

Chapter 841 Would You Marry Her?

Princess Isabella possessed a somber expression on her face while both Evelyn and Natalya's eyes became moist. They also gathered around Claire as they tried to comfort her.

Davis inwardly sighed. It truly is the case of: 'That you won't realize what you have until you don't have it anymore in your grasp.'

After some time passed, he finally asked, "Does mother want to go back? No matter what decision you make, I'll follow it."

Even though he had already announced that the Conferred Queen would visit the Alstreim Family in a month, he can always choose to go back on his word, or he could also just bring Princess Isabella alone and visit the Alstreim Family for a week before leaving.

In any case, it wasn't difficult for him to adjust his plans. After all, the whole point of going to the Alstreim Family was to obtain justice for his mother, and perhaps his mother's father.

Claire, who had already regained her bearings, shook her head, "We've come all this way, and my revenge is just a step away. Besides, I still want to see my father and even bring him back to meet him to see my children. I have no intention to die; neither will I let you all die. The only one who has to die is me."

"Claire..." Logan murmured.

"If push comes to shove, Davis, you can call your master. Even if I have to give up my life in turn as a sacrifice, I am willing." Claire's expression became a bit complex.

Davis turned hesitant, wanting to say something, but he just nodded his head.

"After I get my revenge, I'm leaving for my children's place as soon as I can. You can all do whatever you want, including you, husband, but I'm returning." She possessed a determined expression on her face.

Logan became surprised and didn't know what to say at that moment. The times she called him husband were serious moments. He thought that he could adventure the world with her after successfully getting her revenge as he initially planned, but he suddenly felt as if responsibilities were important as well.

On the other hand, Davis nodded his head, "Since Mother is clear on taking revenge, we'll leave within a month. Until then, consolidate all your cultivation systems and use this vial to have a breakthrough in Body Tempering Cultivation."

Davis gave two small vials of the nectar before explaining the effects and the precautions that needed to be taken. Logan and Claire became astonished at its effects, but he stopped them before they could thank him.

They then continued on with the plan.

After speaking and confirming almost every aspect that needed to be considered, building the initial plan after reaching the Alstreim Family as well as fine-tuning to the changes, he and his parents went to see Granduncle Daniuis while his three women went back to their places.

They sat and conversed with Granduncle Daniuis for more than an hour, convincing him to participate in their plan.

Granduncle Daniuis, who was waiting for a chance to get justice from the Alstreim Family, which he had given up long ago, but wanted to take revenge on the Tripartite Alliance, accepted their plan. He had already entered the Law Sea Stage, so he no longer possessed misgivings about jumping into the tiger's maw.

It was just that Granduncle Daniuis asked Davis to take care of his family if something were to happen to him.

Davis's eyes vaguely flashed red as he saw that Granduncle Daniuis's lifespan was still long. He had checked every other person with him as well and could see that their lifespans were still long. Unless something changed due to his presence or actions, it was unlikely that they would die. Just when he thought of saying that nothing would happen, he digressed.

He felt that he might raise a death flag if he said that, hence, he decided to assure Granduncle Daniuis.

"It isn't a problem. We would take all of them back to the Forsaken Phoenix Realm if everything were to fail and become compromised. There, Fifth Stage Cultivators are considered powerhouses, and Sixth Stage Cultivators are almost non-existent, so I think Grand Uncle doesn't need to worry."

"Your words put me at ease..." Granduncle Daniuis let out a relaxed smile, but his expression suddenly contained few ounces of hesitation.

"What is it, Granduncle Daniuis? If it is something I can do, I can assure you that I won't hesitate to do it." Davis prompted.

Beside him, his mother imperceptibly nodded her head thinking, 'Oh how reliable has my son grown...'

Granduncle Daniuis hesitated for a few more seconds before he sighed, "It's about Lucia..."

Davis acknowledged, "So it's about her..."

Granduncle Daniuis nodded, "That lass has been spending her time, mostly secluding herself in cultivation and has refused to heed our words. I'm afraid that she will wear herself out and damage her health. Worse, if she made mistakes in cultivation, it might even crack her foundations or even endanger her life."

Granduncle Daniuis shook his head.

"You know how she is... Cheerful and mischievous, but now, all I can see is her desolate back. I can't bear her to see like this. It's painful... She needs someone to rely on..."

Granduncle Daniuis looked incredibly hesitant but still said, "That's why, can you marry her and make her happy?"

Davis widened his eyes as he became stunned. Logan and Claire too possessed stunned expressions on their faces, but they didn't open their mouths to say anything.

Davis didn't think he would actually be asked this... Was this because he possessed an amicable relationship with Lucia?

He could understand that since a normal cultivator's genes possessed no weak or problematic genes, so even with incest, it was difficult and almost impossible to birth a disabled or a defective child. The only thing blocking cultivators from having incest is their morals and their typical sense of disgust to act on such thoughts.

Lucia was his first cousin once removed. Nevertheless, it seems that in the cultivation world, marrying a person who is a first cousin once removed is not considered incest and not at all farfetched.

Only sexually intimate relationships with parents, siblings, half-siblings, uncle and aunt, and their children could be considered incest in this cultivation world. At least, it seemed to be the case in the Loret Family and the Alstreim Family.

Looking at them become silent all of a sudden, Granduncle Daniuis shook his hands, "Ah, it isn't as if I'm asking you to marry her all of a sudden. It can be after-"

Davis raised his hand, stopping Granduncle Daniuis's speech, "I understand what you're trying to say, Granduncle Daniuis, but as long as Lucia's heart belongs to someone else, then no one can touch her. At least, not under my watch."

Granduncle Daniuis looked taken aback as Davis shook his head.

It was one thing if Davis and Lucia had developed their feelings for each other from the moment they met, but it was not like that. One reason was that Lucia was still a child in his eyes, and another reason was Lucia's heart belonged to Glyn in his mind.

There was no way he would marry her, especially when he was planning to do something foolish, not knowing whether if it would even successfully transpire or not.

Chapter 842 Lucas's Determination

Granduncle blinked a bit before he sighed, "It is one thing if Glyn was alive and well. I would have taken him under my wing and trained him myself until he becomes worthy of my daughter, at least for the deeds and the sincerity he has shown."

He shook his head.

"However, Glyn is dead, and there is nothing I can do about it, and the irony is that only with his death, did he manage to gain the heart of my proud daughter. This is too conflicting for me to interfere. I feel that I would further aggravate her emotions. That's why I asked for your help."

"You were right to ask me for help, Granduncle Daniuis." Davis smiled.

Granduncle Daniuis became expectant, "Does that mean you are willing?"

Davis shook his head, "I will talk to her."

Granduncle Daniuis became a bit disappointed, "I see..."

"But, since you two are almost of the same age and are close with each other as comrades, I feel that your words will be able to rejuvenate her heart."

Davis didn't explain further and just nodded his head again.

Logan and Claire became confused about what Davis had in mind. He already possessed three women who were willing to be with him. Although he said that he wouldn't marry Lucia, could it be that he would talk and gain her acceptance before he accepts her?

Logan and Claire eyed each other. With their son's strange way of doing things, they felt that it was likely to happen.

=====

In Granduncle Daniuis's residence, although the hall wasn't completely filled, it was lively. Granduncle Daniuis's three wives, Su Hualing, Su Huabing, and Su Huajing, were frequently spending their time in the hall. Their extremely similar faces but different expressions and demeanor were a sight for sore eyes.

Nina was there present along with Su Hualing. However, both of them held babies in their grasp. One was already a few years old, but the other was just a newborn baby, less than a year old.

