

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes by Yvone Zabielski Chapter 144

Jason Causes Trouble Again

“Ah! This is...”

In the sack was a woman, unconscious. Her messy hair covered her face, and she smelled awful.

Her arms and legs were black and blue. It was obvious that she had suffered from abuse before Jaylin looked up at the man in confusion.

The man didn't speak but smiled.

It was an enigmatical smile.

Jaylin covered her mouth and nose. Trying to resist the urge to vomit, she lifted the woman's messy hair.

“This... Is Anaya?”

Doesn't Viola send her to prison? How can Anaya come out so quickly?

Jaylin heard Anaya was sentenced to ten years.

she asked, “The Caffrey family broke off the engagement with Anya, And the Callis family has cut off their relationship with her. Now Anaya is nothing but a homeless woman. What can she do?”

“You’ll know soon enough,” the man said with a smile.

In the past few days, Orlando was recuperating while Viola was busy at the company.

They lived in the same villa but never met.

The next day, after washing up, Viola went downstairs and smelled the delicious breakfast.

In the dining room, the dishes had already been properly placed and were still steaming. It should have only been made not long ago.

Viola smiled.

It had only been a while, and Orlando’s cooking skills had improved quickly.

She walked over but found that the kitchen was quiet and empty. She did not see the man that she hoped to meet.

Viola then asked Jimmy, “Where’s Orlando?”

“Ms. McGraw, Mr. Caffrey woke up early in the morning. He prepared breakfast for you and went to work after that.”

Orlando knows that he has almost recovered from his illness. Is he afraid that I will find trouble with him and decide to hide from me?

Viola shook her head with a smile and casually ate a few mouthfuls of breakfast before going to work.

Just as she sat in the office chair, Toby knocked on the door and came in to report the results of the investigation.

“Madam, the information provided by Mr. Caffrey is correct. Mr. Falcon was indeed packed from Doug Hotel and the casually thrown onto the cargo ship at the dock of Washington. As for where he is now, it is not easy to find out.”

He paused and continued, “Although the surveillance of Doug Hotel at that time was destroyed, I still accidentally found a familiar face that was leaked.”

He handed Viola a photo taken by the surveillance camera,

“Although this person is wearing a mask, don’t you think he looks like Todd Jairo?”

Viola took the photo and scrutinized it.

Since Todd had previously been Orlando’s nominal assistant, they had worked together from time to time over the past half month. Viola had seen him a few times and had some impression of him.

If it was Todd, then the matter of Anaya being kidnapped was not done by Orlando.

Feeling assured, Viola put down the photo and continued to instruct, “Continue to investigate Anaya’s whereabouts until we find her. Also, check if there are any movements from the McGraw family recently.”

“Yes.”

Viola nodded, indicating for him to continue with his work

Looking at the back of Toby leaving, she was lost in thought.

Toby works together with the people of the Dark Bell to investigate, but they cannot find out the truth. Such a precise method of doing things is most likely used by the person from the McGraw family who harmed me

But why did that person kidnap Anaya?

For some reason, Viola felt uneasy about Anaya’s disappearance.

She felt that something big would happen.

As she thought about this anxiously, Viola didn’t delay her work.

When she checked the latest schedule of all the entertainers and the progress, she unexpectedly found that Jason had inexplicably stopped filming since yesterday afternoon. He had not been in the crew this morning.

Viola immediately called the manager who was in charge of Jason.

“Ms. Zumthor, I’m innocent! Jason was just doing well yesterday. I don’t know what happened, but he seems to have a conflict with Stephen Muller, the actor from another cast.”

“Stephen is difficult. The two of them fought and Stephen was sent to the hospital. This matter was seen by many passers-by. I’m trying to negotiate with the two groups.”

The more Viola heard, the more she frowned. “Why didn’t you report this matter yesterday? Where’s Jason?”

“I’m sorry, Ms. Zumthor. I thought that something similar had happened to Jason in the past. I planned to deal with it after discussing it with the crew. Who would have thought that Stephen was seriously injured this time? Jason was taken back from the hotel by the Barnett family early in the morning. We still haven’t been able to contact him...”

Viola fell silent.

Given the temper of Jason’s grandpa, Michael Barnett, Jason would be seriously punished when he returned.

“Alright, I understand.”

Viola facepalmed and decided to personally make a trip to the Barnett family.

It was to prevent Michael from beating Jason too hard in a fit of anger and delay the later filming.

She drove to the Barnett family villa.

After explaining her identity to the bodyguards outside the gate, they immediately let her get in.

Get Bogu

This was because Michael had previously said that as long as Viola wanted to come in, no matter when, there was no need to report it.

Therefore, with the housekeeper leading the way, Viola walked unimpeded.

Before she reached the door of the hall, Viola heard very loud censuring sounds, mixed with Jason's painful cry. Just listening to it was enough to make people shudder.

She unconsciously walked faster.

In the hall, Jason was kneeling on the ground, gritting his teeth as he endured the pain.

Michael was furious. Although he also felt sorry about his grandson, he strongly believed that he needed to teach Jason a lesson in case Jason made similar mistakes in the future.

"Do you know your faults?" Michael asked, waving his hand to stop the punishment.

Jason took two deep breaths. His stubborn eyes showed a defiant expression. "I was right. He deserves it. Next time will beat him up again. I will beat him up every time I see him!"

Viola had just walked to the entrance of the hall and heard Jason's words.

Stupid boy, even if you don't accept it, don't you know how to give in first?

Sure enough, clubbing sounds became even louder than before.

“Let’s see when you will admit your mistake!”

The housekeeper hurriedly went in and told Michael about Viola coming over.

“Mr. Barnett, long time no see. You haven’t aged at all. You still look young and fit.”

;

Viola walked in with a smile at the right time. She took the cane made of two vines from the servant who was punishing Jason. “Mr. Barnett, this thing hurts a lot. Jason is still a young boy.”

When Michael saw her come in, he could help but smile. “Dear Viola, you are growing up so fast! Come and sit down. Let me take a good look at you.”

Viola obediently walked to his side and sat down.

“Don’t feel sorry for this brat. He has had this kind of punishment since he was a child. He is tough enough! On the other hand, you are completely different. You are the precious girl of the Barnett family and the McGraw family. We all want to spoil you.”

When Jason heard this, he gasped and secretly straightened his back to rub the wounds on his back.

He silently cursed in his heart. His grandfather did not dote on his grandson, but doted on other’s granddaughter!

Is there something wrong with his brain?