Chapter 591

Nora instantly understood. Karl's identity had already been revealed, and he was no longer suitable to be a spy overseas. So Morris had instigated Caleb? Nora was stunned. Caleb's status in the mysterious organization should be quite high. How could he be persuaded to defect so easily? As she was thinking, she heard Caleb suddenly say, "Actually, I'm the same as your mother."

The same...

Nora looked at him directly.

"What do you mean? Do you know why she betrayed the mysterious organization back then?"

"Yes." Caleb replied calmly and pointed to the chair opposite him.

"Sit. There are some things I want to tell you."

Nora was really only here to say goodbye.

After all, she had left the special department. It was indeed inconvenient to see him again in the future.

But she did not expect Caleb to suddenly reveal the truth from back then?! What had Yvette done back then? Nora sat opposite Caleb and looked at this man who was getting thinner and thinner because of lung cancer.

His deep eyes were filled with helplessness as if he had seen through the world.

Those eyes made him look more refined. He slowly said, "Do you know how your mother joined the mysterious organization?"

Nora shook her head.

Caleb slowly said, "Actually, she was tricked into

Only experiments on some children could succeed. Therefore, in that year, they bought a thousand children who had been abducted or abandoned all over the world. Most of those children were just born and were not even three years old. Those children all became the subjects of their experiments. They often injected drugs and extracted blood from them. Some even treated them as Petri dishes to see the effects. They sized up the viruses and bacterias. Some even deliberately injected the ratio virus into them to see if the gene serum can defeat the virus. Some even

Nora was stunned and looked at Caleb in shock.

Caleb smiled.

"That's right. That boy is me."

Nora: "!"

She stood up in shock and looked at Caleb in disbelief.

Caleb lowered his eyes and slowly said, "When I was three, they injected me with a gene serum and improved my genetic code. They deliberately did not inject the serum all at once. At that time, my parents being quite capable reached the mysterious organization to find me. Unfortunately, by that time, I could no longer leave. My body had been conditioned such that I would die if I stopped taking the serum at regular intervals. I had to be injected with the serum every month to maintain my life."

Perhaps he had said too much at once, and he coughed again.

Nora handed the tea to him. He took a sip and suppressed the itch in his throat.

"And thus, I was tied to the mysterious organization. When my parents found out, they felt helpless. At that time, your mother decided to make a deal with the Grays. The Grays helped her hide her identity and guaranteed to raise you until you were 18 years old. She also left the formula for the last dose of the serum. I was to be injected with the last dose once I turned 25."

When she heard this, Nora suddenly understood everything.

No wonder she had an engagement with Anthony! No wonder the Grays did not break off the engagement even when she got pregnant.

Nora nodded and asked again, "About my pregnancy.."

"I don't know anything about that" Caleb replied.

"I don't understand why you got pregnant. I don't understand why my family has protected you for so many years." Caleb smiled bitterly.

"Back then, Anthony despised you and refused to fulfill the marriage agreement. After this matter blew up too many times, my family even suggested that I take his place and fulfill the marriage agreement."

He looked at Nora, his eyes were suddenly deep.

"In the end, we're not fated to be together"

Faced with his words, Nora did not know how to answer.

Caleb muttered to himself, "Fortunately, you didn't marry me."

He coughed.

Nora looked at him and sighed. She did not say anything and patted his shoulder.

"When are you leaving? I'll see you off."

"No, it's fine."

Caleb replied slowly, "I'll pretend to escape. Otherwise, Trueman would find out."

Nora nodded.

The two of them were speechless for a moment.

Nora simply said, "I'll get going then."

"Okay, goodbye."

When Nora walked to the door, she realized that Caleb had already picked up the book and was back to reading it leisurely.

After seeing Nora, her eyes flickered with a fierce and cold light.

But then, she looked at her pitifully.

"Miss Smith, don't be angry. It was an accident...but...but after that night, I never forgot Mr. Hunt...Mr. Hunt also liked me. That night, he wanted me three times...He even said he would be responsible for me..."

Her eyes turned red immediately. She stared at Nora and said, "I know I'm being very shameless in saying this, but I really love him...I beg you, please help me and Mr. Hunt! You don't love him at all, anyway. You're only with him because of the child..."

She lowered her head and cried.

Justin's expression changed drastically. He pushed her away with disdain as if he was pushing away a pile of trash; as if being stained by her once was already very disgusting and dirty.

He shouted sternly, "Don't talk nonsense! Nora, I'm not, I didn't...five years ago, you know, I had no memories! I was framed!"

Ruth cried even harder.

"Mr. Hunt, how could you be like this...You clearly wanted it that night. You seemed intoxicated when you rushed into my room..."

As she spoke, she looked at Nora.

However, this woman, who was usually very cold, was now covered in a layer of frost.

She stared at Justin and suddenly sneered before turning to leave.

Justin strode forward, wanting to chase after her.

However, before he could move, Ruth had already grabbed his arm again.

"Mr. Hunt, you can't treat me like this!"

When she blocked him, Nora had already gotten into her big black car and driven away.

Nora returned to the Smiths and saw Tanya standing outside the door.

She asked anxiously, "How is it?"

Tanya: "They're still arguing."

The reason she rushed back was that Tanya had sent her a message saying that the two children had gotten into a fight! They had a fight! This was the first time she had heard of it.

After all, Cherry was a little cutie who spoke her mind and made people love her.

And Pete was a sensible and obedient little gentleman.

How could the two of them get into a fight? Hearing the two words "still arguing"

Nora instantly heaved a sigh of relief.

"Fortunately, I came back quickly." Tanya nodded.

