

Erotic RPG 35

Chapter 35

I sat watching the towering stone walls and massive ballistas grow larger as we approached. Both girls lay sleeping from exhaustion from their evening romp. My eyes watched Altair's ass peek from within her blanket. I wished to dive back into bed and punishing my little caramel coloured witch.

'My mind has become more lustful. I hope it applies to Carmilla. Her embrace made me feel warm and soothed.'

Rattle

The carriage hit a rock, which caused it to shake wildly. I gripped onto my horse's reins, diverting the horse toward the flatter ground. 'I don't want to wake them up. They need more rest.'

Several guards wore black and silver-plated armour. My glowing red eyes watched them in the distance, inspecting the various merchants. I flicked my claw, closing the cloth, hiding the two girls' figures. I will kill any male that see's their body.

We would take over 30 minutes to arrive. I checked my current information to pass time and plan my future development. 'Siesta, the oasis of my frozen heart, please show me my status and give any helpful suggestions!' I sang in my heart, trying to emulate the feeling of love from my memories.

[Lucian! May I suggest fusing your skills with similar properties to clear room?]

'Lucian +30 Affection!'

'A woman who knows me well. Please fuse our fates together whilst you're at it!'

The jokes I made were a feeble attempt to imitate the former me. I wished to feel that sense of elation once more, yet only an empty, dull feeling remained, like trying to squeeze the last drops of water from a sponge.

'Mmmm, thanks for that, Siesta! Is there anything special in the store?'

I was in a good mood. The screen in front of me was now neat. My feelings being released seemed to bring back my OCD. My mind felt chaotic, however the chaos was mine. Siesta began humming a song that was nostalgic. My sister would sing it while she helped me do the dishes.

[I can suggest some items with your current SP or show you the list?]

'Please show me the list! So I can make my own decisions.' I looked behind me, watching the elves sleep. 'I need to step up, becoming worthy of the women who supported me.'

A panel appeared within my view with a bleeping noise. We were close to being selected for appraisal. I started browsing her item list, removing the junk items and choices from view.

'Hey Siesta, why are the prices different?'

[Sorry! The system upgraded. I changed many items effecting prices.

[Item Shop] [4,602SP]

Lucifers Blood (Small) - 4,000SP

Bloodline Enhancement - 1,800SP

SP Gain from seduction +1 - 1,000SP

Increase EXP gained by 20% - 500SP

My fingers tapped on the wooden arm, wondering which would be best. I couldn't deny my inner Chuni wished for Lucifer's blood so I could cosplay a demon. The bonus EXP and SP gain would be very nice for farming. Even though I won't take part in the plot. To do as I wanted would need great strength.

'Siestara, what does the Bloodline Enhancement do?'

My state of mind had become rather upbeat after spending a week breeding the most adorable twin elves. The merchant in front of me seemed strange, as the guards had surrounded his cart. A loud clacking from several horses' hooves sounded from the gateway as they surrounded the demon merchant.

[Bloodline Enhancement refines your bloodline increasing the speed of your future progress]

I saw over twelve female centaurs who wore pure white plate armour on their human body and a silver chain mail dress over their horse's body. The girls looked down on the demon merchant with disdain as they raised their lances towards him.

The lead woman wore a silver mask covering her mouth. Her long golden hair curled around her chest, covering her top class breasts. 'She's bigger than Altair!?' I thought.

"How dare a filthy demon like you try smuggling illegal goods! As the Sylphir Knights commander Elda! I shall condemn you for your sins," she said in a valiant tone. She drew her pure white sword, placing it against the merchant's neck.

"P-please! It wasn't my fault! They paid me double to bring them! Said there was no problem!"

"Hmph! Evil only deserves to be greeted with justice!"

Swoosh!

"Ah, he fucked up! That bitch hates all men." (Rando A)

"Yeah... She really hates good-looking guys." (Rando B)

Her sword didn't kill the man. It slashed through a device stuck to his chest. It looked similar to the communication devices that players used to speak to heroines later in the game. "Ah... I should probably buy some for Marina and Emura!"

Thud

"N-no! My family... They're done for! Please, miss knight save my family!" The merchant screamed, grasping the woman's hooves. His body was shuddering as snot and tears filled his face.

"DON'T TOUCH ME FILTHY MALE!"

Boom!

A loud crash sounded as her back legs kicked the man flying into the distance. She seemed to dislike males for some reasons as her body began shuddering in disgust. Elda flicked her hair as she removed her silver mask. My eyes watched her like a slow-motion picture. Her face was captivating as I couldn't help watching her in a daze. She gave a snort when she met my gaze, turning away with a faint pink hue on her cheeks.

"Tsk... Stupid pretty playboys!" She said with a snort.

"Follow me! We have to return to the dorm to register for the academy."

"Yes, Leader!" x 12

They dragged away the man as he screamed about his family and death. We were about to be inspected, so I ignored the whining man. His display of weakness reinforced my desire to become the strongest to keep my family safe. I wondered why the centaur girls hated males so much.

'They can't be THAT knight group, right? The one that builds an army to help Lance in the endgame... No way, she shouldn't be here.

"Next! The white-haired vampire!"

A guard called my name as the carriage moved slowly towards the inspection. One guard tried to open the curtain as my foot kicked him back. It was a hasty reaction, but I would never risk another man seeing my women. The old guard stepped forward with a stern look as he prepared to draw his sword.

"Why did you kick the guard away? I'm sure you know we guard knights check for illegal materials." He said with a tired voice.

I scratched my head and tried to appear apologetic. "My women are naked inside after sleeping. Can you give me a moment to dress them? You could also use a mage to scan the carriage for illegal signatures. I will pay the 10 Silver fee." My hand pulled out a large Silver coin which was worth 10 Silver. A gold coin was worth 100 Silver or 10 large silver coins.

The guard had a sense of realisation. He gave a nod as he saw the large silver coin. It only cost 1 silver coin for the magical search. I gave a large one as compensation to the guards. My eyes looked at the younger angry guard, who seemed able to understand why he was hit just now.

"Sorry, I just didn't want another man to see my bride's naked bodies."

"N-no I understand... If someone did the same to my Milly... Thanks for the extra silver! My name is Brian. Come to me if you need any help! A man who protects his women yet knows right or wrong is worth being my friend!"