Davis had just come out of the meeting room with the others when he caught sight of them. He greeted them and slightly played with the babies for a while and even got a chance to name Nina's baby as their savior, but he awkwardly declined, making the ladies laugh at him.

The reason he declined was that he could already see the child's name through the Death God Eyes. It seemed that they had already decided what to name their baby, so how could he interfere?

However, this wasn't what made him astonished. It was Ophelia. She also sat by the side with a simple yet serene smile on her face as she placed a hand on her stomach as she caressed. However, her stomach was slightly bloated, making him almost leave a shocked gasp upon seeing her.

'So this is where Lucas dealt his lust!' He almost instinctively knew that it was Lucas!

Ophelia was pregnant with Lucas's child!

After being treated by Agis Stirlander's methods, Lucas suffered from becoming horny, too horny. Although Agis Stirlander suggested that Lucas rely on prostitutes since his wife was already in the mid-pregnancy term, it seems that Lucas had other plans in mind.

Who would have thought that he was this bold? Perhaps this is why Lucas didn't come to visit him?

"That's right, where are Lucas and Lucia?" Davis asked in a sound voice.

The room suddenly became silent before Su Hualing spoke up as she pointed in a direction, "Lucas and Lucia are cultivating in seclusion. You can call Lucas, but I doubt Lucia would respond."

"I heard." Davis nodded his head, "I'm going to talk some sense into Lucia."

Su Hualing gave the child to her one of her sisters and stood up with a smile. She walked towards Davis, "Lucas and Lucia are my children. I have faith in my children just like I have faith in you."

Davis awkwardly smiled at her motherly comment, but when he sensed an uncomfortable gaze behind him, he inwardly exclaimed, 'Aiya! I'm not an orphan anymore. So could you please stop acting like my mother in front of mother...'

In the end, he didn't say it out loud since the other party's emotions were pure.

=====

Davis arrived in front of a few secluded rooms. While all the other rooms possessed an open door, only two rooms were closed. One room was just closed, but another room was... well...

Looking at the ropes that blocked the path to the door, and the papers that stuck to the door, telling people not to bother, Davis sighed.

He felt that Lucia was similar to a modern world girl who was going through her rebellious phase, but since he knew the reason for her actions, he didn't belittle her one but instead felt pity. She was just a little girl who was still unable to come out of her loss.

At this time, the other door opened, and Lucas walked out of the room while yawning, but his expression froze, and his agape mouth twitched.

"Ha... ha... Davis... long time no see..." Lucas awkwardly laughed and turned, trying to sneakily head back into the seclusion room, but a hand grabbed his shoulder, making his peculiar smile freeze.

"Where do you think you're going? I didn't think that you were this bold, Lucas." Davis lewdly laughed.

Lucas's shoulders deflated, "So you've already seen her..."

He turned and looked back at Davis with a wry smile on his face.

"I've never said this before, so congratulations on becoming a father of two!" Davis wished as he laughed, "However, didn't you say that Ophelia was your ninth brother's woman?"

Lucas widened his eyes before guilt became apparent in his eyes.

Davis, who had his Heart Intent active, could feel the guilt from his heart. He inwardly sighed and said, "Lucas, although I don't know how you developed a relationship with Ophelia, know that her heart didn't belong to your ninth brother."

Lucas became stunned.

"Didn't you say that your ninth brother only loved her, and Ophelia did not reciprocate his love? That means you haven't betrayed your ninth brother. You're overthinking things..."

Lucas's eyes brightened before his expression fell. He wryly chuckled, "Ninth brother would think otherwise... After all, he declared that Ophelia was his and his alone."

"What is that supposed to mean?" Davis became amused, "If he declared Ophelia was his, then why did he leave her in the first place? Since he put his cultivation career first, he deserves losing Ophelia to you."

"Besides, Ophelia is her own person. She decides who she loves, and she chose you in the end. Or, did you forcefully defile her?"

"No!" Lucas became pale as he shook his head, "It was she who approached me because she found out that I am being treated. Although she didn't know what I'm being treated for, she somehow managed to find and teased me. So to get one back at her... I asked if she's willing to sleep with me in a teasing manner... and... and..."

Lucas's face became red before he realized whatever he was going to say is going to enter the zone of 'culture'. Hence, he shut up.

Davis inwardly laughed. Looking at his naive face, he knew that Lucas was still an adolescent youth in terms of mentality.

"So, what do you say? If your ninth brother comes back, are you going to give Ophelia back to him?" Davis teasingly asked.

"No!!!" Lucas's expression turned volatile, "Ophelia's mine!"

Chapter 843 Don't Disturb Me For A Year!

Lucas gritted his teeth, "Ophelia stated that she is willing to be my second wife! Even if my ninth brother wants her after all this, he must step over my dead body to obtain her!"

"So, that's why you stepped up your cultivation progress..." Davis smiled as he pointed at Lucas's dantian.

Apparently, Lucas advanced a level in the Body Transformation Stage. For his age and the resources he possessed, his cultivation rate was definitely faster. However, Davis still warned him to be careful of accidentally crippling his foundation.

Lucas awkwardly laughed as he was aware that he became emotional.

"In any case, since you have already decided, become strong and determined enough to face any challenges that might come for you in the future," Davis advised.

Lucas gave a heavy nod, indicating that he wouldn't let go of Ophelia no matter what.

Davis peculiarly smiled, "However, I'm more interested in knowing how Nina accepted your relationship with Ophelia. After all, in the hall, it seemed like their relationship was amicable."

Lucas thought hard, but he wasn't aware of what took place behind the scenes, "It just became like that? Naturally..."

Davis's lips twitched.

Naturally? How hard was it for him? He mused that his Evelyn just wanted to keep him all to herself, obsessive, just like him, while Nina was perhaps accepting of everything, or it was him who made it difficult for himself by overthinking things.

In any case, he nodded and was about to say goodbye when Lucas was no longer in front of him. He had sneakily escaped back into the room.

Davis shook his head and flew above the ropes before knocking on the door.

A few seconds passed before an angry female voice echoed, "Didn't I say not to bother me for the year!?"

"It's me, Davis..."

The person seemed to have gone a bit shocked as no voice echoed for a few seconds. The sound of the door unlocking resounded before the same voice repeated, this time, a bit normal, "Enter..."

Davis pushed the door open and entered, only to see a woman with a disheveled black hair seated in a cross-legged position in the middle of the room. She wore a shiny green robe with fish patterns with white sleeves. It accentuated her curves, making her look similar to her mother in a lot of aspects. Her brows were hidden, but her beautiful facial features all possessed a frown.

"What do you want?" She scowled.

Davis actually felt a little bit of hurt. He saw her for the first time when she was nothing but a fourteen-year-old teenager, but now, she was already around twenty-five. Looking at her eyes that seemed to have gone tired, he sighed and spoke in a gentle voice.

"Lucia, do you realize what you're going through and make the others who deeply care about you go through?"

Lucia seemed ready to retort, but hearing the latter end of the question, she became tongue-tied as the scowl on her face disappeared, leaving her with sorrow.

"I... am aware..." Lucia adjusted her legs and buried her face, "But it isn't as if I could help it..."

"I already tried to come out of it but his... Glyn's smile just won't disappear..." Sniffling sounds could be heard.

"Everyone keeps to encourage me but also does in hushed voices because Nina still doesn't know that her little brother is dead, and she too doesn't make a sound anymore because she feels guilty of going out to search for Glyn at that time while accidentally leaking the plan to leave, endangering everyone..."

"All this makes me feel it is better if I died rather than Glyn at that time. It was I who was supposed to receive that attack and die. At least, everyone could've forgotten about me after some time. I'm just another daughter out of the many in this family..."

