

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 229

Viola said firmly, "Yes, Javon. I don't think Mr. Hobson and I are suitable for each other. If there is a chance in the future, I can be friends with him."

Javon was still surprised that Viola would suddenly make such a decision. "Viola, did Ormand bully you? Tell me, I'll help you punish him!"

"No, Ormand didn't dare to bully me. It's just that ..."

Fifteen minutes later.

With a straight face, Viola walked out of Javon's villa. Toby was waiting for her at the entrance.

Seeing Viola come out, he walked up to her and asked, "Ms. McGraw, how's it going? Did Mr. Hobson agree?"

Depressed, Viola lowered her head and shook it.

Javon analyzed the pros and cons with Viola. Her engagement with Ormand was not an ordinary one. There were a lot of things involved in it, and they were even labeled as a "commercial marriage" by Ormand.

They had just been engaged for two days, and it was not easy to cancel it. Whether it was for the Hobson Group or the McGraw Group, they would face huge economic losses and become the center of bad public opinion.

The impact would be great.

Moreover, Javon was no longer in charge of the Hobson family's business anymore. Ormand was the current decision-maker of the Hobson family. If she wanted to break off the engagement, she had to discuss it with Ormand.

But with Ormand's character, Viola gressed that even if she pointed a gun at his head, he would not agree to break off the engagement.

Viola was very angry, but she could do nothing about it.

Ormand's trick worked!

Viola finally understood why Russell had been engaged to Rebecca for more than two years. Obviously, Russell hated Rebecca so much, but he still kept her as his fiancé. As children of a rich family, it was not easy for them to cancel their marriage.

Forget it.

Viola let out a long sigh and decided to give it further thought. She decided to ignore Ormand for the time being.

"From now on, as long as Ormand or his bodyguards and subordinates come to me, won't see any of them!"

"Yes."

Toby nodded and left after Viola.

The two of them walked out of Javon's villa one after another. However, they didn't notice that when they passed the corner, a young man in a blue suit and gold-rimmed glasses suddenly noticed her.

Squinting, Sammy Hobson pushed his glasses gracefully and asked the bodyguard behind him, "Is that Ms. McGraw, who is engaged to Ormand?"

The bodyguard took a serious look and answered, "Yes, I think so, Mr. Hobson."

"She is so beautiful, but she seems to be in a bad mood. Go and ask why she is here today."

"Okay, Mr. Hobson."

The bodyguard left silently. Ten minutes later, he returned to Sammy and reported,

"Mr. Hobson, she seems to come here to call off the marriage today, but the old Mr. Hobson doesn't agree."

"Call off the marriage?"

Sammy thought for a while and said, "This marriage was proposed by Ormand. It can be seen that she has a special position in Ormand's heart."

The bodyguard said, "but I heard that Mr. Ormand didn't attend her welcome party. It seems that he doesn't pay much attention to her."

for you

“What do you know?” Sammy sneered, “It’s not easy for you to

but you’ll know after testing it.”

Chapter 990 i: Lurte to San You Cnu

guess Ormand’s mind,

“Mr. Hobson, what do you mean?”

The smile at the corners of Sammy’s mouth was very deep. He said lightly, “Ormand seems to be on a mission. I heard that he is opening fire now. If Ormand knew that his fiancée personally canceled the engagement and the old Mr. Hobson also agreed, what would happen?”

The bodyguard immediately understood what Sammy meant. “Mr. Hobson, don’t worry. I will arrange for someone to send the information to Mr. Ormand accurately.”

Since the dissolution of marriage couldn't be settled temporarily, Viola stopped thinking about it and went back to the Angle Group.

Viola had been preparing for a few days, and it was almost done. In the next two days, she would pick up all the contract-signing artists that she valued a lot in the Angle Group. She then would be able to start the opening ceremony!

Sitting at her desk, Viola was busy working on her computer the whole day. She carefully read the files of each artist of the company and carefully selected them.

When Viola was about to get off work, there was a sudden noise outside the corridor, which was so loud that Viola noticed it.

Viola put down her work and was about to go out to have a look.

All of a sudden, the door was pushed open. Todd came in with red eyes, and his hands.

were covered with blood.

Surprised, Viola looked beyond the door again. Both Tyler and Vincent were beaten, limping, and looking miserable.

"How dare you hit my men in front of me?" Viola glared at Todd.

Todd lowered his head and apologized sincerely, "I'm sorry, Ms. Zumthor. I sent five or six people to look for you, but they stopped me. I have to come here myself and break in with brute force. But don't worry. The blood on my body is not theirs. They are just slightly injured."

It was Viola who had told Tyler and Vincent not to let Ormand or his men in. But since Todd insisted on breaking in, it must be a big deal.

Viola asked in a low voice, "Why are you in such a hurry? What happened?"

Todd's eyes instantly turned red, and his voice choked with sobs. "It's Mr. Hobson. He's being sent to the hospital, but he doesn't want to go to the emergency room. He has to see you for the last time. Ms. Zumthor, please go to see Mr. Hobson!"

Ormand is good at combat. Will something happen to him?

Viola's heart twitched unconsciously, but she soon became skeptical. "Ormand always uses the same kind of tricks on me. Is he ever gonna grow tired of it? He lied to me when he faked his death before, and so did he this time. What else does he want to do next time?"

"What I said is true!"

Tears welled up in Todd's eyes. Todd even planned to knock Viola out and take her to the hospital for herself, but he just could not.

"We are having a fight with terrorists in the mountains in Salt Lake City. Mr. Hobson's heart was pierced by a bullet. All the blood on me is his. He just wants to see you for the last time. Ms. Zumthor, please! Can you go to see him?"

As she saw Todd crying so sadly, Viola's heart was shaken.

“I’ll trust you only this time! If Ormand dares to lie to me again, I will never forgive him!”

Viola didn’t pack up her things. She took her bag and went to the downtown hospital with Todd.

Outside the corridor of the emergency room, there were a lot of people quarreling and even arguing, but their expressions were very serious, with tears in their eyes.

Viola quickened her pace, and Todd stepped forward and shouted, “Get out of the way! Ms. Zumthor is coming!”

The crowd quickly quieted down and started to make way for Viola.

Viola walked inside and soon smelled a strong smell of blood.

On the stretcher, Ormand’s handsome face was deathly pale, and his whole body was stained with blood, especially his chest. There was even a steady stream of blood flowing out from his chest, and even the entire stretcher was dyed red.

The scene was too bloody for Viola to react.

Ormand didn’t lie to me this time. He has lost a lot of blood!

Viola was so shocked that she covered her mouth with her hands. Tears kept falling down uncontrollably, and her feet were as heavy as lead.

Ormand watched Viola walking toward him slowly. His weak black. eyes bloody hand grabbed her wrist.

“Don’t cry... I... It doesn’t hurt, but it hurts for me to see you cry...”