

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 326

He had no choice but to walk over and say, “Ms. Zumthor, wake up. It’s time for us to set off.”

This position wasn’t comfortable. Viola hadn’t been able to sleep well. So, she woke up the moment Todd spoke.

Rubbing her sore back and arms, Viola carefully moved out from under the quilt. And Todd hurriedly gave her his arm.

As soon as she put on her slippers and stood up, Viola found that Ormand was still holding onto the skirt of her clothes.

Moreover, though Viola had gotten him a pillow, Ormand was frowning again and groaning softly.

When Todd saw Ormand like this, he sighed and felt distressed.

It was so much more pain for Viola. She wished she could immediately take Ormand into her arms, kiss him, and be with him forever.

But it was getting late, and Viola had to hurry to the airport to board the plane.

Viola tried to pry open Ormand’s hand but failed after trying twice.

Ormand was gripping it very tightly.

“Viola, don’t go to him, don’t go...”

Ormand kept muttering these words in his sleep.

Viola’s fingers were trembling. She held back her tears and didn’t dare to pull his hand with too much force for fear of waking him up.

Russell came in suddenly and told Viola, “Viola, if you don’t leave now, it will be too late. Russell and I will take care of him. He will be fine.”

Viola made up her mind and talked to the unconscious man on the bed in a steady voice, “Ormand, be good. I won’t leave. I just need to use the toilet. I’ll be back soon.”

With that, Viola ignored the other people in the room and leaned over to kiss Ormand on the lips to soothe him.

The sweetness of affection filled the room.

Todd watched them and rubbed his nose awkwardly. And he glanced at Russell.

Russell frowned and looked unhappy, but he did not say anything

After the kiss, Ormand calmed down a lot and loosened the grip.

Viola took the opportunity to pull her coat out of Ormand's hand and replace it with Russell's.

"Viola, you?"

Viola held her index finger to her lips and shushed him.

Russell had no choice but to sit by the bed with a gloomy face and let the sleeping Ormand clutch at his coattail.

Before she left, Viola took a final look at the handsome man in bed who she loved deeply.

She must bring the serum back! Ormand must be safe and sound and wait for her!

Viola stopped thinking and left the laboratory with Todd.

II:

Ormand's eyes flew open. Everything was still black to him. He could not see anything. And he subconsciously tightened his grip.

However, Ormand noticed that the slap of cloth he was gripping didn't belong to Viola. It felt like a man's suit.

Ormand immediately withdrew his hand and asked, "Who are you?"

"Russell."

The man sitting by his bed spoke in a low voice without any emotion.

"Why are you here? She has told you about my illness?"

Ormand propped himself up and leaned against the head of the bed.

Ormand groped the edges of the bed and found that it was a narrow bed. He didn't seem to be in Viorin, but a ward in the lab.

Russell didn't choose to lie. He replied simply, "Yeah."

Ormand hurriedly asked sternly, "Then where's Viola?"

“She...”

Russell thought for a moment before saying, “She has some Gershom private matters to attend to and will be gone for a few days.”

Ormand’s heart sank, and he clenched his fists. “Private matters? What kind of private matters can she have? Is she going to Jerry? She promised me she would not go to him! She can’t!”

Ormand became increasingly emotional, and he was on the verge of a breakdown. He lifted the quilt and was about to get out of bed.

Because he could not see, Ormand missed a step and fell toward the floor.

Russell was stunned and didn’t plan to give Ormand a hand.

But then again, Russell was afraid that Viola would blame him for not taking good care of Ormand when she came back and saw the bruises and whatnot on Ormand.

As a result, at the last moment of Ormand’s falling, Russell reached out and caught Ormand.

“What are you doing now? Didn’t I say that it will only be a few days? Just be good. She might come back soon!”

“Let go of me!”

Although he couldn’t see, Ormand’s skills were still there. He attacked Russell hard with his palm.

Cet Bonus Russell did not expect Ormand to be serious and was knocked back two steps. “I’ve been taking care of you for half a night, and this is how you repay me?”

“Viola! I have to see Viola immediately!”

Ormand groped his way and walked with bare feet hastily. Soon he tripped over a chair.

“Fuck. What a shitty task this is!”

Russell cried and caught Ormand again at the last second. “Can you stop it? You can’t even leave this door. How are you going to find Viola?”

“It’s none of your business,” Ormand said with a cold face.

Russell was also angry. “You’re so unappreciative. Fine! Go! Let’s see how far you can go!”

It was winter. Ormand walked barefoot on the cold floor, his feet red with cold. And his clothes were thin.

But Ormand looked determined as if he didn't feel cold at all. And there was only one thought in his head.

He must see Viola!

Russell stared at the staggering Ormand and just sat there, sulking.

List Hans However, when Russell saw Ormand's red feet, he felt sad, and he made up his mind. "Fuck this! You are a patient and can't even see! You can't be a problem to me!"

Russell walked up, grabbed Ormand's arm, and pulled him backward.

Ormand resisted.

The two started fighting.

Russell was good, but he couldn't defeat Ormand.

Because Ormand couldn't see, Russell had been holding back.

However, Ormand was different. Every attack of his was full of anger and force. In addition, he was better at fighting than Russell in the first place.

Soon, Ormand got the upper hand, and Russell had his right shoulder dislocated.

A sharp pain hit Russell, and he instantly broke out in cold sweat.

Russell had no choice but to call Bentley in.

The two brothers worked together and finally subdued Ormand, who had gone crazy because he couldn't find Viola.

And when Ormand was unconscious, the two brothers tied Ormand's hands and feet to the head and the end of the bed.

They could finally get some peace.

Bentley hurriedly took a look at Russell's injuries and helped him get his shoulder back in place.

Russell endured the pain. Bentley was very good. He rubbed Russell's shoulder and pushed the bone back in place in only a few seconds.

But Russell's shoulder was swollen badly, and he had to use some medicine and rest for two days.

His brother didn't deserve this at all. Bentley was furious. "I'll wake him up and give him a good beating."

They would take care of Ormand, but they would not let Ormand hurt them!

Russell gasped in pain and stopped Bentley. "Forget it, Russell. No need to take a patient seriously. Besides, I've done similar things to him earlier. This made us even."

Earlier in Washington, Ormand had jumped off the Crane Bridge to save Viola, but Russell took the credit and even locked Ormand up in the basement and let him starve.

Later, Russell found out that Ormand had a high fever that day.

In fact, Russell had been feeling guilty about this matter.
