

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 275

In the evening, in the laboratory ward.

Kolby said in a low voice, "in fact, the five months I told him before is the bright side. He can only live five months when he has a good physical status."

"Because the virus in his body is almost out of the control of the inhibitor. If his heart cramps relapse a few more times, it is estimated that he won't have even a month...."

Viola was so shocked that she clenched the test result tightly.

She tried to calm down. "From now on, I will urge him to take good care of himself. I don't believe that he only has a few months left. I want him to live for a hundred years!"

Kolby was glad to see the determination in her eyes.

"Ms. McGraw, don't worry. I will try my best to save him. I'll go to work overtime and write a note for you. According to my note, proper exercise, nutritious food, and great mental health should be of great help."

"Okay, thank you."

"You're welcome. It's my pleasure."

Kolby took the laboratory data from her, turned around, and closed the door for them.

Viola turned around and looked at the man on the bed again. Suddenly, she saw a pair of deep eyes.

“You wake up so soon? Did we disturb you?”

Ormand curled his lips and shook his head. “I wasn’t asleep. I’m relieved to hear your voice.”

Viola gently stroked his face, with patience in her every move. Chapter 275 Viola’s Anger

“If you get hurt in the future, don’t bear it. You have to tell me. You are hurting me by hiding it from me, understand?”

He nodded obediently. “I want you to hug me...”

Viola took off her high heels, turned over, and squeezed into his quilt, holding him in her arms lovingly.

Smelling the good scent of her body, Ormand closed his eyes contentedly.

He thought of an important thing and said, “By the way, Viola, my condition can’t be made public for the time being, including the McGraw family.”

“Don’t worry. I won’t tell them.”

Ormand had a great influence in Salt Lake City and even the United States.

Once the news that he was critically ill spread out, it would cause a lot of turmoil for the National Bureau of Investigation and the McGraw Group. In particular, the Hobson Group and Gregory's family, which the Hobson Group had been coveting, would probably take a move.

Ormand closed his eyes again and soon fell asleep.

Viola looked down at his handsome sleeping face, lost in thought.

She didn't know that what had happened in Color World would hurt Ormand so much.

Now that she knew it, she was even angrier with Jerry.

In particular, Jerry even wanted to threaten her with this matter today!

Bail him out, call off the engagement, and marry him?

It's impossible!

Ormand was tortured by him. Why could he just be in prison? At least he could live a peaceful life.

What he paid back was far less than 1/10000 of what Ormand had suffered!

The more Viola thought about it, the angrier she became. Her eyes gradually became fierce and she began to think about it carefully.

If she didn't teach Jerry a lesson, she couldn't swallow her anger!

Late at night.

The sharp sound of smashing came from the Falcon's villa.

Rebecca lost her temper again, and the whole room was a mess.

Roger stood stiffly in the corner, not daring to say a word.

It seemed that just throwing things was not enough to vent her anger on Rebecca.

She picked up a bottle of high-end lotion and ordered Roger, "Useless rubbish, don't hide!"

Roger had no choice but to stand still. Rebecca threw the lotion at him fiercely.

Bang!

It was smashed on Roger's forehead, and his skin was broken. There was blood on his forehead.

He endured it silently and said nothing.

Seeing the blood, Rebecca calmed down a little.

“It’s all your fault. You suggested that I report Russell’s affair and force him to compromise. What’s the result? Idiots! I was so stupid!”

Russell was a man who controlled most of the show business. With a wave of his hand, the show business would change.

He had a great influence on show business. The notice of Rebecca was finished, but no media dared to publish it. Even if she spent a lot of money to find a few small media companies that were not afraid of Russell publishing it, it would be removed quickly and no one would notice it.

Thinking of this, Rebecca got angry again. She continued to smash things. She was unwilling to see Russell and that bitch Sherlyn love each other.

She made too much noise. Stanley went upstairs to check her situation.

As soon as he opened the door, something flew straight towards him, accompanied by a roar of Rebecca. “Get out! If you don’t want to be beaten, then don’t bother me!”

Seeing that Stanley was about to be smashed right in front of him, Roger quickly blocked it for him, and he was hit on his forehead again.

“Mr. Falcon.” Roger bowed to Stanley.

Rebecca turned her head and asked, “Stanley, why are you here? I thought it was a reckless servant again.”

Stanley sighed. “If I don’t come, how long are you going to smash things? If you wake up Dad, you will have to be locked up again.”

He patted Roger’s shoulder and said, “Thank you. You can leave now. Go to the housekeeper to ask for your medical see and compensation. Tell him that I say double.”

“Thank you, Mr. Falcon.”

“Okay.”

Stanley sat on the edge of Rebecca’s bed. Before he could say anything, Rebecca held his arm and pouted.

“Brother, you must help me this time. Russell would rather have that cheap woman and leave me. If he continues to mess around like this, it will disgrace the Falcon family!”

Chapter 275—Viola’s Anger

Stanley touched her head and said nothing.

She continued to persuade him, "By the way, brother, don't you like Viola very much? If you help me get Russell back, I will help you get Viola!"

LLE

Stanley chuckled. "Don't try to get me in trouble with your tricks. You and she are against each other. Don't get in front of her. That's to help me."

Rebecca pursed her lips and didn't take it seriously.

She wouldn't let go of Viola. Moreover, as time went by, she would always find a chance to teach Viola a lesson!

She was cursing Viola and Sherlyn in her heart.

Stanley was trying to help her.

"How about this? Your birthday will be in half a month. I propose to Mom and Dad to hold a special party for you. You can also invite some stars to sing at the party. What do you think?"

Rebecca's eyes lit up.

Sherlyn was a star. If she was invited, wouldn't Rebecca be able to punish her?

Stanley continued to speak to her, "You should show your weak side and sincerity to Russell and ask him to come to your birthday party. Then you can..."

Rebecca listened carefully. The more she listened, the more she felt that the birthday party half a month later was a good opportunity!

That day, not only could she teach Sherlyn a lesson, but also Viola, the sister of her fiancé, had to attend.

At that time, she would kill two birds with one stone.

She would deal with these two bitches together!
