

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes by Yvone Zabielski Chapter 188

“So, it was you! How did you get in?”

Viola elegantly fiddled with her nails as she lazily replied, “I asked the bodyguards to notify the butler and enter through the main entrance.”

The butler let Viola in?

The old butler who had worked for Jaylin’s family for so many years was actually bought over so quickly?

Jaylin glared at her.

Viola guessed what she was thinking and said, “As the old saying goes, rats leave a sinking ship. Today, the Haworth family will fall. Of course, they know what to do.”

Jaylin was so angry that she gritted her teeth and stood up from the ground. “You bitch! You are too much! Do you think my family will fall easily when you harm us? Keep dreaming!”

“Harm your family?”

Viola sneered, “That’s not it. I just want to make public the evil deeds the Haworth family has performed. If your family is innocent, why would you fear these things?”

“You!”

Jaylin was about to die from anger. However, what Viola said was right. The Haworth Group, Karissa, and Lawrence suffered from their own actions.

In the room behind her, screams became more and more miserable.

“Lawrence, how dare you attack me! How dare you! I will sue you! I will shoot you and your mistress!”

“Murder! Lawrence is going to kill me! Save me! Jaylin, come and save me!”

Karissa was beaten and howled at the top of her lungs.

a wa

Jaylin was about to go downstairs to confront Viola, but when she heard that something was wrong, she quickly entered the room to stop the fight.

But it seemed to be useless for her to go in, and soon it was noisy inside again. The fight grew fiercer.

Viola didn’t bring many people with her today. She only brought Tyler and Nell.

It was too noisy upstairs. She frowned and gracefully rubbed the tips of her ears. "You two, go up and persuade them to stop fighting. Bring them down."

"Yes."

Tyler and Nell quickly set out.

Lawrence was knocked out by Nell's punch and forced to go downstairs.

Those who hurt others were taken away. Karissa and Jaylin followed them downstairs.

Karissa's hair was messed up. After all, there was a great disparity in strength between men and women when they fought. Both sides of her cheeks were swollen from the beating, and blood was flowing from the corners of her mouth. Her face was still wet with tears.

Taylin didn't get any advantage when she entered and was slapped by Lawrence by accident.

Viola asked Tyler to place small sofas on the opposite side of the coffee table and asked the three of them to sit on separate sofas.

The Haworth family's housekeeper and servants all quietly gathered around the door to watch the show.

Viola was actually sitting in the main seat. Compared to the people of the Haworth family, she seemed more like the hostess here, occupying the absolute dominant position.

Viola leaned back lazily against the back of the sofa. She looked at the three people opposite her and clapped her slender fair hands.

"It's so exciting to let me watch such a big drama in the morning."

Karissa's face was swollen from the slap. Her mouth hurt when she moved it. She put herself back together and glared at Viola hatefully.

Jaylin was also glaring at Viola viciously. He was the first to say, "Don't think that my family will be destroyed so easily. I won't let this go just like that! In the future, I will get even with you! Don't taste victory just yet!"

Viola was amused. "You want to get even with me? Unfortunately, you probably won't have the chance."

Jaylin was shocked by her cold and arrogant gaze, feeling a little apprehensive.

"What is the meaning of that?"

Viola glanced at Tyler, but her words were said to Jaylin, "Come. Take a look at the gift I've prepared for you.."

Tyler understood and walked forward, placing a document on the table.

“Ms. Haworth, this is evidence that you are suspected of kidnapping and trying to kill the contestant on the talent show, Dahlia. This is evidence that you privately misappropriated Caffrey Group’s 1.5 billion dollars of official funds. Right now, Ms. Zumthor is the person in charge of Caffrey Group. She has the right to take back the money, and this is your...”

Tyler stated for a full five minutes before he finished counting the bad things Jaylin had done on the sly.

Jaylin gaped at the pile of paper in shock.

How long did it take Viola to find out all of Jaylin’s secrets?

Jaylin was unconvinced!

She rushed to the tea table and tore the evidence into pieces to vent her anger. Jaylin did it violently, and her expression was extremely ferocious.

Viola watched her do that in silence. After Jaylin finished, Viola said indifferently, “Ms. Haworth, since you love tearing things up, I’ve prepared a lot of them for you to tear as much as you want.”

Nell quickly took out the large cardboard box that he had placed on the back of the sofa and placed it heavily on the coffee table. He opened it in front of everyone, picked up a stack of paper, and threw it at the heads of the three Haworth family members.

Tyler also came over to scatter the paper, and in a short while, the large living room of the Haworth’s villa was covered with paper.

Jaylin was furious, unable to say a word.

A smile touched Viola’s eyes as she said softly, “Come on. Continue tearing. If you don’t break your hands from the tearing today, don’t even think about walking out of this villa.”

“You!”

Jaylin had been defeated by her a few times before. Viola’s words made her legs go limp. Because Lawrence did not wake up, Jaylin could only rush to Karissa and ask for help.

“Mom! You must save me. She has so much evidence of my secrets. She will not let me go easily!”

Karissa had wiped the blood from the corners of her mouth and combed her hair that had been pulled by Lawrence. Karissa had barely recovered her usual demeanor of a career woman.

Karissa touched Jaylin’s face and turned to glare at Viola.

“So, what if you have this so-called evidence? Last time, you brought a bunch of people. My family couldn’t beat you, but today you only brought two.” :

Karissa sneered, “Since you’re here, don’t even think about leaving this house!”

After saying that, Karissa signaled the bodyguards of the villa. They quickly came over from all parts of the house. Thirty bodyguards surrounded the living room.

After Viola had barged in last time, Karissa learned her lesson and recruited a new group of bodyguards.

Karissa didn’t expect them to be useful so soon.

What if the Haworth Group’s stock had plummeted recently? What if she suffered heavy losses? As long as Karissa was still there, the Haworth family’s connections in Washington were there, and the family would make a comeback sooner or later!

Karissa was proud. “You smashed my luxury car and even cut Jaylin with a knife. Today, you came uninvited, so I will first poke a hundred holes in your body! Go!”

The bodyguards of the Haworth family immediately rushed forward.

Tyler and Nell quickly shielded Viola.

Viola chuckled and looked at Karissa with contempt. “Mrs. Haworth, don’t tell me you really think that I came unprepared.” With that, Viola clapped her hands.

The servants gathering around the door suddenly made way for someone.

Karissa and Jaylin had a bad feeling and looked toward the door.

A handsome man dressed in a solemn military uniform walked in. His aura was strong and oppressive.

A group of policemen behind him quickly surrounded the entire hall.