"I-" Lucia suddenly felt a palm on her head.

"Relax, I won't say anything to you other than don't lose hope. In the future, you might reunite with the person you loved, so don't lose hope." Davis repeated twice.

Lucia didn't raise her head. It was unknown how she took his words, but she just nodded while bawling out her eyes into her thighs. In fact, all she needed was someone to pour out her emotions that she kept bottled inside. The others weren't suitable as they couldn't understand her plight, but since her cousin, Davis, who is a generation younger to her, knew everything, only he and a select few like Nina would be able to understand what she is currently feeling.

It wouldn't be farfetched to say that she was passively waiting for someone understanding to visit and let her talk, and it just so happened to be Davis.

Davis inwardly sighed as he knew that it was partly his fault. He should've noticed this right from the moment he let Lucia view Glyn's corpse, but he didn't, and that let her heart suffer unknowingly.

He couldn't possibly tell her that he was waiting for Fallen Heaven to improve so that he could finally revive Glyn. With the two powers, the death-like energy and the life-like energy in his arsenal, he didn't believe that he would be unable to revive a person.

If Life and Death Laws combined don't revive a person, then what law does? Was it really helpless as it seemed? Although he felt that the idea was good, he had no idea when he would be able to achieve this feat, or if it is even possible in the first place!

So, he didn't jump the gun and say that he might be able to revive Glyn in the future. That would be getting her hopes for nothing if he wasn't able to revive a person.

Davis still possessed Glyn's corpse and his soul essence, but the soul essence he collected was in an inactive, dormant state. He figured that even if he were to put the soul essence back in the corpse, it was impossible to rejuvenate Glyn as his soul sea has already collapsed.

Glyn's corpse right now was nothing more than an empty vessel. No, it's not even empty, but a void. The soul sea had collapsed after all. If Fallen Heaven didn't say that the life-like energy could not heal a dead person, he would've already tried it.

He was afraid that without the correct methods, the life-like energy might purify Glyn's soul essence instead. After all, by now, the dead's soul essence was not something that should not exist within this world as it should've already entered the reincarnation cycle.

The dead's soul essence should've crossed the reincarnation cycle, and entered a new life. If it didn't, would it be a repeat of the same thing that happened to him? Or was his a unique situation where Fallen Heaven had managed to cheat the heavens?

Davis didn't know, but he was actually nervous, nervous that this action of keeping the dead's complete soul essence, three parts of the spiritual soul essence, and seven parts of physical soul essence with him would bring about untoward consequences.

Would he greatly offend the heavens?

He didn't know, so he was as careful as possible in this matter. Unless he were ninety percent sure or even possessed a tremendous hint of success, he would not experiment with Glyn's soul essence. That was just too risky!

Davis could understand Lucia's emotions to a certain level since he had his Heart Intent active. He knew that at this time that he should avoid advising her and just be silent while listening to her. Perhaps, listening is the best thing that he could've done to her.

Chapter 844 Confession

After some time of further consoling and bringing back Lucia to normalcy, Davis exited the seclusion room with her.

Lucia apologized to everyone for causing inconvenience, but her mother, Su Hualing, came forward and hugged her, saying that it was fine as long as she was back.

Looking at the faces of others, they all seemed to be happy that he managed to bring back Lucia to her old self, but he felt that there was a great misunderstanding going on in their minds.

'Fuck!' Davis inwardly cursed.

Could it be this whole household except Lucia was trying to hook her up to him?

He didn't know whether to laugh or cry. He felt that this misunderstanding should be better cleared by Lucia instead. However, he and his parents didn't leave because, after this, they partook in a feast made by the triplets and dined. At that time, their matrimony was brought up again, causing Lucia to be flabbergasted.

She looked at Davis, only to see him shake his head, indicating that this matter doesn't have anything to do with him.

Then without warning, Lucia flipped the whole round table and walked away under her father's reprimanding tone. Davis had the urge to clap umpteenth times for her bravery and tenacity.

'A woman should be like this!' He inwardly nodded, but looking at the wasted food that was on the ground that tasted plenty delicious, he became sorrowful.

Granduncle Daniuis had no choice but to apologize to the Loret household for this mess. Logan laughed it away and was straightforward: "That's what you get for trying to marry a maiden who had just come out of her loss."

"Sigh, what can I do? I assumed that Davis managed to grasp her heart since they came out together smiling..." Granduncle Daniuis wryly spoke.

It actually couldn't be blamed on him since all others felt the same. Feeling that he should strike while the iron is hot, he brought up the topic again, but Lucia instead flipped the table and screamed for them never to bring that up again!

"It's fine, Granduncle. She has become normal again, and you don't need to worry about her, at least, for a long time," advised Davis.

"Alright, I hope it is as you say, grand-nephew." Granduncle Daniuis could only let out a sigh, but he more or less trusted in Davis. After all, he possessed the achievements to be believed in.

=====

Natalya combed her hair as she sat in front of a body mirror in a particular room. This residence wasn't Davis's, but this residence was where her parents and grandpa stayed within the estate.

She had come to inform them of their decision to leave for the Alstreim Family. Of course, in the meantime, she told them that they would be staying here in this city as following them to the Alstreim Family's location would be too dangerous.

She somehow managed to convince them, but since she felt that she wouldn't see them for a short time, she decided to stay in her parent's residence for a while, like a week or two or perhaps until Davis left the estate to the Alstreim Family.

Natalya suddenly became startled.

A knock could be heard from the door to her room, prompting her to open the door with her Infant Soul Stage soul force, "Enter!"

The door opened, and a woman with a slim figure and ample proportions walked in and smiled, "Elder sister, I've come out from seclusion."

"Little brat! Such a big thing happened outside, but you're in seclusion as if you don't have a care in the world." Natalya berated with a smile.

This person was none other than Fiora, Natalya's little sister.

"Hehe! With brother-in-law protecting the household, how could our ceiling collapse!?" Fiora seemed to be in cheerful spirits as he undulations spread.

Her cultivation seemed to have reached the peak of the Fourth Stage in Essence Gathering Cultivation, Peak-Level Body Transformation Stage!

Natalya laughed together while a proud glint flashed past her eyes. Fiora's words just might've been flattery since she did not know the truth of the story of Conferred Queen. However, she knew that everything that happens here is because of Davis, her husband. Hence, she was unabashedly proud.

"Sit..." Natalya pulled Fiora over to the bed and sat. She recounted what had happened and further informed that she would be leaving soon with Davis to the Alstreim Family along with the Conferred Queen.

Fiora was flabbergasted with what had all happened, but then, when she heard that her elder sister had fought with a top disciple of a major power like the Falling Snow Sect, she couldn't believe her ears!

However, when Natalya displayed her cultivation base that was at the Law Seed Stage and further showcased her comprehension in Ice Laws, she was utterly convinced.

After hearing all of it from her elder sister's mouth, Fiora smiled and praised her elder sister, but she also felt a trace of frustration and jealousy that she had never felt before.

She had something to be proud of, but even that was taken away by her elder sister. It was her talent in Essence Gathering Cultivation. The talent she always prided in became inferior to her elder sister's, or it could be better told that the resources her elder sister got by marrying Alchemist Davis were a hundredfold better than hers.

Fiora wasn't good at concealing emotions. Her smile seemed more of a bitter one than a cheerful one, and that didn't escape Natalya's perception.

"What's wrong, little sister?"

Fiora's expression froze as she shook her head. She wanted to hide behind a smile again, but even that turned complicated.

Natalya became serious and prompted again.

