received the agreement of most people! Mark stood up as well.

"To be honest, Captain Ford has indeed worked hard and provided meritorious service all these years. I think it's too big of a punishment for him to be dismissed. I can't bear for Captain Morris to leave either. I think what Captain Johnson has said can be done! If he starts from the bottom again, I believe Captain Ford will be able to rely on his contributions to return to this position quickly!"

Everyone nodded.

"Yes."

When Captain Johnson heard this, he was very satisfied. He was doing this on purpose! Morris had too many connections and too deep of a background. He could not possibly slap Morris to death. He could only take a step back and let him resign.

Then, the chair of the Special Case Department Head would be his now! This was his goal.

Seeing that everyone below had agreed, the people from the inspection unit then looked at Morris.

"Captain Ford, do you have any objections to this punishment?"

With that, everyone looked at Morris. Morris lowered his eyes.

After a moment, he suddenly looked up and said slowly, "Yes."

Everyone fell silent again.

"Back then, when you contacted him with the information I gave you, you did not reveal your identity. He thought that you were me, so he told you that he wanted to give New York a charity. Then, when he talked about money, you were tempted, right? You pretended to be me because Karl only trusted me! You took the money and put it all in your own pocket! We've already investigated your bank accounts. Old Johnson, you can't deny it!"

When Captain Johnson heard these words, he knew that he had to admit it no matter how much he lied.

Morris shouted, "Captain Johnson, aren't you going to confess now?"

Captain Johnson looked at him suddenly and shouted, "Even if I confess, you can't escape from what you've done with the gene serum!"

Captain Johnson hated Morris to the core. He was ashamed to face Old Terry.

After all, he was the one who had shot him.

Karl had given him a lot of money over the years.

Therefore, when he saw that Karl was captured by the special department, Johnson was afraid that he would expose his identity and lead the special department to investigate the fund.

Captain Johnson helped Karl escape because he wanted him to leave New York and be of use to him in the future.

Unfortunately, Karl had actually stayed for his daughter's wedding.

In order to prevent any accidents, Captain Johnson had gotten the sniper to shoot him at the wedding. He wanted to kill him so that there would be no risk.

Unfortunately, Nora had stirred things up again.

After that, she had arrested Karl.

Morris had watched Karl closely and made him unable to do anything.

Karl had forced him to look for Old Terry.

Helpless, he could only call Old Terry over.

However, no matter how much he calculated, he had missed Nora and Morris's persistence! If Morris was not so persistent, he could have convicted Karl after Old Terry died or gotten someone to kill him.

The matter could still be controlled.

Unfortunately, Morris was too protective of Karl! And Nora, this little b*tch, actually developed some gene serum and saved Old Terry, who should have died! It was all their fault, all their fault! Captain Johnson knew that he had already been exposed.

There was nothing else to say.

He shouted angrily, "And you, Nora. I asked you to come to the special department to catch the mysterious organization, not to develop the gene serum. But what have you done? Do you think you're much better than me? I just want money, but you're in cahoots with the people from the mysterious organization. What you do is no different from the mysterious organization!"

Just as everyone was feeling mixed emotions, Ruth suddenly rushed out. Her arm was still wrapped in bandages and her charming face was filled with fear. She said, "Officers, I want to report something!"

When she said this, the people from the Inspection unit looked at her. Ruth said, "Captain Johnson had asked me to develop a plan to interrogate Karl. I found it very strange at the time, so I kept delaying the plans. Now, I understand. Fortunately, I trusted Captain Ford. So that's how it is! Anyway, I want to report something!"

The people from the Inspection unit and the surrounding special departments all looked at her.

Ruth said righteously, "When I went to his room to find some information, I realized that his computer was switched on. He had logged onto an external network. I checked his records and realized that Captain Johnson had posted a message on a foreign underworld forum. He said that Nora had a gene serum, he was trying to attract overseas organizations to fight for it. I think the reason he did that was also to stop Old Terry's treatment."

Her words made the expressions of the people change drastically.

Captain Johnson had already committed a heinous crime by killing people for money.

However, they did not expect him to be in contact with foreign underworld? They definitely needed to investigate if he was a spy! The officer from the Inspection unit said, "Comrade Ruth, the intelligence you have provided is very important. We will thoroughly investigate the matter! If any of you people have any other information for us, you have to tell it in time!"

Ruth's eyes were red as she lowered her head.

"Although I grew up overseas and was recommended by Captain Johnson to join the special department, I knew this place was my home when I came to New York. I didn't expect Captain Johnson to be such a vile person..."

The people from the Inspection unit could only comfort her.

"It's okay. This has nothing to do with you." Ruth sighed.

"I know it has nothing to do with me, but it was Captain Johnson who recommended me to the special department. This..."

The people from the Ministry of Supervision immediately calmed her down.

"It's okay. The special department welcomes all talented people! Besides, you've done a good job by reporting Captain Johnson!" Ruth heaved a sigh of relief. This was the reason she had rushed out to snitch against Captain Johnson. She had been recommended by Captain Johnson. If he left, she was afraid that the department would chase her away.

She hurriedly looked at Morris and said, "Captain Ford, Black Cat and I have already sorted out the interrogation plan. If we interrogate them accordingly, I guarantee that they will all speak!"

Morris stared at Ruth.

Morris was a person who cared about principles when he did things.

Although Ruth had always been against Nora in the past, she had never done anything against his principles.

Moreover, Captain Johnson had just been arrested.

If he turned around and dealt with Ruth, he would leave a bad impression on the other people in the special department, making them feel uneasy.

At the thought of this, Morris said, "Work hard. Don't spend so much time on those trivial matters in the future!"

Ruth blushed and she said, "Yes Sir!"

Morris then looked to the side and wanted to speak to Nora, but he saw Nora and Brenda already walking out when he turned his head.

Nora was so tired that she did not want to speak, but she still looked at Brenda in confusion.

"You are quite good at disguises. Your acting was very realistic."

The matter had been resolved, and Austin had not come to the country.

Ian was very satisfied.It was rare that he did not have a bad expression of Justin.

Justin went upstairs and gently placed Nora on the bed.

Then, he heard the commotion downstairs.His brows drew together tightly.He went out and looked downstairs.He realized that it was Sue.

At this moment, she was pointing at Tanya.

"Tanya, your status is so awkward now! Your father killed a person and even killed a policeman! He's simply too lawless!"

Tanya rolled her eyes and ignored her.

However, just as she was about to go upstairs, Sue said, "You're now the mistress of our family. It's too embarrassing to have a murderer as a father! Look, so many invitation letters have been sent to my house. No one dares to invite you. Therefore, Joel, don't you think I should be the one appearing as the mistress of the Smiths?"

Many people wanted to curry favor with the Smiths to do business.

As the mistress, she could get many gifts from them.

Being the mistress of the Smiths was a very glorious thing. Sue was using Tanya's bad reputation to vie for this position! She really courted death every day.

Joel lowered his eyes.

"I won't trouble you with that kind of thing."

"How is it trouble? I'm also a member of the Smiths. Besides, Tanya's status is too awkward now, and she's not suitable to appear in public. Isn't it my responsibility then?"

Almost as soon as she finished speaking, a police car stopped outside the villa with a screech.

The Smith manor was still some distance away from the gates.

Thus, when the police car stopped, the security guard hurriedly popped his head out the window and was badly frightened.

"Are they here to arrest someone again?"

Puzzled, the butler went out and went up to the police car politely.

Just as he was about to speak, the car window rolled down, revealing Karl's face. He asked, "Is Tanya at home?"

The butler was taken aback.
