

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 310

The entire room fell silent because of this sentence.

Todd sighed quietly.

Viola didn't understand. She sat down next to Ormand. "Why? You've been troubled by this illness for so long. Don't you want to cure it and live a normal life earlier?"

Ormand didn't want to explain. He just grabbed her hand and clenched it tightly, looking determined.

Looking at his expression, Viola seemed to have understood something and asked Todd and Kolby out.

"I have something to say to Orin. When you go out, please close the door, but don't go too far."

Todd and Kolby left tactfully.

When the room was completely silent, Viola asked, "Did you capture Jerry? Has he already told you everything?"

"Yes," Ormand replied.

Viola sighed. She couldn't hide anything from Ormand!

Although he was sick, he was not easy to fool.

Viola held his hands back, saying, "Don't listen to him. I..."

“He wants you to break off the engagement with me and then marry him, right?” Ormand interrupted her in a cold tone.

“Orin, you know that Jerry...”

“You only need to answer me. Is that true?” Ormand frowned and interrupted again.

Viola lowered her head and sighed again, “Yes.”

Ormand then lowered his head and hid the anger and killing intent in his eyes. “If you must sacrifice your future happiness in exchange for my health, I’d rather die!”

Viola immediately covered his mouth and scolded in a low voice, “What nonsense are you talking about? You won’t die! You’ll recover soon.”

Ormand held her hand tightly with a serious expression.

“Viola, if the price of living is to lose you and watch you marry that Jerry, then I’ll truly live a life worse than death!”

“Orin, living is more important than anything else. Let’s use medicine to treat the illness first. And then we talk about something else, okay?” Viola crouched at his feet, trying to comfort him with a smile.

Ormand shook his head.

In this matter, he would never compromise.

“I won’t inject the medicine Jerry gave me! Never!”

“Orin...”

Ormand did not want to listen. He retreated his hand that was holding her hand and turned his head to the side. His cold face showed that he wouldn’t agree!

Viola knew that he was stubborn. No one could change his mind if he had made a decision.

Therefore, she stopped persuading, stood up, and stared at him apologetically. “Sorry, I brought you to the laboratory today not to discuss this matter. If you don’t want to, I can only force you to do it.”

“Viola!”

Ormand knew what she wanted to do and tried to grab her wrist.

But Viola took two steps back to dodge.

“Todd, come in,” she shouted, turning to the door.

The door opened quickly. Todd appeared with a face full of surprise. "Ms. Zumthor, did you convince Mr. Hobson so quickly?"

"Hold him down. Don't let him move," Viola said, pointing at Ormand.

"Viola!" Ormand called out to her again with a cold face.

"... Are you sure? You want to do it by force?" Todd was stunned, not daring to get in.

Viola took a deep breath and insisted, "Yes. Hold him."

Being nervous, Todd walked into the room, but was frightened by a look from Ormand and stood in place.

"Don't you dare!"

"Don't forget who your boss is and who you should listen to!" Ormand glared at him and gritted his teeth.

"Mr. Hobson, ..."

Todd tried to calm down. He had never expected to make such a choice one day. "This medicine is good for your illness. Mr. Hobson, you should listen to Ms. Zumthor!"

"No way! I'll ask you one more time. Who do you listen to?" Ormand wouldn't give in.

“He should listen to me.”

“You are my man, so your subordinates should listen to me first!” Viola replied with a domineering smile.

Ormand was speechless.

What was she talking about?

Viola looked at Todd. “Don’t be afraid. With me here, he can’t do anything to you. Do it now.”

With her guarantee, Todd felt reassured and decisively walked towards Ormand.

Ormand became gloomy and kicked him.

Todd didn’t dare to dodge. He clutched his leg and stomped his feet. “Well, Ms. Zumthor, he hit me!”

“Todd, how dare you complain in front of me?” Ormand was so angry that he flew into a rage.

Like a coward, Todd retreated and hid behind Viola.

Viola sighed. She could only ask Kolby for a rope and personally tie Ormand’s feet.

Todd immediately stepped forward, held Ormand’s hands, and asked Kolby to come in to give an injection.

Ormand was covered in a cold aura. Even though his freedom was restricted, his terrifying aura still scared Kolby so much that he did not dare to approach.

“I’ll do it.”

Viola stretched out her hand.

Kolby breathed a sigh of relief and handed the syringe over.

“Viola, don’t force me.” Ormand raised his head and looked at her.

Viola leaned over and gently kissed his lips, saying softly, “I will be very careful. I will try not to hurt you. This time, we will cure the complications in your body first. Next time, we will cure the virus.”

“Viola...”

“Don’t you want to live an ordinary life with me in the future? We might even have a lively and cute child. Our future will become incomparably beautiful from the moment you recover.”

They looked at each other at that moment.

Ormand listened to her carefully, and his attention was attracted by her pure eyes.

While Ormand was listening to her, Viola steadily inserted the needle into the vein in his neck and carefully pushed the liquid into his body.

In just a few seconds, the medicine began to work.

Ormand felt weak and sleepy.

“Kolby, what is going on?” Viola turned to ask.

Kolby immediately checked Ormand’s condition. “It’s fine. When this blue liquid is injected, the patients will be weak. Orin will be fine after a nap.”

Viola and Todd let out sighs of relief at the same time.

Todd placed Ormand on the bed, then left the room with Kolby.

After they left, Viola took off her shoes and lay down on the bed. She hugged Ormand and let him sleep in her arms.

As she stroked his face, she looked at the banana tree planted outside the window and said softly.

“Orin, do you know when I fell in love with you?”

Ormand shook his head weakly.

“It was on the day I was brought into the Caffrey family by Nash. You were the person who smiled at me first. From then on, I was obsessed with you. I...”

Hearing her soft voice, Ormand couldn't help but smile. He recalled the past according to her words.

The leaves of banana trees outside the window were blown by the wind, shivering greatly

Ormand tried hard to ask, “Viola, will you end the engagement and marry...”

Before he could finish, he closed his eyes and fell asleep.

Viola was still looking out the window with complicated emotions. “Just sleep. It'll be fine after you wake up. Our days in the future will also get better”