Fiora bit her lower lip before she smiled and wryly said, "You know, elder sister? Nowadays, I couldn't help but think what if... What if I had given myself to Alchemist Davis at that time... Would he have treated me the same as how he is treating you right now?"

Fiora wanted to stop, but the words that she held at her throat wouldn't stop.

On the other hand, Natalya's expression froze.

Looking at Natalya's expression, Fiora instantly regretted her words. She was finished! She knew that she was finished! Their relationship would never be the same again.

Eyeing her own elder sister's husband? It couldn't get any uglier than this between them. She was afraid that her elder sister would misunderstand, so she instantly said.

"Just forget what I said... Haha, it seems that I'm just sleep-talki-"

Natalya suddenly grasped Fiora's hands, "Fiora, what do you mean nowadays? Is that thought constant? Does it occur every day? If so, I think you have formed a heart demon formed from regret. Don't let it get to your law-heart...."

She possessed a serious expression on her face.

Fiora became stunned. Looking at the care in her elder sister's eyes, her lips quivered.

"Elder sister, I..." Moist gathered in her eyes, but she was unable to articulate her emotions.

"I'm sorry..." She squealed and buried her face on her elder sister's shoulders, silently bawling her eyes out.

Natalya smiled and caressed her little sister's head, "What are you saying? My husband is a desirable man and someone who helped her our family survive two disasters. He didn't take advantage of your plight at that time, and that left a profound impression of him in you. It is normal that you would hold some complicated feelings for him in your heart."

Fiora sniffled, unable to let out words. She could only cry in self-loathing as her thoughts were laid bare by her elder sister.

Chapter 845 I Came For Something Else

Fiora thought back to how she became like this...

At first, these conflicting thoughts didn't echo out loud in the past since on her mind as Alchemist Scythe was always her sister's man. She knew how her elder sister respected him, so she didn't have any thoughts on that matter.

However, when she saw and heard how Alchemist Davis fought with a powerful impostor and a mysterious expert for Natalya while resolving the plot that targeted her grandfather Agis Stirlander as a scapegoat, she became jealous.

At that point, she doubted that if she would ever get a man like that, someone who gave it his all for her. It was like a seed that had been planted. This metaphorical seed made her think almost every day what would've happened, how her life would've been if she had been accepted by Davis, who at that time went by the name Alchemist Scythe.

It was unknown how much time had passed, but Fiora gathered the courage to leave her elder sister's shoulders, "Are you not mad?"

She nervously asked.

"Mad?" Natalya simply smiled, "Why would I be mad?"

"I... I am a bad little sister..." Fiora obediently lowered her head.

Natalya became taken aback before she strangely smiled.

"If you are a bad little sister, then I am a bad elder sister as well. You think your elder sister obtained her husband through proper means?"

Fiora became stunned.

Natalya blushed, but she still said it, "I forcefully obtained him by using seduction."

By the time she finished saying these words, her face had become utterly crimson, "Your elder sister is a very bad girl!"

"Pffft... Hahaha!" Fiora started to laugh, and Natalya followed suit to hide her embarrassment and shame.

However, she felt that a burden had been lifted off her shoulder. Initially, she had considered herself a proper woman who did things by the book, virtuous and having propriety, but in the end, she felt that she seduced and forced herself on him. This caused her to feel immoral.

Now that she had shared this with someone, she felt as if a weight was off her shoulder.

Fiora wiped her tears that came from laughter and said, "I didn't think my elder sister would be this daring! I thought that your husband had accepted your confession of love, flowery, and romantic like we read in those poetic novels."

Natalya smilingly shook her head, a teal of adoration in her eyes, "It wasn't like that, but after that day, it was flowery and romantic every time he interacts with me..."

"Ahh! You're so hateful. You're making me more jealous..." Fiora pouted.

"What's jealousy going to do? It is better if you act on your thoughts like I desperately did at that time. Although I feel that it is very cowardly, I would've regretted it by now if I hadn't done that. Oh, wait... I would've been dead from the plot that targeted our grandfather." Natalya smugly smiled.

It was as if her desperate actions brought Alchemist Davis into the fray, which in turn helped her family survive from a disaster. In the end, it could be said that her actions had brought the best results to her family to survive.

When women were married off, the bride's family would rely on the backing of the groom's family to further survive in the world and make their ends meet if they weren't well off, and even if they well off, the bride's family could always rely on the groom's family to enjoy luxury.

It could be said that Natalya got an exceptional man as well as protection for her family. She felt blessed by the heavens and even thought that she got more than she asked.

'If this happiness can only last for a lifetime...' Natalya inwardly sighed.

"Does that mean that I can lay a hand on your husband?" Fiora teasingly smiled.

She knew better than anyone that her elder sister was possessive and always said that she wouldn't allow her man to have other women, but she actually and willingly became the second wife. That caused her to become shocked at that time.

She felt that even if her elder sister lived a frugal life, she still wouldn't give her man to other women, but the reality ended up being different.

"You can try..." Natalya shrugged, "I'm pretty sure that my husband would like a pair of sisters serving him. Besides, you're beautiful than me..."

"So elder sister knows who is the beautiful one..." Fiora flipped her black hair and faked a proud look.

"You silly..." Natalya tapped Fiora with her hand before they laughed together.

Truth be told. They felt that it had been forever since they had a hearty conversation like this, even though it seemed awkward and inappropriate.

"But I'm more mature..." Natalya possessed a smug expression.

Fiora became stunned. Her pride flared, "Well, I'll become mature after I sleep with him!"

Suddenly a knock came, startling the two of them.

The door was open, and a person stepped in, "Sleep with who?"

"Brother-in-law!!!"

Fiora stood up and squealed as she closed her mouth with her palm. Her face became a complete shade of red before she escaped, holding the hem of her skirt as she ran away from the room!

The door abruptly closed with a huge bang.

Davis chuckled at Fiora's actions and looked at Natalya pout.

"Will you please enter after knocking?"

"Heh, why would I need to wait to get into my wife's room?" Davis audaciously grinned.

"Detestable!" Natalya enlarged her pout but then smiled.

Davis smiled back before noticing that Natalya possessed a wet stain on her shoulder. Recalling that Fiora possessed a look as if she had just cried not too long ago, he asked, "Did your little sister finally have a boy- uh, man?"

He felt that Fiora might've been consoled by Natalya as he heard something along the lines: "more mature after I sleep with him!"

Although it felt like an argument, it also sounded as if they were goofing around, so he wasn't too sure.

Natalya shook her head but then nodded, a teasing smile lit up her face, "You..."

Davis blinked before he misunderstood that he was played. He walked to get and shook her hair, "You're also getting cheeky like Evelyn, eh?"

"It's up to me to punish you and make you know your place!" Davis grinned evilly, and his naughty hands extended to her back.

"No, not here..." Natalya grasped his hand as a red hue appeared on her cheeks.

This was her parents' residence! How could she be this audacious?

Davis ignored her plea as he leaned and gave her a deep lip kiss.

"Don't worry, the rooms here are all soundproof..."

"No..." Natalya struggled, but it came off in a coquettish manner.

She was afraid that someone would walk in as the door wasn't locked by her, "Wait, let me lock the door!"

Davis felt that it was enough that he teased her, "I came for something else."

He sat beside her on the bed.

Natalya didn't believe him and locked the door with her soul force. He was daring enough to sneak into her room, entering her residence in the old estate last time to do obscene and lecherous things to her.

What were the chances he would not do it again?

Natalya completely felt it was entirely possible that he would use this chance to make her 'miserable'!

Chapter 846 Equally Crazier

Looking at Natalya's flushed expression that looked like she was ready to be taken, Davis chuckled, "Seriously, I came here for something else."