"Yes, go talk to them..."

As soon as she said this, she heard Nora's next words.

"Otherwise, I wouldn't have had the chance to see what their fight looks like!"

Tanya:"???"

Was this something a mother should say?! When Nora entered, Cherry was arguing with Pete.

Pete said sternly, "Cherry, you can't play games every day.You should learn something."

Cherry refused to let go of her phone and hugged it in her arms.

"Pete is bad.If you keep trying to control me, I won't love you anymore! Why should humans learn, anyway?!"

Pete lectured her seriously, "It's to make yourself better!"

The slightly intense dispute dissipated into thin air.

Nora looked at Tanya.

Tanya: The scene of the two children being obedient returned to the room.

Nora simply went out.

Just as she was about to leave, her phone suddenly rang. She took a look and realized that it was Morris. She was stunned for a moment before answering the call. She heard Morris say, "Caleb has escaped."

Nora was surprised.

"So fast?"

"Yes, everyone's attention was on you and Ruth today. He found a chance to escape."

That was true.

After all, Caleb wanted to pretend that he had escaped.

Then, she looked at Justin again and said, "Mr. Hunt, I suggest you let me go. Let's have a good talk. Otherwise, my people will call the police if I'm missing for 24 hours!"

Lawrence: "Omg, I'm so scared!"

He pursed his lips.

"Who do you think the Hunts are? Even if your people call the police, can they step foot into our property without any evidence?" Ruth frowned.

"You... Lawrence squatted down.

"So, I suggest you talk nicely. After all, we don't want to kill women either."

Ruth spat and saliva splattered on Lawrence's face.

"Since I dared to come, I'm not afraid of torture.

Besides, you can't torture me! If I lose so much as a strand of hair, I guarantee that Mr. Hunt will regret it very much!"

Lawrence frowned.

He did not know where Ruth's confidence came from, but to be safe, he still looked at Justin.

At this moment, Justin finally put down the document.

He slowly raised his head, but his gaze passed through Ruth and went straight to Nora.

With that, Lawrence looked at Ruth.

However, Ruth calmly remained seated.

There was no fear in her eyes at all. She sighed.

"Mr. Hunt, you forced your way into my room and raped me back then. You've let me down. Besides, do you think these torture devices will work on me?"

She was arrogant and looked very confident.

However, it was unknown where this confidence came from. This made Justin and Nora feel extremely surprised.

In fact, when Justin invited Ruth to the Hunts, he originally wanted to find another excuse, but Ruth had readily agreed.

At that time, Ruth's actions had exceeded Justin's expectations.

No woman should be so stupid as to threaten a business tycoon.

Moreover, judging from what Ruth had done in the special department, she should be a meticulous person.

She pretended to know Q and Black Cat and successfully fooled almost everyone.

In fact, if these two identities weren't Nora's own, Ruth might not have been slapped so hard in the face.

One should wonder how could such a smart woman fall into their trap so easily? Moreover, she kept saying that her identity was not simple...Not simple...Lawrence suddenly said, "Could it be that you're an agent who has undergone secret training?"

Ruth sneered.

"So what if I am? So what if I'm not? I didn't expect Mr.Hunt to be so cold-blooded to the woman he once had a relationship with!" After saying that, she looked at Nora again.

"And you! Do you really not care that I slept with him?" Nora replied calmly, "It's already the 21st century.Are you still living in ancient times?"

She placed her hands on either side of Ruth's chair and approached her with a strong aura.

She asked, "What's your relationship with Trueman?"

Ruth bit her lip.

Seeing that she was silent, Nora sneered.

"Do you want to know how I got the strongest agent to speak? It's actually very simple. My scalpel is very sensitive. I cut his tissue layer by layer, letting him feel his skin being peeled off bit by bit without anesthesia..."

She took out a small and exquisite scalpel from her pocket. Ruth shivered and shouted suddenly, "Trueman is my brother!" Nora paused.

Even Justin's movements stopped for a moment.

Ruth shouted, "Trueman is my brother! I come from the Yale family! So you can't attack me. The Yales will never let you go!"

Nora narrowed her eyes.

"So you're really from the mysterious organization?" Ruth gritted her teeth.

"Yes."

Nora continued to ask, "Then were you the one who plotted my pregnancy six years ago?!"

Ruth's pupils constricted as a flustered expression flashed across her face.

After finding out that Nora was Black Cat, she was in a mess.

That was why she said so much in one breath.

However, she did not expect Justin to still remember what had happened back then? Justin stared at the panic flashing across her eyes and sneered.

He moved aside and said to Nora, "Nora, looks like I'll have to trouble you again."

In other words, Ruth was still lying and needed Black Cat to interrogate her.

Nora moved her wrist.

"No problem."

She pressed down on Ruth's arm.

The next moment, a silver needle was inserted into one of her acupuncture points.

A sharp pain enveloped her instantly.

Ruth felt like her entire body was about to be torn apart.

All the pain was concentrated on that point, which gave her an intense urge to dig that piece of meat out. It hurt. It hurt too much. She had never experienced such pain before! "Ahh!"

A shrill scream was heard.

Then, she saw Nora pick up the scalpel again and about to slash her body.

Ruth shouted, "I told you, no matter what you do to me, my brother will take revenge on that children"

These words made Nora pause. She stared at Ruth and saw that her forehead was already covered in a cold sweat because of the pain.

Her hair was wet as she glared at Justin fiercely.

"He's your son. Do you really not care about your own son?!" Justin frowned.

"You are full of lies. We didn't have any relationship at all back then, but you made it sound like it was true. Do you think I'd still believe you?"
