

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 228

“You’ve even prepared a tool in advance. You’re so considerate. Ormand, do you think I won’t dare to hurt you because you’re in a higher status than before?”

Ormand raised his head and looked into Viola’s eyes. He looked a little aggrieved with his red eyes. “You are not talking to the CEO of the Hobson Group, or the eldest son of the Hobson family here. Just me, the man you knew. If you’re angry with me, you should beat me.”

It seemed like his acting skill was much better than last night.

“Then I will fulfill your wish!”

Viola raised her whip with fierce eyes.

Viola had an impulse to beat Ormand to death. She wanted to make him unable to get up to beg for mercy!

But when she really started, Viola still kept some strength left. With only half of her strength, she whipped twice in a row, all on his left arm.

“Does it hurt?” Viola’s eyes were as cold as ice.

Ormand furrowed his eyebrows, trying to control the tremble of his arm.

Ormand took a deep breath and smiled. “It doesn’t hurt.”

Obviously, it hurt.

Viola's strength was not too strong, and at most, it would make his arm swollen. However, after the two whips, Ormand's shirt was pierced by the back of the whip, and the flesh was exposed, leaving two shocking bloodstains. The dark red blood on the white shirt of his arm was particularly eye-catching.

Realizing that something was wrong, Viola lowered her head to observe the whip in her hand.

The whip was very rough, and there were many barbs. No wonder his skin was torn with only such weak whips. At this time, the barbs of the whip were stained with Ormand's blood.

Viola's eyes were hurt by the blood.

But it only lasted an instant before her brain was once again occupied by anger, which almost burned down Viola's last bit of sanity.

In order to put on a show, Ormand was willing to be hard on himself!

Viola lifted Ormand's chin with the scabbard of the whip and sneered.

"What a play! Is this supposed to make me feel sorry? Ormand, you deserve an Oscar! Don't you like it when playing me to the beat?"

Ormand felt even more aggrieved. "I didn't mean to play you. It's my fault to lie to you and make you sad. I accept the punishment, but when you finish it and calm down, can I explain to you?"

Viola narrowed her eyes and said in a cruel tone, "Okay. Let's talk about it after I finish if you still have the strength to continue to argue at that time!"

Ormand closed his eyes, gritted his teeth, and waited patiently.

Viola raised her whip again, but her hand was shaking.

After waiting for a long time, the sound of the whip did not ring again.

Since she had already known the power of this whip, Viola could no longer whip him the third time.

Viola lost.

When Viola found out that Ormand had lied to her and made her drown in guilt for half a year, she was really angry and wanted to beat him to death! She even wanted to turn Ormand into ashes!

But even though Viola was so angry, she still couldn't really whip Ormand with such a cruel whip. She felt sorry for him. She didn't want to hurt him badly at all...

It was Viola who was defeated by Ormand!

Viola felt frustrated.

Viola felt that she was gripped by Ormand so tightly that she lashed on the floor to vent her anger.

With a few loud bangs, both Todd and Toby, who were standing far away from the villa, were shocked.

After lashing the ground, Viola threw the whip away. Without looking at Ormand, who was still kneeling on the ground, she turned around to open the door and ran away as fast as she could, without saying a word to him.

Viola had just come out of the villa. Todd didn't expect her to come out so soon with the hemostatic and bandage in his hands.

When Todd remembered to hide them behind liim, it was too late. Viola happened to see it clearly.

What was more, in Viola's eyes, Todd was trying to hide something.

Viola sneered, "He is really well prepared. It's really a waste to use these talents on me."

Todd's face turned pale with fear. "No, no, No. This was prepared by me. It has nothing to do with Mr. Hobson..."

The sound of whips in the room just now was too terrifying. Todd thought he should prepare the medicine in advance so that he could go in and bandage Ormand as soon as possible since Ormand would be on a mission soon.

The coldness in Viola's eyes was even stronger. Obviously, she didn't believe it at all.

Todd also realized that his words were unconvincing. He tried hard to organize his words to explain, "Ms. Zumthor, it's really not Mr. Hobson's fault. It's me..."

Viola didn't want to listen at all and left the Hobson family's villa without looking back.

After Viola left, Todd patted his mouth remorsefully and hurried into the villa to check on Ormand.

Ormand had already stood up from the ground and was sitting on the sofa, absent-minded.

Todd hurried to check the wounds on Ormand's body. When Todd found that it was just Ormand's left arm that had been whipped two times, he was relieved and quickly cleaned the wounds for Ormand.

The whip was too rough. There were some thorny wood chips embedded in Ormand's arm. Todd carefully picked them out with tweezers for Ormand and disinfected the wound.

Thinking of what had happened at the entrance just now, Todd told Ormand everything frankly.

“I’m sorry, Mr. Hobson. I was just afraid that you’ll be in danger if you go on a mission with a serious injury. I didn’t expect that I would be caught by Ms. Zumthor. When you come back from the mission, I’ll apologize to her.”

Ormand’s eyes dimmed. “What you did looked the same as what I asked you to do. Your explanation is useless. She won’t trust me anymore.”

Seeing that Ormand was sad, Todd also felt sad and slapped himself hard.

“I’m sorry! It’s all my fault! I deserve it!”

Todd slapped himself with his full strength. After two continuous slaps, his face swelled and blood seeped from the corner of his mouth.

Ormand stopped Todd from hurting himself. “Well, I screwed it up first. I’ll find an opportunity to explain to her myself. You don’t have to blame yourself.”

But how could Todd not blame himself? For Todd, Ormand was his benefactor, his boss, his brother, and the most important family member.

Although Todd would occasionally argue with Ormand, Todd was always on Ormand's

Viola couldn't fall asleep again.

Ormand had saved Viola and got hurt for her. She was grateful to him, but then she learned that everything was fake. It was Ormand who had deliberately aroused Viola's guilt and played tricks on her to deceive her feelings, making her cry for him again and again like a fool.

What was more, Viola had naively planned to go back to Washington to guard Ormand's cemetery and not get married for the rest of her life.

Now thinking about it, Viola found it to be so ridiculous!

Viola couldn't forgive what Ormand had done.

But Viola couldn't really kill Ormand to vent her anger.

Perhaps, the only way to help Viola get rid of all these bad feelings was to cut off all contact with Ormand.

Viola didn't sleep all night and thought about it all night.

Finally, she made a decision.

The second morning, Viola went out after dressing up and putting on makeup. Then she went to the Hobson's manor. Instead of going to Ormand's villa, she went straight to find Javon.

Seeing the serious look on Viola's face, Javon took her to the reception room as she seemed to have something important to talk about.

However, when Javon heard Viola's words, he looked at Eason, who was equally confused, and in disbelief.

“Viola, did I hear it wrong? Your engagement to Ormand has only been officially announced for two days. Are you going to cancel it?”
