

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 333

Russell nodded in satisfaction. "These words sound very comfortable. You have to remember that Viola is pretty important to our family. If you dare to pick on her and make her sad, we three will not let you off easily!"

Ormand pursed his lips and smiled.

He was always happy when Viola was mentioned.

At the gate of the villa.

Those from the National Bureau of Investigation were stopped outside by the bodyguards. When they saw that the person who came out was Bobby, they were stunned.

"Why is Mr. McGraw here? Where is Mr. Hobson?"

I

"He has a fever. I will take care of him for Viola. Tell me if you have anything important," Bobby said with a cold face.

"Well..."

They looked at each other in a quandary. "Mr. McGraw, you are in charge of the National Affairs Bureau. Mr. Hobson is in charge of our state affairs. Besides, this is a secret. Let us go in and meet Mr. Hobson."

Bobby's stern expression did not change. He looked at the documents in their hands and slowly reached out. "Give me the documents. I will give them to him personally."

Get Borus "No. Besides these documents, we have to report to Mr. Hobson face to face!"

Bobby frowned. His anger spread with great pressure.

"There is no need to report. He will read the documents himself. I am not interested in your affairs. I won't read them secretly. You suspect me?"

"No. No. How could Mr. McGraw do such a thing..."

"Give them to me!" Bobby didn't want to hear their crap anymore.

Due to his pressure, those men could only obediently hand in their documents.

"Get lost."

Bobby withdrew his gaze and was ready to return. However, there was another noise at the door.

It was Gregory who came, followed by Sammy and a group of men.

“What’s going on with Ormand? Even Eason’s call doesn’t even work. How arrogant he is! Thus, I came to invite him. If he still beats around the bush, does he want Nash to invite him personally?”

Gregory was scolding the bodyguards seriously. His voice was deliberately loud.

Bobby frowned even more and walked back.

Seeing that it was Bobby, Gregory was slightly shocked and said with a smile, “Well, it surprised me that Mr. McGraw could come to the Hobson family.”

After all, Gregory was an elder of the Hobson family. Bobby restrained his anger and patiently replied, “It’s getting cold. Ormand caught a cold. Viola has been busy. Thus, I came to help.”

Gregory nodded politely. “I see.”

Sammy complained in a low voice, “Everyone can catch a cold. That’s not serious. It’s not like he can’t walk. Grandpa invited him several times but he found excuses. He just doesn’t want to go!”

“Mr. McGraw is here. Don’t talk nonsense!”

Gregory waited for him to finish speaking. Then he pretended to scold Sammy. Then, he looked at Bobby with a smile. “Ormand is hiding from the elders. That’s really impolite.”

Bobby stood there with a poker face without a word.

Gregory continued, “If Ormand is not seriously ill, please make way. There will be a dinner party for the Hobson family at noon. As the current head of the Hobson family, Ormand must be there.”

With that, Gregory winked at those bodyguards behind him.

The bodyguards quickly moved, but they were blocked by the bodyguards in Viorin.

Several men wanted to barge in, but they were beaten up by the electric baton.

“Mr. Hobson, what will you do if I insist on not allowing you in?” Bobby asked with his hands leisurely in his pockets.

Gregory’s face darkened. Before he could speak, Sammy took the initiative to question, “Bobby, this is the Hobson’s place! As an outsider, don’t throw your weight here!”

“Yes, I am an outsider.”

Bobby continued with a sneer, “Ormand and Viola are engaged. As his brother-in-law, I care about his health. As his relatives, you only care about whether he can walk or not. It’s really chilling.”

Gregory’s face stiffened. He was about to explain, but Bobby did not intend to listen to his nonsense.

“Whether Ormand wants to see you or not, Mr. Hobson knows it. Take care, I won’t see you off!”

“Bobby, this matter...”

Bobby did not want to listen. Judging from his expression, there was no room for discussion.

When he was serious, he was not angry, but his air frightened others.

Gregory did not want to ruin his relationship with the McGraw family. Thus, he could only give up and leave with his men.

After they left, Nolan came and showed Bobby his identity card.

“Mr. McGraw, I am the direct subordinate of Mr. Hobson, the captain of the seventh team of the National Bureau of Investigation. I have been on missions with Mr. McGraw for nearly ten years. Please trust me and let me in.”

Bobby checked his ID and asked warily, “What are you here for?”

“Stanley’s convictions are declared. I came to report to Mr. Hobson and ask if we need to pay special attention to him.”

“I see. Since it has been declared, there is no need to report it. I will tell him. As for the special attention...”

Bobby thought about it. At Rebecca’s birthday party, he was not in Salt Lake City. But what happened that day, he heard all of it.

“I can make the decision. Take good care of Stanley! Let him enjoy his prison time.”

“Yes...”

Nolan was still worried because he didn't see Ormand.

Seeing Bobby about to leave, he hurriedly said, "Mr. McGraw, let me see Mr. Hobson. He is not in a good state. I can stay to take care of him."

"There are lots of people taking care of him. Since you are his direct subordinate, you should know to ask less and talk less!"

Bobby only trusted his own people, so he could not trust Ormand's men.

Nolan looked at Bobby's back as he entered the villa. Nolan sighed silently and looked worriedly at the balcony of the master bedroom on the third floor.

A few hours later.

In Portugal.

As soon as Viola woke up and got ready, Jamie, who came to pick her up to the palace, was already waiting at the door.

Viola got in the car with Todd. After about half an hour, she Chapter 333 inquire About Ormand finally saw the magnificent palace.

The Bentley drove around the city wall and finally stopped at the eastern gate.

From far away, she saw Jerry, who was dressed up today.

He was wearing a noble blue gentleman's suit. With his sapphire eyes, he looked like a distinguished foreign prince. People couldn't move their eyes away from him.

Unfortunately, no matter how handsome Jerry was, Viola had no time to appreciate him.

Jamie was the first to get out of the car and opened the door for her.

Jerry immediately came up to welcome Viola.

When he saw that she was wearing a casual coat, his smile gradually disappeared. "Today is the first time you have visited my mother. You are wearing this?"