Natalya blinked.

Davis brought an item out from his spatial ring and displayed it to her.

There was a small wooden barrel that appeared on the floor. It contained a deep blue liquid. The room instantly became abundantly chilled that it started to freeze.

"Take it..." Davis's voice echoed.

Only then did Natalya react and grabbed it into her spatial ring. She was shivering while holding her waist, embracing herself to kindle the heat from her body.

Even if she had trained in Ice Laws, the chill that came from this small barrel seemed to be capable of even freezing her to death!

Davis waved his hand as his soul force spread in the room. The room instantly lost its chillness and returned to normal. From the cultivation manual he trained in, Incandescent Vermilion Soul Mantra, he became able to manipulate fire and light after all.

Although both attributes that he comprehended were worse where he had not even comprehended Level One Intent for Fire Laws, and Level Two Intent for Light Laws, he could still efficiently use them with his soul force.

Davis possessed many Law attributes that he could manipulate with his soul force. Namely, Light, Dark, Fire, Karma, death-like, and life-like energy. As for the latter two, he felt that it was mostly Death Laws and Life Laws, but until he could confirm it, he was intent on sticking with his self-made names.

Nevertheless, after the juvenile and mutated Million Emerald Vines Calamity battle, he felt that he had comprehended the Elementary Intent of Death-like Laws. Even without invoking Fallen Heaven's pitch black tendrils, he felt that he could intrinsically use death-like energy from his soul force.

This was a huge boon to him and a relief from his reliance on Fallen Heaven. This experience and comprehension would finally enable him to use the death-like energy from his own soul force, although, whether he would be able to handle it easily and skillfully was another matter altogether.

With his essence energy, he manipulated lightning, and its extinction property, making the lightning black-colored, enduring and long-lasting. His Lightning Laws were at Level Four Intent, making his manifestation tremendously powerful enough to be called a Superior Manifestation.

Furthermore, with consuming the Derelict Extinction Lightning, he was able to comprehend Elementary Intent of Illusion Laws. This allowed him to employ illusions with his essence energy, but his skills and techniques could be said to be null, making it temporarily useless against strong opponents.

Then with his martial energy, he was able to control Earth Laws. Moreover, with the blood essence of the Earth Dragon Immortal aiding him, he would become more skilled in Earth Laws in the future until it completely assimilated.

Davis felt that the two drops of blood essence would completely assimilate when he reached the Ninth Stage in Body Tempering Cultivation. Until then, it would continue to bring him benefits. After all, how could a drop of blood essence from an immortal existence be so easily assimilated in one go?

It required time and patience because if a person were to assimilate the blood essence in one go, ultimately, it was highly possible for that person to explode.

The formation that the Earth Dragon Immortal used to give them the blood essence was a complex and profound sealing formation. It sealed the blood essence in them, and when they broke through each level and stage, it slowly nurtures them.

He had two drops of blood essence in him, so he would be receiving more benefits than Princess Isabella and Evelyn. As for Evelyn, the only reason he was able to give her the blood essence laid within the fact that she already possessed a diluted drop of blood essence from passing the Sky Grade Trial.

Davis merely used that seal to add another pure and undiluted blood essence into the fray, making her able to assimilate the blood essence in regular intervals when breaking through in Body Tempering Cultivation. If she hadn't passed the Sky Grade Trial, Davis would've been forced to find another method to infuse the blood essence into her or abandon that thought altogether.

This was also one of the reasons why he didn't give the drop of blood essence to his mother, or someone else. No, it should better be said he wanted to give it to Evelyn. At that time, his knowledge of infusing blood essence was almost non-existent, so he didn't consider that point at all.

Only after the two drops of blood essence slowly assimilated into his blood did he learn that the blood essences were sealed and that formation that aided him was a sealing formation.

"What is that? It feels familiar... It's Yin!" Natalya exclaimed once she came out of her reverie.

"That's right. In fact, I already gave this to you..." Davis nodded his head.

Natalya seemed to descend into silence before her eyes lit up, "Is this the liquid you mixed into my bath water after I entered the Peak-Level Silver Stage and washed up once?"

"Correct answer!" Davis nodded, "At that time, I only sprinkled a few milliliters, but it seems to have done wonders for you..."

Natalya hurriedly nodded her head, "Even the bath was a little cold, just resting in the bathtub, I felt strange and entered a comprehension state. When I came back to, I felt that I had comprehended something..."

Natalya extended her hand, and a hazy deep blue smoke surged out of her finger, a cold atmosphere spread around the room, "Even though it could be mistaken for Ice Laws, it is obvious that this is Yin Laws..."

Davis nodded his head, "Besides, the nectar you drank was slightly yin-attributed in nature. Although I confirmed that it didn't provide any yin-attributed comprehension to Evelyn and Isabella, it was different in you who is talented in comprehending Yin Laws."

"No wonder... If that simple diluted solution was enough, the barrel you just gave me would be enough to reach greater heights..."

"I witnessed it." Davis chuckled, "During the battle, you used a yin-attributed essence energy attack in tandem with your battle aura to essentially cripple Tanya Frostblight's technique. This is likely the reason for Elder Enye to become a bit crazy in order to recruit you."

"I'm proud of you..." Davis passionately caressed her cheeks.

He was unaware that it was because Natalya also had the potential to comprehend Yin Fusion Laws. He had heard it from Old Man Gavin Woller before but only its name. Hence, it didn't cross his mind.

Natalya became proud of being praised by her man, but she pursed her lips in an annoyed manner, "Who would go with them?"

"I already heard your suicidal declaration. Although I don't want you to never be like that... As a selfish and obsessive man, it makes me extremely happy. You are mine!"

Davis leaned towards her without hesitation and took her lips again. Natalya responded, becoming equally passionate.

Savoring her taste for a while, Davis separated, "Although I'm aware that it is unfair to you, will you stay here? It might get dangerous when we head to the Alstreim Family."

Natalya shook her head, "Even if I die, it should be while I see you cry for me..."

Davis's lips went a bit agape as he almost became speechless. Wasn't this too heartless?

He felt that he was right.

Natalya was perhaps crazier than him in many aspects!

Chapter 847 Difference in Greater Laws

Davis had the urge to bonk Natalya's head with his fist for saying irresponsible and depressing statements as he held an angry expression on his face.

"Don't easily say that you would die every time..."

"I do not know how else to convey my determination! Is there a better method than weighing one's own life?" Natalya audaciously asked.

Davis was about to say that she could use his life to gauge her determination. However, he felt a little embarrassed and simply said, "In any case, just don't easily abandon your life. It depresses me to hear that..."

Natalya became taken aback before she realized her mistake, "Sorry... I was insensitive..."

"It's fine..." Davis wasn't angered. He just needed her to understand that she was important to him.

"I guess I didn't have to give this yin-attributed water to you since you're coming with us, but it still serves to help you when I'm not with you. You can use it in small quantities and dilute it with spirit water. Take a bath in it and absorb the energy in the yin-attributed water through your pores to attribute-temper your meridians and increase your Essence Gathering Cultivation while comprehending flashes of insight. Okay?"

Natalya nodded her head as she felt good to be treated and looked after like this. No wonder her little sister would feel jealous about her. She felt that if she were Fiora, she would feel jealous of her as well.

"Also, once you become familiar with Yin Laws and have tempered your meridians to a compatible degree, Isabella and I would aid you in absorbing a Yin Essence that is at Low-Level Emperor Grade!"

Natalya's mouth went agape!

