Chapter 751

Nina sat diagonally across from Maisie. 'I'm sorry for troubling you, Mrs. Goldmann.' "No, you didn't," Maisie smiled, "There's no trouble. I didn't come because of this. I'd like your help."

Nina didn't understand. "What do you need me for?"

Maisie smiled. "To make them look like a couple."

Nina was rendered speechless.

"Don't worry, what I mean is that since Helios and Nolan grew up together, it would be great if they could get closer because of this."

Then she added, "You can see how they interact. Even if they are picking on each other, I think they actually care about each other." Nina understood. She had been by Helios' side for a long time and knew that even though Helios knew a lot of people, he had very few close friends.

She was aware that Helios and Nolan knew each other the longest. Although they rarely talked, if something happened to Nolan, Helios would definitely help.

Chapter 753

Helios and Nolan were friends, and since the news about them being on Winston Island was all over the Internet, it proved that they had quite a deep friendship.

Rejecting work to help his friend would help him get support from his fans, and negative news wouldn't get to him easily.

If the advertisers weren't happy, even if they dared gossip about Nolan, they wouldn't dare make a fuss out of it due to Nolan's power and good financial status with Blackgold in the business world.

Helios stood there for a long time before looking at the coffee on the table. "If I know him well enough, he wouldn't help me for no reason if I didn't ask." Nina lowered her head. "I'm sorry, Hels.

Mrs. Goldmann came to see me.'

"You know me?" Joe narrowed his eyes.

Ryleigh was confused and got closer to Louis to ask, "How do you know Joe?"

Louis looked at her. "That picture."

Ryleigh paused and only reacted after a long time. "What? My dad gave you that photo?"

Louis smiled. "There's nothing wrong with him giving my fiancée's picture to me."

The old man walked over. "Do you want to try playing?"
Ryleigh was shocked, then waved her hand. "Sir, I..."
The man laughed generously. "It's alright, just try. I won't say anything even if it's not great."

However, Louis did not let go of his hand. * That's right. Consider yourself lucky. After all this isn't something that you can come across on a normal day."

Ryleigh looked at him. It took her quite a while to come around to her senses. She swatted his hand away from her cheek and said, "You did this on purpose!"

He lifted his brows and asked, "I did what on purpose?"

Chapter 757

Nina's smile froze. She did not know why, but she felt a little sympathy toward Nolan.

Nolan and Helios had gotten out of the car with smiles on their faces, but they returned with gloomy expressions. Nina looked at them and asked, "What's wrong? Did the negotiation fail?" Nolan glanced at Helios and harrumphed coldly. "A certain idiot is really not cut out for business, if it weren't for me, he would have fallen into other people's trap." Helios turned his head to look at him and said, "Even if it's a trap, why do you care? It's none of your business at all." "You're right." Nolan crossed his arms in front of his chest. "After all, it isn't my money."

Helios stomped on the accelerator and left the place.

When they were back in the hotel, Helios tossed the key to Nina and returned to his own room without turning his head.

Nina turned to look at Maisie and said, "Mrs. Goldmann, I should go check on Helios."

Maisie nodded.

Chapter 758

Nina nodded, "Helios has to thank Mr. Goldman for this. Helios has been working in the entertainment industry, so he's inexperienced when it comes to business. If it hadn't been for Mr.

Goldman, he would've fallen for the scam. The other party wanted Helios to invest $ 7,500,000. However, Helios wouldn't get any profit at the beginning, and even the contract was shady."

Sipping on her fruit juice, Maisie said calmly, "The hot spring tourism in Winston Island is a big piece of pie, and it attracts many businessmen to come here and invest in it. Those well-seasoned businessmen wouldn't jump straight into it. They would act according to the circumstances since it's a big investment. However, Helios is different. As you said, he's inexperienced in doing business, and I guess that's why they target him."

Since they had the audacity to demand Helios to put $7,500,000 in their hands as a n investor, it showed that they were going to rip off Helios.

If Helios really had invested in it, although he would be one of the shareholders, those people would have divided all the profit into the early stages and then given the rest to Helios. In the end, Helios wouldn't be able to get much from this investment, and in the worst-case scenario, he wouldn't even get his capital back.

Gnashing her teeth, Nina commented," How can these businessmen be so evil? What are those developers doing? Are they not going to do something about it?"

Maisie chuckled and said, "After all,

Winston Island is a solitary island. It's a business circle developed under the same developer. They lease their stores to people who do business, and all they are interested in is money. They don't give a d* mn about this."

Suddenly, the bell rang.

Nolan got up and went to the living room. He opened up the door, and Nina was standing outside. She seemed rather flustered as she asked, "Mr. Goldmann, can ... Can you get hold of Helios? I can't reach him ever since he went out today."

Nolan squinted his eyes and asked, "When did he go out?"

Nina's face was pale as she replied, "About 9:00 a.m. He said he had to go out and drove off on his own. I called him, but the call never got through."

"You can't get hold of Helios?" A voice rang out.

It was Maisie. She came out of the room when she heard the conversation between Nina and Nolan.

Nina nodded flusteredly. "Yeah. I'm worried ... I'm worried that he might go to look for those people. After all, we're on Winston Island, and Helios hasn't come back yet after going out."

Nolan tried to call Helios, but it showed that his phone was turned off.

Holding a cigarette between his lips, Quintin took a drag and blew out smoke that clouded his gaze. He squinted his eyes and looked at Nolan. "Just when I was still thinking when I should go look for you two, you presented yourself before me."

Nolan smiled and asked, "Where is my friend?"

Quintin glanced at the middle-aged man. Receiving his cues, the middle-aged man gestured to his men with his eyes to bring Helios out. Helios was brought to Nolan's side. Nolan turned his head to check him. Other than some extra bruises on his face, he was fine, and his arms were still intact.

"This celebrity friend of yours has a fiery temper. He refused to talk to us nicely, so we could only teach him a lesson," Quintin said as he lifted up a glass and finished the remaining wine in it in one sitting.

Smiling, Nolan said, "It would be a problem if you accidentally disfigured him." "Hmph! There's nothing that can scare me on Winston Island." Quintin put the cup on the table. "So what if you are someone with some influence? I can just get rid of you two through some sort of accident, and no one will even know it's me who did it." Helios said without any emotion. "Save your breath and tell us what you want."
