Chapter 99

-- 2 Days After The Elven Princesses Left, Rosa's Festung Hotel, 7:00 am

Lucifer stood with his wet body dripping onto the floor. He dried himself off slowly with a towel like those old spice adverts. Last night Agatha not only came for another round of fierce battle. She brought the first 6 C-Grade girls he fought and Tsana the cute B-Grade.

'I almost lost to them for a moment... To think two of them became addicted to anal.' (Pride)

'How did you almost lose? Look at them! I can see the whites of their eyes, they are still twitching!' (Lust)

'Are you sure that tiny one didn't die? Aruna was it? The short Sura you used her like a cock sleeve haha!' (Chaos)

'Wow... I never thought you could be so vulgar! My heart breaks!' (Pride)

'...'

[Master! Last night after your wonderful performance, you gained 6,200 DP.]

'I am sure you recorded it to use for later! Wash your hands afterwards. Don't touch things with sticky fingers!' (Pride)

[Hehe, how about you clean them with your mouth?]

'Getting a little cheeky, aren't you? Shall I tell my sister about this?' (Pride)

[Please no! I was wrong, forgive me. I will do anything, master!]

Her voice was very cute and submissive, just the way he liked her. He closed the panel after checking his current DP and attributes. After he used points to help Carmilla, his stock was nearly empty. Now, after a week, he had some cash to waste.

'Still didn't gain any experience. I will find A'dalia to join me for a dungeon run. Should probably check out the date for my Underground Arena match, too. So many things to do... So little time.' (Pride)

'Will you join a guild or adventure without?' (Chaos)

'Eh... I don't need money, right? Why would I join a limiting organisation when I can sell my stuff to a merchant or give it to the people in my territory? That reminds me I really need to help Emura properly now...' (Pride)

'Our little Lucifer is growing up so fast.... sob' what should I do?' (Lust)

'I'll hit you...' (Pride)

Today he was not in the human district, but browsed through the demon one. He liked to see all the cute demon girls with different horns and bodies. His brain corrupted by lust over the years. Honestly, he wished to see that fox demon once more.

'I wonder what her name is. She looked quite young...' (Pride)

'Did she actually use a charm spell on him or something?' (Lust)

'She has 8 fluffy tails... What else would he want?' (Chaos)

The demon district looked different from the human area. The buildings reminded him of a period called The Victorian Era. Most buildings copied the style of what his former world named the 'Italianate' style. These homes were popular in his world from the 1840s and inspired by 16th-century Italian villas.

These buildings' primary structure was simple, rectangular houses with low sloped or flat roofs that protruded past the exterior walls. A few of the homes would feature a square tower that rose from the centre of the house, which added to the Tuscan villa feel.

"Excuse me..." said someone with a soft feminine voice.

Lucifer stood in the centre of a path. He observed the buildings that Sylvia used to tell him about. She once wished to become an architect. He entered a nostalgic state and recalled the silly things his sister enjoyed. His sister could not contact him for a while because of what happened the other day.

'Why would she manifest if it meant punishment? Silly girl...' (Pride)

She saved his life. After all, Lucifer wasn't that stupid to not realise this. He just missed her voice sometimes and hoped his sister could return soon.

"Ah... Excuse me? Lucian? Male god? husband?"

He heard that familiar voice once again and looked down at a pretty lion girl with dirty blonde hair and amber eyes. She was the cute announcer Luca. She wore a short red skirt and a short white shirt with the top buttons unfastened because of her voluptuous chest.

"Ah, it's you, the cute lion girl."

"Cute!? Really? Then shall we go sign the marriage documents?"

Luca replied with a joyful voice and reached into her small pouch and pulled out real marriage documents with their names already written. He felt cold sweat drip down his forehead. This woman was strange! Her brain was not normal.

"Are you retarded? Why would I marry you when you're not even my woman yet?" Lucifer said in response.

Her body shuddered as he watched her tails sway. She seemed delighted. He was unsure why and tried to think about what he said.

'You said my woman "yet" this shows you plan to make her your woman one day. Did you let your bias for fluffy girls cloud your judgment?' (Lust)

'Ah!?' (Pride)

"Hehe... Why be so bothersome? Let's go find a room. You knock me up and we get hitched. My mother would be so happy!"

Lucifer found this girl was just as energetic in her mind as on the ring. He then noticed a gigantic sword on her back. This item didn't match the rest of her outfit and made his lips curve into an amused smile. Luca seemed to think he agreed with her and hooked his left arm.

He could feel her soft pillows squash around his arm. She was much softer than his normal women who were more muscular and firm. He planned to stop her until the feeling became enjoyable as Luca dragged him towards the registry office.

"Is your mother as attractive as you are?"

"My mother is the best! She is so feisty and filled with adult charm! Hehe."

Luca was too cute and a little stupid not to see his reason for asking. He just gave a sigh and allowed her to drag him for a little. But he changed their direction from the registry office to a small jewellery store. Lucifer looked towards her and gave a wry smile.

"Look, I think you are cute and would be interested in getting to know you. But you're a little full on, you know?"

"So for now, let's just spend a few hours on a date and get to know each other?" He said these words in a gentle tone. She watched him with her enormous amber eyes as her lashes fluttered.

Her face filled with a bright smile after he spoke as she did a victory pose. Luca never intended to act this way and just used it to get his attention. Now her mother's plan worked and although she didn't trick him into signing, he offered to take her on a date!

'Hehe, mother, you are so good! Is this how you trapped father in the past?' (Luca)

'Lucifer, you have things to do today, you know? How are you...?' (Chaos)

'Don't worry, I will use our date to finish both my business and get a cute lioness. Two birds, one stone!' (Pride)

'Why do I feel she's going to be crazier than Carmilla in the end?' (Lust)

'You are just bias and only like muscled elves!' (Pride)

Lucifer gently took Luca's hand, that was wrapped around his left arm, and escorted her around the demon district. She helped him find various facts about the city as her mother lived here since a child. He could not find A'dalia, but left a note with her residence and told her to come to Rosa's hotel.

He took her on a proper date after his business ended. They would eat the local demon cuisine, which seemed to be like the food eaten by Asian people in his former world. Luca seemed to enjoy the fish and meat dishes as she devoured several bowls. The noodles and rice were not to her palate, it would seem.

She ended up sliding the bowls of rice towards him with her tail. He felt this action was cute. After dinner they went towards a clothing store named "The Maidens Armoury!" It sounded more like an armour shop, instead filled with garters, stockings, tights, panties. Anything a woman needed for long travels or dungeon dives. He found several items for his other women and stored them in the system.

He no longer needed to buy an upgrade to store other items in the system. Since the system was now under his control with the help of a lovely cuckold angel named Lanza,

'Today was rather nice... It was like a regular date back in the old world.' (Pride)

'Somehow, it was very wholesome... But I liked it. Don't hurt this girl, she is very cute!' (Lust)

He shook his head and made this a proper date. Since he first saw this lioness, she reminded him of his first love. When he broke and felt desperate after, his love for his mother shattered. This girl was there to help him the most.

'Come to think of it... Why did she disappear after that day?' (Pride)

'Lucianna...' (Pride)