"You-"

Her speech came to a stop when she saw Davis take a tiny vial that held a teardrop, "This is the Nethersnow Spirit Tear Drop that Isabella and I got for you. It will help you increase your Ice Laws from Elementary Intent to Level One Intent in the future when you reach a higher cultivation base. Until then, we will be waiting for you to catch up!"

Natalya's lips were agape as her black pupils shook. Two tears fell from her eyes before she instantly wiped it away with her sleeves.

"Husband! Are you planning to make me die from bliss!?" Natalya became a bit scared. Her heart was too weak to handle these kinds of surprises! It was just too heavy for the current her!

She already felt both burdened and elated by the marriage gift he gave, the Emperor Grade Essence Gathering Cultivation Manual, Forsaken Yin Lotus Manual, and now it was two other treasures that were valued at Emperor Grade!

She certainly felt that she wasn't worth that much! The attention and care he displayed to her were tremendous that it made her feel scared that there would be a day that she would no longer receive that love!

Oblivious to her thoughts, Davis grinned, "Well, since you devoted your life to me and even went as far as to declare it, it is natural that I would take care of you like a treasure!"

"Could it be that you want me to not take care of you?" Davis confusingly rubbed his chin.

"Ahh! You're unfair!" Natalya jumped to the side and embraced him as if she would never let him leave. She looked into his sapphire eyes, and not knowing how to respond to this itch she felt in her heart, she moved to his face and rained down kisses, letting out smooching sounds that filled the room.

Davis held her body and pushed her against him, feeling her bosoms against his chests. He didn't forget to take advantage of her this moment like the pervert he is!

When Natalya separated, Davis's face and neck were full of vague red lip marks. Looking at his appearance with his soul sense, he blinked, and the sudden urge to push her down permeated in his brain and lower brain because his soul sense had also accidentally scanned her naked.

"Eh?" Once Natalya vented her emotions, she noticed a point that she failed to consider in her happiness, "I've already comprehended Level One Intent of Ice Laws!"

Davis came out of his reverie but became silent. He stared at her for a while before he finally blinked again.

Receiving his stare, Natalya became fidgety, "What?"

"Natalya, you still don't know much about Greater Laws, do you?"

Natalya slowly shook her head before she shook faster.

"I thought so..." Davis nodded his head, "Listen..."

"Like Yin Laws, Ice Laws is also considered a Greater Law..."

Natalya's expression blossomed, and she was about to say that she possessed two Greater Laws, but Davis still continued.

"However, Ice Laws are considered weaker in the category of Greater Laws, placing it below Yin Laws. Furthermore, Greater Laws are considered to be elementary until one reaches the Eighth Stage..."

"What?" Natalya interrupted, "There is such a thing? Everyone knows that there are nine levels of Law Intent. A cultivator is able to comprehend Level One Intent to Level Three Intent in the Fifth Stage; Law Seed Stage."

"And the same way, Level Four to Level Six Intent is comprehensible in the Sixth Stage; Law Manifestation Stage and Level Seven Intent to Level Nine Intent becomes comprehensible in the Seventh Stage; Law Dominion Stage!"

"This is because one's cultivation must be up to par to support the usage of the Law Intent, and the comprehensions also have to resonate in accordance with the heaven and earth energy to become true and valid!"

"Because I resonated with heaven and earth energy around me when I comprehended and reached a new level of prowess, I know that I have reached Level One Intent from the Elementary Level of Ice Laws!"

Natalya smiled and shook her finger with a smug expression on her face, "You can't trick me this time..." Looking at her be wary of his teasing, he couldn't help but chuckle.

"You're right..." He said.

Natalya nodded her head as if she won, but her expression withered when she heard his next words.

"The things you said only applies to Primary Laws such as Fire Laws, Water Laws, and Wind Laws, etc."

"Greater Laws are categorized as Elementary Intent till one reaches the Eighth Stage where they are able to comprehend Level One Abstruse Intent to Level Three Abstruse Intent..."

"The same way, Primary Laws also changes its form, and when a cultivator surpasses Level Nine Intent, that cultivator steps into the realm of Abstruse Intent, where the laws are deep and profound to comprehend and learn."

"But... But I felt..." Natalya felt confused.

"That's the heaven and earth energy resonance acknowledging that you've made a step forward in improving your Elementary Intent of Ice Laws, and at the same time, you are able to instinctively feel that the Greater Law you comprehended can compare to Level One Intent of Primary Laws, you understand?"

Natalya widened her eyes as she felt that she understood, "So that's what it is..."

No wonder Tanya Frostblight's Ice Laws was stronger than hers! Tanya Frostblight's Elementary Intent of Ice Laws could actually compare to Level Two Intent of Primary Laws when her Elementary Intent of Ice Laws was only comparable to Level One Intent of Primary Laws.

Davis heaved a heavy sigh as he finally made her understand.

However, her expression abruptly contorted as she heard Davis let out a sigh. Her eyes inadvertently became moist as she stared at him.

Davis became taken aback before he felt like scratching his head, 'Why is she crying now? I did my best to explain!'

"You just thought that I'm dumb, didn't you?" Natalya's lips quivered.

Chapter 848 I Made You Wait...

Natalya didn't want to be belittled by someone she thought as her life and her future, but more than that, she didn't want to disappoint him, neither did she want to witness his sigh that almost looked like he was getting tired of her.

It felt excruciating in her heart to even hear it.

Davis didn't understand what kind of thoughts in her head led her to cry, and he felt that women were incomprehensible sometimes. He didn't think his typical sigh would harm her, and it usually wouldn't, but combined with the fact that he had educated her, made it seem like he was tired of her.

Sighing had already seeped deep into his soul from his past life as Tian Long. It was already a habit that every time he felt that a matter was over, even if it was small, he would do sigh in relief.

Nevertheless, hearing her question, Davis shook his head.

"You're lying..." Tears almost fell out of Natalya's eyes.

"It's the truth. I didn't feel you are dumb."

"Really?"

Davis became slightly awkward, "I didn't think you were dumb. I thought you were just ignorant..."

Natalya became taken aback.

Ignorant... It was unknown how long had passed to Natalya, but this word resounded in her mind until it snapped, making it come out of her reverie.

"I..." Natalya couldn't help but admit, "I am ignorant..."

Last time, Davis had explained to her about Yin Laws that it was one of the Greater Laws, and to be skilled in comprehending it, he praised her as 'not an ordinary' person, which made her very pleased.

But after that, she made no progress in learning what exactly is Greater Laws. This was her ignorance, and if it could be equated to sin, she could be said to be slothful. Not only did she depend upon Davis for resources, but she was also waiting for him to teach everything to her rather than taking the initiative to learn.

Natalya's brain trembled from this feeling of being useless and ignorant.

She instantly grabbed his shoulders as her moist eyes became teary as her tears fell, "I swear I will learn about many things and become useful to you..."

"That's why... That's why..." She sniffled as her voice quivered, "Please don't sigh as if you're tired of me..."

Davis's heart trembled.

He finally understood what made her feel like this... Really, if Evelyynn, Natalya, and Princess Isabella became tired of him for one day, then even he would be feeling down for that entire day. Sometimes, the expressions that your loved ones make to you alone have the capability to drive a wedge or strengthen the relationship.

He felt what he subconsciously did was irresponsible.

He was about to sigh when he remembered that this was the root cause for Natalya's hurt expression, even if it was a misunderstanding.

Davis closed his eyes, 'It is said that happiness escapes from a person's body when that person sighs. I guess that I should stop sighing from now on...'

Davis knew that he couldn't easily get rid of his 'sighing' disease, but he etched it in his mind to get rid of it as much as possible.

Princess Isabella had once indirectly pointed out that he was too protective of them and didn't let them grow up. This also made him somewhat realize that he lacked consideration for their mental well-being.

