

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 243

Just as Viola was pondering, a black limited edition Lamborghini rounded the fountain and stopped at the entrance.

The bodyguard in the passenger seat got out of the car first and opened the car door.

The woman who got out of the car in an elegant white dress was tall and well-dressed.

It was none other than Lainey,

In addition to the title of Bobby's wife, she was once known as the most beautiful flight attendant in the United States.

"Lainey, what brings you here?" Viola politely greeted her.

"Bobby has returned to the National Affairs Bureau to handle some matters. I got nothing to do today, so I came here to take a look."

When Lainey saw Viola, she smiled gently. Then she naturally held Viola's hand as if they were close friends. Soon after, Lainey noticed the quiet building and checked her watch,

"Why is there no queue here at this hour? Did someone do this?"

Lainey immediately reacted,

Because if no big shots in the business Industry showed up at the ribbon-cutting ceremony today, this matter would be on the news this afternoon.

Then Viola's goal to leave the McGraw family and establish her own career would become the laughing stock on the internet.

Whoever did this was too vicious.

Viola's face darkened, but when she saw that Lainey was more serious than her, she consoled Lainey with a smile, "Don't worry, Lainey. Maybe they were delayed on the way."

She then looked at her new assistant, Rayna Halton, who had been transferred from Washington, and said, "Call the guests one by one according to the list and ask if something has happened to delay them. Ask them if they need help."

"Yes, Ms. McGraw."

Lainey shook her head. "How could it be such a coincidence that none of them show up? Don't comfort me. You are the one who is most anxious."

Viola smiled and said, "There is nothing to be afraid of. We still have twenty minutes. Besides, even if no one comes today, I'll still finish ribbon-cutting!"

Just as Viola finished speaking, she heard a woman's wild laughter come from outside the fountain.

Lily in a sexy purple dress walked over in a graceful manner.

“This is the funniest joke I’ve ever heard today. It seems that no one is going to give you a face when you give up the name of McGraw. This is too pathetic.”

Lainey and Viola’s faces darkened at the same time.

“Why don’t you stay at home to take care of Willard? what are you doing here?” Because there was no one else around them, Lainey was not respectful to Lily at all

“It is not convenient for Willard to go out, so I came here to take a look on his behalf.”

❧⊥⊥⊥⊥⊥⊥ |

Lily rolled her eyes arrogantly, “Viola, I hope today’s matter will teach you a lesson. You have to know that without the McGraw family, you are nothing!”

“Oh, really?”

Viola put a half-smile on her face all the time. She was exceptionally calm and she did not panic at all. “We still have twenty minutes before the ceremony starts. Why are you so anxious?”

“I’m afraid that no one will come over even if you wait for another hour. Just wait and see. You are going to be a joke on the Internet!” Lily snorted.

Lainey frowned, “It was you!”

“Don’t wrong me! Viola has offended too many people, and none of them want to spare her. I just drop by to see her make a fool of herself.”

As Lily spoke, she asked the bodyguards to fetch her a chair from the building, and then, she sat at the door.

There were only twenty minutes left. She wanted to see if Viola could have the last laugh.

Another five minutes passed.

Outside the building other than the splashing sound of the fountain, it was so quiet that every employee in the Angle Group felt their hearts sink.

Rayna rushed to Viola and reported in a low voice, "Ms. McGraw, the situation is not good. Most of the guests said that they were busy and couldn't make it. Some of them didn't even answer my phone. What should we do now?"

Lily overheard Rayna's words and laughed more complacently!

Viola lowered her head and pondered.

Lainey also frowned and said, "It's clear that they were told not to come. Maybe you can postpone the ceremony for another half an hour. I'll call Bobby and ask him to rush over. With him here, there will definitely be many people showing up."

"No need."

Viola pressed down on her phone. "It's just a ribbon-cutting ceremony. They thought they could make me shrink back just because of this farce. Not a chance! Rayna, tell them that the ceremony..."

Before Viola could finish her words, she heard a scream suddenly come from the building behind her.

“Oh my! This is so great! I really envy Ms. McGraw!”

“Yes! Ms. McGraw has such strong support this time! Let’s see what they will say!”

All the employees held their phones and stood up to cheer.

Hearing this, Viola, Lainey, and Lily were all baffled

Rayne looked at her phone and was surprised. “Ms. McGraw, look at the news!”

Viola suspiciously unlocked her phone and found that the several latest trend topics were all related to her.

Many netizens commented on their envy.

Ormand invested 1 billion dollars without blinking an eye!

Viola had only invested 160 million dollars into the Angle Group business. Amongst all the current entertainment companies, the Angle Group was still unknown.

However, Ormand announced that he had invested 13 billion dollars into the Angle Group in a high-profile manner. The value of the Angle Group was instantly different.

The value of the Angle Group had soared up in the blink of an eye!

It was simply cheating!

It not only meant that Ormand recognized his fiancée and was willing to support her career.

It also meant that the lobson Group would also support Viola.

Ormand was the most popular man in the United States now. His support for Viola made all the ladies of the aristocratic families envy Viola to the extreme.

Lainey sighed happily, "Ormand is a good man. He always wants to protect you. It seems that with his support, your brothers don't need to worry about you in the future."

After reading the news, Viola didn't say anything. Although she was surprised, her expression was still very serious.

Lily, on the other hand, held her hands and sulked.

She remembered that Ormand did not even show up for dinner last time. Clearly, he did not value Viola much.

Viola only went to the Hobson family to take care of Ormand for a few days, and now Ormand had already fallen in love with Viola?

Lily looked at her watch again. It was already nine-twenty.

And she immediately became happy again.

“There are still ten minutes left. I’m afraid that no one will come here today. It seems that even if you have the support of Mr. Hobson, this ribbon-cutting ceremony will still become a joke. Even the Hobson family will be laughed at. It’s really funny!”

Lily raised her chin in great satisfaction.

Lainey was irritated by Lily’s words, and just as she was about to retort, she suddenly heard the sound of the cars coming from afar.

And then, many luxury cars drove over and stopped at the entrance of the building one by one.