He opened his eyes and grabbed her waist on one hand while the other brought her head forward to his chest, "I was insensitive and didn't put much thought into my habitual sigh..."

"I won't do it again..."

'Habitual sigh?'

As perceptive as Natalya is, she instantly realized that it was one of those usual sighs from Davis, but the timing and the situation made her misunderstand it.

Her lips slightly became agape, wondering what she ate in the morning to act like this, and her body swayed from feeling stupid, but she felt a finger lifting up her chin, only to see Davis's sapphire eyes up close.

Davis moved his hand from her head and caressed her cheek, "I love you, Natalya... I won't do something as stupid as abandoning you. You're mine, after all."

Natalya's eyes shook as she heard those words that she didn't hear at all in the past. Tears fell out of her eyes like raindrops as she stared at him with a quivering yet content smile.

"You finally said it..."

She was unable to control her tears from falling down her cheeks.

"I made you wait..." Davis awkwardly replied.

Indeed, he realized that he never said those words 'I love you' before to her, even after he married her. Perhaps, he wanted to be true to himself, so he never said that to her until he really thought that way. He didn't know when he came to truly love her, but when he thought of conveying his thoughts, those endearing words came out without hesitation.

Natalya slightly shook her head as her hands reached out to cup his cheeks. Their heartbeats reverberated towards each other's body, their lips connected as they started making out before it was a given that it would dwell into a passionate lovemaking session.

Their tongues swayed as if dancing and their lips stuck greedily, feeling each other's taste and softness.

Natalya didn't let him go as she tightly held his neck. She pushed his head towards her, wanting him to be hers for the moment. She greedily kissed, licked, and sucked while Davis did the same, not letting her take the upper hand.

Perhaps, five minutes passed, and Davis's lecherous hand was running all over the body before it finally reached her cave.

"Ahnn~ Husband, you can't..." Natalya trembled and finally recalled that her parents might hear her moans after the bout of passion slightly receded.

"Didn't I say? They can't hear us..." Davis stopped and looked at her while he grasped her hands.

Natalya pursed her lips before she both reluctantly and expectantly nodded her head.

Davis took his hands away and reached out towards her ample breasts that already seemed to be imperceptibly swelling out of her red robe. She wore a red robe that made her alluring while the fullness of her curves also seemed to be fleshed out in the dress.

His hands touched her plump breasts, feeling it in his palms before he squeezed.

"Mn~" Natalya let out a moan as she bit her bottom lip.

Davis fondled her modest bosom as he reveled in its marvel. He felt that these two mounds of fat couldn't compare to Evelyn's or Princess Isabella's but thought that it was fine in its own way. Although it couldn't compare to their elasticity, it was firm.

"Ah~" Natalya let out a moan of surprise.

Her two tiny pink buds were being played with, slightly pulled and twisted by his fingers. It gave her a sense of pleasure that made her lower body tingle that she couldn't help bring her thighs closer.

Davis grinned at her reaction as he used his thumb and other fingers to play tunes on her sensitive area.

Looking at her black hair that was combed neatly and straight without any knots, he ran his left hand through her silky, lush hair and brought her close, his face moving towards her neck.

Her neck was like a fair piece of art, not long or short. It was just the right size for him to bury his lips and nose on her neck, letting out hot breaths that sensually tickled her.

"Ah?~"

Natalya let out a gasp as her eyes widened in expectation. Right now, she lay as if she was a helpless prey, ready to be bitten by the predator on the neck!

Chapter 849 Oral Assault

Davis slightly opened his mouth and blew a sensual breath that alternated between cold and hot, leaving Natalya shivering and limp in his grasp. Right now, he was sure that her facial expression would have melted as her body shook in her arms, but he wanted even more from her.

His slightly agape lips snatched a piece of fair skin on her neck and sucked greedily!

"Ahhn!~" Natalya let out a tremendous yet seductive moan that made him exceedingly lustful, but it also temporarily satisfied his urge.

Davis's right hand spared her breasts and removed the red robe off-shoulder, revealing her curves that seemed to be hidden by her silky blue inner-wear. He ran his fingers, feeling her soft plumpness over the silky cloth before removing it.

Two white ample and curvaceous bosoms came into his view. He appreciated it for the nth time before cupping it his hands and caressing it. Natalya didn't do anything but just let her body be handled and pleased by him. She let out muffled moans lustily as he ran his tongue over her neck, sometimes biting, sometimes sucking while he pinched, twisted, and played with her bosoms.

Her upper body continuously shivered while her neck struggled to move away from the overwhelming pleasure subconsciously, but being held by Davis, she had nowhere to escape, and could only receive his attacks.

Her hands that were empty searched for a place to rest, but it landed on a tent, making her hands freeze for a moment. However, she became emboldened and held the tent in her hands before hesitantly feeling it up.

"So big..."

"Hmm? Did you say something?" Davis, who was fully aware of what she said, asked with a confused expression on his face.

"I..."

Natalya heavily blushed as her lips moved, "Give it to me..."

She truly felt emboldened after what he did to her on the marriage night. She thought that it could go no worse than that day.

"What?" Davis blinked, feigning ignorance.

Natalya's lips quivered as she mumbled, but seeing that he was not responding, she finally said it, "Give your cock to me!"

Her voice echoed in the room as it seemed like she raised her voice for the whole residence to hear it. Fortunately, the room was soundproofed.

Davis almost laughed out loud from hearing the crass word from her mouth. At first, he couldn't believe that she said it. It was a long time before he heard this from someone's mouth. He leaned in and took her lips again. Their exchange of affection went till she was gasping, out of breath.

By this time, Davis had already become naked. He stood up from the edge of the bed and stood in front of her, his long seven-inch member with ample girth pointing at her rosy lips.

Natalya became stunned as she saw his pride. Her eyes got stuck to it, taking in its shape. She couldn't believe that this long thing entered her body every time she made love with him and made her feel immense pleasure instead of pain.

She glanced above and saw that his eyes were intently staring at her lips, expectantly looking at her. It made her remember the time when she consumed an aphrodisiac and did things that she imagined that she would never do.

Feeling a bit daring, she reached out her hand and held in with her palm. A searing feeling of heat traversed through her palm, making her startled.

Davis felt the opposite. Her hand was too cold, but that contrasted temperature made him feel a large amount of pleasure just from the grasp.

Looking at the rock-hard member that twitched in her hand with her wide eyes, Natalya felt that this was another entity altogether. Even then, she moved her face as her tongue extended out. Looking at the shiny yet sticky liquid that was at the tip, she ran her tongue over it as she felt its texture and took it back to her mouth.

If it was unknown what she was going to before to Davis, then it was now clear that she was tasting his pre-seed!

Natalya felt the taste wasn't bad. She looked at Davis's expression and noticed that she was intently gazing at her.

'Could it be that he really likes it... in my mouth?' Natalya felt a tremble in her heart.

Natalya felt that she should take the initiative and test the waters. In any case, she had already done something worse when she was drugged. She felt that if this could satisfy him, then she would know what the other two didn't know.

She can make him... satisfied!

Smooch!~

Feeling emboldened, Natalya pursed her lips and directly kissed the tip with a smooching sound, causing a shudder to run through the member she held. It further hardened in her grasp, causing her to really feel that he liked it in her mouth.

She licked her lips, tasting the remnant of his liquid before she held his hard member with both her palms. She kept planting kisses all over his member as if worshipping it, watching it twitch with joy in grasp out of the pleasure she gave.

Davis's eyes were wide as he saw her actions. He almost let out a groan in pleasure, but he held back. He wanted to see how far she could take this on her own.

Feeling increasingly amused, Natalya opened her lips, and her tongue flew out, starting to tease the tip of his member. She swirled her tongue around the tip as she pushed back his foreskin and wildly licked it till the look of satisfaction appeared on Davis's face. Her eyes were upturned, watching his every reaction to her pleasuring.

Natalya put her tongue back in her mouth as she teasingly smiled at Davis. Her wide eyes were intently watching his reactions.

Davis smiled back at her actions. He knew that she was garnering his reactions from his facial expressions, trying to please him to the best of her ability. He didn't want to ruin her fun, so he kept his mouth shut and positively reacted to her actions.

"Ahhn~"

Natalya opened her mouth before she suddenly put his member in her mouth. She moved to the front, taking his member to the back of her throat before she started sucking with vigor.

*Slurp!~ Slurp!~

Erotic sounds echoed from Natalya's mouth, causing Davis almost to lose control of his hands that tried to latch on to her head. Her effort of taking him entirely into her mouth was so sudden that he was unprepared, and the rush of pleasure was too sudden when combined with her suction.

Natalya's upturned eyes caught Davis's face that was covered in pleasure. She became excited, starting to move her head back and forth, coating the entire shaft in her saliva while moving towards the front and sucking when moving back. It was as if she found a new and exciting way to please her husband.

A way that only she knew and was willing to do!

She didn't know that Evelyn occasionally did it as well, so it became her exclusive technique to make her man feel pleasurable in her mind.

Chapter 850 Faster!

Natalya concisely looked at his reactions as he let out inaudible moans and found his pleasure spots. She started using her tongue, swirling it below the shaft while sucking, making him gradually unable to endure.

*Slurp!~ Slurp!~

Looking at this rock-hard member sliding in and out of her hot and moist mouth, he felt immensely pleased. In a few minutes, Davis almost reached his limit but didn't say anything.

However, the experienced Natalya noticed that his member was bulging and pulsating, about to release his seed. She instantly shut close her mouth and tightened her lips on his wide shaft. Then while holding his thighs, she sucked hard, producing erotic sounds that completely made Davis explode in her.

Natalya's eyes widened in shock as his yang essence overflowed in her mouth. It felt hot her mouth as the liquid slid to her throat. Her throat moved as gulping sounds echoed. She continuously sucked for more than thirty seconds, swallowing whatever came her way like a thirsty and parched person.

Once she felt she sucked everything out of him, she let the tip go with a pop of her mouth as she took in deep breaths, her mouth still agape. Her mouth was still filled with his yang essence. She breathed in and out for a few seconds before she completely swallowed the remaining yang essence into her throat.

Davis reached out his hand to lift her up by her waist. She was as weightless as a feather in his grasp. Natalya captured his neck and held him while Davis's hands moved to her excellent and plushy bottom. He fondled it to his heart's satisfaction before he lifted and lined her hole right above the tip of his rock hard member.

With his grasp on her ass, he pulled her while his rock-hard member forcefully entered her and stretched her insides, making Natalya arch her back as she let out a muffled moan of craving.

Mhmmmm!~~

It was as if she deeply missed this feeling for a long time.

Davis felt tight inside her, her walls violently clasp as if it were trying to massage him. This made him think of a certain thing, and he had to admit.

Female cultivators who trained in Body Tempering Cultivation were something else. They could even control their inner vaginal muscles. Evelyn could do this as well. Besides, their inner walls would become completely tight if a week had already passed without any sexual activity. It was as if they had never engaged in sexual affairs in the first place.

Holding Natalya for a moment with his palm, Davis started to move in and out of her slowly. Since it was already wet, gushing sounds echoed with each thrust. Natalya's expression was already contorted in pleasure as she held him tightly, plastering her naked and ample chest over him.

Davis looked into Natalya's black eyes as he thrust into her. The way she looked at him turned him on and made him feel like a wild animal. He started to speed up while feeling up her bottom, kneading it in different ways.

Natalya moved her head to the side and started attacking his neck with kisses and sucking, making Davis feel pleasure like he never felt before.

"Now you've done it!" Davis echoed as he no longer held back.

He thrust into her honey pot like a madman as he held her ass. However, the position was uncomfortable, so he removed his grasp from her butt and wrapped his arms around thighs as he controlled her movements. This made him pike her with his rock-hard member, causing her to finally not able to control her moans.

"Ahhn!~... No!~ This is fast! Too fast!~"

"Faster!!~~"

Davis gave back the favor and bit her neck. He kept thrusting like a wild pig while Natalya incoherently moaned in pleasure.

With each unrelenting thrust, slapping sounds repeatedly echoed while Natalya became abnormal. Her face was twisted in pleasure while hearing Davis's moans beside her ear. She was ecstatic that she was able to satisfy him, but her mind became chaotic to even properly think as she held him, feeling that her life was slowly slipping away.

Davis kept banging her without a stop as he kept sucking on her neck. Her moans were melody to his ears, and her pale yet artistic neck was a delicacy. If he was a bloodsucking vampire, he would be deeply tempted to suck her blood.

Natalya started to bend her back and abnormally shuddered from pleasure, and feeling that he overdid it, he pulled out and let her down. However, Natalya's body was too limp. She fell to her knees, and Davis captured her waist before she could completely fall.

Natalya stopped shuddering before she hazily looked at him, but a disappointed expression filled her face. She was close to feeling heaven, but it was taken away from her.

Looking at that expression, Davis grinned as he turned her around and held her waist.

"Ahhnn!~~"

Natalya, who was turned around, momentarily became dizzy, but when she felt it entering through her back, she moaned in ecstasy as her lips widened into a stupid smile!

Her arms flailed in midair, trying to subconsciously capture something for balance, but since she was unable to find anything, she moved her hands back and held Davis's arms, and that made her slightly arch her back, making her breasts hang out like a sore thumb.

Davis began to thrust from her back while holding her waist. He rapidly thrust with his rock hard member, feeling it slide in and out of her wet cave. It was just too pleasurable as it wrapped around him when he entered, not willing to let him go, creating a form of suction.

Natalya's body continuously shook as she felt him inside her with each lewd smack of their flesh. Her breasts also bounced up and down to his tune. Soon, Davis's pleasure multiplied as his rock-hard member throbbed, and he could also tell Natalya was also nearing her orgasm as her inner walls spasmed.

With the experience he possessed, without saying anything, he tried timing it perfectly and let out his yang essence into her as he buried his cock into her and held her waist tightly!

Natalya arched her back as she continuously shuddered. She felt his hot yang essence entering her womb, trying to make her pregnant, but she knew what it would all end up becoming her cultivation resource instead.

Feeling twisted, Natalya's lips trembled as it curved into a crazy smile while she orgasmed, letting her yin essence flood her cave before it got stopped by his rock-hard member.

Davis slightly pulled out as he made her yin essence drench his member. He absorbed her yin essence through his seven-inch long member's pores, turning it into yin energy that supplemented his cultivation, at least, if he circulated it to his dantian.

However, he didn't do so and circulated using a different method that turned the yin energy into yang energy and sent it back to her. Natalya felt the surge of energy in her inner walls before she felt it enter her womb. She could refine this energy along with the yang essence that was already in her womb.

A female cultivator's womb wasn't any different from a mortal's as this was the reproductive organ that nurtured babies. However, it possessed the capacity to absorb the female cultivator's energy, vitality, and potential to nurture the baby.

This was also why female cultivators would become weak when they are pregnant. Nevertheless, suppose the womb possesses a way to absorb the energy. In that case, it is also understandable that it can provide energy to the body through means like these, birthing true dual cultivation into the world.